SONAL INTEREST AND INDIVIDUAL ACHIEVEMENT

SCHOOL PLANS AND PROGRAMS originate in the superintendent's office and flow out to all the buildings in the district. Dr. John G. Hulton, head man in Latrobe's educational system, coordinates policies established by the Board of Education and keeps all the school wheels turning.

LATE PERMIT REQUESTS get a skeptical reception from Mrs. Dorothy Stahl, the lady with the answers in Mr. Funk's office.

We remember the administration particularly this year after seeing packing cases cluttering the halls as the superintendent and the Board of Education transferred offices, from the high school to Sixth Ward.

Seven citizens serve their community as members of the Latrobe Board of Education, establishing and developing the constructive policies that have been a distinguishing feature of Latrobe's educational program for so many years. Mr. George Brown heads this year's organization, with Mr. William McCullough as vice-president. Other board members are Mr. S. G. Rummell, Mr. H. M. Reed, Mr. Francis Harvey, Dr. G. N. Huber, and Dr. J. H. Hamill.

Dr. John G. Hulton, superintendent of Latrobe Public Schools, moved from his high school office on Ligonier Street to the new administration offices on Loyalhanna Avenue during the winter. The new suite consists of two office rooms and a supply room. The business office occupies one room, while the other serves as the office for Dr. Hulton, meeting place for the Board of Education and conference room for meetings among principals and teachers.

The transformation of the classrooms into offices has been complete. Mastic tile floor, sound proof ceilings, fluorescent lighting and modern office equipment carry out the new theme. The stock room has everything from a hot plate and sink to drawers for blue-prints.

Dr. Hulton is the chief administration officer. He earned a Bachelor's of Arts degree at Franklin College and his Masters at the University of Pittsburgh. Mr. Hulton was awarded a Doctor of Literature degree from St. Vincent.

BOARD OF EDUCATION members this year initiated plans for a new football stadium in addition to continuing the progressive policies that have characterized Latrobe's modern educational program. Seated are Mr. Samuel G. Rummell, Dr. Gerard Huber, Mr. George F. Brown, and Dr. J. H. Hamill. Standing are Mr. Harry M. Reed, Mr. Francis J. Harvey and Mr. William McCullough.

I S T R A T I O N

In his first year at Latrobe, he taught Latin, algebra and civics. He taught social science before becoming principal in 1922. In 1929, he became superintendent. He enjoys reading biographies and history and playing golf. He is a member of the executive council of the Pennsylvania State Education Association and president of the Department of Administration. Dr. Hulton has served as president of Kiwanis and as commander of the American Legion.

Mr. Mark N. Funk, principal, organizes the high school work. Mr. Funk received his bachelors degree at Otterbein College, his masters degree at the University of Chicago and did graduate work at University of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State College. He taught social studies, until 1929, when he became principal. Mr. Funk has been president of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Association for the last eight years.

Three secretaries lighten the work of the administrators. Miss Ruth Himler is secretary to the Board of Education and to Dr. Hulton. She is the past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club and Chairman of this district consisting of 33 clubs in five counties. Church activities occupy her spare time. She enjoys cooking, knitting and reading. Mrs. Dorothy Stahl aids Mr. Funk. Mrs. Stahl's mezzo-soprano voice keeps her in constant demand in church choir and musical circles. Miss Anna Belle Walter does clerical work in Mr. Hulton's office. She dabbles in art, enjoys square dancing and belongs to the Frohsinn Singing Society.

HEAD MAN in Latrobe High School's curricular and extra curricular program is Principal M. N. Funk. His finger on the pulse of the school keeps every department running efficiently, providing the best in educational practice and procedure.

FINDING THE SECRET TO SUCCESS IN

MERCHANDISERS get actual selling practice in the model store. Juanita Taylor's smile sells Dick Guskiewicz a box of crackers. The other customers are Nancy Lechner and Clair Casey.

DICTIONARIES provide a lot of help in the library. Alvin Noel corrects his vocabulary list, while Eva O'Hara, Shir-lene Helfferich and Mary Bayura dig in the unabridged.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS give freshmen a working knowledge of tools and materials. Edward McCracken, Joseph Shaffron, Michael Moffa have metal work in progress they hope to have exhibited in the front hall display.

FROSH REST after the turmoil of opening day, breathing a sigh of relief as they find a vacant landing where they can relax.

CHILD CARE proves to be one of the interesting and helpful features incorporated in the home-making course. Pictured are five sophomore homemakers, Janet Flack, Clarabelle Allshouse, Anita Felbaum, Sue Johnson and Edna Prasnitz, taking their turn working with the children. For about an hour and a half each week-day afternoon during the three weeks the project operates, the girls read and play games with the children as well as try their hands at introducing their young charges to the pleasures of coloring and singing. Some six children from homes in the nearby area served as "textbooks" for the girls, and in doing so enjoyed themselves. They soon learned to look for the girl assigned to take them to school right after lunch and to object on occasion when it was time to be taken home for that afternoon nap. One of the most worthwhile contributions any high school girl can make to better family and community living lies in assuming care of children either in her own homes or in homes of friends and neighbors. Learning to live by doing is democracy in action.

INTERESTS ABOUND FOR EACH WORKER

MULTITUDE OF JOES prepare shop students for future positions as electricians, mechanics and engineers in the factories of tomorrow.

Class Work Shows Results As Projects Go On Display

HANDICRAFT AND DECORATING are just as much a part of homemaking as cooking and sewing. Martha Ridilla decorates the top of her jewel box with chip carving. Eleanor Gratcar hammers out a design on a belt that she is developing as a leather craft project.

OSCAR'S INNARDS give health class boys an opportunity to check pressure points. Gerald Harman shows where to stop the flow of blood, and James Barlock tests his skill on Ronald Cameron. Herbert Murphy waits for an opportunity to try. The boys hope they can replace Oscar's back before the class period ends.

SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIAL sets the stage for advanced reading in civics class. Searching for material on local government, Barbara Walters, Jane Kessler, Paul Verchuck, and James Ransel desert their desks for the book shelves at the front of the room. Added references increase daily interest in developing individual projects.

HISTORY PROJECTS amuse sophomore world history students as they examine sample pyramids, log houses and chronological charts included among the host of features on display. Leonard Reeves and Andy Keefe show Lavina Hostetler and Emma Yafchak how easily the top comes off a pyramid to reveal the interior layout.

SENIOR HOMEMAKERS prepare for the Christmas season by helping Santa make toys. The girls stuffing the animals include Eleanor Gratcar, Elizabeth Nicely, Joan Strumsky, Elizabeth Bialon, and Elizabeth Crouse. Learning to create useful and attractive articles is a phase of work in the related arts department.

Helping Others Makes Hobbies Worth While

Despite the personal complaints and grumbling, the classroom had its own qualities that endeared it to the inmates—the chattering horde of students who brought the human element. In classes every student muttered “Mr. Chairman,” and tramped nervously to the front of the room or smiled to himself at French and Spanish dialogue. Those were the days when—

Homemaking girls in cooking class carted a chunk of fudge rolled up in a napkin to their friends—the sewing class drew the attention of the boys sitting near the window in the mechanical drawing room—freshman shop boys raced up to fourth ward school in cold weather to slave over their projects—upperclassmen finished shiny cedar chests and neat end tables.

