The end has come.
In September the students of Latrobe High will be studying in different surroundings. After 53 years this building, that has seen thousands of students grow-up, be educated and graduate, will no longer be "dear old Latrobe High." This edifice has served well the youth of the community. Additional classrooms were needed in 1923, 1930 and 1937. The most recent renovations and a new wing has just been completed. For those who attended, the school will always remain the same — dear to their hearts and memories.

Remembering tomorrow is possibly the best part of accomplishing an act today. The reliving of this school year throughout time is made easier by the comprehensive pictorial and editorial coverage included in the 1966 "Latrobean." Unfolded in the following pages is the story that once recalled will provide the student with numerous memories of academic and extra-curricular activities. Turn now to rekindle school spirit as well as look back upon the many experiences encountered during the year.

Conscientious Pupils

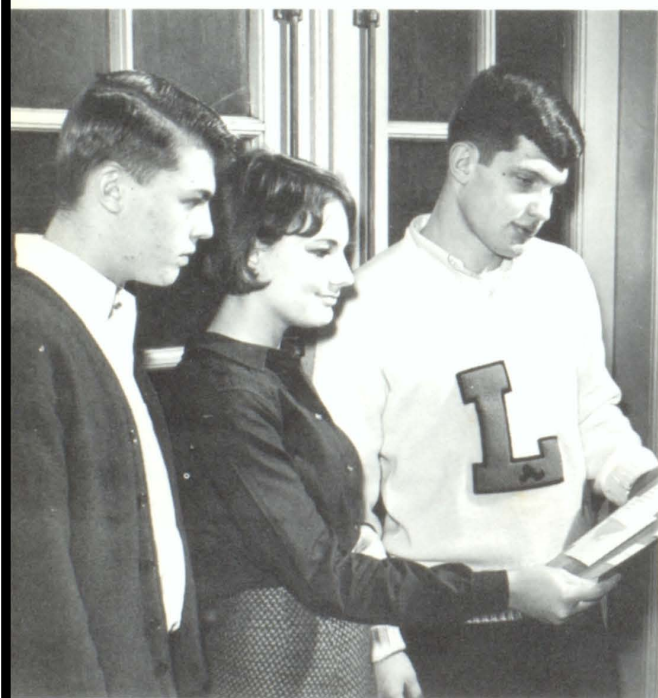

Gain Benefits From Pursuing Worthy Activities

Through the school year students increase their academic knowledge through numerous channels. Foreign languages broaden the view on cultural aspects of countries. Mathematics and science opened the door to new areas of learning. Secrets of the past were revealed to students through history.

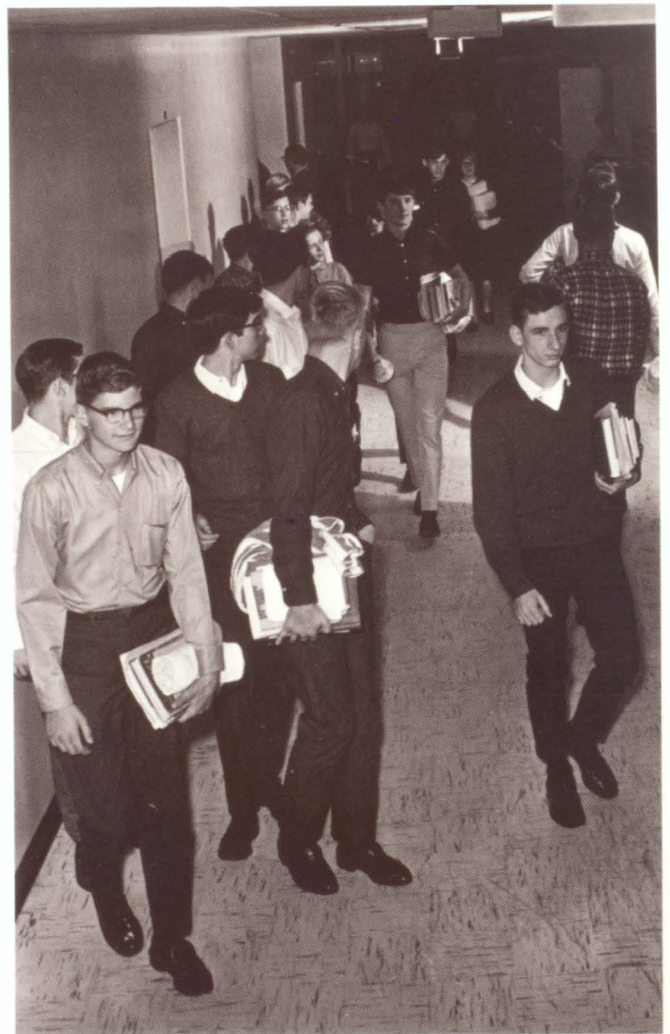

This school year brought a full schedule of fun for everyone that included after game parties, school dances, dinners, nights at the "Rooster," skiing, the prom and the long awaited commencement.

Experiences Serve To Prepare Youths

It was a year of sounds. The sound of debaters, orations speakers, cheerleaders, teachers and fellow classmates. It was a year of sight. The sight of dramatics unfolding fall football, winter basketball and for upperclassmen the prom. It was a year of learning. Learning about history, French, algebra, physics and how to become a member of the adult world. It was a year to be remembered by all, forever.

Knowledge of immeasurable value was attained in academic study this year. Large doors were opened. Doors which had previously concealed the solutions to math problems, foreign language research themes and facts about our forefathers. Now these doors were forever open.

publications

During the past school term members of the Journalism staff strove to successfully complete the production of the "Latrobean" and "The High Post" by diligent work in their respective departments of editorial, business and advertising.

With previous training in the rules of style and writing techniques, the Journalism II members of the editorial staff did the writing of both of the publications. Using the 5 w's as their guide, these cub journalists met deadlines and word counts.

The advertising and business staffs worked hand in hand with the editorial groups to complete their respective functions. Keeping the accounts of all financial proceedings and subscriptions were some of the duties of the business department. The main job of the advertising staff was selling ads for both publications.

This year as in past years the Journalism Department submitted both "The High Post" and "Latrobean" for critical analysis in such competitive honor rating contests as the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and the Pennsylvania School Press Association. Both publications have received high honor from these services.

Entering these contests makes the staff more anxious to improve both the paper and yearbook resulting in new and better editions each year.

Editor-in-chief of the "Latrobean," Paula Seabol, discusses the 1966 annual with other members of the staff, Judy Casey, assistant editor, and Nancy Kozusko, literary editor, as they review last year's book.

Junior reporters Bob Hankins and Thom Myers read and criticize sports stories written in past issues while Francis Tandarich and Vince Quatrini offer helpful suggestions on improving writing and coverage techniques.

Rick Braun, Paul Harr and Clayton Shirey, assistant sports page editors of "The High Post," look at back issues of the paper in order to get ideas for future reporting assignments.

Maureen Kozusko, senior assistant editor of page two, reviews the principles and rules of style learned in Journalism I classes with junior writers Carol Zeltner, Linda Blazek, Ellen Kattan and Joanne Pagnanelli.

Journalists Record Year's Events In Publications

Early in October members of the Journalism I and II classes traveled by bus to attend the Western Pennsylvania School Press Association Convention held at West Mifflin North High School. There they heard various professionals give their opinions on the improvement of their book, as well as attending workshops for the various departments of production.

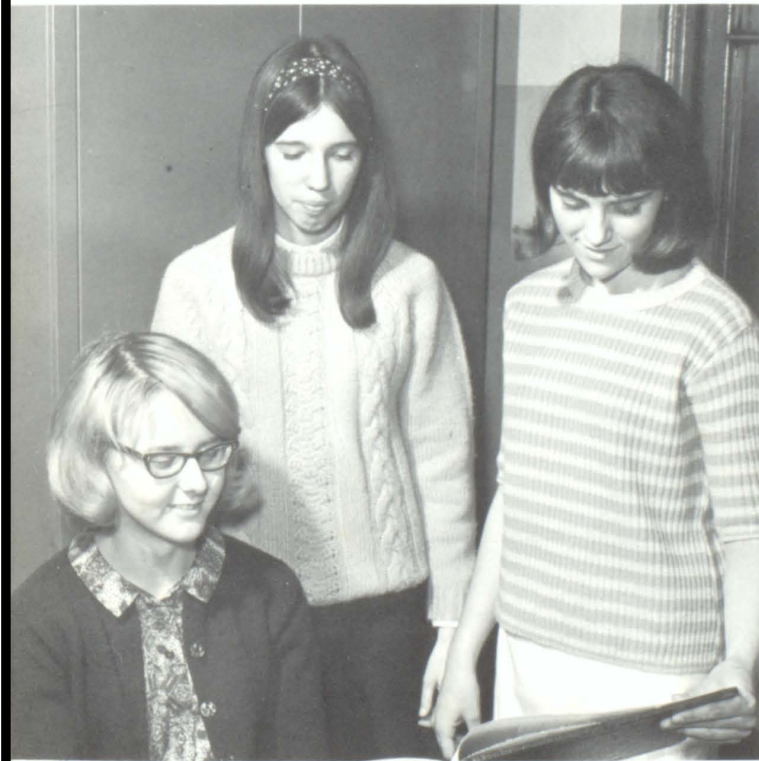

Heading the yearbook staff was Paula Seabol, who assumed the responsibilities of editor of the Latrobean. It was the job of the Latrobean staff to capture in copy as well as pictures the story of the past year.

