High School Increases Interests With New, Modernized Courses

It is believed that a picture says more than a thousand words. With this thought, the 1965 year-book is presented to the student body of Latrobe High School.

As one gazes through these pages, he relives the days of the past school year with the aid of hundreds of pictures that, for a limited time, will unfold a meaningful story for each individual. Tense moments before exams, scenes from those unforgettable plays, a crucial moment in the football game, a monthly club meeting—all these will be remembered in the years to come by journeying through this book.

Faces of teachers, fellow classmates and members of the administration will bring to mind friends who helped guide us through these important years of our lives. Pictures of familiar corridors and classrooms will bring back memories of our "good old golden-rule days."

But equally important in a complete resume of any school year is the written account of the highlights of the year. In time names and faces will slip from memory, but on the pages of this book will be imprinted forever the story of the events that made 1964-1965 the memorable school year that it was.

With this brief introduction, you are ready to journey through the following pages and recall your first prom, chemistry lab, graduation night, that first awe-filled day of school, or that entertaining assembly. Each picture will tell a unique story to you. Each story will bring to mind a special event. The combined account is a record that will last forever.

ATHLETICS

Supplementing social and scholastic endeavors was the function of athletics. One may be intelligent, one may have a vibrant personality, but without good health he is nothing. Student participation, both male and female, in physical programs is illustrated in this section both in written and pictorial forms..... page 54.

CLASSES

A primary function of school life is development—physical, social and chiefly, intellectual. Pictured in this division are the steps in the intellectual development of the students. Through classwork, projects, programs and examinations, the capabilities and intellects of the students are explored..... page 72.

LETJECTIONS

Cheers rise in a wave from the crowded stands. Strains of a march can be heard faintly above the roar of the crowd. It's football season and the beginning of the school year!

After the first month of school, the freshmen begin to talk and plan for their dance. Soon preparations for the annual Student Council Dance begin. After classes, motions are heard in many rooms where the JCL, Commercial Club, MLC and other clubs begin to plan for another year of service.

Soon the thump of bouncing balls and the officials' whistles testify that basketball season has arrived. With cold weather, strains of Christmas carols float through the halls as the band, orchestra and choruses prepare for the Christmas season.

As the New Year starts, snatches of orations and autobiographies may be heard wherever seniors or sophomores gather. An occasional student, muttering as he walks down the hall, is known to be in a play or practicing for forensic competition. Tension arises as students are chosen for the Mu Alpha Theta, Quill and Scroll and National Honor Society.

As spring approaches so do exclamations about the annual prom. Anxious juniors and seniors discuss gowns and dates. In the gym, hammering and swishing paint brushes join the laughter and talk of students. For weeks after that magic night, the prom is brought up again and again in conversation.

As the school year comes to a close, many organizations begin to plan for final activities. The musical organizations practice long hours for the spring concerts while journalism students talk of their banquet, Student Council members of their outing and other organizations of their plans.

Talk soon turns to the close of school. Underclassmen discuss summer plans and classes next year. But for the seniors, graduation is the central point of conversation. Strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" floating through the now deserted halls at graduation bring the realization that another eventful year has passed.

Time For Fun

EVERY LAST pot and pan is washed and dried before students may leave.

ACQUAINTANCES prolong and preserve the memories of good old high school days.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON is recognized by the numbers reading their latest High Post.

Common sounds, ignored in the past, reminisce golden memories as the school year draws to an abrupt close.

For the first few weeks of school, the frightened voices of bewildered freshmen prevail. The thrill of becoming acquainted with a new language is expressed by their salutations in French or Latin. Moans and groans accompany the new experience of exams.

The tap-tap-tap of typewriters while working on autobiographies identifies the sophomores. Along with the writing comes the fun in relating these previously forgotten incidents with each other. Exclamations of surprise or discovery from Biology classes also symbolizes tenth graders.

The junior year is characterized by a deeper interest in forensics. Time is spent rehearsing speeches. Where but the chemistry lab could such odd noises be coming?

Delivering orations, exchanging pictures, try-outs for their own dramatic production, the many hours spent on research for themes, all stand for the seniors.

BAND MEMBERS rehearse several numbers for the Spring Concert held in April.

WORK ON research papers, stock reports and book reviews takes place in the library with the aid of the librarians.

ADMINISTRATION

Administrators' Sound Planning Keeps School Running Smoothly

HEADING THE administrative duties of the system, Superintendent DAVID A. Snyder reviews the agenda for a board meeting.

Striving for the efficient service, maintenance, progress and improvement of the Greater Latrobe School District throughout the year were the objectives of the administration.

The school board's 15 members were divided into nine committees each having definite responsibilities. The committees were athletic and activity, building, education, finance, planning and policies, property and supply, cafeteria and recreation and transportation.

Among the duties of the superintendent, David A. Snyder, were the carrying out of school board decisions, the supervision of the administrative staff and the inspection of school buildings. Assisting Mr. Snyder was Mr. Thomas Kissell, who took care of such matters as student transportation and all maintenance problems of the schools.

ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT Thomas Kissell looks over the lists in preparation for a student bus evacuation drill.

PRINCIPAL Gomer R. Edwards reviews the course changes that will take place in the curriculum.

MR. WILLIAM YATES, assistant principal, examines permanent record cards and state reports.

During his second year as principal of Latrobe High School, Mr. Gomer R. Edwards has striven to provide for a better and smoother operating school.

Mr. Edwards, in an effort to meet the needs of each individual student, reconstructed the curriculum, made revisions in general supervision and increased coordination in the school calendar. Mr. William S. Yates aided as assistant principal by performing his tasks of keeping accurate attendance records and working out the student schedules.

Responsible for the clerical work done in the high school were Mrs. Betsy Tillman, who served in the principal's office, and Mrs. Dorothy Ziegenfus, who performed many secretarial duties in the attendance office.

Others performing clerical tasks during the year were the five secretaries who worked at the Administration building. Serving as School Board secretary was Miss Ruth I. Himler. Those working on the staff under Miss Himler were Mrs. Marie Hvizdos, Mrs. Grace Brehun, Miss Hedy McFeaters and Miss Carol Sheplar.

Extra-Curricular Activities Give Means For Attaining Social Poise

Another school year had commenced, and before the novelty of a new term had worn off, the chance came for participation in numerous clubs, societies and activities that were offered at LHS.

Through each activity came a development and strengthening of personality, character and ability. Through each activity the student had ample opportunity to become a "more well-rounded person and a benefit to the community.

Usually each phase of the curriculum offered an outside activity of some sort. Clubs organizing early in the year were helpful, in that they promoted further study of the subjects they backed. The Biology Club, History Club, Mu Alpha Theta were among the organizations that provided such a program.

Forensics depicted students at their best as many strove to improve themselves and at the same time inform others. Plays highlighted the school term, with the Senior Class play as a climax for the season. What fun it was preparing for these events! Amateur thespians were given the chance to work in harmony as were the people serving on committees.

With these activities, the student had an opportunity to judge himself both mentally and physically. He learned to respect others in addition to discovering new theories. Thoughts were stimulated and new ideas were provoked.

When one has participated in an extra-curricular activity, he has received the benefit of knowing that he served himself, but even better, he has served others, too.

As a result of extracurricular activities, the student made many lasting friendships and grew in stature as a result of profitable experiences—experiences that will be carried throughout life. These friendships and occurrences will help to forge his character and stimulate his intellect.

Countless hours were spent in composing and editing The High Post, our school newspaper, and the 1965 Latrobean, our school yearbook. This fact was found out by the 36 members and three typists who comprised the Publications Department.

Using the proverbial five "w's" as a guide to attain a strong lead paragraph, rushing to meet a deadline and an exact word count, securing information and the proper usage of words and style were but a few of the pitfalls encountered by the budding journalists.

Business and advertising staff members were as essential as the writers in the production of the school publications. Keeping exact accounts of all financial transactions, and subscriptions records were the duties of the business staff. Many hours were consumed soliciting ads for the publications by the advertising department.

Honors were accorded the 1964 yearbook. Among them were a First Class honor rating from the National Scholastic Press Association, and the top award of Medalist from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Both the Latrobean and The High Post won the highest honors, the Keystone Award, from the Pennsylvania School Press Association. Latrobe was the only school to have both a newspaper and yearbook win the Keystone Award.

Latrobe High enters its publications in this field of competitive journalism each year. The results of this competition have born the fruits of new and better editions each year.

In October the journalism class traveled by bus to Churchill Area High School, Churchill Borough, Pennsylvania, to attend the Western Pennsylvania School Press Association Convention. Main speaker of the event was KDKA-TV newscaster Tom Finn, who spoke on the similarity between newscasting and newspaper editing. Special interest of the convention were the workshops for page editors, reporters, business and advertising staffs.

An innovation of the qualities it takes to become a good journalist were introduced to 23 members of the Journalism I class by Mr. William R. Couchenour, publications adviser. They learned the fundamentals of yearbook and newspaper productions by the use of textbooks, workbooks and actual application.