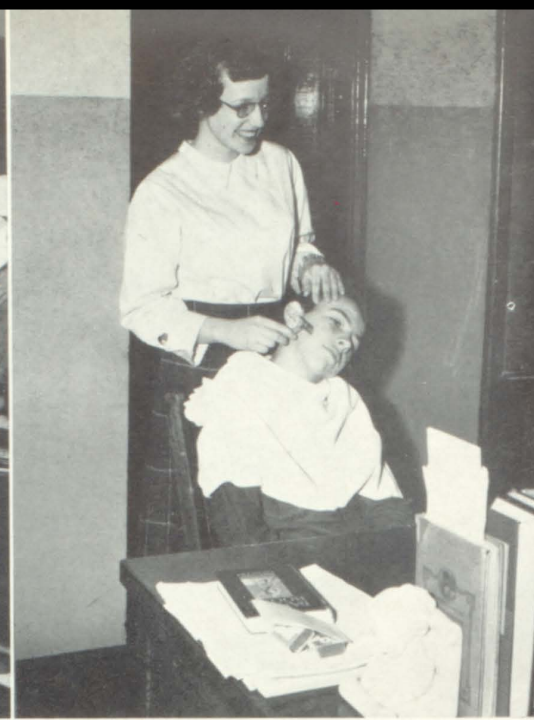

Biologists discovered that they were homo sapiens as well as human beings—greenies found out how to take a bunsen burner apart but not how to put it together again—mathematicians calculated the answers to five problems in three minutes—plane geometry students used a whole sheet of tablet paper to do one homework problem—chemists experimented with solvents that smelled like skunk cabbage.

Fellow world history students couldn't determine whether their project models were people of distinction or those of another world—seniors discovered that P. of D. is found in every little phase of school and private life—Latineers translated paragraphs to mean something altogether different from what the writer intended—seniors in physics class stood on the tables to tighten “C” clamps.

Gay young sophomores paid visits to many places by means of English classics—typists chewed their nails to keep them short so they would not click on the keys—junior health students took Oscar apart to see how he ticked and forgot to put his heart back—journalists interviewed teachers and school mates in order to get information for a story.

From the greenie to the stately senior some of these incidents served to highlight the school.

GIRLS' ARCHERY attracts Freshman Dorothy Eaton as her choice among the opportunities for playing outdoors and developing individual skill.

HISTORY PROJECTS interest sophomore Albert Lenz as Jim Harris and Sally Smith show off their models created to illustrate the customs of another period in the history of the world.

BOOKKEEPING PROBLEMS keep sophomore commercial students on the go as the bulletin board announces the end of the fiscal period.

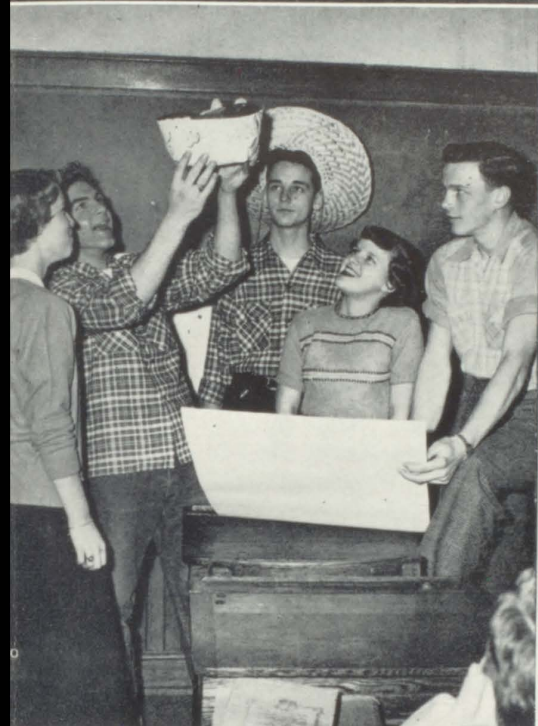

MICROPHONE PRACTICE helps freshman speech problems. Gretchen Badstibner broadcasts, while Loretta Kusinsky, Carl Everett, and Richard Hughes wait their turn.

ENGLISH DEMONSTRATIONS can be dangerous, especially when Martha Steele illustrates shaving techniques with Bill Amatucci as the subject.

ARS MEDICA members Barbara Pohland and Ilse Korneke take their turn at a popular club project, reading to shut-ins. Hospital work has been one of the club's prime interests.

..... One More Glance At The FRENCH CLUB program leaves all bewildered as Mary Ann Funk, George Seitanakis, and Bill Nigro portray famous French characters.

SPANISH CUSTOMS are the subject of discussion for these "amigos," Ann Workman, Tony Cirucci, Bill Lynch, Pat Shaw, and Bill Marsh, who enjoy studying their neighbors' customs.

OVER THE FENCE isn't out for the rugged characters who play volley ball, and beat up the poor ball and collect black and blue marks.

UP AND AT 'EM is the cry of the sophomore medicine ball team as the girls keep the ball rolling, a tough job that frequently finds everyone flat on the floor.

BULLETIN BOARD material in English classes hold the attention of Marcia Fenton, Anita Buerger, Richard Barnhart, Margie Hulton, and Barbara Dorn.

LATIN JOURNALISTS gather information for the next issue of the paper. Chris Slater, Marie Derek, Bob Murray, Pat Hughes, and Marjorie Hulton comprise the staff.

SENIOR OFFICERS

Student Council	John Zamer

As the class of the half century walks through the portals of Latrobe High School for the last time, the words, "Thy sons and thy daughters from far and from near will sing loud thy praises thy name will revere," echo down the hall and they recall all the memories of the "best years of their lives."

Not only in the words of the anthem but in the pleasant memories of four years of activity, the class of '50 finds a satisfaction that will prevail in their lives forever. Their first experiences as "greenies" when Wilber Kirk served as class president, Nancy Erny as vice-president, Beverly Crowe, secretary, Edward Seremet, treasurer, and John Walker, Student Council representative, were the most frightening. Geraldine Hurley overcame the underdog feeling when she played in the all-class play "Brother Goose." Bob Burns won the extemporaneous speaking contest for the freshmen in 1947 to preside as class speaker.

Then under the supervision of Miss Florence Gill, class adviser, today's graduates doffed their robes of green and were sophomores. Barbara Johnstin, class president, Howard Lenz, vice president, Helen Laird, secretary, Alfred Wittenmaier, treasurer and Paul Cline, Student Council representative, pledged "while at work or at play" to serve their class faithfully.

Then the class of '50 pledged "to be loyal and true" to the upper class ranks. Now they were jolly juniors. Donald Bossart led the class with Dennis Yamber, vice president, Pauline Derek, secretary, Bruce Jenkins, treasurer, and Wayne Johnston, Student Council representative. Robert Morris, Elmer McDonald, Gerald Schmucker, George Halula, Albert Nigro and Jack Denny received football letters.

The class presented "Dear Ruth" starring Sara Black, Geraldine Hurley, Robert Riits, Emma Sue Rexrode, Anna McKelvey, Patricia Shaw, Robert Fen'on, Bruce Jenkins and Michael Smetanka. Under Jack Emery they drafted plans for the class flag, with the motto "Sound Minds, Able Citizens." The class of '50 chose the daffodil as their flower and green and gold, their colors. Then came the Juniors biggest thrill, the junior-senior prom. Choosing "Tropical Splendor" as their theme the class fashioned a life-long memory with Barry Blue furnishing the musical background.

Then as the words "we'll sing loud thy praises thy honor proclaim," they marched into the stately senior class. William Buchanan stepped into the limelight as class president with Anna Margaret Gross as vice-president, Joan Skoloda, secretary, John Zamer, treasurer, and Michael Cirucci, Student Council representative serving under him.

Orations and worry since the beginning of this year produced Wilber Kirk as the top class orator. The Birds' Christmas Carol starring Anna Margaret Gross gave the school the true yuletide spirit. The '50 basketweavers copped third place honors in the section, with William Buchanan, Donald Bossart, Howard Lenz, Jack Emery and Edward Walters receiving basketball letters.

Then the key was passed into the hands of the class of '51 and the words "thy sons and thy daughters—" swelled from the throats of the class of the half-century as they marched forth into the wide-wide world.

who was fatally stricken with infantile paralysis on the very threshold of enjoying and treasuring the fruits of her accomplishments.

Sara displayed remarkable talent in all her undertakings, and they were many. She was an active member of the music department, playing the clarinet in band and orchestra and accompanying girls' chorus. She participated in all girls' athletics, was active in forensics and garnered a part in the junior class play.

Sara became a member of the National Honor Society as a junior, a credit to her abilities. All the graduates of 1950 acknowledge and regret the loss of Sara, an unforgotten class leader.