In September, with the layout of the book complete, the editor and her assistants set out to meet deadlines with editorial and pictorial coverage of the 1965-1966 school year. Along with the junior member's writing came many hours spent in proofreading all copy for the annual.

Editor-in-chief of the High Post, Judy Popp, supervised the work of the newspaper staff. The week prior to the publishing date of the paper held the responsibilities of assigning stories, having them in by deadline, copy-reading for errors, typing and finally sending the copy to the printers for publication. Among the changes in the appearance of the publications was the introduction of a new method of printing — Lithograph offset.

Checking to make sure that all the books are up to date and all finances in proper order are members of the business staff, Janet Marciniak, Brenda Clark and Irene Watkins.

Looking at new prospects for "Latrobean" and "The High Post" ads are seniors Tom Conti, Carol Resenic and Judy Inselmini. Assisting them are juniors Ruth Immel, Karen Ridilla, Dave Rollins and Dan Hauger.

Veronica Planinsek, assistant page one editor, gives a few pointers on the proper balance of headlines and pictures to junior staff writers Susan Ashley, Linda Williams, Debbie Coblentz and Phyllis McCarthy.

Head ushers, Bonnie Suranic and Darlene Shafer meet before the Junior Class play to instruct junior Kathy Bloom on the general procedures and techniques involved with ushering for school events.

As Readers Club president, Sylvia Beeghly, compiles the list of assignments for the club members, fellow officers Bonita Cox, Student Council representative, Linda Carns, treasurer, and Marie Costabile, secretary, offer their advice.

USHERS CLUB — Distributing programs and seating patrons at auditorium events were two of the responsible duties of Usher Club members.

The Club consisted of 27 girls under the supervision of Miss Catherine Netzlof. Any girl willing to serve her school was eligible for the organization. The ushers were always attired in white for the auditorium events.

Another duty was to assist the persons having reserve seat tickets to their seats at the home football games. Bonnie Suranic supervised the ushers in the balcony, while on the main floor Darlene Shafer took charge.

Several volunteers among the Ushers group held hand out programs and seat patrons at events held in Kennedy Hall at St. Vincent College.

READER'S CLUB — "Servimus," meaning "we serve," is the motto which 60 members honor when they alternately visit children at Latrobe Hospital. Telling stories and playing games every Saturday from 10:30 to 12 seems to brighten the day for both youngster and teen.

Officers guiding the club's activities included Sylvia Beeghly, president; Adren Bauman, vice-president; Marie Costabile, secretary; Linda Carns, treasurer and Bonita Cox, Student Council representative. Aiding in the projects is Miss A. E. Reeping, club adviser.

Among other activities, members made Santa Clauses for the end of the year a $100 loan Scholarship is given to the most eligible senior girl.

BAND — Rousing music rang through Memorial Stadium as the Latrobe High School marching band presented half-time entertainment for capacity crowds. Many exciting pieces played at home and away during the football season earned honors for the senior organization.

Long before regular class sessions began at the High School the band practiced many hours in the summer sun. Even with this advanced preparation, much still had to be done in planning for each individual performance. Meanwhile, pep assemblies and rallies were taking place, and the band was performing another invaluable service by boosting school spirit.

Of a group totaling 90, which is an increase of 11 over last year, 10 seniors received pins in recognition of four years of service.

Several band members also took part in County and District Band. County Band members were juniors: Richard Riggs, Patricia Felbaum, and Margaret Merzenski and seniors: Kathleen Callahan, Cheryl Cook, Dawna Richards, Helen Seefelt, and Reba Shiffler.

ORCHESTRA — Forty-six members comprising the senior orchestra supplied entertainment during many programs of the school term.

Under the guidance and direction of Mr. Eugene Pecoraro the orchestra played at forensics, dramatics, and in the annual Spring Instrumental Concert. Students with musical ability who wished to join applied for admittance to the orchestra in the spring of the preceding year. Upon acceptance they tried out with other members who played the same instrument to gain a position.

During the fall and winter, the orchestra practiced music which it used at the All-Class play, Wednesday's and Friday's regular assemblies, and "Extemps." Then in March serious practice began in preparation for the Spring Instrumental Concert in which the orchestra had a major role.

Awards were given to two and four year members of the orchestra. Two years members received a letter. This term saw seven seniors receive orchestra pins.

In addition to their regular parts in the orchestra Karen Hornung, Susan Fritz and John Bush rehearse the Christmas carols that were sung by the French Chorus previous to the holiday vacation.

After finishing an after-school rehearsal, orchestra members John Underwood, Leann Falbo, Jean Washnock, Jim Okonak and Judy Casey discuss the possibilities of the music to be used in a future assembly.

In District Band which met January 13-15 Theresa Tokesky represented Latrobe High School. Other awards given this year were the John Phillip Sousa award, given to an outstanding band member, and the Kiwanis award given to an outstanding musician.

Fifteen majorettes supplied entertainment with their routines and novel baton twirls. Head Majorette was junior Beverly DeVitto. Senior members were Gloria Check, Nancy Katana, Katy Wilt, and Anita Battaglia. Regular junior marchers were Mildred Lazur, Pat Steele and Marlene Myers. Alternating substitutes were Kathy Zurick, Doreen Deeley, Barbara Slate, Sarah Jane Hayden, Ellen Oderisio, Sandy Bigaman and Mary Ann Monzo.

v o c a l g r o u p s

MIXED CHORUS — Strains from the Broadway production "Camelot," "Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow" and other tunes were heard from the music room throughout the year.

The Mixed Chorus was accompanied by Mary Poklembo and John Bush. The 65 boys and girls in the chorus ranged from tenth to twelfth graders. Each member was selected through try-outs conducted by Mr. Robert Acker, music director.

Thirteen students from the Mixed Chorus represented Latrobe in the annual Westmoreland County Choral Festival November 18 and 19 at the Kiski Area High School. Participants included Sue Collier, Dawna Richards, Phyllis McCarthy, Bonnie Lewis, Esther Kabana, Eileen McFeaters, Kathy Claycomb, Janet Jones, Susan Ashley, Karen Luttner, Donald Buncie, Frank Novotny and David Buncie.

Mr. Acker stated, "It was a great achievement and a high honor for all those who were selected to represent our school at the county festival."

At the Christmas assembly, the Mixed Chorus sang "The Christmas Tribute." This cantata was accompanied by slides depicting different Christmas and nativity scenes. The chorus also sang "Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow," "Do You Hear What I Hear" and "'Twas the Night Before Christmas."

Three members of the chorus were selected to take part in District Chorus, held at Mt. Lebanon. Mixed Chorus provided an opportunity for male and female harmony to combine. Their vocal ability was displayed in the spring concert, where selections from "Camelot" and other pieces were presented.

Girls Chorus II and the Mixed Chorus presented the annual Christmas assembly. The girls' Chorus, attired in choir robes, sang "Sleigh Ride," "Carol of the Bells," and "O Holy Night" as selections for the program.

During rehearsals the girls practiced singing in two and three part harmony. First sopranos, second sopranos, and altos combined to create a harmonic sound. Many hours of practice and effort by the girls and director were needed to achieve a balanced choral sound.

In the Spring Concert the chorus sang "Calm As The Night" and other songs.

Boys Show Musical Abilities In School Chorus

GIRLS' CHORUS I — The Girls' Chorus I was composed of 65 freshman girls. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Acker the chorus met the sixth period every Monday and Tuesday.

At the beginning of the year the girls were introduced to some songs from Broadway productions. They sang some of these selections on Freshman Day for the incoming frosh. The chorus performed in the Spring Concert. "I Could Have Danced All Night" and "All The Things You Are" were among some of the pieces prepared for this recital.

Diane Kontour and Chris Baudner assisted the chorus by accompanying them on the piano.

