The Future is Ours

Greater Latrobe
Senior High School
Latrobe, Pennsylvania
Volume 64

Throughout the 1986-1987 school year, GLHS accommodated 1183 students from 7:20 a.m. until 2:37 p.m. Rising with the sun was a task for some, but others looked forward to a quick Egg-McMuffin at McDonald's or ten minutes in the newly paved student parking lot with friends before entering their learning institution. Once inside minds became active. Minds helped complete last minute homework, make up excuses for being late, and make up excuses for late homework! Minds were also crammed with formulas, short stories, vocabulary words, and "the standard five point heading". For many, minds weren't the only thing active! Students applied their talents to sports and other activities. About 250 students spent part of their day at vo-tech. In their classes and activities, students gained knowledge. They must use this knowledge in the future. If they apply education and talent to existing opportunities, the future is theirs for the taking!

Friendship Grew

Friendships changed and grew throughout school. Remember the first day of kindergarten? Going to a whole day without mommy and being "alone" in a classroom of strangers. When the teacher called for recess, a couple of classmates suggested a game of jacks or a game of kickball. Everyone agreed and friendships began. One day they asked, "Can my friend come home with me tomorrow after school and play?" Through first and second grades these friends learned to read, to write, and to do math together. Remember friends made while playing Little League, Midget Football, or Junior Pro Basketball? What about the friends made in Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts? They started to notice the opposite sex in third and fourth grades with lively letters and mad crushes. They then left their elementary schools and started junior high with hopes that they would know someone in their homerooms. New friends were made as old friendships were kept. Remember first junior high dances, getting in trouble in the library while sharing secrets? They changed boy-friends and girlfriends about 100 times before the end of ninth grade.

The famous line was, "We're just good friends now." Next came their first days of high school. Mutual support was given in the various sports they played together. When their best friend scored a touchdown or a hit it was like they hit one, too. Friends studied for their drivers' permits, cried on shoulders, laughed hysterically at inside jokes, compared and discussed dates, and shared their hopes and dreams. Just when everything seemed to be going wrong their friends pulled them through. The song, "That's What Friends Are For" was appreciated. Through the years friends changed and grew, and so did friendships.

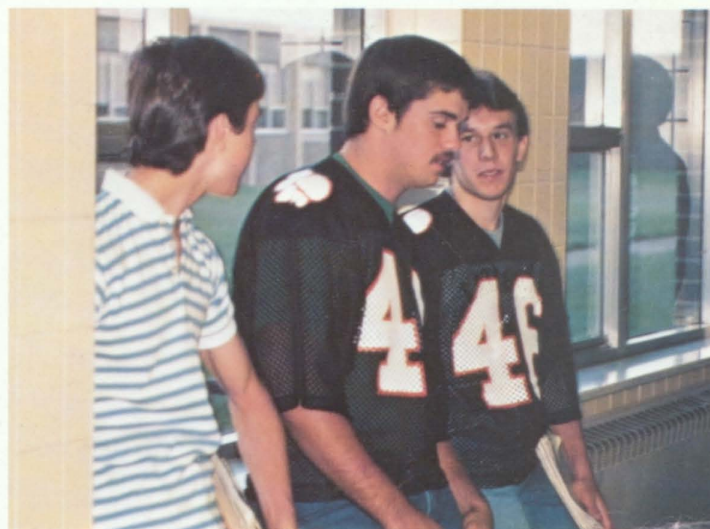

Leaning on each others heads were these future beauticians; Chip Leone, Dawn Driestadt, Sandy Mickinak, and Jody Baum.

Selling candy, cookies, carmelcorn, these seniors wanted to be on their way to Florida.