ALBUM OF PERSONALITIES

Spotlight Of Individual

and similar homemaking activity sounds are easily associated with talented Joanne Planinsek, for Joanne loves to spend her time in the home economics cottage experimenting with new foods. Her work has never failed to win good grades either. Above everything, dress designing rates first with Joanne. "It's my future," she says.

Burning the Midnight Oil . . .

has won many a scholar his reputation. Richard Guskiewicz, however, has not limited himself to strictly scholastic activities. He has served as sports editor of the High Post, treasurer of the National Honor Society and as a member of Quill and Scroll. In addition to winning the Ruth Robb Debate as a junior and the Kiwanis extemp title this year, he has been associated with Boys' Chorus and many home room activities. Service on the Student Service filled out his well rounded four year program.

Speaker's Spotlight Shines . . .

on Geraldine Hurley, who devoted her free time to speech activities. "Jay" made her debut as a sophomore in the Ruth Robb debate. Since then she has been heard from as student director of an all class play, as a reporter on the Broadcasting Class's bi-weekly newscasts and as a speaker on the Junior Town Meeting program.

Music Hath Charms . . .

which first snared Henry Romersa as a freshman. That year he gave himself up to the band, orchestra, and boys' chorus. During the following years, "Hank" never missed a note of active participation in his three great loves. He finally wound up as a Latrobe representative to the district chorus and district orchestra. His plans will tie him to music for life—as a music teacher.

Take A Letter . . .

is the request which produces a quick and efficient response from Beverley Crowe. Efficiency has become routine to her, for Beverley has served as freshman class and home room secretary. Although many extra duties as Student Council representative and librarian demand her time, "Teddie" always managed to gain high honors. She was vice-president of the National Honor Society.

Footlights and Grease Paint . . .

hold special charm for Emma Sue Rexrode who has appeared in plays since her freshman year. She has been a member of the casts of "The Late Christopher Bean," "Dear Ruth," "Love Your Neighbor," and "Mistakes at the Blakes." Her talent also has found expression in the fields of art and literature where she won prizes both in scholastic writing contests and scholastic art contests. However, the actress of the year is going to be an art teacher.

Molds and Lathes . . .

have molded and shaped Robert Klapchar's high school career which revolved around the workshop's drills and saws. Known for his accomplished workmanship, Bob also took time to prove his capabilities as a high honor student and as an efficient basketball manager for the Wildcat varsity. Thus he too acquired the polish of a finished product.

Newspaper Know How . . .

earned Dianne Parker the distinction of being the top journalist in the class of 1950. "Dy" spent her senior year turning out top notch bi-weekly editions of the High Post. Her service on the Student Council and her venture into radio as a participant on the Junior Town Meeting program also deserve special mention.

Block That Kick . . .

has a familiar ring to Gerald Schmucker whose second home has been the gridiron. Gerry, who won a letter his junior year, led the '49 football squad to five victories. Gerry also displayed considerable ability as a track man his sophomore year and as a home room basketball competitor for four years. His versatility earns him the title "class athlete."

Follow the Leader . . .

best describes the pace Donald Bossart set for the class of 1950. Science Club members elected him vice-president and the J. C. L. selected him for vice-consul his freshman year. He led the grand march last spring as junior class president. Don climaxed his four year career as he wielded the gavel for the National Honor Society his senior year.

Third Year Men Slave To Make 'Showboat' Tops

OFFICERS

President Benjamin Lowenstein

Treasurer Mary Ann Funk
Student Council Ronald McKenzie

Juniors took turns trying on the new sophisticated poses that they will assume in front of the camera as seniors before the next year is out.

Class elections, first concern of the year, set up the organization: The banging of President Benjamin Lowenstein's gavel; Vice-President Donald Domenic serving as committee head; Anita Buerger's minutes; treasury reports by Mary Ann Funk; and ideas taken to Council by Ronald McKenzie. This is a picture taken at every meeting.

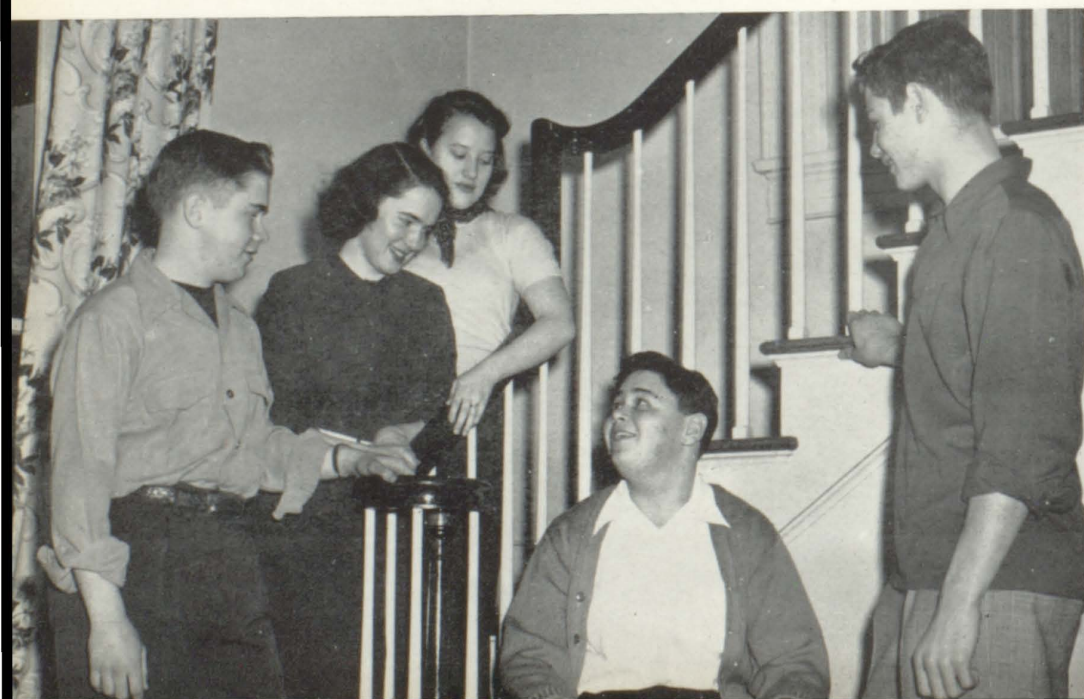

A flower, motto and flag provided things to be remembered in the future: hard work of Priscilla Beatty's committees; the selection of the motto "Truth Above All"; choosing a white rose as the flower; setting plans for the flag of maroon on white; hours of deliberation by Eleanor Volek, Helen Jane Moersch, John Paor and Regis Kessler. They served well the class of 1951.

To serve and protect their fellow students, seven juniors worked on Safety and Fire Patrols; shrill whistle tooting by Fred Wegley, Captain of Safety Patrol; Lawrence Morrissey regulating traffic; William Richwine, William Adams, William Berkmyre, Roger Caldwell and PASSING THE KEY features Moving Up Day as '51's Ben Lowenstein accepts the obligation from Senior President Bill Buchanan.

BACK STAGE managers and actors wait for their cue and call girls' signal, "On stage for act one."

PROM PLANS occupy junior class officers' spare time. Ronald McKenzie, Mary Ann Funk and Anita Buerger sympathize with President Ben Lowenstein who collapses in the nearest seat after a trying session as Vice-President Donald Domenic considers first aid.

JUNIOR CHEMISTS Libby George, Bill Hoffmann, and Abe Harman learn it takes manipulation to get the right results in an experiment.

BIOLOGISTS go way back to the beginning of time for soap-carving subjects and poster displays.

BOOK COVERS peddled by Nancy Hardy start a small traffic jam of juniors in the back hall.

RUDOLPH'S RED NOSE wins 117 the Christmas prize. Beverly Grote congratulates Decorator Bill Hoffmann as Francis Hurite and Leonard Kostley look on.

Francis Hurite checking corridors and rooms whenever a fire alarm sounded. Their main concern was protection in a time of need.