Richard Laposky acted as The High Post editor. His principal duty was to oversee the production of the paper. He and the other page editors collaborated in the planning, assigning and editing of the 13 issues published.

The students' classes, activities and sports events were brought to light pictorially and editorially by the yearbook staff under the supervision of editor-in-chief, Linda Flickinger. The many duties of the staff include the planning and taking pictures of the school year, copyreading and proofreading all copy. The design and color of the cover for the annual was selected by the editors. The junior members of the Journalism class were responsible for all the copy writing in the yearbook.

Due credit was given to the junior copy writers for submitting stories to the local newspaper informing the public of school functions and activities.

The grinding presses came to a halting stop, and the Latrobeans were distributed to the student body and faculty. The members of the graduating journalism class reminisced over the work and accomplishments encountered throughout the year, also remembered was the fun, the laughter and the many new-found friendships formed from the united efforts of a group in producing a book of memories to be cherished by many.

Periodic Posters, Pep Assemblies, Arouse Spirits During Year

POSTER CLUB — As a special aid in advertising all important events of the school year, the Poster Club functioned to its height during the 1964-65 term.

Imagination plus a certain amount of skill was the requirement of all members of the association. These artists were selected for membership by posters submitted to show examples of their work. The posters were prepared for social, athletic and academic events in addition to national events which were of interest to the student body. The art efforts were displayed throughout the school and on special occasions concerning the public in local store windows.

As an added activity during the year, all Poster Club members submitted a special poster in conjunction with National Cancer Week. These posters were displayed in store windows and in stores of neighboring communities.

The goal of every member was to earn 12 points. But extra posters were required to meet these 12 points. On Awards Day participants who had earned enough points received pins as recogniton for their work. Each month a poster was chosen by a senior home room as poster of the month. All work on the posters was done outside of school. Special supplies including paint and paper were offered by the school.

Members of the club elected as officers the following: Emel Alev, president; Linda Treskovich, secretary-treasurer, and Sue Elkin, Student Council representative. Adviser to this publicity organization was Mrs. Clare Stoyer.

CHEERLEADERS — An important aspect of most athletic events is the cheerleader, who creates school spirit and arouses enthusiasm.

The 1964-65 varsity cheerleading squad consisted of seniors, Kathy Hughes, head; Patty Cline, Judy Giannini and Kathy Guzik. Connie Carota, Susan Kelly, Linda Monzo and Marcy Novak comprised the juniors. Assisting the cheerleaders in promoting spirit at all football games and pep assemblies was senior Wildcat, Jeff Kish.

Elder and Miss Mary Lou Korzak, the cheerleaders sought to undertake several worthwhile projects to further interest the students in school athletic events. Among these extra activities were the organization of a Pep Club, affiliated with the squad, and constructing exhibits in regard to athletics in the display case.

In order to modernize cheers to be used in the coming year, several representatives were sent to a summer camp. As a result many cheers were changed to suit standards set by the National Cheerleading Association. Several new songs and chants were introduced to the student body in addition to the new motions.

Serving under junior varsity head, Janice Regula, were sophomores, Barbara Cline, Joanne Paganelli and Irene Watkins. Freshmen cheerleaders include Carol Ballish, Eileen Kelly, Kathy Hricik and Anita Oeschger. Their duties included cheering at junior varsity and freshman games and substituting for varsity members when necessary. Practice sessions for both squads began June 11 and continued throughout the school year.

HIGH POST REPRESENTATIVES — Bringing to the hands of their classmates the latest edition of the school newspaper was the task of all High Post representatives.

These students were elected by members of their home rooms at the beginning of the school year as one of the six home room officers. They helped in the success of the school publications by selling subscriptions.

These students were elected by members of times during the past year to receive the newspaper and other instructions pertaining to the campaigns or sponsored activities of the Publication's Department. At approximately two minutes before dismissal, they went to their respective rooms to distribute the current issues to classmates on the Fridays of publication.

Much of their responsibility was during the first month of the school year when the yearly subscription campaign for the newspaper and the yearbook was conducted. During this time it was the job of these students to collect subscription returns, and to promote the sale of the school publication—striving for a goal of 100 per cent in each homeroom. In February the balance of the subscription cost was collected.

Climaxing the tasks of these students during the 1964-1965 school year was the distribution of yearbooks on the last day of school. Mr. William R. Couchenour, publications adviser, supervised this service organization.

Service To School Mirrors Future Responsibilities As Adult Citizens

CHARLES BRIDGE helps head stage manager John Smith to clear the stage to make room for the scenery of one of the three class plays of the year.

BILL MARNELL and Jim Kuhn, members of the Safety Patrol, fold and arrange the bright orange flags which have become the symbol of school safety.

STAGE CREW — Imagine what a play would look like without the necessary scenery, or how an assembly would seem with no sound or lights. Making sure that none of these situations ever exist is the responsibility of the stage crew.

The members of the crew work long, hard hours on their assigned jobs, which are necessary for efficient production of each play and assembly. Obtaining all the necessary props for the shows, plus handling the sound and lighting are but a few of the many tasks performed by this service organization.

"These boys gave much of their spare time, helping in many ways to make each play and assembly a success, and I commend them all for a fine job," said Mr. William Yates, adviser to the stage crew.

John Smith led the crew in the completion of their assigned duties. The other members were Charles Bridge, senior; Jerry Salandro and Cliff Shrum, juniors, and Sam Terney, sophomore. For his service to the school, one outstanding member receives a gift from the Junior Women's Club on Recognition Day.

Throughout the past year the members of the stage crew have efficiently completed their tasks for each production, and have carefully maintained the stage area giving each show the finishing touch for a fine performance.

FIRE AND SAFETY PATROL — Placed at the two busiest school intersections four times daily, the Safety Patrol insured the safety of the students as they commuted from home to school.

Regardless of weather conditions the patrol was on duty every school day. Heading the patrol were co-captains, Jim Kuhn, Robert Smith and Sam Turney. Meetings held once a month under the direction of their adviser Mr. Earl Karasack. The members are also given free admission to school activities for their services rendered.

The same group of boys that comprised the Safety Patrol also functioned as Fire Patrol. Their duties were different for this organization since

First-year members receive emblems, while second and third-year patrolers are awarded certificates of recognition from the American Automobile Association. Four-year members are given a medal of appreciation for their services in the prevention of traffic accidents.

READERS' CLUB — "Read it again, oh please, read it just one more time."

These words were heard often, from children confined in the Latrobe Hospital, on Saturday mornings by members of the Readers' Club. Their undertakings included reading and playing with the patients of the Children's Ward from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Fulfilling the club motto of "Servinues," meaning "we serve," the girls under the leadership of Miss Adeline S. Reeping, club adviser, gave toys to the children at the hospital at Christmas time.

Elected by fellow members to serve as officers of the club for the year of 1964-65 were Marsha Campbell, president; Helen Kissel, vice-president; Janice Gower, secretary; Phyllis Otto, treasurer, and Susan Ottino, Student Council representative.

Among other activities of the club during the year were an Easter project, assisting in community drives, and making clown toys for the children.

Each year the club presents a loan scholarship to the senior or junior member most worthy to receive it. The recipient may use the scholarship for purposes of her choice.

Routines were presented by the band between the halves of the football games. Between games, practices after school kept members busy learning the new routines and music. Pep assemblies gave them a chance to play while the students cheered them on.

As winter approached, the long bus trips to away games gave way to practice during eighth period only. Occasionally community parades of-

ORCHESTRA—Tunes accompanied students as they filed into the and out of the auditorium for assemblies. The orchestra, directed by Mr. Eugene Pecoraro, played at plays and forensic contests.

The 35 members practiced three times weekly. Songs played were "Overture from Funny Girl," "South Pacific," "The Poet and the Peasant," Handel's "Water Music" and "Choral and Instrumental" by Bach. They presented these and several other selections at the spring concert.

MAJORETTES — Sixteen majorettes offered entertainment at football games, parades and pep assemblies. Head majorette, Bonnie Hvizdos, and co-head, Theresa McCullough, worked out various routines.

This year's squad was composed of six seniors, Diana Cravener, Constance Doherty, Jane Downs, Cynthia Forsha, Pamela Saxman and Marcia Scavnick. There were eight juniors and sophomores.

Sixty-three freshman girls sang "Scarlet Ribbon" and "Till There Was You" in Girls' Chorus I. Donna D'Angelo and Faith Ann Fiorina accompanied the group at the annual concert.

Boys' Chorus I was composed of 18 freshmen who sang "Jolly Roger," "Oklahoma" and "Halls of Ivy." Accompanied by Mark Poklembo, they performed at the concert and presented an assembly to the students.

"Serenade to Spring" and "Magazine Madrigals" were two of the selections sung by the Mixed Chorus. This group of 60 performed at the spring concert and the Christmas pageant. Twelve members participated in the Westmoreland County Chorus and Sandra Smith, Paul Birchak and Richard Slivoskey represented Latrobe at District Chorus. John Bush and Cathy Clarke were accompanists.