BOYS' CHORUS I — Freshman boys interested in choral singing have the opportunity by joining the Boys' Chorus I. This year 20 boys did so. They rehearsed songs under the direction of Mr. Robert Acker.

During third period every Tuesday and Friday the boys met in the chorus room. They practiced singing such selections as "The Halls of Ivy," "Aura Lee," "America My Own" and "Softly a Serenade."

In the latter part of March the chorus prepared pieces for the Spring Concert. These songs exemplified harmonies the boys had practiced. Boys' Chorus I was accompanied by freshman, Michael Kuzusko and Ralph Fowler.

With Michael Kozusko as accompanist, Boys' Chorus I members John Slivosky and Andrew Wnek sing out "Gotta go through the door" from the song "Rocka My Soul" in preparation for the Spring Concert.

Majorettes Ellen Odoriso, Gloria Check, Beverly DeVitto, and Millie Lazar perform in graceful style as they march through a familiar routine. The Wildcat in the background views the performance with a watchful eye.

Band members Dave Smith and Mike Shirey take advantage of the compartments which were added to the newly installed bandroom for the purpose of storing the band instruments when they aren't in use.

As the Spring Concert approaches, seniors Helen Seefelt, Richard Newyear and Keith Stiffey concentrate on practicing a march which they will play when they perform with the band for the last time.

Honor Societies Recognize High Ranking Pupils

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY — Scholastic ability, service, leadership and character are the requirements that determine membership into the National Honor Society.

This honorary society gains its members from the upper fourth of the Junior and Senior Classes. Individuals having this rank and the above mentioned requirements are presented for consideration for membership through voting by the faculty. Guiding the organization this year under the direction of the adviser, Mr. James R. Beatty, were Larry Newton, president; Karen Hornung, vice-president; Judy Casey, secretary; Nanette Pristas, treasurer and Sherry Massena, Student Council representative.

Being an honorary society, few meetings were conducted through the year. The induction ceremony for new members in May highlighted the activities. A service of the club provided speakers for the home rooms upon request. This program gave a better understanding of the society's purpose and entrance requirements. Mr. Beatty and several officers also attended an NHS seminar at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

QUILL AND SCROLL — The student journalist who attains membership in the Quill and Scroll is recognized for his achievement in journalistic fields as well as scholastic standing.

The ideals set forth by this honorary society can best be summarized by words taken from the Quill and Scroll's initiation ceremony. Truth, initiative, opportunity, leadership, loyalty, enlightenment and friendship are essential qualities of any journalist.

Meeting these ideals, the student writer is awarded with membership in this international honor society for high school publications. Also required of an initiate is a rank in the upper third of his class, and 250 column inches of published material. The business and advertising staff members qualify for admittance on the basis of the regular requirements excluding published matter. They must also serve two years in their department.

Presiding over the Thomas M. Whitman chapter this year were officers Paula Seabol, president; Judy Popp, vice-president; Verconica Planinsek, treasurer and Judy Casey, secretary.

CHEERLEADERS — Creating school spirit and arousing enthusiasm among the students at athletic events were the goals of the cheerleaders.

The 1965-66 varsity cheerleading squad consisted of seniors, Connie Carota, head; Susan Kelly, Linda Monzo and Marcy Novak. Barbara Cline, Joanne Pagnanelli, Janice Regula and Irene Watkins comprised the junior members. Senior Tom Okonak, by acting as the Latrobe Wildcat, assisted the cheerleaders in promoting spirit.

Attired in newly-purchased uniforms of black and white kick-pleat skirts, vests and white long sleeve blouses, the girls were present at all football, basketball, and wrestling contests. They also conducted the weekly pep assemblies during football season.

With the aid of their advisers, Miss Mary Lou Korzak and Mrs. John Vincze, the cheerleaders strived to further the students' interests in school athletic events. The Pep Club, organized by the squad, was one of these. Displaying banners and posters throughout the halls of the school was also done by the girls.

Serving under junior varsity head, Kathy Hricik, were sophomores, Carol Ballash, Eileen Kelly and Anita Oeschger. Freshman cheerleaders include Denise Deichert, Margie Frederick, Lori Hricik and Patty Morelli.

Students Benefit From Service Of School Groups

HIGH POST REPRESENTATIVES — Some thirteen times throughout the year High Post Representatives, elected by members of their home rooms, distributed issues of the school newspaper.

On production days representatives reported to room 118 where they received copies of the paper for student subscribers. The efforts of these students began with the annual publications campaign when representatives collected money daily. By urging students to subscribe, many home rooms received prizes upon attaining 100 per cent.

On the final day of school, representatives performed their final task, the distribution of the yearbooks.

Mr. William R. Couchenour, Publications Supervisor, served as adviser.

STUDENT SERVICE — To perform their daily duties of hall inspection and checking lockers, members of the Student Service composed of sophomores, juniors and seniors were stationed throughout the corridors.

Additional duties were delivering the contents of open lockers to the Lost and Found, acting as guides to visitors to the building and insuring safety in the corridors by turning on the hall lights prior to every class change.

Members of the Student Service are chosen on the basis of their schedule convenience. Mr. George Fabry served as the group's adviser for the school term.

Mr. Fabry said that this organization performs many unnoticed tasks which nevertheless are essential to the efficient and thorough management of the school. He added that he feels the student body should be more appreciative of the Student Service.

Presiding over the organization were Bernadette Zavada, president; Karen Fritchel, vice-president; Barbara Martin, secretary; and Myra Swieczkowski, treasurer. Members receiving Chapter Homemaker Degrees were seniors Bonnie Suranic and Bernadette Zavada. Junior Homemaker Degrees were earned by seniors Patricia Hall, Bonnie Suranic, Anna Mary Zavada, Barbara Zavada and Bernadette Zavada and juniors Kathy Glitsky, Barbara Martin, Louise McFadden and Barbara Shank.

Mrs. Mary Calabrace, FHA sponsor, said that the goal of the club is to help individuals improve personal, family and community living through organized programs and to promote further interest in Home Economics.

Other activities were an Easter party, a March of Dimes campaign, and participation in the round-up.

Thirty-four different students participated in the three dramatic productions enacted under the direction of Mrs. Lois Manon. These actors and actresses devoted long hours to practice in order to give successful performances.

The Senior Class enacted "Arsenic and Old Lace," a three act story of two Victorian-style ladies, Abby and Martha Brewster, who entertain elderly gentlemen roomers. Finding them lonely, the ladies poison them with arsenic in their wine, feeling the men would be happier dead. Teddy Brewster then buries the bodies in the family cellar. When their nephew, Mortimer, plans to marry Elaine Harper, complications arise with the arrival of long-lost cousin Jonathan and his friend Dr. Einstein, who hope to use the Brewster home as their criminal hideout. MU ALPHA THETA — Matrix Algebra, viewing a computer at West Penn and other mathematical challenges highlighted the meetings of the Mu Alpha Theta, an honorary society. These and other subjects aided in the study of the fields of mathematics.

To be eligible, a student must have maintained an average of 85 or above in Algebra I, II and the first semester of Geometry. Membership is also open to eligible juniors during their second semester. Other determining factors include references from three teachers who justify character, leadership and service.

Guiding this year's activities were Clayton Shirey, president; Emil Sarady, vice-president; Susan Nigra, secretary and Joan Yanik, treasurer. Meetings were held the first Thursday of every month. A guest speaker at the organization's banquet in May highlighted the year's programs.

Serving as club adviser was Miss Mary Louise McBride, mathematics instructor, who aided in the planning of programs for the organization.

LIBRARIANS — Assisting the users of the library were 17 student librarians. These girls performed important duties that helped in the operation of the library and the general condition of the thousands of books that occupy its shelves.

Checking books in and out and taking attendance of pupils were the main responsibilities of these girls. Besides answering reference questions and reserving certain books for teachers, they also prepared magazines.

Perhaps the most important of their duties was caring for the new and old books. Several reference and file cards were made, as well as a bibliography for each

The librarians were under the supervision of Mr. John Switzer, librarian.