Athletics: heroes of the gridiron and hardwood courts; cheering crowds as boys played their hearts out for the team; proud display of football letters at the season's end by Donald Domenic, Francis Glamp, Charles Carpowich, John Rudy, Joe Pry and John Paio; Fred Wegley, Joe Jioio, John Gangemi and Joe Scarfi also piled up a required twenty quarters. Hopes of repeating section championship and broken hearts with every loss for William Adams, Tom Buchneitner, Edward Smith and Michael Pagnanelli, the only juniors on the basketball squad.

Junior thespians were caught in action as cameras flashed: stage directions from William "Cecil" Richwine; long practice sessions; sides to memorize; opening night jitters for Patricia Luttner, Dolores Beltz, Fred Wegley, Benjamin Lowenstein, Sally Lewis, Tom Godish, Francis Hurite, Marilyn Wellen, and Leonard Kostley; the laughs and tears of "Parlor Story"; antics of four other junior boys in "Late Christopher Bean." Reminiscences of amateur careers are pleasant.

Musical department: left lacking if minus the juniors' efforts; long victory marches for the band; openings and closings of every assembly; "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "Stout Hearted Men" theme songs for Girls' and Boys' Chorus; the distinction gained by Mary Morrell, chosen as the only Latrobe student for "All State Band"; juniors participating in district chorus, band, orchestra. These are important events of which classmates can be proud.

Sports, culture, education and extra curricular activities helped prepare the juniors so they might take their place as leaders in the school tomorrow.

While on the job snapping pictures of outstanding events in the school the cameraman could not help noticing the sophomores as they copied the ideal upperclassmen to prepare themselves to step ahead come the new year.

Administration: old hands at the task, sophomores knew that good leaders make a good class; Miss Adeline Reeping supervising nominations; homeroom balloting, tallying and then results; Vincent Rizzo presiding; James Roof as his right hand man; hurried minutes from Donald Lazarchik; Rose Marie Cirucci balancing accounts; "Our class requests that ——" from Patricia Robinsky at the Student Council meetings. The camera caught these little political bosses in action.

Athletics: keeping the bench warm or roughing up the game, the picture showed the sophomores operating beyond the scope of any textbook; gridiron glances found Ronald Lynch, Martin Westfall and Andrew Keefe in varsity positions; sophomores were the mainstays of the junior varsity encounters; hardwood headlines for Albert Lenz, Robert Mueseler, Vincent Rizzo and Joseph Caruso; classy ball handlers Charles Bell and Ronald Lynch; Hugh Shields, Roger Beidler and Martin Westfall three tall boys; Andrew Keefe, the only underclassman to play varsity; track, tennis and pingpong all dominated by the boys to graduate in '52.

Activities: Not wanting to be outdone the girls set the pace as leaders in all kinds of weather; Gwen Syster, Joan Leccia, Patricia Robinsky and Irene Lupchinsky, high stepping twirlers from the sophomore ranks; Donald Lazarchik strutting ahead of the band as drum major; leading the band or leading cheers, sophomores could usually be found out in front. These leaders of today work hard in preparing to become the leaders of tomorrow.

Acknowledgements; now that they have been around for two years sophomore virtues are beginning to be recognized; Joan Cline won the election for Student Council treasurer; Selma Hanna and Rose Marie Cirucci acted out parts in the all class play; Lois Fowler and John Ondriezek helped other sophomore BBC'ers air the news twice weekly; Gerald Hackman and Donald Pearson kept students and autos apart with their red Safety Patrol flags; Martin Helenic introduced the ballet in to the school life; Martha Lowe was crowned Latin Queen in Pittsburgh; speaking and writing awards went to the sophomores. They studied hard for the honors granted them.

The camera now has recorded these gay young sophomores preparing to take over in all fields next year as jolly juniors. Whether they be an outstanding scholar, athlete, leader or just a regular fellow everyone helped shape the destiny of his class.

New Opportunities Inspire Greenies To Look Ahead

OFFICERS

Treasurer	Barbara Fischer
Student Council	James Hauser

Greenies of every shade reflected in the camera while the class of 1953 put on their best smiles as highlights of the year became lasting pictures in the album of high school memories.

Leaders: like a small community in action, the freshmen held elections; Miss Irene Mertz steered the beginners in class government; popular vote found Richard Domenic as prexy; William Adams as able assistant; Gretchen Badstibner keeping records; a balanced account Barbara Fischer's constant worry; James Hauser serving his classmates on the Student Council. It proved a big new job for little people.

Barronettes: a first year for all in major sport competition; learning the ropes the hard way in basketball and football; spirits soared with every win or loss; Jeannette and Greensburg provided needed experience; Moranelli to Palek pass combination gave the greenies their tally; hardwood season came next into the spotlight; Bob Stumpf, Domenic and Adams sparked the frosh contingent; Junior WPIAL tournament showed the boys what is in store for them as varsity members; they proved themselves also as the unsung heroes of the sports world, the managers. Coach Barron taught these boys their stuff for further use.

Greasepaint and spotlights: with Broadway in their views, greenies first displayed acting talent in "Courtship of Miles Standish" as the Thanksgiving assembly skit; leading roles fell on the shoulders of Francis Peduzzie, Rose Marie Franko and James McCormick; Kathryn Myers stepped into stardom as Ada Hagget in the all class play; Tom Murphy portrayed Larry Rugles in the P. of D. Christmas pageant. The ninth year men are now prepared to set Hollywood on their heels.

Music and speech: golden voices flowing from auditorium seventh period; freshmen boys in Boys' Chorus; musical melodies of greenies in band; orchestra member from the class of 1953; extempers for the first time; James Beatty and Dorothy Dietz nervous on night of finals; forensics season brought new worries. The freshmen proved themselves masters with their vocal chords for the benefit of the upperclassmen.

Memories: the thrill of being in high school; how little you felt hurrying through crowded halls; reporting to wrong classrooms; first night in workroom; "little people on the shelf"; taunting nickname "greenie"; plays and dances; overcoming shyness; broadcasts, assemblies and school paper kept you well informed; imitating the ideal upperclassmen; hero-worship for the stars; the handy Lost and Found or Student Service representatives to help a bewildered soul. Life would not have been complete for any first year student without a lasting memory of some everyday incident.

Now well seasoned, the class of 1953 is ready to take their place as sophomores and think the same of next year's freshmen.

DRAMATICS

Footlights And Grease Paint Leave Memories Of First Night Jitters

Crowded back stage wings, grease paint and wigs, the glare of footlights, final notes of the orchestra before the first act curtain—all these and more are treasured memories for the dramatists of the year.

Along with turkey and stuffings came the greenies and their major production, excerpts from The Courtship of Miles Standish. The freshmen members who played the leading roles were Frances Peduzzi, Rose Mary Franko and James McCormick. Ina Moran, Joseph Visconti and Ronald Cameron supported them. Fifteen students presented the pantomime for the scenes. They were Jerome Marco, Loretta Kusinsky, Collette Derek, Shirley Marks, Donna Lloyd, Robert Steele, Donald Accorsi, and Franklin Piper. James Beatty, Robert Kintz, John Wright, Barbara Fischer, Joyce Stewart, Dorothy Dietz, John Kintz and Gretchen Badstibner completed the list.

JUNIORS COLLABORATE as the cast for "The Parlor Story" meets for the first reading of the annual class play.

Sue Rexrode and James Thompson represented the senior class. Rose Marie Cirucci, William Richwine, Frances Hurite, Ronald Vittone and Regis Kessler brought the juniors glory. Underclassmen in the cast were Selma Hanna, and Kathryn Myers.

The seniors of Mr. J. R. Beatty's problems of democracy classes presented Dickens "Christmas Carol" as the annual holiday assembly. Cast members included June Miller, Anna Margaret Gross, Robert Newmeyer, Barbara Johnston, Nancy Erny, Juanita Taylor, Bruce Jenkins, Ludwig Kubicki, Clair Casey, Lenore Kahano-witz, Ronald Frye, Patricia Shaw, Robert Burns and Thomas Murphy.