Also performing at the spring concert was Girls' Chorus II. The 85 members sang "Serenata," "You and the Night and Music" and "Friendly Persuasion" in addition to other selections. They were accompanied by Mary Poklembo.

Dramatics

This year's dramatic productions, under the direction of Mrs. Lois Manon, commenced with "The Courtship of Eddie's Father" as the All-Class play in November. Following this, the Junior Class presented their version of "Pillow Talk" late in February. "Ask Any Girl," the Senior Class production, was presented in April.

"The Courtship of Eddie's Father" evolved around the problems encountered when Eddie's father decided to find a mate.

Eddie tried to find just the right girl for him but it was up to Tom, his father, to find her. When he chose Rita, he took her to visit the summer camp where Eddie was staying.

Heartbroken, Eddie disappeared from camp.

ANDREW KRALL sternly warns Faith Ann Fiorina to be a good girl as Pat Arbore, Barry Helferich and Lou Dolinar oversee the punishment.

Organizations Serve Community By Helping Charity Drives

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB — Striving to extend an opportunity for members to supplement their classroom experiences by acquainting them with local businessmen and women, the Business Education Club functioned monthly during this school term.

First-hand information concerning business practice and procedure was explained at several of the regular meetings. Included in the past year's schedule was a discussion supervised by Mrs. Beverly Ann Sweeney, the educational representative of the International IBM. Another program centered around a film strip supplied by IBM entitled "Right from the Stars." It demonstrated helpful tips for the typist.

Touring Turner Office Equipment Company aided the students in their understanding of the future business world through an additional knowledge of machines. The termination of the club's program was a field trip to Pittsburgh. An extra project of the club was the distribution of canisters for the local Muscular Dystrophy Drive. This project was promoted with a kick-off banquet at the Mountain View Inn with the officers of the club in attendance.

Approximately 70 junior and senior business students were admitted into this club. Meetings for the group were held the first Monday of each month. Presiding over the activities of the organization during the past year were Carol Danko, president; Nancy Katana, vice-president; Diana Shaffer, secretary; James Merichko, treasurer, and Diana Davis, Student Council representative. Miss Florence Gill, business teacher, advised the group.

In addition to supplementing the education of the classroom, the function of the club helped the students to realize the adjustment necessary before entering secretarial fields open to them upon graduation.

STUDENT SERVICE — Forty students of Latrobe High volunteered their services this past year to act as hall monitors and perform the many duties involved in patrolling the corridors.

Members of the Student Service willingly gave up one study hall a day in order to check hall lockers, turn in to the Lost and Found all articles found in open lockers and pick up the debris littering the halls. They also turned on the lights before each change of class and turned them off after each change.

Visitors in the school often found themselves

Volunteers Collect Magazines, Make Disaster Kits As Public Service

cheerfully assisted by these students as did bewildered freshmen. Also included in their duties were immediately reporting any strangers or unusual occurrences, checking hall passes, and seeing to it that general school laws were obeyed. They were stationed throughout the building.

Mr. William Yates, adviser, stated that the Student Service exists in order to make our school a better place to work. The members of the organization have an important function in carrying out this task and handle it well. It is extremely necessary that students learn responsibility and this furnished an excellent opportunity to do so.

Convenient schedules and reasonably fair grades compose the basic requirements of this service group. Under the supervision of Mr. Yates, meetings were occasionally held to give members a chance to make helpful suggestions for the improvement of the school and for the maintenance of safe surroundings.

JUNIOR RED CROSS — Service to the community and aid to the less fortunate have been the aims of the Junior Red Cross this year.

With a year of service behind them, this newly formed organization has expanded its services by undertaking several new projects. Heading the list was the assisting of the American Red Cross with their bloodmobile units.

One of the major projects of the organization was securing pledges for eye banks for use in cornea transplants. The group presented a variety show for patients at Torrance State Hospital this spring. A new service introduced and put into effect this year was the exchange of ideas, letters and scrapbooks with members of the Junior Red Cross in Victoria, Australia.

Another function carried out by the group was the assembling of disaster kits to be used by victims in case of major disasters such as floods or fires. During December members served refreshments to families who were making recordings to send to their relatives in the armed forces overseas. The group collected books, magazines and other reading materials for patients at state hospitals.

A desire to be of service to the community is the only requirement needed for membership. Being a service organization, no social functions are held. The membership this year consisted of eighty students. Aiding Mrs. Gladys Gilbert, club adviser, in carrying out these projects were the following officers: Nancy Katana, president; Jackie Cochran, vice-president; Brenda Clark, secretary, and Karen Luttner, treasurer.

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB officers, Diana Shaffer, Diana Davis, Jim Merichko and Carol Danko plan the year's project.

JOSEPH KOZAMCHAK and Linda Eddins, senior Student Service members, meet at one of the hall desks.

JACKIE COCHRAN, Nancy Kattan and Brenda Clark supervise the magazine drive held by the Junior Red Cross.

Librarians Aid Faculty, Students By Locating Supplementary Material

KEEPING THE card catalogue in order and up to date is one of the jobs Sherry Massena and Karen Guzik, student librarians, perform daily.

ED FRITZ and Karen Gebicki present a student script as a part of their bi-weekly news presentation as Charlene Falk pauses to end the broadcast.

LIBRARIANS — Behind the thousands of books taken from the library this year went hours of work by high school students who willingly gave up one study hall a day to help make the library run a little smoother.

Seventeen student librarians assisted Mrs. Nancy Weisner in checking books in and out of the library. They also helped shelve books, did some typing when it was needed and accessioned and processed new books so they could be used by students. These girls also helped students find reference material and assisted in many other ways when needed.

Mrs. Weisner said of their work, "The student librarians comprise one of the most important service groups in our high school. They not only render valuable assistance to students and teachers, but also learn a great deal about library procedures and facilities."

The librarians who worked at the circulation desk this year were Nancy Katana, Margaret Fry, Nancy Oeschger, Donna Marshall, Joyce Dix, Marion Treskovich, Dolores Horansky, Beverly DeVitto and Sherry Massena.

Also helping in the library were Phyllis Otto, Karen Kozlesky, Martha Campbell, Helen Yansurek, Emel Alev, Karen Guzik, Barbara West and Eleanor Rabic.

BROADCASTING — Headlines for today's news are "March of Dimes Campaign Begins," "Business Education Club Meets," "Latrobean Pictures Scheduled," "Trojans Down Cats."

Each Monday and Thursday the Broadcasting Class presented to the students the current school news. Along with spot news and sports results, the staff advertised important scholastic and social events.

News editor was Cynthia Forsha. Barbara Hamilton held the position as script editor, while William Newman fulfilled the duties of sports editor. They were assisted by a staff of juniors and seniors.

During the Christmas season the broadcasters helped the Red Cross tape recorded messages from families to servicemen stationed overseas. They also took part in the "Voice of Democracy" program. Under the supervision of Diana Shaffer, student director, the Broadcasting II class presented Dickens'

USHERS — As the first football game marks the opening of the grid season, so does it also mark the beginning of the many events at which the ushers render their services.

These girls, distinguished by their white attire, are selected in the spring of each year to serve at baccalaureate and commencement exercises. They continue as an usher during the following school term. An usher will assist at most auditorium functions, including class plays, forensic activities and concerts, as well as at home football games. However, ushering at the games is done on a volunteer basis.

Mary Ellen Repko directed the girls on the main floor of the auditorium while Joanne Kopcho supervised those in the balcony.

The necessary qualifications for membership into the organization are that a girl be a junior or senior and willing to serve her school. She must, however, be prompt at all functions and neat in her appearance. The girls are permitted two excused absences from ushering auditorium events.

If an usher has completed two years of satisfactory attendance, she may receive a letter on Awards Day from Miss Catherine Netzlof, club adviser.

Student Speakers Get Experience Through Oration-Debate Contests

With the renewal of the forensic competition, one of the major activities of Latrobe High School, students were given the opportunity to express their speaking ability in the four annual contests conducted by local civic organizations.

Winning first place honors in the Rotary Club's Oratorical Contest was Carol Sproch with her oration, "Two Engraved Words." In ending her speech, she used the Greek proverb, "Whosoever knows himself shall find the kingdom of heaven."

Jeanne Kennedy won second honors by expressing herself about the destruction of our society by alcoholism in her address, "Five Million Slaves." Her opening was, "Since the creation of the world there has been no tyrant like intemperance and no slaves so cruelly treated."

With his subject, "Blessed are the Peacemakers," Patrick Arbore captured the third place honors. He remarked, "If we are truly desirous of peace, we must follow after the things that make for peace."

Gerald Lashinsky earned honorable mention for his presentation, "His Finest Hour," which surmised the life of Winston Churchill. He depicted Churchill as "a man who had promised to his country nothing but blood, toil, sweat and tears."

SENIORS Jane Baumgardner and Cathy Clarke recall their experiences during preparation for the Ruth Robb Debate with the junior team of Nancy Fletcher and Karen Hornung.

Other finalists were Ned Reiner, Beverly Swintek, Linda Treskovich and Pamela Saxman.