Friends Had Fun

Many friendships were made throughout school, but in high school, the bonds became tighter, and through a filter came best friends. High school wouldn't have been the same without these friends. Remember passing notes about weekend plans and happenings, deciding who was going to drive, making up after arguments, talking, and having buddies play cupid? Pals joined clubs and double dated. Going to see movies like Crocodile Dundee, Top

Gun, or Karate Kid II, was done by some. Others went to football games, concerts, Danceland, the malls, or just got together and rented a few movies for use with the VCR. Weekends and school days were meant for friends. The memories shared by and created by best friends will always be sacred to them. Many more friends will be made in the future by students, but the friends and their antics from high school will never be forgotten.

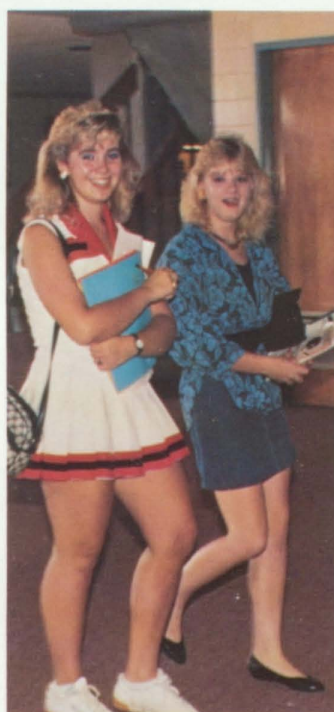

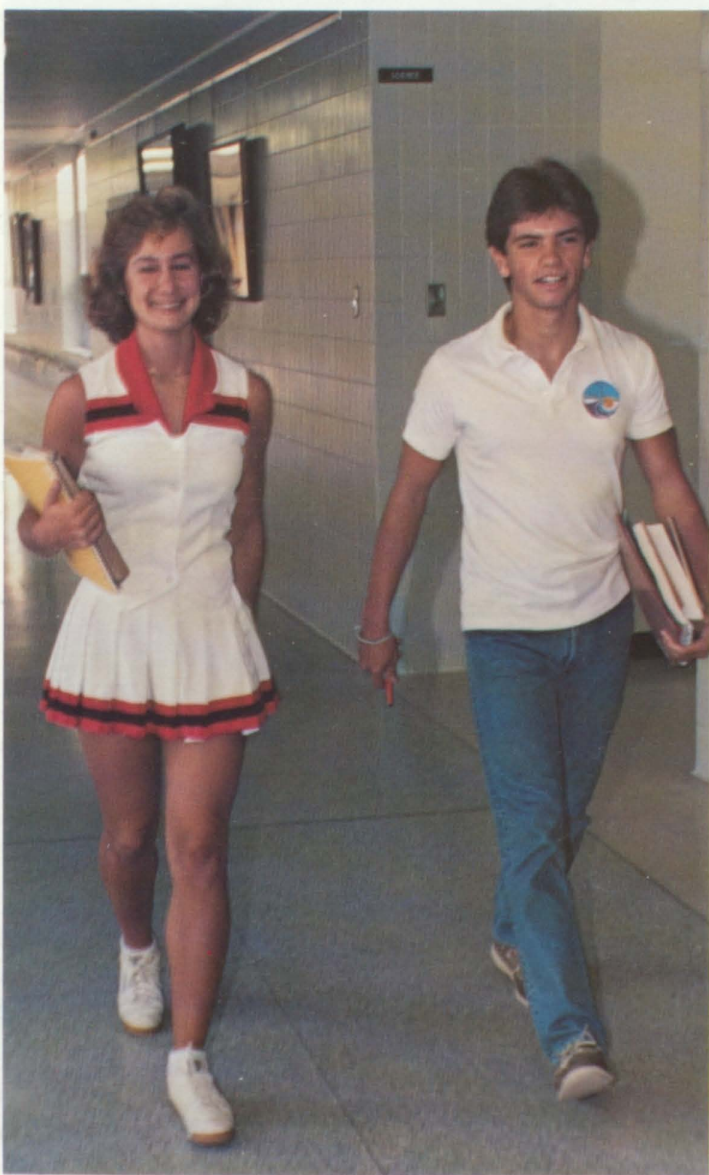

This group of seniors "hung" around together in school and were together on weekends.