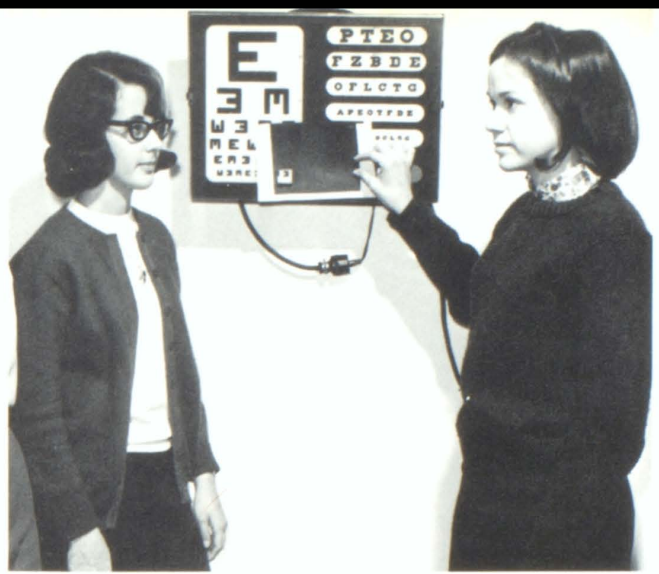

HEALTHROOM ATTENDANTS — Administering band-aids, ointments and soothing words were tasks of the eight attendants in the new health suite.

Although they were not allowed to dispense any internal medicines to the students, these aides could treat pupils who suffered minor cuts or bruises. Assigned to the health room during the morning were Jean Ridilla, Ruth Himler, Gloria Keough and Joanne Kornides, while Jane Berkmyre, Dana Brookbank, Sandy Shirey and Faith Ann Fiorina comforted those ill during the afternoon.

"Every health situation should be utilized as a learning experience for pupils, health room attendants and members of the faculty," commented Mrs. Lois Shirey, school nurse in charge of the attendants.

They also aided Mrs. Shirey by checking students heights and weights and preparing the room for physical examinations.

Contests Provide Experience in Public Speaking

Junior Thomas Myers, freshman Elaine Aukerman, sophomore Louis Dolinar and senior Thomas Okonak were the four class winners of the thirty-sixth Annual Kiwanis Extemporaneous Speaking Contest.

Representing the freshmen were Richard Baumgardner and Elaine Aukerman who spoke on "Red China and the U.N." Elaine took honors in her class. "A comparison of democratic principles versus communistic principles" was the topic discussed by the sophomores. Louis Dolinar earned the class award as he competed against Robert McIntyre.

Winning for the juniors was Thomas Myers, who also won grand prize honors. His opponent was Vincent Quatrini, and the junior topic, "Communitistic growth in the Western Hemisphere."

Thomas Okonak gained an award for his speech on the topic "Vietnam." Tom defeated his opponent, Chris Massena, for the senior title.

Mrs. Patricia Findley, faculty adviser, aided the students in preparing their material and style. Winners received cash prizes of from $2.50 to $20.00.

Senior Tom Okonak points out an interesting article to other extemp finalists — Louis Dolinar, Robert McIntyre, Thomas Myers, Elaine Aukerman, Vincent Quatrini and Chris Massena, as they gather material for the annual event.

Karen Hornung won first place in the forty-first annual Rotary Club Oratorical Contest conducted in February.

Other prize winners were Larry Newton, second place; Connie Carota third place and Paula Seabol honorable mention.

"Is God Dead?" was the winning oration by Karen while Larry spoke on his topic "Be of Good Courage." Delivering "Chip by Chip" was Connie and Paula emphasized "The Gift of Goodness."

Other finalists and the title of their orations were as follows: Emil Sarady, "The Patriot's Call;" Bernard Myers, "Ye Break Faith;" JoAnn Yanik, "Sing Out Loud and Clear;" and Andrew Krall, "Man — A Unique Creation."

These finalists were chosen from approximately 32 participating seniors by members of the English faculty in a preliminary contest after school. Miss Irene Mertz served as faculty adviser to orations, first forensic contest of the year.

Cash prizes as well as a loving cup for top honors were awarded.

Senior oration finalists Emil Sarady, JoAnn Yanik, Paula Seabol, Andrew Krall, Larry Newton, Connie Carota, Karen Hornung and Bernie Myers take turns listening as each gives excerpts from his speech.

As a part of the forensic season the Women's Club Contest gained the attention of many students.

Approximately 51 students participated in the annual contest. Among the six finalists chosen, the winners in the respective categories were Kathy Silvas, who presented "The Skeleton in Armor," for the poetry division, Connie Carota for her declamation, "In Honor of President Kennedy," and Thomas McFadyn for his Shakespearean presentation from "Julius Caesar." Other finalists included Karen Hornung, Lynda McDonald and Susie Ashley.

The judges, members of the Women's Club, were Mrs. Kenneth Bowman, Mrs. Miles Smith and Mrs. Fritz Yealy. Miss Louanne Love served as faculty adviser and Linda Adams acted as student chairman for the event.

"Resolved: That the federal government should prohibit the requirement of union membership as a condition for employment," was this year's topic for the Ruth Robb Civic Club Debate.

Composing the negative team were Keith Hornung and Larry Newton who proved victorious over Cheryl Kostelnik and Loretta Patts, affirmative. The negative held the viewpoint that union membership would not only benefit the worker but make for better working conditions and room for collective bargaining while the affirmative team debated that upholding the negative belief would result in the defiance of the U.S. Constitution and personal liberty.

In a period of 10 minutes each contestant presented his views and then in a five minute speech, made his rebuttle. Serving as student chairman was Debby Coblentz while Louis Dolinar acted as timekeeper.

Lynda McDonald reviews her presentation for the Declamation division of the annual Women's Club Contest, while Karen Hornung and Susan Ashley, runners-up in the Poetry and Shakespeare Reading competition, look on.

Members Act Together As Student Government

Service to the high school and the students was the main objective of the members of the 1965-1966 Student Council.

As in past years, the pupils on the council were elected by their home rooms to represent the classes. There were also other students interested in working for the council and club representatives.

Elected to lead and supervise the council's activities were Robert Nicholson, president; William Dundore, vice president; Eileen Liebermann, secretary; and Mary Ann Gallagher, treasurer. Mr. James R. Beatty served as faculty adviser.

Robert Nicholson and William Dundore attended a Student Council, Early in the year. Mr. Beatty accompanied them and participated in the program.

Members of the Student Council were found busy selling food, soft drinks and coffee on Friday nights at home football games. At basketball games and wrestling matches ice cream and candy could also be purchased from a representative.

To serve the faculty and student body by bringing educational entertainment to the high school, the Student Council sponsored seven special assemblies this year. Varying from dancing to adventure stories, the assemblies were presented before a large audience.

The school dances sponsored by the Council included the annual Sadie Hawkins, that gave girls the opportunity to entertain their favorite beaux, and in November the "Wild Cat Stag."

Selling tickets for the All-Class play was another service rendered by the council. They also checked coats at all plays and vocal or instrumental concerts. A check room was available to those who attended debates, orations, Women's Club Contest and other events and contests that were held in the school auditorium.

Student Council members helped familiarize the Freshman Class to their new surroundings on Freshman Day by distributing "greenie" books and showing them through the building. Eighth graders also were introduced to the high school on a day set aside for them, with the aid of council members who conducted them on a tour through the school.

The Christmas decorations that brightened the auditorium during December were made and hung by a committee of the council.

One important function of the council is the maintenance of the Lost and Found. Every day first through eighth periods the Lost and Found was open to serve students. A small fee is charged for the redemption of a lost article. This money goes into the treasury to be used by the council in their work.

A reward was given to deserving members on Awards Day at the end of the school year. A member attaining eighteen points received a bronze, silver, or gold pin according to his years of service. The officers and pin winners then took a trip to Pittsburgh on a Saturday at the expense of the council.

In the latter part of May a buffet dinner was held in the Student Council house adjacent to the school.

A few students pause to enjoy some of the refreshments that the Student Council members serve during home football games as the Wildcats fight on outside.

Assisting with a traditional endeavor of the Student Council, that of decorating the auditorium with ornaments during the Christmas season, are members Nancy Watkins and Tanya Geter.

PEP CLUB — Decorating the football goal posts, preparing the large Wildcat hoops and assisting the cheerleaders in creating school spirit were the goals of the Pep Club, a group organized last year.

The 1965-66 school term was the first full year that the organization was in existence. Leading the 130 members in their activities were Barty Shivetts, president; Sharon David, vice-president; Eleanor Hamilton, secretary and Brenda Clark, treasurer.

Club members were present at all school athletic events including football, basketball and wrestling games. Pins inscribed with Latrobe High School Pep Club and orange and black shakers were worn by all members to signify their membership in the organization. Barbara Jobe received a pin as the outstanding club member.

Any LHS student maintaining an 80 per cent or better average qualified for membership. Advising the group were Miss Mary Lou Korzak and Mrs. John Vincze.

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB — One of the main outside projects of the Business Education Club this year was to assist in the Muscular Dystrophy Drive by distributing canisters in local business establishments.