"Resolved: That nuclear weapons be controlled by an international organization," was the subject of the annual Ruth Robb debate. Unable to reach a decision, the judges voted the contest a draw. The affirmative team consisted of Karen Hornung and Nancy Fletcher; the negative team, Cathy Clarke and Jane Baumgardner.

The affirmative team argued the point that by forming an international organization for the control of making and using nuclear arms would prevent any one country from gaining too much power for the destruction of the world. While the negative team contended that the United States should main-

"The Great Society" was the general topic for the annual Kiwanis Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. Sophomore Thomas Myers was awarded the grand prize for his presentation on the "Projects for the Preservation of our Natural Beauty and Conservation of our Resources."

"If America the Beautiful is to remain, its citizens must fight against waste and destruction of its resources," he stated.

Senior Class winner was Linda Martin who emphasized the need for the support of President Johnson's medical program because "a great America is a healthy America." Firmly stating that "the war on crime is not only on its detection, but on its prevention" was the highlight of the Junior Class winner Loretta Patis, in her delivery, "The Program to Wage War on Crime and Poverty."

Freshman Class award winner, Robert McIntyre, in discussing "President Johnson's $1,500,000,000 Education Program" cited "that ignorance has been the downfall of many nations." Other participating finalists included Carol Sproch, Mark Durishan, Ellen Kattan and Roger Klotz.

With an excerpt from "Romeo and Juliet," Jane Downs placed first in the Shakespearean division of the annual Women's Club Contest. In declamations Cynthia Forsha won first honors with "The Silent World of Fontayne Rock." Her recitation of poems by Poe and Rossetti captured first prize for Cathy Clarke. Other qualifying students participating were Susan Ashley, Gerald Lashinsky and Phyllis McCarthy.

WINNERS OF the Women's Club Contest, Cathy Clarke and Jane Downs, display victorious smiles as Cindy Forsha reviews her declamation for her classmates.

JERRY LASHINSKY and Phyllis McCarthy, Women's Club Contest finalists, pause during a practice session to offer constructive criticism to Susan Ashley's Shakespearean selection.

Student Council Sponsors Dances, Assemblies, Art Exhibit

STUDENT COUNCIL — "To serve others is the best reward of all." This could be the motto of the La-trobe High School Student Council whose chief function is service.

The verb "to serve" is defined as meaning "to render service so as to benefit, help or promote." The Student Council truly serves, for their chief duties concern the benefit and promotion of all students. One representative elected from each home room; one delegate from every club, organization, or honor society; plus students with the willingness to work make up this organization.

The Student Council is a democratic organization whose members are elected by the students to represent them in deciding school policies. Council members plus the administration formulate ideas and plans for an efficient and well-run school. The council undertakes many activities for the betterment of school life. The prime contribution is the painting collection which adds culture to these halls of enlightenment.

Officers of the group travel to Pittsburgh and select those canvasses which they feel may be interesting to the students. During the annual art assembly in the spring, students vote to determine which painting will be added to the permanent collection.

Student Council members volunteered to man the refreshment stands at both the home football games and wrestling matches. Any council member assures that this requires much time and patience as well as an ability to deal with other people.

During any play or other affair, you may check your coat at the check room operated by council volunteers. Perhaps when you attended Eighth Grade Day and Freshman Day, you wondered who the courteous students were who guided you on your first tour of Latrobe High School. Here again the Student Council members were on the job.

The school-sponsored dances were organized and carried out by the Student Council. Members decorated the gymnasium, constructed programs, and even provided records and disc jockeys. The annual fall dance, "Pumpkin Hop," commenced the year's dances. In the spring, the "Sadie Hawkins," gave the feminine members of the school a chance to ask their favorite beau.

If you dropped a book or lost a glove, chances are you could find it at the Lost and Found. This also was supervised by council volunteers who sacrificed their study halls so that students might redeem lost articles. A nominal fee was charged for the return of such paraphernalia, and this sum plus income from dances, the sale of refreshments and other activities financed council projects.

Early in October the council members elected Robert Lawson, president. Other officers were Kenneth Seremet, vice-president; Debbie Coblentz, secretary, and Joseph Camaione, treasurer. Council officers were responsible for planning the year's events and for appointing various committees to conduct them.

Through the efforts of the Student Council, special assemblies were presented for the enjoyment and enlightenment of the students. Each phase of school life is affected and improved through the efforts of the Student Council. Their adviser was Mr. James Beatty, who has sponsored the group for many years.

ROBERT LAWSON, Pat Mrozinsky and Loretta Patts recheck Junior Class play ticket sales with general chairman Craig Melichar to mark the statistical record kept by the Council.

Service Groups

National Honorary Groups Recognize Outstanding Achievement

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY — Gaining admittance to the National Honor Society is an ultimate goal of an honor student. To earn membership into this honorary society, one must present qualities of character, scholarship, leadership and service in everyday school life.

Members of the Junior and Senior Classes named for possible membership are chosen from the group who rank in the upper twenty-five per cent of the class. Among this group fifteen per cent are seniors and five per cent are juniors. The entire faculty votes for individuals whose names are submitted with the proper qualifications. Two determining factors are participation in activities and service to the school.

With Mr. James R. Beatty acting as adviser, presiding officers for the current year were Richard Slivoskey, president; Susan Johnson, vice president; Beverly Swintek, secretary; Judith DeFelice, treasurer, and Kenneth Nicely, Student Council representative. A meeting of the Western Pennsylvania National Honor Society held in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, was attended by the officers. Speakers spoke on inspirational humanitarian subjects.

Newly selected members were installed in May and received their membership pins at a ceremony during an assembly for the students. An annual dinner was held to honor new members.

Because the organization is strictly an honor society and being nationally known, it has almost no social activities or projects, since most members are already participating in various other activities.

MU ALPHA THETA — Accounts of mathematical experiences made up much of the speaking program of the Mu Alpha Theta this year.

Topics of interest included "Matrices," "Symbolic Logic," "Introducing Calculus," "Short Cuts and Calculations," "Repeating Decimals," "The Study of the Abacus," and "Finite Numbers." Each topic was presented in classroom style by a club member, and then a discussion on solving similar problems followed.

The Latrobe National Honor Society of Mathematics initiated 25 seniors. A student, in order to be eligible for the society, must have completed two years of math and the first semester of the junior year in the College Preparatory course with an average of 85 per cent or above. The juniors are eligible for membership in the second semester of their third year. The student needs qualifying and passing grades in other subjects as well as in mathematics.

Membership is also determined by the junior qualifiers by submitting three teachers names as references. These teachers can testify to the attributes of character, service and leadership. The recommendation means as much as the student's grade. No grade is received in this society since it is an honorary society. Presiding over the monthly meetings on the first Thursday of the month was John Joseph, president. Other officers included Benedict DeMaria, vice president; Jane McCarthy, secretary, and Anthony Yates, treasurer. Miss Mary Louise McBride, math instructor, advised the members of the organization.

The members submitted their best ideas to "The Log," a national mathematics paper.

QUILL AND SCROLL — If you are one of the thousands of student journalists serving on school publications across the nation, you are assured that journalism is not a trivial part of school life.

It is instead an intellectual test, a challenge to the mind and discipline to the hand. The student journalist resembles an unopened flower who may one day blossom fully into the literary world around him. For this reason, much emphasis is placed on student journalism and much encouragement is given to the journalists themselves.

In order to honor, encourage and reward students engaged in journalism and in allied fields, an honorary journalistic society was formed in 1926 by publications advisers. Quill and Scroll is the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. Its purpose is to recognize the achievements of the individual writer, and to elevate and advance publication standards. To be admitted into the society a junior or senior staff member must rank in the upper-third of his class. The recommendation of the adviser is also required.

Named in honor of Thomas M. Whiteman, the local chapter recognizes members of our publications department. Officers include Janice Hauser, president; Jane McCarthy, vice-president; Nancy Haswell, secretary, and Alex Keefe, treasurer.

Students meeting the qualifications were accepted and initiated into the group during the annual ceremony in May. A banquet honoring the Quill and Scroll members plus Journalism I and the remaining Journalism II staff is held at the conclusion of the year's activities.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA — In the second year of activity, the FHA centered their efforts around the welfare of others.

During the Thanksgiving season, committees filled and distributed a basket of canned food to a local needy family. They participated in the local Red Cross drive and also conducted a candy and cookbook sale.

Along with other schools from neighboring counties, the Latrobe girls attended the FHA spring round-up. Other activities consisted of an over-night trip, a mother's tea, a bowling party and attendance at a convention held at Penn State. "Falling Waters," the one-half million dollar home of the late Edgar Kaufman, was also toured by club members.

Committees were also organized for the purpose of planning and carrying out the suggested activities. Committee chairmen included Bernadette Zavada, planning and photography; Sandra Capp, publicity; Iva Lipinski, scrapbook recorder, and Bonnie Suranic, newsletter.