Paul Robl and J. B. Howard discussed different angles of the game.

Enjoying each other's company at Homecoming were Eric Luxner and Carey Gore.

Beth Aungier saw the heaven in Dan Shandel's eyes at the Homecoming Dance.

Gossiping about their boyfriends between classes were Jill Wible and Karen Helman.

Through good and bad times, this group remained "best friends".

Brooke Kostley and Mechelle Dando strolled to the Thunderbird assembly.

Jenn Sarady often was escorted to class by her "friend" Chris Rushnock.

This bunch could be seen hanging around together. They were "extra close" friends!

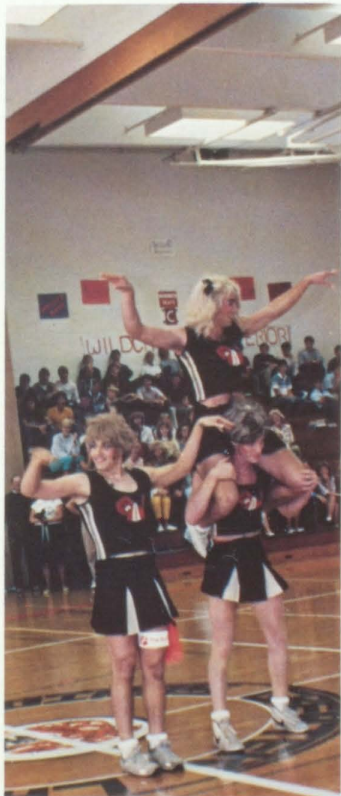

Cheering at sporting events were seniors Michele Giannini, Cindy Massey, and Jr. Mascots Denise Lohr and Jen Derek.

Surviving some sticky situations together were best friends Kevin Benedict and Matt Jacobs.

JUST PALS!

Male "cheerleaders" put on a great show at a pep assembly.

Kris Larson was Brian Ruffner's "love bird".

Taking a nap until the nurse came back was this group of seniors outside their favorite hangout.

Reaching for a piece of gum for Linda Bennett was Julie Schmucker.

Jamming to the Tunes

The 1986-1987 school year was full of old but new music. Students found out that some of the songs they were enjoying had been enjoyed by (yipes!) their parents. New Edition remade "Earth Angel". Aretha Franklin sang "Jumpin' Jack Flash", originally done by The Rolling Stones. Chicago and The Police, remade songs that they had previously made successful. Chicago sang "25 or 6 to 4" and The Police redid "Don't Stand So Close To Me". New tunes brought enjoyment to many GLHS'ers! Billy Idol, Camio, Van Halen, David Lee Roth, Bon Jovi, and Janet Jackson were well known by all. Interests varied. The bold got into punk or new wave, while some got down to the rhythm of soul. Die hards "banged heads" to heavy metal. Popular tunes were most widely liked, but country and classics had their pursuers. No matter what music they listened to, students constantly used their radios, record players, C.D. players, and cassette players to get the most of their free time.

Outback Red shirts were one of the trends of the year.

Bright, bold, and flashy colors and designs were the heart of fashion in 1986-1987. Everybody wanted to be different, but Krissy Marks, Jennifer Kelly, and Colleen Hughes looked accidentally the same.

These gals may have worn these outfits to Rascals.

Brooke Kostley was shocked by what she saw "on" her classmates.

With the cola wars going on many people had trouble deciding their favorite soft drinks.

These guys took a break from "going crazy" for a snap shot.