The club, organized in order to supplement their classwork and to familiarize commercial students with local businessmen and women, was under the supervision of Miss Florence Gill. Membership was open to all juniors and seniors who were enrolled in the Commercial course.

Presiding over the organization were Nancy Katana, president; Donna Marshall, vice-president; Gloria Check, secretary; Brenda Clark, treasurer and Mary Ann Cmar, Student Council representative.

Some of the speakers at monthly meetings were last year's club president, Miss Carol Danko, and Mr. J. K. Eiseman from Eiseman Business Equipment at Greengate. The club also made its yearly trip to Pittsburgh.

Volunteers Ensure Safety, Prepare Stage Sets

SAFETY AND FIRE PATROLS — Guarding students of Latrobe High School from traffic danger four times each day were the members of the Safety Patrol.

Every two weeks a different captain assumed the leadership over the Patrol's members. These captains aided Mr. Earl Karasack, faculty adviser, in leading the patrol.

Members of the Safety Patrol also belonged to the Fire Patrol. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Cook, this group was prepared to protect students if a fire threatened the school. With only bus transportation to the new High School next year, it is expected that the Safety Patrol will not be continued.

STAGE CREW — Making sure the stage was prepared for every play, assembly, forensic contest and concert was the job of the stage crew.

These volunteer students set up all equipment and props used in each stage event. They also controlled lighting and microphone effects. Prior to each of the three plays, members of the stage crew erected the scenery to be used. The boys were also responsible for dismantling the stage after the plays and restoring things to order.

For the third consecutive year, senior John Smith acted as head stage manager. The seven boys were advised in their work by Mr. George Fabry.

During a brief meeting head stage manager, John Smith, explains to assistant Jerry Salandro, the different light colors to be used for on-coming pep assemblies, plays and the other stage programs.

PROJECTIONISTS — Service of a different nature was rendered by an organized group for the first time this year. The projectionists aided teachers in the use of visual-aids equipment.

In past years teachers found it difficult to time the transporting of tape recorders, projectors and record players. This problem resulted with the teachers moving to different rooms. A group of 17 boys made certain that all requested equipment was at its destination when needed.

Boys involved in the volunteer work were Gene Kovich, Tom Gharing, Paul Rudy, Ron Palanko, Larry McIl-nay, Frank Watson, Frank Doris, Mike Moyer, Mark Durishan, Tim Stanko, Robert Kuhn, Robert Hall, Leroy Nicholson, Larry Mattingly, Chris Hantz, Craig McLean, Jack Jones.

Assistant Principal George M. Fabry, originated the service group and organized the members.

FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY — During the latter part of April, 19 new members joined the French National Honor Society. These students, selected by their academic merit in all subjects, particularly French, joined six persons already belonging to the organization. The society, which has been operating in the school for three years, is completely honorary and offers no social activities.

Students who are a part of the membership were David Carter, president, Nancy Fletcher, Karen Hornung, Ramie Limber, Rita Mankovich, Susan Nigra, Nancy Oeschger, Cheryl Kostelnik, Janice McFadden, Susan Moersch, Jane Neely, Carole Resenic and Karen Batten.

Also initiated into the group were Connie Carota, Marilyn Mackey, Joan Yanik, Bonnie Bridge, Jackie Cramer, Judy Inselmini, Bonnie Lewis, Sherry Massena, Loretta Patts, Paula Seabol, Sandy McFeaters and Robert McIntyre.

To stimulate the interest in the study of the French language is the theme of the honor society. They also studied French history and the background and customs of the French people.

SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY — Twenty-five students were officially accepted into the National Spanish Honor Society during ceremonies held February 14.

Officers of the organization, who conducted the ceremony entirely in Spanish, were James Schimpf, president; Tom Conti, vice-president; Judy Treskovich, secretary-treasurer and Easty Irwin, Student Council representative.

All members initiated into the club were seniors. They were Paul Amalong, Adrene Bauman, Clifford Benson, Sandy Fagan, Chris Hantz, Vicky Kentz, Adrian Miller, Carol Niezelski, Nanette Pristas, Marsha Shirf, Robert Janesko, Emil Sarady, Linda Carns, Sue Collier, Thomas Conti, Susan Kelly, James Schimpf, Judy Treskovich, Susan Wissinger, Don Buncie, Barty Shivetts, Paul Harr, Gloria Waldron, Bruce Neil and Richard Braun.

Qualifications for membership met by the enrolled participants were to maintain an honor average in the study of Spanish for at least two semesters. This standard is set up in the constitution of the National Spanish Honor Society for secondary schools.

Meetings carried on during the year were informal classes. Spanish literature and culture were discussed and studied and exchange students were consulted concerning what their life, both socially and culturally, was like in Spain. Miss Judith Olivo acted as sponsor.

MODERN LANGUAGE CLUB — Aiding in the advancement of the customs and languages of contemporary foreign countries was a main purpose of the Modern Language Club.

Guiding the activities of the organization during the past year were Tom Lentz, president; Bill Karaszia, vice-president; Bonnie Lewis, secretary; Joanne Pagnanelli, treasurer and Cheryl Cook, Student Council representative. Serving as faculty adviser was Mrs. Nancy Frye, language instructor.

Membership was open to any sophomore, junior or senior studying a modern foreign language. Due to the absence of Mrs. Frye at the beginning of the school year, the bowling tournament, usually held in November, was postponed until March.

Two seniors selected by the Club reigned over the annual Mardi Gras in April. They were attended by a prince, princess and ladies-in-waiting. This year gold membership pins were distributed.

Organizations Offer Means To Develop Talents

DANCE BAND AND DIXIELAND BAND — At noon time strains of music reverberated throughout the music room in the new wing as the Dance Band or the Dixieland Band practiced for their performances.

Under the direction of Mr. Robert Cook, the Dixieland Band was the only musical group which played outside of the school functions. Its activities included the displaying of their talents at assemblies, moving-up day, school and community club meetings.

Another complement to the Music Department at La-trobe was the Dance Band. This group, supervised by Mr. Robert Acker, high school music instructor, entertained at assemblies, plays and other school activities. Some of their selections which they used throughout the year were taken from popular Broadway musicals. They included "Tonight" from "West Side Story" and "People" from "Funny Girl."

The Dixieland Band had six members while there were 18 in the Dance Band.

POSTER CLUB — Promoting school spirit and advertising school functions was a primary service rendered by the Poster Club during the 1965-66 term.

Members of the club were selected through competition of samples of their work. Their posters depicted numerous social, athletic and academic functions of the school as well as national events of interest to the student body. The aim of every member was to accumulate 12 points. A point was gained for each standard size poster submitted.

Posters submitted were displayed throughout the school and in several local store windows. Each month a senior homeroom chose one as the poster of the month. Members of the club participated in the poster contest sponsored by the American Legion.

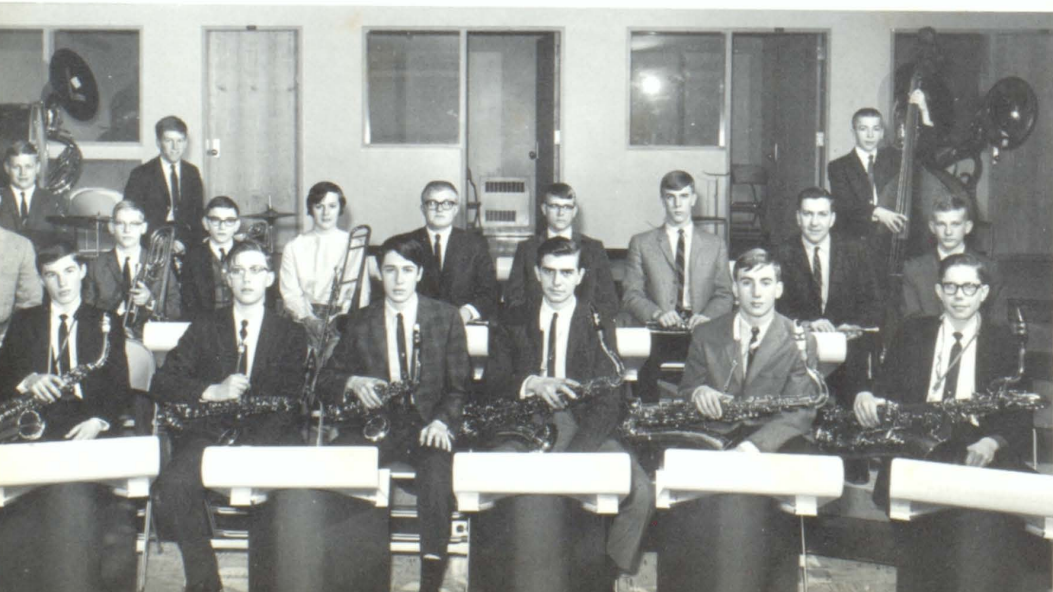

This year's officers were Thomas Myers, president; Virginia Mack, vice president; Delia Griffin, secretary-treasurer; Barry Helfferich, Student Council representative. Mrs. Clare Stover was the club's faculty adviser.