Juniors stepped before the footlights and a full house to present "The Parlor Story," directed by Miss Johnston and William Richwine, student director. Members of the cast included: Sally Lewis, Marilyn Wellen, Dolores Beltz, Patricia Luttner, Thomas Godish, William Hoffman, Benjamin Lowenstein, Fred Wegley, Frances Hurite and Leonard Kostley.

Seniors dropped the year's dramatic curtain with a spine-tingling presentation of "A Murder Has Been Arranged." Student director Barbara Pohland helped Miss Laura Johnston whip the cast into shape for the only mystery of the year. Nine seniors filled the play's roles: Geraldine Hurley, Pat Shaw, Emma Sue Rexrode, Evelyn Major, Mollie Goldberg, Robert Ritts, Ludwig Kubicki, George Seitanakis, and Wilber Kirk.

PUBLICATIONS . . .

Printers Ink And Blue Pencil

Working behind the publications scenes the journalism staff of Latrobe High School found their deeds and misdeeds snapped into pictures for the photo album of memories.

The editors: period nine for Dianne Parker, editor-in-chief, when deadlines weren't met; sleepless nights for Lenore Kahanowitz, feature editor, trying to think of a new idea for page two; extra work on the part of Richard Guskiewicz, sports editor, because of a one man staff; Edward Zabkar, advertising manager, keeping up to date on the sperventing of lightning; financial problems kept Dennis Yamber, business manager, busy keeping the department self-supporting; incoming and outgoing mail was the problem of Anna Margaret Gross, exchange editor. The journalists of tomorrow in action today.

The staff: Jacqueline McAtee, Joanne Mitchell, Marilyn Wright and Dorothea Zenk filling pages with current news; Jane Long and Ann Flowers working on a trick idea for a feature column; Donald Domenic and James Thompson keeping track of the "Cats" advancement in the sport world; Dolores Todd, Emory Lesho, Joseph Konkoly, Evelyn Mervay and Emil Martino traveling from store to store in search of ads for page four. After a year they now think they are ready to fill the place of graduating editors.

The products: the High Post, a bi-monthly publication of the staff, filled every day with fun or drudgery; four pages of news, views and comments on and about the premises; next the Latrobean, the school yearbook; a text of pictures and writeups of outstanding events; Nancy Erny and Mildred Rutch knocked out their brains as editors of the annual; last but not least as a service to the incoming greenies the

FORENSICS

Speakers Flourish In Community Sponsored Contests

Backstage jitters—the traditional clattering knees and sweating palms—were hardly evident as Latrobe High School's 1950 crop of speakers stepped to the microphone and enjoyed themselves.

The 25th annual Rotary Oratorical Contest opened the forensic season. Urging as "Our Freedom" the encouragement of individual enterprise, Wilber Kirk captured first prize.

Second place went to Geraldine Hurley for her "Man of the Half-Century," an eulogy to Winston Churchill. Ann Workman took third with "Blessed Are The Peacemakers," and Robert Fenton's "The Great Provider" earned honorable mention. Other finalists were Donald Bosart, Helen Keffer, Carol Moberg and Emma Sue Rexrode.

Eight speakers discussing "Socialized Medicine" participated in the 20th annual Kiwanis Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. Richard Guskiewicz gained the school title after being selected as senior winner over Harry Dundore. Fred Wegley won the junior class title, competing against Ronald Vittone; and Christine Slater took sophomore honors. James Beatty won for the freshmen. Lois Fowler and Dorothy Dietz were the other underclass finalists.

In the 13th annual Women's Club contest Barbara Okonak took first place in Shakespearean reading, Gilda Larry won in poetry reading, and Wilber Kirk topped the declamation contestants. Civic Club Debate honors went to affirmative speakers Christine Slater and Barbara Hinger over the negative team, Harry Dundore and Robert Burns, as the forensic season closed.

THE MELODY LINGERS ON

Stellar Musical Groups Come In On Down Beat

DISTRICT ORCHESTRA members talk over plans for their trip to Wilkinsburg. The group includes Barbara Smith, Juanita Taylor, Priscilla Beatty, Nancy Eby, Barbara Johnston, and Marilyn Emrick. Helen Jane Moersch is seated and Henry Romersa looks on over the shoulders.

We remember hearing violin squeaks and flute shrills as the orchestra tuned up or mi-mi-mi's drowning out boo-boo-boo-boo's as the choruses got ready for action.

We watched the 91-piece band march in straight ranks and files. The band joined in celebrating seven football triumph's this year by parading down Ligonier Street playing "Latrobe High Victorious" with three-fourths of the spectators following. During the half the band presented such skits as "Old McDonald's Farm" and the history of dancing. They also displayed marching compared to that seen at West Point.

Two drum majors and seven drum major-ettes preceeded the musicians. When Don Lazarchik tooted his whistle, the band followed his commands. Ron Carnahan twirled the baton. As head majorette, Ann Flowers was responsible for keeping Barbara Dutrow, Pat Robinsky, Irene Lupchinsky, Joan Leccia and Gwen and Sandy Syster in neat ranks.

The band also played indoors. The medley from "Showboat" and "Rhapsody in Blue" were among their offerings at the spring concerts. Ben Lowenstein with his baritone, Mary Lynch with her flute and Mary Morrell with her French horn, journeyed to West View, for Western District Band. Mary Morrell was selected from this group for All State Band.

We remember staggering into assembly as the orchestra played "High School Cadets March" and racing out as the 32 tunesmiths played "Tempus Fugit." Helen Keffer was at the piano as the orchestra made music for plays, orations and the concert. For the spring affair they played Humel's "Mood Americana," Beethoven's "Finale" and a novelty, "Chopsticks."

Journeying to Wilkinsburg for Western District Orchestra were seven girls from the string section and a trombonist. Barbara Smith and Nancy Eby played second violins. Juanita Taylor, Priscilla Beatty, Helen Jane Moersch and Marilyn Emrick displayed their skill with cellos. Barbara Johnstin with her string bass and Henry Romersa with his trombone completed the list of the select eight.

We remember the rust curtains slowly moving apart as the boys' chorus burst out with "Stout Hearted Men." The 90 boys presented an assembly program and sang for extemp with Jim Smith accompanying them. "The Donkey Serenade," "By the Light of the Silvery Moon" and "Old Man River" were included in this concert repertoire.

We remember girls' chorus II singing "You'll Never Walk Alone" in their cassocks. Helen Keffer was at the piano as the 85 girls sang for assembly and the Woman's Club Contest. For the concert, the girls sang "Trepak" from the "Nutcracker Suite," "Let Us Praise God," "Sit Down Servant" and the "Lord's Prayer."

There's Music In The Air As Chorus Voices Rise

We remember 75 freshmen girls learning the fundamentals of choral singing in Chorus I and hoping that they could advance to Chorus II. Donna Lloyd accompanied them for their assembly. For the concerts Chorus I sang "Little David, Play on Your Harp" and "Dear Land of Home."

Boys Chorus and Chorus II blended soprano and bass voices in a mixed chorus for the concert. Helen Keffer and Jim Smith were at the twin pianos as the group sang "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Five upperclassmen sang in Western District Chorus at Canonsburg. Barbara Johnstin and Netta Cadzow sang alto, while Barbara Dutrow sang soprano. Howard Dira and Henry Romersa sang tenor and bass respectively.

We remember this year's innovation—an octette singing hymns for assembly. Barbara Johnston and Netta Cadzow sang alto, and Pat Hall and Janet Taylor, soprano. Bases were Henry Romersa and Leonard Kostley, while William Adams and Charles Bell were tenors. Martin Hellenic accompanied them on the organ.