The Latrobe chapter participated in the state-wide revision of the FHA constitution. Delegate Sandra Capp presented the revised section of the constitution to the Westmoreland County convention for approval.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ann Calabrace, adviser, officers for the 1964-65 year were Sandra Capp, president; Judith Himich, vice-president; Bonnie Suranic, secretary; Bonnie Martin, treasurer, and Carol Hook, Student Council representative.

BIOLOGY CLUB — One hundred thirty-two students profited from various projects undertaken by the Biology Club in its fifth year of existence.

One highlight of this year's activities was the sending of clothing to poverty-stricken families in Kentucky in exchange for greenery. Another project was the presentation of awards for ability, biological knowledge and character to four students.

Other activities of the club included field trips in April. The students went to Buhl Planetarium and to Pennsylvania State University. The club was also featured in an assembly program to the student body entitled "The Historic Toothache." As a climax to the activities of the year, the membership held a dinner in May.

Elected to serve as officers for 1964-65 were Thomas Myers, president; Linda Williams, vice-president; Debbie Ashley, secretary; Marsha Campbell, treasurer, and Thomas Frederick, Student Council representative. Under the supervision of club adviser, Miss Virginia A. Daniels, the club was organized at the beginning of the second quarter.

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE — Fostering interests among the students in appreciation of the civilization, literature, language and arts of ancient Greece and Rome and giving them some understanding of the debt of our own culture to that of classical antiquity were among the goals of the Junior Classical League this year.

Aiding Miss Adeline Reeping, adviser, were the following officers: Denise Nagel and James Bronson, consuls; Alfred Korzak and Robert Hankins, proconsuls; Paula Pristas, quaester; Christina Hovanec, scriba, and Randy Ferguson, Student Council representative.

At the onset of the year, the JCL was a prize winner in the Halloween parade. Following that was "Amicitia" or Friendship Week. A Toga Hop, featuring the crowning of Richard Slivoskey and Judy Popp as King Jupiter and Queen Juno, was held December 28.

Activities of the second semester commenced with Latin students attending workshops showing the relationship of Latin to various subjects at St.

Organizations Work To Improve Cultural Qualities, Interest

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY — "La Sociedad Honoraria Hisponica," an honorary society for Spanish students, completed its second year of functioning with Nick Maggiore as president.

The Spanish Honor Society, locally composed of 35 seniors who met the necessary qualifications for admittance, is an international organization.

An average grade of 85 per cent is the minimum requirement for admittance into this honorary organization. Since membership is open only to second-year Spanish students, all those who wish to gain admittance into the club must apply during their senior year.

Mr. George Fabry, Spanish teacher, hopes that the organization, founded by a Spaniard in 1953, will encourage the students' interests in the culture of Spain and her people. Other officers who presided over the organization were Jeanne Kennedy, vice-president; Mary Lou Ziegler, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph Kozamchak, Student Council representative.

One activity of the club was participation in national Spanish examinations. The students who received superior scores on these exams were eligible for scholarships and cash prizes.

HISTORY CLUB—In the second year of its existence, the American Historical Society of Latrobe High School drew its activities to a close after a limited program of events.

"The purpose of this club is to coordinate classroom material with democratic living and active participation in our government," stated Mr. Lee Henderson, faculty adviser to the organization.

Approximately 46 students, including juniors and seniors, made up the club. Serving as officers for the year's activities were juniors, Emil Sarady, president; Paula Seabol, treasurer, and Linda Monzo, secretary.

The main project for the club during the school term was making posters on current events. These were placed at strategic positions throughout the building so that the students would take notice of them. To aid this project, Mr. Vincent Quatrini, editor of the Latrobe Bulletin, donated a complete roll of unused newspaper to the society.

Although grade qualifications weren't necessary for membership, the number of applicants was reduced. All members of the Junior Class taking American History were eligible as well as senior members from the previous year.

Up-Beat Rhythm, Modern Jazz Add New Lift To Scholastic Atmosphere

HEALTHROOM ATTENDANTS — Throughout the year eight attendants were in the healthroom prepared to aid the ill or the injured students.

Though the girls were not permitted to administer internal medication, they cared for such minor ailments as burns, cuts, scratches and bruises. Liniment, bandages and soothing words were used by the attendants to make their patients feel better.

"Without the help of these girls, taking care of the ill students would be an impossible task," stated Mr. William Yates, who was in charge of this year's attendants.

Stationed in the healthroom during the four periods of the morning session caring for accidents and illnesses were Sandra Shirey, Carolyn Sillaman, Ellen Kattan and Sharon Wineland. While Dorothea Ziegenfus, Patricia Gibson, Linda Martin and Carol Danko administered to ailing students during afternoon sessions.

Making sick students feel as comfortable as possible and tending to minor discomforts of the students were services made voluntarily by each of the girls. Through this service, the healthroom attendants helped to make the school's medical services available to the students during the school day.

Though receiving no physical reward for their helpful assistance, their work is very much appreciated by faculty and students.

DIXIELAND AND DANCE BANDS — Strains of jazz and dance tempos echoed from the music room as the Dixieland and Dance Bands prepared for their annual assembly performance.

Mr. Robert Cook, director of the Dixieland band, said, "Dixieland is happy music and most enjoyable; students who play in this extra curricular affair usually play in sessions at colleges in future years."

The Dixieland Band was organized in 1950. It plays on request for dances, parties, assemblies and P.T.A. meetings. Requirements for this organization is that a student must be a member of the chorus, band or orchestra. A jam session with college boys was held during Christmas vacation and was enjoyable for all those concerned. Some sessions were also held at the Red Rooster, which proved to be worthwhile to the musicians and enjoyable for the listeners.

Mr. Robert Cook, director of the Dixieland Band, was concerned with all types of modern dance music. Members were interested in the modern tempo of dancing with the requirements the same as the Dixieland Band. This group of students travel to Fox Chapel each year as an exchange activity. They also played for dances when requested.

The Dixieland Band had six members while the Dance Band had sixteen. No one member can belong to both groups.

SWINGING OUT with modern jazz are Judy Strowgune, John Bush, Reba Shiffler, Michael Cantalamessa, Bruce Barr and Richard Newyear, members of the Dixieland Band.

HEALTH ROOM attendants Carol Danko, Carolyn Sillaman, Sharon Wineland, Ellen Kattan, Sandra Shirey and Dorothea Ziegenfus take time to check supplies and health records.

Sports Provide Energy Outlets, Body Fitness, Moral Character

Through the exertion of their best possible skills, students participating in the well-rounded program at Latrobe High realized many valuable principles of sportsmanship besides developing their physical capabilities.

In working as a unit, the members of the different teams learned the sportsmanship and cooperation needed not only in athletics but also in life. The responsibility placed upon each Latrobe contestant developed both his physical and mental ability.

As his skills in a sport developed through the seasons, so did the feeling of playing as a team. In observing the training rules set for him and by playing a fair game while striving to do his best, the Wildcat athlete developed.

The conduct displayed this year by the athletes of Latrobe High has been one of honor to the sport, to the coaches, and to the school. Although playing with a competitive spirit and an urge to win, the enjoyment of just participating was an important part of the program.

The students were offered seven interscholastic sports in which they could participate. Football, basketball, cross-country, track, wrestling, golf and tennis comprised the program. For the girls of the school intramural basketball and volleyball tournaments were held.

Awards of letters were presented to the qualifying athletes in each sport. The individuals make a strong effort to receive such an award. The reaching of this objective fills the future citizens with a sense of achievement.

Even though sports vary with the seasons, the desire of the participating athlete to win is unchanged. Whether trying to break a pole vault record, improve a golf score or compile a winning football slate, the athlete strives to keep the name of his school in high standing and to better himself in mind and body.

Football Team Displays Ability During Ten Game Grid Schedule

Latrobe High's gridmen completed their 1964 football campaign with a 4 win, 5 loss and 1 tie slate.

In the exhibition opener at Memorial Stadium, the Wildcats defeated the Schenley High of Pittsburgh eleven in a convincing 39-0 manner. Arch-rival Derry Area invaded the local stadium and beat the Latrobers in a 24-0 shutout. The Trojan backs hitting pay dirt were Larry Joe, twice, and Rick Razza and Frank Yanossy. The Cats threatened to score several times.

In a Foothills Conference contest, the host Mt. Pleasant Vikings scored a come from behind 19-14 victory over Latrobe. The Wildcats tallied first in the game when they drove the ball 59 yards in six plays in the first period. Dick Smith passed to Jim Vacha for a 19-yard touchdown play. The Wildcats' other score came after a 55-yard drive with fullback Terry Stackowicz reaching paydirt from five yards out. Sandy Fagan made good on both of his two point-after attempts.

At Wilkinsburg in another Conference fray, the Latrobe gridders battled to a 7-7 stalemate with the Tigers on a rain-drenched field. Latrobe's touchdown came when Dick Smith passed to Dan Cox who raced 20 yards into the end zone in the second quarter. Bill Fagan added the PAT.

over the Jeannette Jayhawks 27-0. This was Latrobe's first conference win and the second victory of the season. The Cats' first scoring play consisted of a Dick Smith pass of eight yards to Al Dellavechio in the first quarter. On another pass play in the same quarter, Smith connected with end Denny Bryson for 66 yards and six points. The remaining two TD's were scored by Smith on a three-yard quarterback keep and by team captain Dellavechio on a recovered fumble. Bill Fagan added three extra points.