Preparing to swing into their own rendition of a popular jazz number are Bruce Barr, Richard Newyear, Reba Shiffler and Dave Johnson, Dixieland Band members who help keep this style alive.

BROADCASTING — Each Monday and Thursday the Broadcasting Class brought the latest news, views and sports to the faculty and student body during homeroom period.

Along with school news and sports results the broadcast informed the school of important scholastic and social events throughout the year. Under the direction of Miss Mary Louise McBride, faculty adviser, the Broadcasting I Class learned the fundamentals and principles necessary for the delivery of the twice weekly broadcasts that they will put into practice next year in Broadcasting II.

Members of this year's staff included Nanette Pristas, senior editor; Judy Treskovich, news editor; Theresa Tokesky, production manager; Ron Zuzack, sports editor and Tom Antus, technician.

The Broadcasting Class participated in the "Voice of Democracy" essay contest sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Senior George Leonhardt was selected representative of this district for his winning essay. In observance of the Christmas season, the staff produced "The Magic Nutcracker" for their classmates prior to Christmas vacation and later in the season over a local radio station.

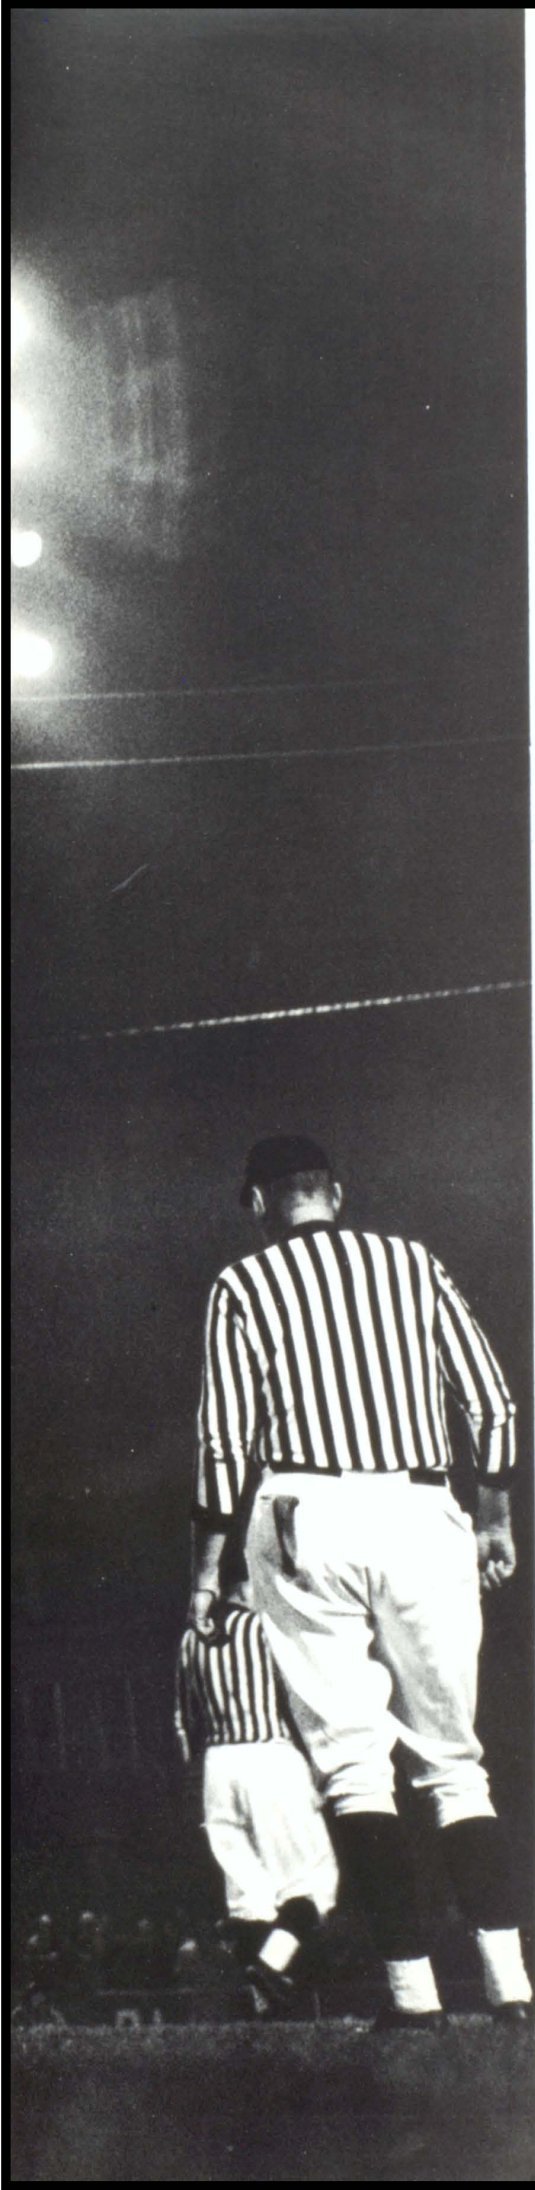

Informing their fellow classmates of different school events is the main function of the Broadcasting II Class. Waiting to go on the air are seniors Ed Fritz, Mary Lou Fitz and Nanette Pristas.

Fagan scored in the first and second quarters on short runs while Karazsia went in for the third tally. Defensive end, Tom Marshall intercepted a Coker pitch-out and ran 40 yards.

At the end of the season, Coach Eugene Swogger presented letters to seniors Chris Adams, Tom Antus, Dan Mercinko, Larry Newton and Pat Rafferty; juniors Tim Donahey and John Ruby and sophomore Tom Mueseler. Tom Antus, Larry Newton and Pat Rafferty represented Latrobe in the Westmoreland County Senior Tournament at Southmoreland.

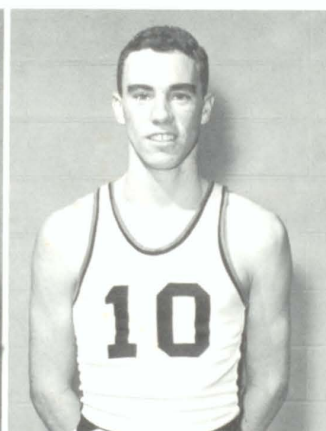

In the duration of a game the varsity basketball player encounters various problems and situations. Junior Tim Donahey appears trapped downcourt with the ball, but senior Larry Newton soon comes to his rescue. Senior Tom Antus attempts a field goal while trying to fake an opponent. Head cheerleader Connie Carota leads the student body. Sophomore Tom Mueseler dribbles toward the basket while surrounded by Jeannette defenders.

Johnstown proved to be the first obstacle of the season for Coach Creed Westfall's squad, turning back the Cats 40-12. When Southmoreland invaded the local mats, they were trounced by one of the largest margins ever registered by Latrobe wrestling squad, 63-0.

The grapplers received their second setback of the campaign from Greensburg-Salem, 40-6. Latrobe found the winning way again when they defeated Jeannette, 30-14. Highlighting this meet was Paul Amalong's decision over the reigning county champion in the 138 class.

New Kensington hosted the wrestlers and sent them down to a 26-17 loss. The Wildcats were next defeated by Hempfield, 35-11. Against Wilkinsburg the squad staged a come from behind performance to gain a 32-20 win.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach William West's cross-country team completed its 1965 season with a record of five wins and one loss in dual competition.

The Wildcats' first competition involved the Uniontown Invitational meet September 20. They finished in fourth place out of a field of seven teams competing.

In the first dual meet September 28, the locals picked up their initial win by beating the Southmoreland Scot-ties 18-37 at Southmoreland. The Cats knocked off Greensburg-Salem on October 1 by a score of 15-35. Bill Shank came in first with a time of 11:54.

The Wildcat runners picked up their next win when they played host to the Norwin Knights October 12. The final score was 15-40 in favor of the Cats. In their first and only loss of the season, the Latrobe cross-country team was defeated 26-29 by Gateway on October 14. The contest was just as close as the score indicates.