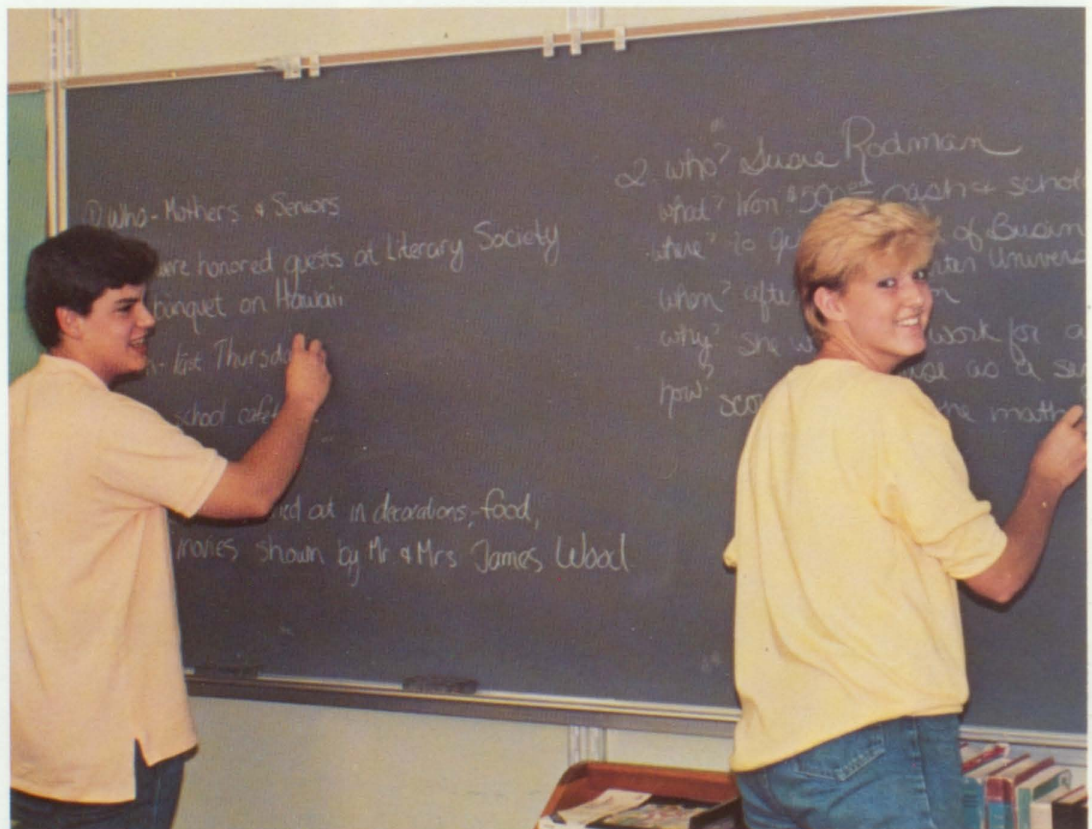

They Learned Here

When the late bells rang, late students could be seen dashing into class and sneaking into seats hoping that their teachers wouldn't see. After the teacher took attendance and realized who was absent, late, present, and skipping, he or she enlightened the students with words of wisdom to help them in their futures. When the teacher asked questions to a rather alert class, hands rose. Some people always raised their hands, while others quietly became knowledgeable. The majority provided a good learning environment. Classroom observers sat and observed teachers, not students! In trig, chemistry, health, shop, English, physics, or math & computers, students received knowledge to help them succeed in their futures.

Mrs. Cavanaugh dictated composition homework daily.

Glancing at Diane Reiner's answer Rob Sobata peaked out of the corner of his eye.

Mindy Barchanowich and Andrea King molded their bowls in ceramics class hoping no clay would get under their fingernails.

This study hall slept occasionally for 40 minutes.

Aiming for their target were Carolyn Pardi, Colleen McMahon, Wendy Hebrank and Teresa Trout.

Wildcats vs. Mustangs were face to face during the Homecoming Game.

These baseball stars had major contributions to the team.

Everyone had a good time getting "psyched" at pep assemblies.