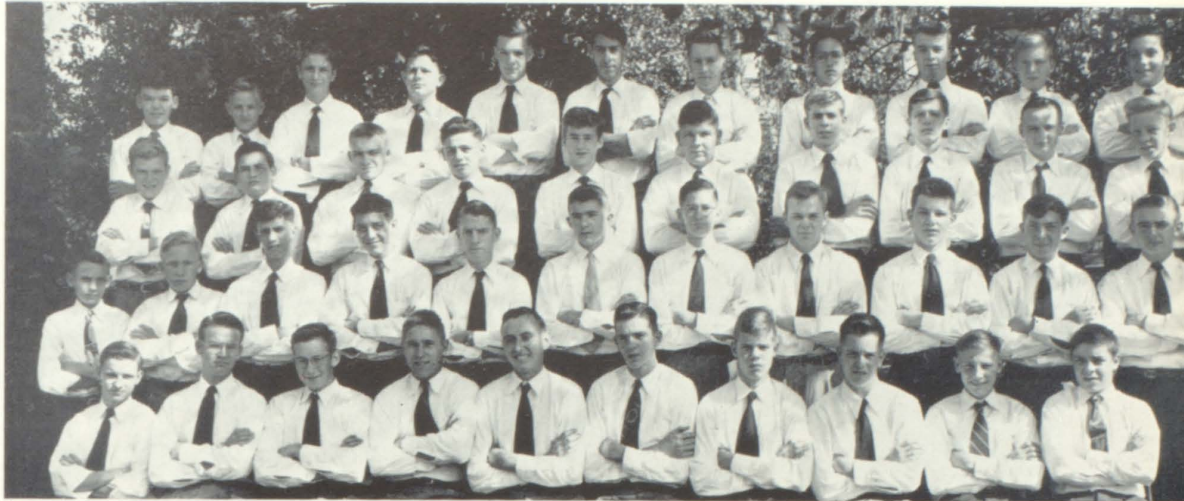

We remember the German Band, too. Henry Romersa was the leader and trombonist. Bob Newmeyer and Charles Lemmon played the clarinets. Jerry Nagel played the bass horn and Don Bossart the trumpet. Jim Dibble was at the drums.

We remember music filling the air all through the year.

COUNCIL'S AGENDA occupy Student Council officers as they prepare for the next formal meeting. Pauline Derek records the decision as Janet McGuire and Joan Cline discuss assembly reading assignments with President Bruce Jenkins.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Assembly Audience Appreciates New Movie Projector

Student Council, Latrobe High School's service organization, is caught in the many activities it brings the school as candid flashes record the projects for the year.

The camera first recorded the initiative and seriousness of the group, under the supervision of Mr. J. R. Beatty, faculty adviser; the silence that reigns when President Bruce Jenkins calls for attention; Marilyn McGuire's readiness to serve if the president is called away; up to date minutes and balanced financial reports heard from Pauline Derek and Joan Cline; voices of other members raised to give their suggestions and opinions. These are the work of the day.

The yearly projects of the Council are numerous: purchase of a movie projector as a gift to the school; "Autumn Stag" and Country Store", two dances of the year; "Hot dogs, pop corn, ice-cream! Buy it here," as members run concession stands at basketball and football games; regular and special assemblies on Wednesdays and Fridays in the auditorium. All are necessary parts of every one's school day and all are sponsored by the Student Council.

Not just planning entertainment, but hard work crowds into the program of every Council member: scrubbing down corridor pictures; keeping the Council room spick and span; ushering for special programs; ticket and novelty sales; nervous wait before Bible readings; March of Times movies once a month; annual spelling bee. Not tremendous tasks when everyone bands together, these things weld Council into a working group.

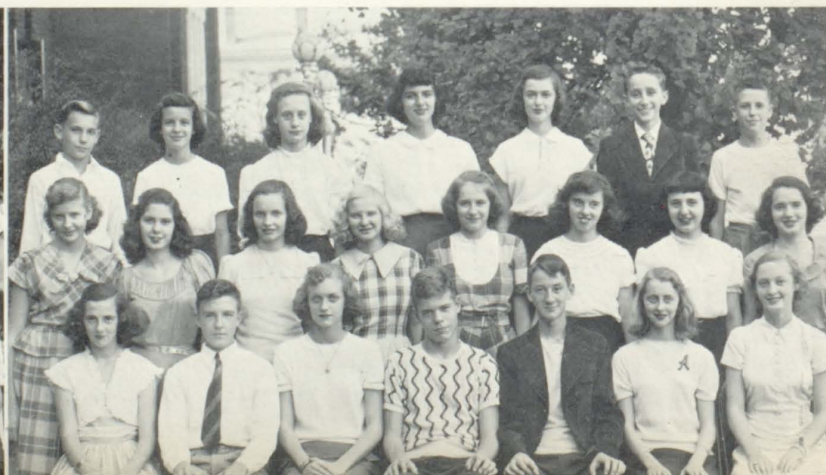

It's here, recorded in pictures, the proof of the organization. Listing service to the student body as the main objective; striving for improvement in the form of actual gains; the Student Council is the voice of the students acting in accordance with their wants.

ASSEMBLY OPENING sets the scene for solemnity as eight students in the Assembly Ocette lead the devotional hymn, and two Student Council members, Paul Lizza and Joan Cline, read the Bible.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS require after-school work for Council members, giving the auditorium that seasonal spirit. Jim Beatty adjusts the chains, while Ronald McKenzie, Mary Louise Pocle, and George Seitanakis dress the front of the stage.

BROADCASTERS wait for the clock before beginning their annual radio play featuring Geraldine Hurley, Irene Kitty, Cameron Eiseman, Anthony Zenone and John Ondriezek. Sound effects are by Roxanne Freeman and Peggy Smith.

GATHERING INFORMATION is an important step in broadcasting. Geraldine Hurley, Christine Slater, Rose Marie Cirucci and Gilda Larry check scripts.

ATTENTION STUDENTS announces news reported Irene Kitty while Anthony Zenone, sports editor, assists her in the broadcast.

A PROFESSIONAL JOB is auditioned by members of the class so they can pick up a few points for their bi-weekly broadcasts. Marie Derek, Rheta Felbaum, and Harry Albert get some tips from the radio.

Weekly News Events And Sports Go Out Over B.C.C.

Flash news—direct from station BCC, broadcasting class of Latrobe High School, rang out over the airways every Monday and Thursday for high school students.

Three BCC regulars returned to supervise behind the scenes. Geraldine Hurley and Irene Kittey were standbys from last year's staff. Anthony Zenone, the only junior representative faced the microphone for his second year.

Sixteen broadcasters reported the news to eager students. Of this group, sophomores composed the majority. Harry Albert, Cam Eiseman and John Ondriezek faithfully reported the outcome of all athletic meets in their sports casts.

Other sophomores broadcast "all the news around L. H. S." These girls included Lois Fowler, Roxanne Freeman, Margaret Smith, Rosemarie Cirucci and Christine Slater. Gilda Larry, Rheta Felbaum, Gloria Himic, Barbara Hinger and Marie Derek also served as reporters for the broadcasting station.

Station BCC did not confine its activity to school news. They put on their annual Christmas play. The 1949 edition was "Mugby Junction" by Dickens. Displaying promising talent, they also aired the drama over station WHJB, Greensburg.

The group also gave the Halloween assembly. Their play was entitled, "The Ghost of Benjamin Sweet," a mystery suspense. In the spring, the group toured KDKA, Pittsburgh and glimpsed the mechanism needed to operate a nationwide broadcasting system.

INITIATION PLANS outlined by Mr. Beatty interest National Honor Society officers. Seated are Barbara Johnstin, Donald Bossart and Beverley Crowe, while Richard Guskiewicz, Lenore Kahanowitz and Bruce Jenkins look on.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Scholarship And Service Travel Hand In Hand

As students of Latrobe High School pass on year to year one of their ambitions is to become a member of the National Honor Society.

To be a member of this group is one of high school's top distinctions. An Honor Society member must rank in the upper quarter of his class scholastically, be willing and ready to be of service to his school, have demonstrated qualities of good leaderships, and be able to conform to certain character obligations. Fifteen percent of the senior class and five per cent of the junior class may be elected. The entire faculty votes for eligible students.