Coach West's team bounced right back to down Wil-kinsburg 15-35 on October 19. The next event was the WPIAL District Qualifying Meet that was held in Schen-ley Park October 22. The Orange and Black came in sixth in the meet, but failed to qualify any runners or field event men in the championship meet. Latrobe closed out its campaign with a 27-28 win over visiting Connellsville.

Head coach, Mr. William West, discusses with the other varsity track coaches, Mr. Edward Showalter and Mr. John Charlesworth, the re-building program that they followed to ready their team for another successful season.

Tracksters Cop Laurels

The Wildcat track team, undefeated for two straight years and the defending WPIAL Class A qualifier champion, underwent a rebuilding program in 1966.

In early March Coach William West greeted 75 prospective tracksters including seven returning lettermen. The letter winners, all seniors, were Joe Bradish, Sandy Fagan, Fred Potthoff, Tom Ruffner, Bill Shank, John Siko and Ron Zuzack.

Their schedule contained eight dual matches with seven of them home contests, two triangular meets, two invitationals, the WPIAL qualifier and the Westmoreland County meet.

Before beginning the schedule Coach West conducted an inter-class meet April 5. The interscholastic competition began April 7 when the Cats hosted the Norwin squad. Mt. Pleasant and Hempfield furnished the next test to the cindermen at the Latrobe stadium on April 12 and 14, respectively. The first away meet of the campaign was to the Indiana Invitational, April 16.

In succession came the triangular meets with the Cats hosting Ligonier and Franklin, April 19 and Derry and Indiana on April 22. The only away dual meet was run at Derry on April 26.

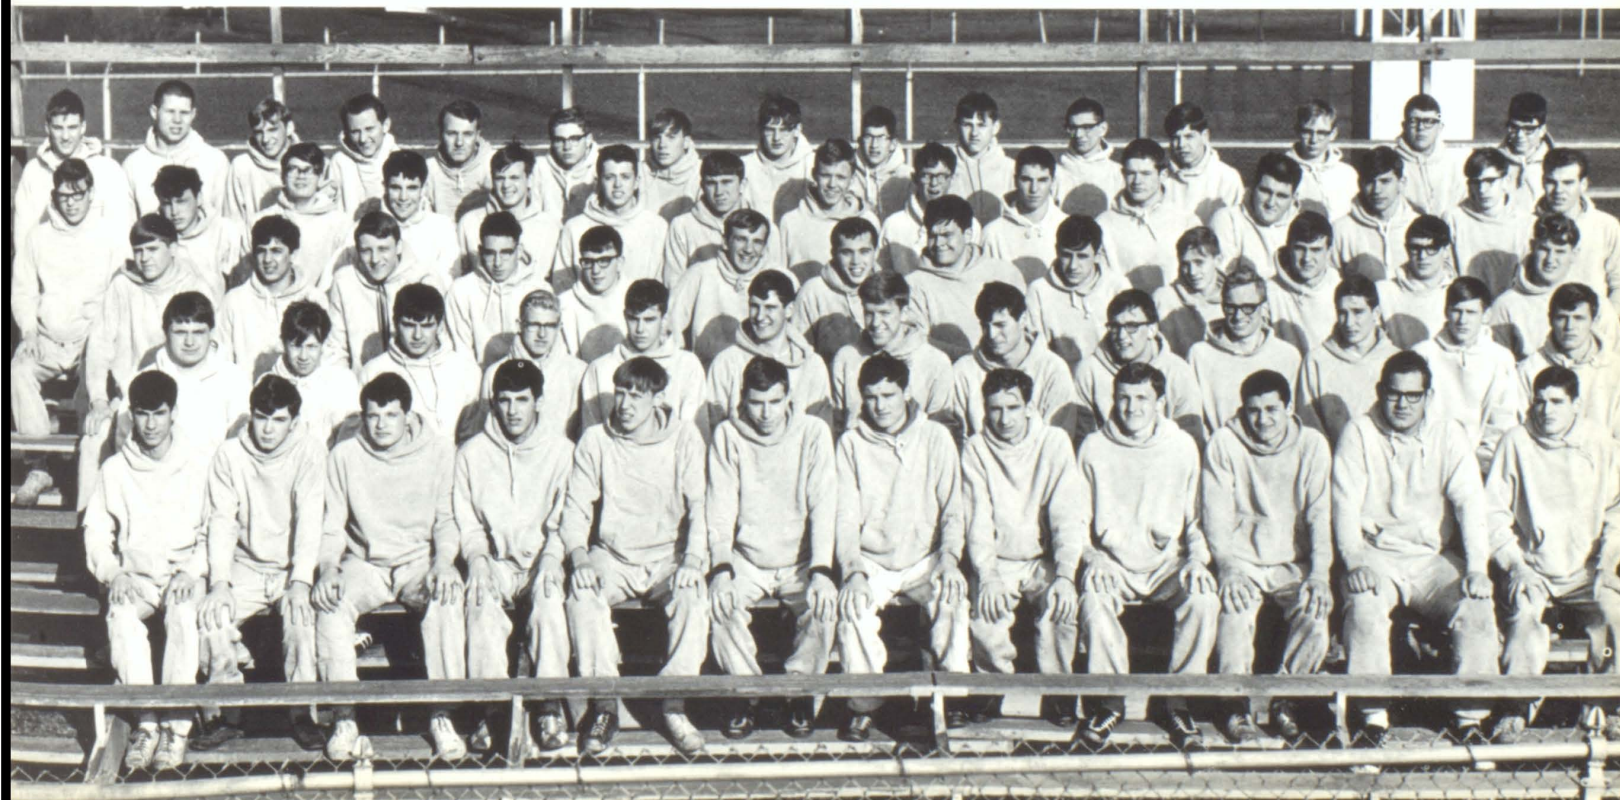

The tracksters then entertained Greensburg-Salem, Kiski, Southmoreland and Connellsville to end dual competition. They took time out after the Greensburg contest for the WPIAL relays. The WPIAL qualifier and the County meet terminated the season.

In defending its title in Section IV, Latrobe High's golf team opened its season against the Jeannette Jayhawks. Last year's letter winners, Chris Adams and Jeff Woollen, formed the nucleus of the squad.

Preceding their regular section matches, the Wildcats faced Bethel Park and Southmoreland in exhibition contests. In other encounters, the golfers invaded Greensburg's Hannastown Course, then moved to Mt. Odin to play the Hempfield Spartans.

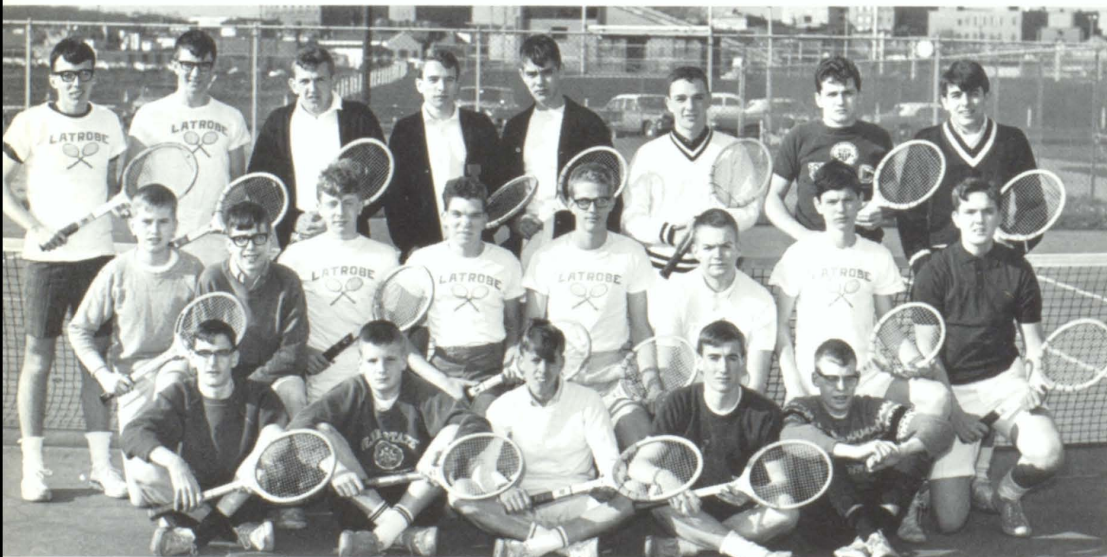

In two triangular matches, the golfers hosted Jeannette and Ligonier, and Derry Area and Hempfield. In the return contest the Greensburg Lions and the Cats at home. Then at Ligonier Country Club and Derry, the Wildcats concluded the season.

Mr. Robert Cook's golfers also participated in the WPIAL Qualifier.