Active Students Were Happy

The adrenalin flowed in the athletes as they prepared for intense confrontations in defending Wildcat pride. In the locker rooms, pre-game jitters and doubts gnawed at confidence, but coaches gave inspiration and instruction as to how the athletes were to perform their best. When the competition began, butterflies were conquered by spirited, cheering fans. As the athletes competed, they sweated it out and gave it their all. Sometimes they were victorious, and sometimes they were defeated. Wildcats and their fans accepted defeat gracefully, and victory loudly. After a game, match, or meet, the athletes returned to the locker room either excited or "ready to get 'em next time". Win or lose, Latrobeans loved their Cats because they not only represented Latrobe's best, but also let students display their pride in GLHS!

Students also displayed their pride in their school and themselves as they participated in various clubs and activities which GLHS offered. Medical Explorers, sold candy to raise money for a trip to Presbyterian Hospital. The band's teamwork and hard practices paid off as they won various competitions. Youth Traffic Safety Council ensured the safety of students on the road. In addition to these examples, groups in art, science, languages, and honor societies all displayed Greater Latrobe energy and talent.

Only the football players knew what went on in the huddle.

Seniors Jen and Brian Kelly were "athletic" twins. They excelled in volleyball and soccer, respectively.

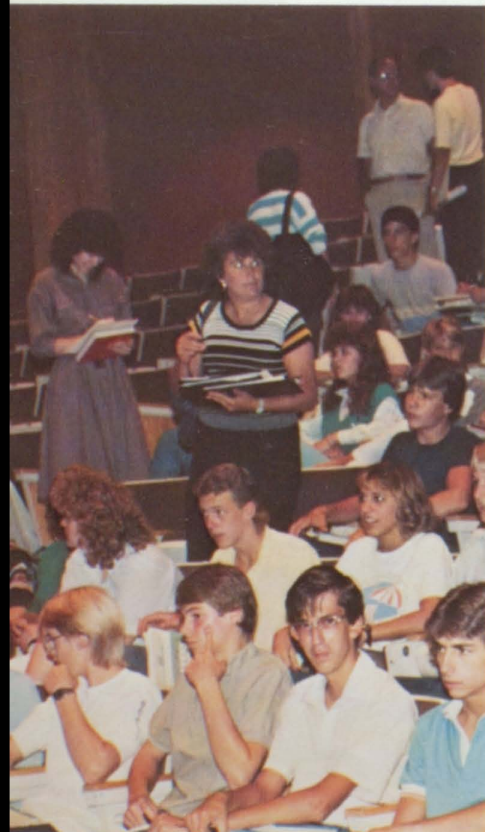

One of the teachers assigned to hall duty in downstairs L was Mrs. Herrod.

Mr. Jioio was more often seen in shorts than pants. Here he flaunted his briefcase.

In the auditorium Mrs. Bleehash kept her eyes peeled for misbehavin' students.

Newcomer Mr. Vidd, Miss O'Connell, and Mr. and Mrs. Jioio chaperoned the Homecoming Dance.