Eight seniors carried out the society's aims this year. Under the supervision of Mr. James R. Beatty, they elected officers at their first meeting, selecting Donald Bossart as president and Beverley Crowe as vice-president. Serving the society as secretary was Barbara Johnstin, while Bruce Jenkins represented them on Student Council. Richard Guskiewicz took care of the financial duties, and Lenore Kahanowitz filled the position of High Post Reporter. Other members included Geraldine Hurley, and Emma Sue Rexrode. The late Sara Black was also elected to membership last spring.

The Latrobe High School Chapter of the National Honor Society received its charter in 1925. From that time until 1949, 747 Latrobe students have had their names placed on the society's membership roll achieving a place of scholastic distinction.

Can you remember the fun and excitement Latrobe High School students found in their extra activities?

Student Council's three dances provided opportunities for dance lovers to keep abreast of the latest in dancing steps. Girls got their first chance to show off new outfits at the "Autumn Stag." The annual Sadie Hawkins dance was a favorite of all. At this dance girls had a good time catching their favorite man and dragging him to the "Country Store." Here plaid shirts and blue jeans made the gym a bright place. Spring outfits were pulled from mothballs for the last school dance of the year, "Swing With Spring."

Boys rejoiced over permission to use motor vehicles in the Homecoming Day float. For the first time since the beginning of the war, they were relieved from pulling the floats in the parade. The brains of 103 thought of the idea, "Wild Waves Support Good Sportsmanship," and captured the award in the 29th annual Homecoming Day float.

Betty Grable and Van Johnson were set on their heels with the three class plays. The whole school combined acting talent to produce the All Class Play, "The Late Christopher Bean." Next the Juniors held up the class tradition with "The Parlor Story." All mystery loving seniors tried their skill in "A Murder Has Been Arranged."

After the purchase of the movie projector, Latrobe High School's auditorium might have been mistaken for the Manos or the Grand. The first school production, "Treasure Island," made everybody forget they were in school. The only difference from the real theater was the popcorn and the boy friend.

Future doctors and Nightingales made a good start by joining the newly formed Ars Medica Club. Girls from the club spend pleasant Saturday mornings reading to children in Latrobe Hospital. Some club members received their first taste of hospital air by visiting Latrobe Hospital and other institutions. Girls decided on the best nursing school to attend by collecting data on various schools.

One senior girl put her paint brush to good use. Anna Mary Barnhart's painting, "Out Big Barn," won a prize at Harrold Fair last fall.

Cats Post Best Record
In Grid Field Since '46

HEAD GRID COACH Ray V. Wild looks over a scrimmage session with his coaching staff. Kneeling in front are assistant coaches, M. A. Barron, M. E. Rizzo and C. S. Westfall.

Racking up their best season since 1946, the Wildcat gridders posted a record of six wins—four over AA opponents—and four losses, at the hands of AA competitors.

The Orangemen wasted no time in launching a successful season as they humbled the Derry Twp. Eagles 14-0. John Rudy, back, opened seasonal scoring by cracking over from four yards out in the initial canto. Latrobe continued its scoring pace when "Cam" Domenic bolted into the "promised land" from the two. Glamp converted after both counters.

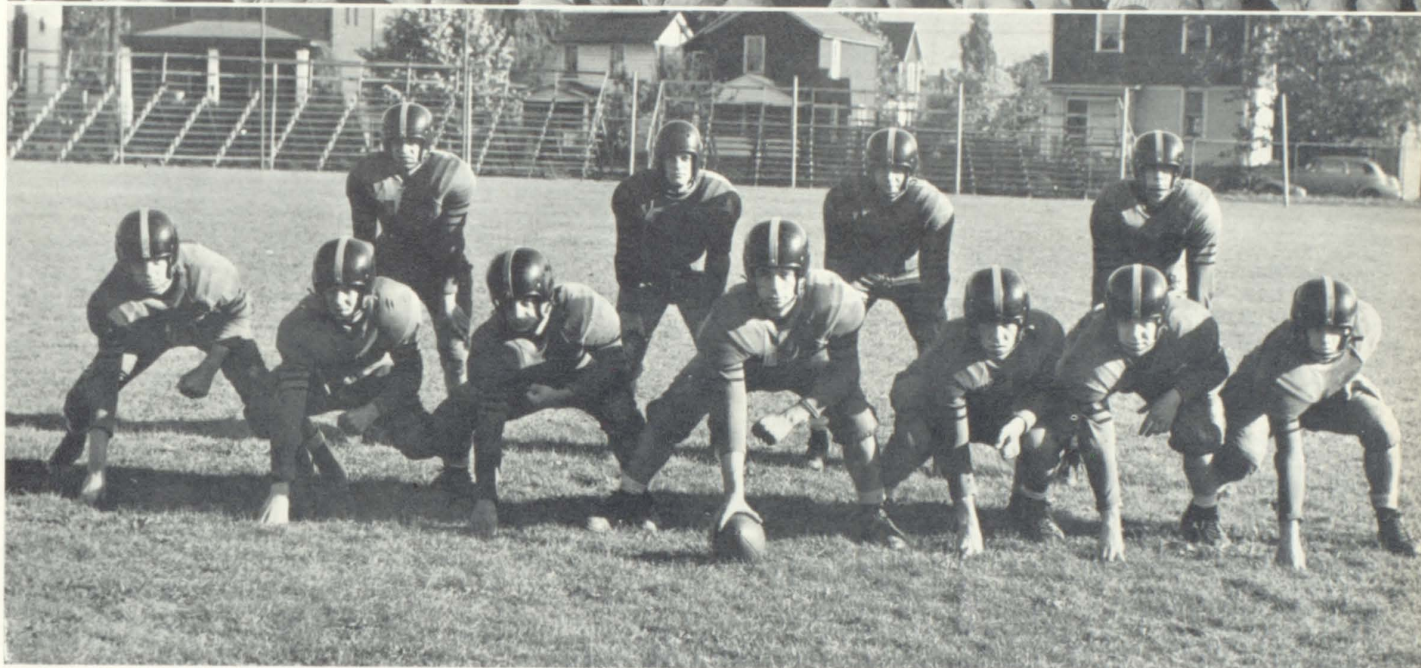

In the next encounter, the Penn High Indians thoroughly scalped the Wildmen 18-0. The loss bounced the Cats out of the WPIAL race. A favored Hurst eleven invaded the Wildcat den on September 24, and were smashed by the home team, 27-14. Latrobe's third victory came as a result of a 28-14 triumph over the Donora Dragons. The win gave the Wildmen their first victory over an AA opponent.

October 7 will be a date long remembered by Latrobe fans. On this occasion, the Wildcats battled the Jeannette Jayhawks down to the last second before bowing 7-6. Early in the initial period, Joe Pry slammed over from four yards out. Glamp's all important extra point soared wide of the mark. Jeannette overcame the lead in the second canto, when Dick Gounder, Jayhawk end, swept into block John Rudy's punt and recovered the ball in the end zone for the score. Ray Greene booted the extra point and Jeannette won the game 7-6. In the waning moments of the ball game, the Cats recovered a fumble deep in Jeannette territory, but the clock ran out before the Orangemen could capitalize on the break.

The Orange and Black tripped the Altoona Mountain Lions, October 15, by a 20-7 margin. The win was the first scored over the Scarlet since 1939. After battling a supposedly weak Sharon outfit for three quarters, the Wildcats finally pushed over a score midway in the final canto to tally a 7-0 win. Glamp broke into the clear and raced 43 yards for the tally.

Greensburg proved to be another stumbling block as the Wildcats bowed to the Brown and White 13-7. Latrobe drew first blood with Pry carrying over from six yards out in the first half. Glamp converted. In the same canto, a Wildcat aerial was pulled in by Ammerman, Lion end, and returned to the Cat three yard line where Medved, Golden Lion back, scored. The bonus point by Basick was good and the score was deadlock at the intermission. The County Seaters punched over the winning score in the third period when Hoffman tallied from the two yard line.

"Corky" Glamp put on a dazzling exhibition of ball-carrying on November 4, as the Orangemen routed Wilkinsburg, 39-19. Scoring five of the seven markers, the Wildcat star punched over 33 points. Joe Pry, back, tallied the remaining two Cat touchdowns.