Against an undefeated Kiski Area team, the Orange and Black team made a good showing before bowing to the Cavaliers by 33-13 score. Jim Vacha scored first for the Cats on a 22-yard pass play from quarterback Smith. Dan Cox rambled four yards for the locals' other score and Sandy Fagan added the PAT. The Kiski team tallied several touchdowns in the closing minutes.

The Latrobe eleven nearly upset the then unbeaten Greensburg-Salem Golden Lions but failed by the margin of an extra point. Latrobe scored first climaxing a second quarter 67-yard drive when quarterback Smith plunged over from two yards out for the six points. The PAT was blocked and then proved to be the vital difference in the game as the Lions came back 7-6 to win.

Ending a long failure to cop an away game, the Wildcats were victorious on an opposing field when they defeated the Norwin Knights 12-6. Hitting paydirt for the locals were Mario Battaglia and Dick Smith, both scoring on short runs from scrimmage.

In the finale of the season, the Cats played the Hempfield Spartan gridmen and were handed a 34-12 setback. The Hempfield eleven jumped to an early 27-0 lead and never were to be headed. The half-time score read 27-6 as the only points the Wildcats could muster in the first half resulted from a five yard run by Terry Stackowicz. Latrobe's final score came on a Sandy Fagan to Pat Rafferty pass of 44 yards in the fourth quarter.

Defeated in one game, Latrobe's junior varsity gridders completed a successful season slate, 5-1, while they gained experience for varsity encounters next year.

In the season opener, the Wildcats jayvees dropped a 13-12 decision to Hempfield on the home field. Tallies for both teams came in the second quarter while Bill Karazsia and Jim Okonak carried over Latrobe's touchdowns to climax drives.

The jayvees scored a 14-6 victory over Ligonier. Tallying for Latrobe were Denny Rafferty and Bill Karazsia. Sean Cassidy split the uprights for two extra points. This was the first grid contest between the two schools for years.

In their third outing, the Latrobe reserves shut-out the Greensburg-Salem little Lions 13-0. After a scoreless first half, Rick Sarnese intercepted a Greensburg pass on the Lion's 10-yard line and took it into the end zone. In the final stanza, Bill Karazsia closed out the scoring with a five-yard run.

The Cat understudies overran Jeannette 34-0 in their next encounter. Bill Karazsia scored on runs of 40, 35 and 2 yards, respectively. Jim Okonak tallied on a 40-yard dash while Denny Repko scored on a one-yard plunge. Again in the win column, the gridders upended the Derry Area Trojans by a score of 21-20.

Not to be stopped, the little Wildcats won their fifth straight contest by downing Norwin 19-14. A 25-yard sprint and a 5-yard plunge into the end zone, both by Bill Karazsia, still left Latrobe trailing 14-12 at the half. In the fourth quarter, Jim Okonak scored the winning TD from a yard out to climax a drive.

Frosh Learn Techniques, Rules To Develop Skill For Varsity

Compiling a record of one victory and three losses, the Freshman grid team had a losing first season.

In the first encounter October 1, the ninth grade Ligonier eleven gave little resistance to the local ninth graders. The Latrobers scored their lone victory of the year 26-6. Jeannette then invaded Memorial Stadium, where on October 8, the Jayhawks trounced the Wildcats 35-0. When a mix-up in scheduling occurred, Harrold Junior High showed up and the game was rescheduled for October 15.

On October 22 Greensburg-Salem's little Lions dealt the frosh another defeat by a 27-7 score. The final game of the short grid season came on October 29 against Derry Area and resulted with the score Derry Area 30 and Latrobe 13.

The freshmen coaches were Mr. James Shumaker and Mr. Richard Brewer. They both thought that Latrobe had much to learn, but that the boys have enough talent and ambition to be fine future ballplayers from the junior varsity and varsity squads during their remaining high school careers.

Roundballers Terminate Season Against Strong Sectional Foes

Latrobe High's varsity basketball squad ended the 1964-65 season as the seventh-ranked team in the Section II play with a 3-11 slate.

The cagers, under the coaching of Mr. Eugene Swogger, opened exhibition play December 1 against the Trinity Hillers who edged Latrobe 55-44 on the winner's court. Reversing the decision in the next contest, the locals dumped Kiski Area 67-64.

In their third outing of the season, Latrobe cagers succumbed 67-51 to the Penn Hills quintet. Sewickley Area's five were the next opponents and the Bisons emerged victorious 63-59.

Getting back in the win column, the Wildcats scored a decisive victory over Penn Joint. Latrobe outplayed the Indians in all quarters to win 87-50. Franklin Area defeated Coach Swogger's team 78-48 and Wilksburg edged the Cats 65-57. The final exhibition match resulted in a defeat for Latrobe, 72-56, as the Ligonier five won.

Latrobe opened Section II-A play in an away contest with Southmoreland High, January 1. The Scotties bowed to the Latrobe five 57-55. In the second league contest Hempfield Area upended the Wildcats with a strong second half showing 60-39. In their encounter against arch-rival Derry Area, the Latrobers were overrun by Coach Ken Grote's Trojan squad 75-48. The only time the Cats were ahead was when Barry Bernas scored a jump shot in the first 28 seconds. At half time, the Trojans were winning 44-25, and built their lead throughout the remainder of the game.

victorious with a 58-45 decision. It was Latrobe's third section loss in four outings. The Vikings of Mt. Pleasant furnished the opposition in the first hardwood fray. Coach Chris Stoner's squad edged out the Cats as the Vikings, with a strong fourth quarter, went on to win 55-49.

The varsity cagers first clash with Jeannette was also unsuccessful. The Jayhawks dominated the boards and this paid off with a sweeping 53-36 setback for Latrobe. Rounding out the first half of section competition, the Wildcats trounced Connellsville 68-40.

The second half of section competition proved a little more worthwhile than the first, for the Latrobe basketballers won. Southmoreland split in the season by berating the locals 64-60. A 30-point effort by senior Joe Reeping prevented a run-away for the Scotties. On February 2, the Wildcats lost to the host Hempfield quintet 44-31. Trailing by only seven points at the end of three quarters, Latrobe faltered in the final period. The orange and black team held their own in the first half of the Derry game, but again the Trojans ran away from the Cats in the third and fourth stanzas to claim a 79-50 victory.

For the second time in league play, the Golden Lions of Greensburg-Salem downed Latrobe without much difficulty with the score being 58-41. The Mt. Pleasant Vikings narrowly nosed past the Wildcats 66-62.

Playing in the last varsity basketball contest to be played in the present home gym, the Wildcats bowed to Jeannette 72-63. Though down by 17 points going into the last period, the Cats rallied but failed to overtake the Jayhawks. After six consecutive losses, the cagers pulled one out of the fire in the final seconds of the game to finish the season with a win over the Connellsville Cokers 51-49. The Latrobe hoopsters led until a Coker rally in the fourth period put them ahead 47-45 with two minutes remaining. Two quick baskets and two free throws by junior, Pat Rafferty saved the game.

At the conclusion of the season, Coach Swogger presented letters to seven boys in the annual assembly. Junior members Chris Adams, Tom Antus and Pat Rafferty were presented awards along with junior manager, George Leonhardt.

Mat Team Posts Losing Season Against WPIAL Wrestling Foes

The Latrobe wrestlers have had a losing season, with the squad winning three of 11 matches.

In the opening match, the local fans saw the strong Johnstown grapplers down the Wildcats 34-14. Thrilling 6-3, the fans was co-captain Jim Jones, who, trailing 6-3, reversed and pinned his man with one second remaining on the scoreboard. The Cats went to Jenners-Boswell where they met their second setback of the young season, 32-14. Greensburg-Salem handed coach Creed Westfall's matmen their third straight loss 26-20 in a closely contested match.

The Latrobe team gained their initial win of the year by triumphing over Jeannette 31-14. Scoring their second win the Cat grapplers trounced New Kensington by a 30-17 margin in a home match.

A strong Hempfield team beat the Wildcats 27-17 on the local mats. A bright spot of the night was the win scored by John Wollam in the 145 class over his previously unbeaten Spartan wrestler. Blairsville and Wilkesburg nipped the matmen in the next two matches by scores of 27-18 and 25-20, respectively.

Trinity, a new opponent on the schedule this year, outclassed the locals by upending them 48-7. The only Cat wrestler getting on the scoreboard were Greig Mickinac, 88 pounder who surprised everyone by pinning the favored Trinity grappler, and Joe Johnson, who drew with his foe.

In their strongest effort of this year, Latrobe scored their third by the slim margin of 22-19 over Indiana High. The match was tied 19-19 with the heavyweight clash remaining. Joe Johnson clinched the match by decisioning his opponent, 7-0. The powerful Norwin squad handed the Latrobe matmen

The Cats' initial win of the season came in the triangular meet with Ferndel and Westmont-Hilltop. The harriers came out on top 26-41-53. Opening the dual meet season, the Wildcats defeated the Greensburg Golden Lion runners 17-38.