Beginning league play at Mt. Pleasant, the Wildcat tennis squad, coached by Mr. Earl Karasack, competed in ten dual matches in search of their second consecutive Section VI crown.

Early matches for the Latrobe team were with Greensburg and Southmoreland. The fourth section encounter matched the Cats against the Norwin Knights. The netmen faced Connellsville to conclude the first half of play. The remaining five contests were played in the same order as the opening matches.

Coach Karasack's squad finished undefeated last season, copping county laurels in addition to the section. Upon completion of the dual matches this season the netmen entered into play-offs.

This year the girls' intramural basketball program was staged differently from in recent years. Instead of a tournament, the girls participated each night after school gaining points for a letter. Mrs. Mary Alice Graham, girls' gym instructor, headed the program.

Also included in intramurals this year was a boys' homeroom basketball tournament. Eliminating all junior opponents and defeating senior homeroom 102, the juniors from room 14 copped the upperclass title.

The Intramural Rifle League in its first season of operation provided excitement for 150 freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. Pitting different class teams against each other, senior team C had a firm hold on first place near the season's end. The squad sported a record of 3-0.

Second Year Brings Many Academic Challenges

As the 1965-1966 school term comes to a close, the Sophomore Class finds themselves moving up to new heights — upperclassmen.

During the first weeks of school when class officers were chosen, those selected to lead the sophomore activities were Robert McIntyre, president; William Okonak, vice-president; Sandra McFeaters, secretary; Louis Dolinar, treasurer; and Michael Van Norden, Student Council representative. Serving as sophomore class advisor for this year once more was Miss Virginia A. Daniels, biology instructor.

The future juniors also participated in extracurricular activities, including Student Council, chorus, band, Junior Red Cross, and the Junior Classical League. Sophomores studying Latin head the JCL and were entertained this year by the annual Toga Hop and Slave Auction. Two members of the class Louis Dolinar and Faith Ann Fiorina portrayed parts in this year's All-Class Play, "Mr. Blandings Builds his Dream House."

Among other interests of the class of '68 were their participation in the forensic events such as the Women's Club Contest and the Extemporaneous Speaking Competition. Sophomore talents were also exhibited when many of them displayed their individual writing ability in the American Legion Essay Contest and in composing fire prevention and safe driving essays.

Discussing receipts of class dues are Sophomore officers Robert McIntyre, William Okonak, Sandra McFeaters, Michael Van Norden and Louis Dolinar.

Career Plans Formulate

Upon the last day of the term, the juniors took their places as leaders in the high school when the class flags were raised on Moving-Up Day.

Activities involving the juniors were many and varied. These included membership and offices in the Future Homemakers of America, Senior Classical League, Modern Language Club, choruses, band and orchestra, Junior Red Cross and Pep, Business and Reader's Clubs.

Thespians Phyllis Otto, John Underwood, Ellen Kattan, John Bush, Sue Ottino, Thom Myers and Mary Poklembo participated in the All-Class, "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House." Juniors also took part in their own class production.

Under the direction of Mr. Lee Henderson, Junior Class advisor, the following officers fulfilled their duties: Bill Karazsia, president; Joseph Dudzinsky, vice-president; Linda Williams, secretary; Sue Ottino, treasurer; and Raymond Stumpf, Student Council representative.

As juniors, they began to look ahead to graduation. In order to prepare for their future vocations, consultations in the guidance office were held. Perspective college applicants took Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests, College Board Examinations and the National Merit Scholarship Test.

Finally, class rings were ordered and as graduation approached the juniors prepared to take their places as upperclassmen in Latrobe High School.

Four years ago some 425 boys and girls entered the halls of Latrobe High School. Then they seemed only to be a group of youngsters somewhat lost. They appeared confused and uncertain.

However, time passed and gradually those young people seemed to blend into the complex routine of school. Many changes have taken place since that trying September day in 1963. The children who came through the doors of the building then have become young men and women. They have matured and grown mentally as well as physically.

Twelfth graders have proven their scholastic abilities in awards which they were presented during the 1965-1966 school year. Six seniors scored high grades in the National Merit Scholarship Test. Nancy Fletcher was named a semi-finalist in the examination, while George Lenhart, Ramie Limber, Nanette Pristas, James Schimpf and John Weaver received letters of recommendation for their grades just below the cut-off score.

Final Year Challenging For Graduating Class

Award was James Schimpf. George Lenhart received a cash award for his winning essay on "Democracy."

Many events which were taken for granted in former years will be missed when the members of the Senior Class leave in June. Election of officers was one of these. For the last time they cast their votes, which, when counted, showed the following results: Tom Okonak, president; Patrick Rafferty, vice-president; Nancy Fletcher, secretary; Linda Monzo, treasurer; and Kenneth Baldonieri, Student Council representative.

Of the many other things that were final pleasures and tasks for this group, orations, extemp, Women's Club Contest, the Senior Class Play presentation April 22 and the Junior-Senior Prom will be the most remembered.

Yes, it was a year of last events, a year of hopes and a year of everlasting memories.

Seniors Rodger Manon, Lou Marucco, and Carol Niezelski linger in the front hall to discuss their futures and memories of school days after the graduation ceremony.

In keeping up with the current events, seniors Barry Ruffner, Carol Resenic and Kathy Scavnicky read and discuss recent newsworthy bits in the high school library.

Discussing their future plans for post graduate goals and higher education are Senior Class officers Nancy Fletcher, Thomas Okonak, Linda Monzo, Ken Baldonieri, and Pat Rafferty.

On the death of our classmate, Susan Rutter, Mrs. Clare Stover wrote the following in memory of her.

I remember Susie . . .

I remember the summer afternoon she moved into the house next door, dainty, wispy blond hair, four years old. I remember how she peeked in the window and said, "Do you care if I sit in your apple tree? I have to think about some things." Then she disappeared among the foliage and we didn't see her for an hour or more. I remember the day she started school — so tiny that she had to be lifted onto the first step of the school bus.

I remember the wonderfully clever little newspaper she wrote and mailed to a neighborhood child who was in the hospital. The bright mind was always creative. I remember the day she joined the church and was baptized and how deeply religious and profound her thoughts and beliefs were for one so young. I remember the lovely charcoal portrait she made of her sister. The artistic hands were never still.

I remember her first prom dress which just exactly fitted her personality as well as her person. I remember the gorgeous autumn evening that we rode bicycles down the back road, into the setting sun, and talked of many things. I remember all her moods, bubbling and happy, quiet and thoughtful, occasionally sad. And I remember especially that elusive something that seemed to keep her always just on the fringe of the real world.

And now I remember to say — Thank you for having been one of us. Thank you for the warm friendship. And finally, thank you for making those of us who are parents realize that our children are not really ours at all. God has lent them to us for a while, and He will take them back when He has need of them.

Susan Rutter, a member of the Class of 1966, died on July 11, 1965 following an automobile accident. We, the staff of the 1966 Latrobean, dedicate this yearbook to her.

Staff Dedicates Yearbook to Susan Lynn Rutter

Susie, here with four other staff members, was a reporter for the High Post and Latrobean. Her other activities included Quill and Scroll, Mu Alpha Theta, Poster Club, Mixed Chorus, Biology Club, Junior Guard of Honor and Junior Class treasurer.

KNOWLEDGE IS STRENGTH —

As the senior editors of the 1966 Latrobean, we wish to take this opportunity to extend our most sincere gratitude and appreciation to the members of the student body, to the faculty members and especially to our adviser, and also to anyone else who helped to produce our publication.

We hope that this pictorial and written record of the year's accomplishments will one day serve to refresh your memory and remind you once more of your high school days. Friendships may fade and faces dim but these pages will be yours forever.

Kennametal products affect our lives in many ways

Few of us — even employees at Kennametal Inc. — realize the many ways the Company's products affect our daily lives in one way or another. A few examples of such applications are:

- Anodes for electronic devices such as transistor radios
- Die parts to form mop handles, wire coat hangers, composition floor tile, and stamp laminations for small electric motors
- Carbide-tipped dental burs make the treatment of cavities faster and more comfortable
- Tools to machine many parts in our automobiles and to mine coal for generating electric power and many other uses
- Parts for systems to control airplanes, missiles, and space capsules
- Oscillating components for self-winding watches
- Tire studs to make our winter driving safer on snow-slick and icy highways
- Knives to plane acoustical tile, wallboard, and cut pulpwood for innumerable paper products
- Alloys for radiation shielding in X-ray machines
- Parts in office machines, computers, and instruments that must provide utmost reliability

Next time you see a Kennametal truck, it may be carrying one of these items along with others that serve in hundreds of ways — in practically every industry — in the United States and throughout the Free World.