The Wildmen rounded out a successful season on an unsuccessful attempt, as they dropped a 25-12 verdict to Uniontown Armistice night. Bob Morris, end, and "Cam" Domenic, back, accounted for Latrobe's scores.

Seventeen gridders and one manager were awarded letters or certificates for outstanding grid service. Coach Wild Resigns As Cage Mentor After 20 Year Reign

What started out to be a dismal season finished on a flourishing note for the Orange cagers as they won 13 tussels and dropped ten battles to finish third in the Section XI race and chase Monessen down to the wire for the county Class A basketball title.

Irwin spoiled the Cats' debut as they dealt the Orangemen a 45-31 reverse in the season's opener. Somerset fell to the Latrobers 31-14, but Irwin stepped in and sank the Orange battleship for the second straight time 29-28. After a 35-24 loss to Uniontown, Coach Wild's boys took Somerset on the rebound to hammer out a 40-16 win.

Pre-league action continued as Brentwood evened up a two year series by winning over Latrobe 48-34. The Wildmen completed pre-season action by losing to Uniontown's Maroon Raiders 44-32 on the Latrobe court.

Sectional competition opened for the Cats on January 10 as Jeannette stymied the Wild court machine by a 48-25 margin. Greensburg dealt out league loss number two by whipping the Orange charges 47-32, but a 57-32 victory over Derry Twp. started the Latrobe five on a five game victory skein. Scottdale fell by a 61-47 score; North Huntingdon dropped, 44-31; Hurst, 44-31; and Alumni 37-28 to climax the winning streak.

Second half competition started off in the same fashion as the initial round as Jeannette and Greensburg both dumped the Orange Cats. Another victory span began as the Latrobe quintet downed Derry Township's Eagles 57-35. Coach Wild's cagers continued their winning pace as they downed Scottdale 50-41 and North Huntingdon 47-36. League action closed on February 21, as the Orangemen whipped Hurst 51-37.

The Wildmen gave Coach Wild a good farewell present as they battled Monessen right down to the wire in the finals of the County Tourney before losing 48-38. They reached the finals by whipping Scottdale 44-30 and a highly touted Greensburg team 46-32. Mr. Wild closed a 20 year regime as basketball mentor at Latrobe at the completion of the 1949-50 season by withdrawing from the coaching assignment. With him went an excellent won and lost record which stands high in any list.

Seven varsity cagers and one manager gained letters. Players included: John Emery, Howard Lenz, William Buchanan, Donald Bossart, Edward Walters, William Adams and Thomas Buchleitner. Manager Bob Klapchar rounded out the group.

Setting the pace for minor sports, Donald Bossart, '50, and George Lynch, '49, copped the PIAA doubles tennis championship at State College, Pennsylvania, last spring. They whipped Williamsport and Reading to gain the crown. The winners represented Latrobe and the WPIAL in the tournament. This represents Latrobe's second such title. Jack Roof and George Greubel won the crown in 1945.

Inaugurating his first year as head track mentor, Mr. Richard Braun began the cinder campaign with lettermen Dick Hauser, Francis Glamp, Jack Emery, Bill Buchanan, Fred Lenz, Fred Wegley, Bill Adams, Don Noonan, Ed Gearing and Roger Caldwell. These boys carried the brunt of the Wildcat attack. Track activity began in April with the inter-class meet.

Competition galore was found in the annual ping pong tournament. Coming out on top of the heap were Fred Zenone, freshman winner, Hugh Shields, sophomore titlist, Joe Pry, junior champ, and Bob Reeping, senior crown-man. In the final matches Hugh Shields downed Don Bossart to garner school champion honors. Ping pong also caught the eye of the girls as they also battled one another in a "white-ball" tourney. After the smoke cleared, Barbara Pohland reigned as champ in the girls' ping pong circle.

Turning in a repeat performance with that of last year, the seniors won the school basketball championship. Heading the pack of underclass performers was Room 214 who downed the freshman Room 201 to win underclass laurels. In the upperclass group, it was 104 who turned the tide on junior home room 119 in the battle for the upperclass crown. The seniors clicked consistently as they won the school crown by whipping the sophomores 24-16.

Sporting two one man teams, Room 120, underclass champs, and 103, upperclass victors clashed in the championship tilt. Room 103 slammed the "greenies" 20-6 to win the tourney pennant. All scoring was done by two girls. Sarb Johnstin canned 20 markers while Ann Edwards of the losers scored her team's six points.

With only two lettermen returning to bolster their attack, the golf team, under the tutorship of head coach Robert E. Cook tackled a tough WPIAL schedule. Spearheading the squad was Eddie Zabkar, Francis Cmar and Emory Lesho.

Mr. Rise's tennis team underwent a rebuilding process as only one senior, Don Bossart, returned to the roster. Other veterans on the roster included: Dick Atkinson and Jim Roof. Early in the year, Jim Roof and Don Bossart represented Latrobe in a WPIAL tournament but lost to Shadyside.

An Orange and Black round-robin girls' basketball tournament and a boys' tennis tourney also were included in this season's athletic plan.

Athletic competition helped students use leisure time as a variety of games were carried on in the intra-mural class in Latrobe High School in 1949-1950.

The seniors kept up what has now become somewhat a tradition as they won the boys' homeroom basketball championship downing the underclass champs, sophomore room 213, by a 24-16 score. In their quest for the crown the new titleholders won over four teams. They scored wins over 101, 112 and then humbled 119 to win the upper-class title. The fourth win, of course, came over 213.

Seven boys comprised the winning aggregation. They were Ronald Marshall, Ludwig Kubicki, Leon Kosker, William Lynch, William McCurdy, William Luttnier, and Howard Lenz. Senior team 102 won the crown last year.

Two girls stole the show in the girls' home room basketball tourney as they scored all of their team's points in the final game. Barbara Johnston scored 20 points, and Ann Edwards counted six points as 103 won over 120. The score was 20-6. The girls from 103 were the same bunch that won the title for 116 last year.

The majority of the time, all the boys and girls were cheering for the basketball and football teams, but no one said a thing about a crowd of gentlemen who carried on their work—rain or shine. Yes, the cheerleaders and managers were like "Old Man River," they just kept rolling along.

The football managers were led by Ronald Frye and Robert Klapchar was the top man on the totem pole for the court managers. Ronald and Robert both served four years as managers in their respective sport. Seniors Mike Cirucci and John Walker led the cheerleaders in their "2-4-6-8's" and "L-A-Ts" at the football and basketball games.

Girls also participated in class basketball as Monday first whipped Monday seventh to win the health class title. The score in that tussel read 21-14. Barbara Johnston led her team to the title. A girls' round robin basketball tournament was also held this year.

A gymnastic class also was active this season. One of the big features of this group was a demonstration put on for the students in the gymnasium. Two seniors, Mike Cirucci and Anthony Cirucci, led the gymnastic team. All of these things put together make up just one thing—intra-mural activities.

BASKETBALL MANAGERS are busy on the afternoon before the court squad hits the road for another league game. Bob Klapchar is showing his assistants Jim Harris, Jerome Harman and Lee Gordon what to pack.

Thanks For The Memories . . .

Of 1950 and the help that made possible these familiar scenes and friendly faces recreating the happy story of Latrobe High School. It took but a minute to click the shutter . . . some hours of writing and editing . . . but behind it all may you find all the plans, hopes and dreams that may keep 1950 a year of teeming memories.

On Wearing Quality

There is a measure of success for Tool Steel that applies very aptly to people as they follow their careers. The measure is wearing quality . . . how well a tool steel resists the effects of wear and tear while doing a proper job . . . and how successfully men and women at work can do the same.

Good preparation has a lot to do with it. Our tool steels graduate from a tough course of forging, rolling and tempering that improves natural ability to 'take it' on the job. You graduates-to-be have had sound preparation, too—at home, and through the disciplines of learning and social cooperation gained in school.

May you go forth, fare well, and wear well, through the trials and joys of the busy years to come!