By taking the first six places, the Latrobe runners successfully downed Uniontown 15-40. Junior runner, Bill Shank took first place with a time of 11:47. Meeting Ferndel and Westmont-Hilltop on the Cats' course proved just as successful with the harriers 18 points to emerge victorious, 18-21-34.

The first dual meeting on the home course brought the Cats their fifth win, by defeating the runners from Gateway 17-38. Extending their winning streak, the harriers were victorious over Wilkinsburg 16-39 on October 20, on our home course.

Ending their regular season action, the Cat harriers defeated Connellsville 25-30 on the latter's course. After their undefeated season, the Wildcats entered the WPIAL qualifying meet at Schenley Park, but they failed in qualifying any runners.

LEADING THE track squad in their meets were senior co-captains Mario Battaglia and Al Augustine.

Thinclads Spend Hours In Practice To Capture Track, Field Laurels

Continuing their winning streak extended from the 1964 season, Coach William West's track squad won their first three meets scheduled this season.

Placing first in every event the Cats scored a one-sided victory over the Scotties of Southmoreland, 104-23. In their initial year of track competition, Mt. Pleasant fell victim to the Latrobe squad 99-28, in a practice meet held at the local stadium. The meet with a strong Hempfield team was cancelled due to rain.

By scoring 83 points, the Wildcats won their first triangular meet against Derry Area and Indiana, who had 53 and 23 points, respectively. Al Augustine, with a vault of 13 feet 6½ inches, broke his own school pole vault record that he set during the 1964 season. The half-mile relay team, consisting of Mario Battaglia, John Siko, Joe Bradish and John Joseph, lowered their school record to 1:34.2.

The Latrobe cindermen also competed against Derry Area, Greensburg, Connellsville and Ligonier. They also entered the WPIAL and WPIAL Relays held at Mt. Lebanon and the Westmoreland County and WPIAL qualifying meets held annually at Latrobe Memorial Stadium.

Starting the year with 18 prospective candidates, Coach Karasack retained senior Shane Montjar; juniors Tom Antus, Bernard Myers, Paul Bates and Alex Downs; sophomores Henry Tomashosky and John Bush and freshmen James Donahey, Denny Charlesworth, Bill Stumph, Bruce Shirey, Jacey Cute, Ralph Sloan and Anthony Colaianne.

The Wildcat squad started the season with victory over Norwin High, 4-1. Winning for the Cats in their opener were Alex Downs and Shane Montjar in singles and the doubles teams of Montjar and Downs and Tom Antus and Bernie Myers.

The local netmen then met Greensburg-Salem whom they defeated 5-0. Continuing their winning streak the Wildcat netters met and defeated Connellsville 5-0. The rest of the schedule continued against Southmoreland, Norwin, Greensburg-Salem, Connellsville and Southmoreland.

Local netters ended their season of dual competition with an undefeated record.

Golf

Turning in an impressive record for the 1965 season, the Latrobe High golfers were in the running for the Section IV crown.

In early matches the varsity golfers from Derry Area fell to the Cat linksmen at the Latrobe Elks' course. At Ligonier the Cats also proved successful by downing the Mounties 15½-½. Strong Greensburg-Salem lost to the Wildcats 13-3 at the Latrobe Country Club. Triangular competition between the locals, Derry Area and Hempfield ended in a Latrobe win.

Returners from the county and section championship team of 1964, senior lettermen Tom Williams and Tom Upholster and junior, Chris Adams, led the linksmen in their encounter this year. Also giving the squad needed support were senior Dan Johnson and junior Jeff Wollen. With Larry Yokopenic, senior, and Don Currie, junior, rounding out the squad.

Attempting to bring the section title home which they have won in each of the last three years, Coach Robert Cook guided the varsity golfers into a well-rounded squad.

Class Dances, Prom, Plays Add Variety To Typical School Year

After tedious scheduling by the administrators, each student receives an outline of his desired subjects in a respective course. The choice is important to one's future.

With the growing demand for higher education, two College Preparatory courses are offered to help prepare students for further education. The CPA course gives students an opportunity to extend their knowledge in the liberal arts field. For those interested in such areas as drafting and engineering, the CPC course is available.

Striving to train students for clerical, stenographical or secretarial positions, is the function of the Commercial course. Upon graduation, students are prepared to enter the business world or to continue their education in business school. Direct transfer into the industrial world is the aim of the Vocational school. An opportunity to specialize in several specific fields is extended to those students.

In order to provide girls with an ability to perform all the required tasks of the home, the Home-making course is offered. The girls acquire self-confidence, in addition to useful skills in the area of related arts. These future homemakers also learn various crafts to fill their leisure hours.

For those not desiring any of the specific study plans, the General course is available. With careful selection of electives, these students may acquire a well-rounded education.

Through the variety of courses present, everyone is able to choose the one suitable to himself. The goal of the student can be reached with determination and drive.

Someone once said that education makes a people easy to lead, but difficult to drive; easy to govern, but impossible to enslave. This is by far the most important reason for acquiring a good education. Knowledge is the key to the preservation of a free America. When learning is neglected, a nation becomes prey to oppression.

Freshmen Acquire New Friends Upon Entering High School Life

Freshmen entered the doors of LHS in September looking forward to adventure, excitement and new learning experiences. During the past year they received a due amount of each.

Scheduled early was the election of officers. To lead the class of 1968 the frosh elected Tom Mueseler president; James Myers, vice-president; Carol Mullen, treasurer, and Craig Melichar, Student Council representative. Mr. William Franks acted as adviser to the ninth graders.

Soon after the beginning of school, the Freshman Dance was held in the gym. This afforded the new students an opportunity to become better acquainted with their classmates. Three actors among the class portrayed parts in the All-Class play, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father." Other freshmen participated in the Christmas pageant.

Open to all Freshmen students were the band, orchestra and boys' and girls' choruses. Many members of the class took advantage of those activities. The boys in the class showed their ability in sports including football, basketball, wrestling, track and other athletic teams.

With the anticipation of first exams over, many freshmen turned to forensics. They participated in debates, extemp, declamations, poetry reading and Shakespearean reading.

As spring came so did the "Sadie Hawkins" dance. Freshman girls asked their favorite beaux to this annual dance. Soon the school year was over and they could look forward to three more years of secondary education intermixed with school activities. Even with three remaining terms, the first will always be remembered as one of introduction.

Sophomores

Upon reaching the second year of their high school education, sophomores eagerly assumed their roles of active tenth graders in the student life at Latrobe High.

During the early weeks of school, officers were elected to lead the class. They included James Okonak, president; Joanne Pagnanelli, vice-president; Irene Watkins, secretary; Brenda Clark, treasurer, and Kenneth Goodman, Student Council representative. Miss Virginia Daniels served as adviser of the class again this year.

The class was well represented in school activities as the sophomores became adjusted to the school schedule. Boys participated actively in all sports including football, basketball, wrestling, track, golf, tennis and cross-country. While girls enjoyed the intramural basketball and volleyball program.

Sophomores Visualize Careers During Second Year Endeavor

Those tenth graders not so athletically inclined joined in other extracurricular activities including Student Council, Junior Classical League, band, chorus, the different clubs and the forensic competition. Several sophomores participated in the production of the All-Class play, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

Biology gave sophomores a chance to study living things through dissections, field trips, magical boxes and research papers. "Julius Caesar" and "Tale of Two Cities" written by William Shakespeare and Charles Dickens, respectively, were read in English II classes. Also autobiographies were required to be written by each student.

Courses were offered in journalism and broadcasting for those who were interested in supplementing their required courses and providing an essential service to the school and fellow students.

Juniors

As the flags of the Junior and Senior Classes wave in the breeze on Moving-up Day, juniors are faced with a startling realization—they must be prepared to assume school leadership passed on to them by the seniors.

Of course, they had been preparing for this position for several years. As freshmen and sophomores they were taught to follow the examples of upperclassmen; and this year, through active participation in school functions, they were acquainted with the task of actual leadership.

Modern Language Club, band, orchestra, octet and the Business Education Club were but a few societies with junior representation. Upperclassmen had members on the athletic squads and still others in plays; namely, the All-Class play and "Pillow Talk," the Junior Class production.

scholarship, leadership, service and character were voted into the National Honor Society. Those superior in mathematics and still others writing the required number of inches were chosen for the Mu Alpha Theta and Quill and Scroll, respectively.

In addition to after school activities, juniors were acquainted with the explosive science of chemistry, bookkeeping and advanced sewing.

As the climax, juniors were host to the seniors at the annual prom held this year in the new annex of the gym. The theme of the prom was "Southern Rhapsody," depicting a pre-Civil War plantation.

Under the leadership of Mr. Lee Henderson, the Junior Class chose Kevin Carroll as president. Other officers include Daniel Mercinko, vice-president; Nancy Katana, secretary; Susan Rutter, treasurer, and Loretta Patts, Student Council representative.

Four Years With Intensive Study Mold Future Of Youthful Citizens

"O, dear Latrobe High School to you. We pledge to be loyal and true." Members of the Class of 1965 raise their voices in song to honor the school which is now to them only a stepping stone in the stream of life.

No matter how they gained their knowledge, they all profited. College prep students, business education students, homemakers, technical and industrial boys—each learned much in four years' time. Graduation climaxed this portion of their education.

What things will a senior remember of his four years in high school? Which moments will he cherish above all others? Certainly that long-awaited and coveted moment in September when he received his senior ring. Never will he forget the pride and honor which accompanied it. Senior pictures were October's highlight, while the distribution of name cards reminded all that graduation was much too near.

Seniors were enthusiastic participants in extra-curricular activities, joining numerous clubs and organizations. Energetic boys formed the nucleus of the athletic teams and were justly rewarded with letters and trophies. They participated in football, basketball, track, cross-country, wrestling, golf and tennis. Girls contributed to the sports picture by engaging in intramural basketball and volleyball and at the same time they gained experience in sportsmanship. Energy and vigor were displayed by the twelfth graders as they eagerly responded to the excitement at the athletic contests. Leading them were the varsity cheerleaders of whom four were seniors. The traditional Wildcat, chosen from the senior class, also added pep to his classmates' attitudes.

Melodies from the music room resounded throughout the halls. Mixed Chorus, Girls' Chorus II and the Octet enabled talented students to foster their talents both in school and in the community. Band members contributed much time and energy to insure the outcome of festivities at school affairs.

Seniors were veteran thespians, gaining experience and know-how during their years as underclassmen. Three cast members of the All-Class play, "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," were twelfth graders. The annual Senior Class play and the Moving-Up Day assembly gave all a last chance to participate.

Although extra-curricular activities are of importance in achieving a well-rounded school life, education and scholarship were the major goals. The class of 1965 succeeded in attaining these goals as many students were recognized for scholarship in different fields. College speakers and the annual College Night placed additional emphasis on studies, as seniors applied and were accepted as potential college freshmen. Others anticipated business and nursing careers, while those doubtful students participated in employment placement tests.

Students outstanding in many and varied fields were honored by being chosen members of the National Honor Society. Language students could become National Spanish Honor Society members if they met qualifications. Still others were selected by fellow classmates as significant participants in one particular phase of school life, such as leadership or dramatics. Forensics afforded yet another chance to prove abilities and talents. Debates, orations and the Kiwanis-sponsored Extemporaneous Speaking Contest drew many entrants interested in bettering their public speaking abilities.

Selected by his classmates to lead them in various functions was Richard Laposky. Alex Keefe served as vice-president, while Barbara West was named secretary, Dennis Bryson, treasurer and Cathy Clarke, Student Council representative.

DONALD SEDLACKO and Fred Gallo discuss mental health as a main topic for their fourth year health class.

SENIORS Richard Laposky, Cathy Clarke, Nancy Haswell, Carol Danko, Carol Sproch, Benedict DeMaria, Frank Felbaum, Jim Jones and Linda Flickinger hold an informal meeting at the cottage to discuss the various awards and the contributions each has made.

Outstanding Seniors

Excellence In Worthy Endeavors Merits Adequate Recognition

Although dreams and abilities vary from one individual to another, everyone has the opportunity to rise above mediocrity in the field where his interest lies. It is the desire to strive ahead of the average that is the key to success. The members of the class of 1965 have selected among their peers those ten who they believe have exhibited the qualities characteristic of outstanding seniors.

Membership in four senior organizations testify to the scholastic achievements of BENEDICT DEMARIA. He was active in the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, for which he was vice-president, Quill and Scroll and the Latin National Honor Society. In the National Merit Examination, he attained one of the top scores at LHS. St. Vincent College, the school Benny plans to attend next year, awarded him a scholarship.

"Music enriches many persons' lives, but only through participation in music can one fully appreciate it," emphasizes CATHY CLARKE, outstanding in the Music Department. Cathy has participated in the Westmoreland County Orchestra Festival and the Mid-East All-Star High School Orchestra. She was a member for two years of both Mixed Chorus and Girls' Chorus II. Cathy also served as piano accompanist for Girls' Chorus II.

"Two Engraved Words" was the title of this year's winning oration presented by CAROL SPROCH, sited for her forensic talent. Carol, who transferred from St. Xavier's her sophomore year, took first place in the Woman's Club Poetry Reading contest and was a debate finalist the same year. As a junior she was a finalist in the Woman's Club contest and a class winner in the Kiwanis Extemporaneous Speaking contest. Carol was also a finalist for the Kiwanis contest this year.

Although DOROTHY NAEGAR, outstanding homemaker, enjoys cooking, she admits, "Ever since I have learned to sew, it has ranked first, along with activities of the FHA." She has fashioned and made many clothes including a skirt, a jumper, a wool coat, and a five-piece spring suit ensemble, for which she received recognition as a junior on Awards Day. Dorothy has received a degree from the Future Homemakers of America.

Electricity is the main interest of FRANK FELBAUM, who stood out with his vocational achievements. Learning to wire expensive machinery and entire homes, as well as learning to weld were among many of his assignments. Remarked Frank, "Electrical Shop has developed an increased emphasis upon my training for the electrical field; to prepare myself to operate, service and manufacture various types of electrical equipment."

RICHARD LAPOSKY, elected for his leadership abilities, was president of the Senior Class and editor-in-chief of The High Post. He also held the position of president of the History Club last year and was vice-president of the Biology Club, his sophomore year. Membership in the National Honor Society, Quill and Scroll, Mu Alpha Theta and Spanish Honorary Society are among his many activities.

"With ambition as my lead, I hope to succeed," is the motto of CAROL DANKO, the senior who received recognition in the Business Department. She served as president this year and vice-president last year of the Business Education Club. Aside from her commercially inclined activities, Carol was a healthroom attendant for one year, a librarian for two years and a Biology Club member.

As editor of the 1965 Latrobean, LINDA FLICKINGER found much opportunity to practice her journalistic skills, for which she was recognized. She was also a member of the Quill and Scroll, national journalistic society. NHS, Spanish Honorary Society, History Club, MLC and Biology Club were among her many activities. Linda was recipient of the Elks' Leadership Award in the local high school and the area schools.

JAMES JONES, 1965 outstanding athlete, was a member of the All-District and All-Conference Football teams. He took the county championship for his weight in wrestling for two years and was also on the track squad. Commented Jim, "Athletics in high school, I feel, is a most valuable asset to any boy. He learns to face people, to face heartache, and to face triumph like a man."

A senior with a good amount of expression was NANCY HASWELL, voted tops in dramatics. "Many Loves of Doby Gillis," "Peck's Bad Boy," "I'll Leave It To You," "The Courtship of Eddies Father," and "Ask Any Girl," are titles of school plays in which Nancy appeared. She has had parts in three All-Class plays and in Junior and Senior Class plays. The Quill and Scroll and the Humanities Seminar were among some of Nancy's non-dramatic activities.

These ten seniors, already with a successful career behind them, have reaped the benefits of hard work and effort and will continue to do so throughout life.

School Scenes

"I'D CARRY some of your books," offers Fred Maloney to Paula Seabol, "but I have enough of my own."

"TWO BITS, four bits, six bits a dollar, everyone for Latrobe stand up and holler!"

FORMAL HOME room period commences each day with the pledge of allegiance followed by several moments of silence.

CHERYL COOK and Ron and Denny Cornelius agree that "three's a crowd" as the three of them use only two adjacent lockers.

CHRIS BAUGHMAN, Judy Steele, Patty Toth and Vanda Pundai bravely face the trials of freshman gym class.

RONALD ULISHNEY, Vince Spinelli, Don Felbaum and Steve Wadjec sand a smooth finish on a newly constructed cabinet.

WHILE PAT RAFFERTY ponders a biological problem, Ray Kutzer waits anxiously to respond.

HELPING HIS home room teacher, senior Ray Chambers stops at the stock room to receive supplies from Mr. Charles Vogel, school custodian.

IN CONVEYING the purposes of abstract art, Mr. James R. Beatty gestures toward a temporary hanging during the annual open house art exhibit.

KEVIN CAROLL and Richard Laposky, junior and senior class presidents, along with Diane Bradshaw, plan the final act of Moving-Up Day—the raising of the '65 and '66 class flags.

JIM GRAY, Irene Watkins, Barb Cline and Vince Quatrini stop to reminisce on the year's events while signing each yearbook.

What To DO With Busy Fingers

From the days when home was a cave, smart gals relax with their knitting. It's fun and knitwear will give you years of fashionable wear. When it comes to knitting, make Gertrude's shop your headquarters. She has wonderful yarns and needlecraft supplies — plus all the free help you'll need.

"We live in a world in which work is not preached as a value but leisure is spoken of as the end of all that is meaningful. What is leisure? Look in the dictionary and you will find that leisure is defined as 'being free from engagement'. I submit that a society that worships freedom from engagement and does not attach the value to learning that other do is in a very dangerous position.