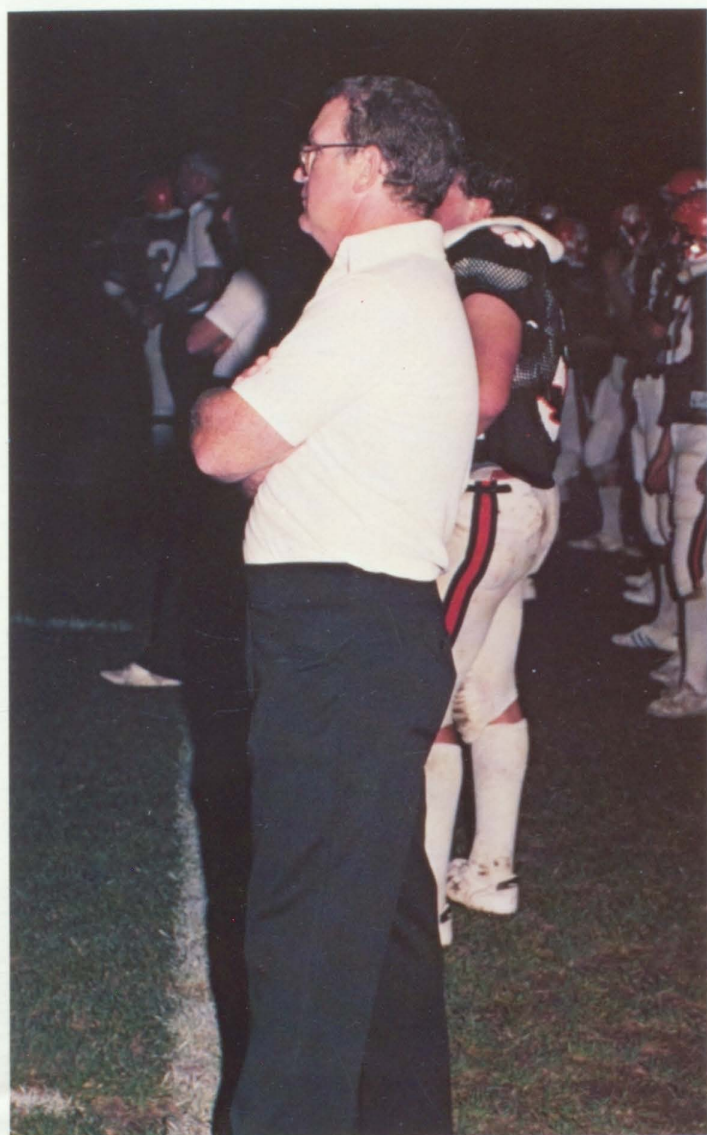

They Led the Way

HELP! I'M FALLING! Announcing "The Tutor" to the rescue! The stereotyped "dumb jocks" did require some tutoring, but so did some of the "academically inclined" as they found out how hard trig, analyt, physics, and chemistry really were. Tutors also helped in English and most other subjects. If you needed help, it was only a plea away! Many nights were spent at friends houses explaining the mystifying quandaries of some thought provoking class, or doing complicated homework. Study halls were actually used for study on days when people were being tutored. While friends tutored friends, teachers also gave up spare time to "clear up" the confused or to "fill in" the absent. Why be tutored? In order to go to the Westmoreland County Court House in Greensburg to see trials, one had to get the infamous blue slip signed. To get the blue slip signed, one had to have a "C" average. Blue slips were important to go on any type of field trip or leave from school. These breaks were often necessary to keep from going insane from a work overload. Another way of keeping sane was to go out on weekends. Parents often weren't too lenient with their kids when their kids were receiving D's and F's! Tutors remedied not only the problem of restricted freedom, but also the problem of a low grade point average! ... A "B" — THANKS A MILLION!

Coach Hart anxiously watched from the sidelines.

Mr. Lively, principal, always told students to "sit down and be quiet" before assemblies.

GLHS Was the BEST!

Enthusiastic fans, wearing orange and black, were seen at almost all the games.

The 1986-1987 Homecoming Court was presented before voting for queen at a pep assembly.

Students at GLHS always got along. Violence was very limited. Sure, people didn't get along, but with 1183 students in the school, enemies could be avoided. Everyone knew who hung around with who. The hallways were filled with little groups of people talking and clowning around, these groups were the cliques. New students always found someone to talk to and eventually they joined a clique. Students felt they needed to belong, and their friends gave them fulfillment of this need. Special relationships with teachers were formed. Teachers clowned with certain students in classes almost every day. Teachers were also disciplinarians as students found out when they were assigned detentions and "the box". Being a senior meant being able to take a lot of electives, being honored on senior night and senior day, and above all, having the power to cut in the lunch lines. Juniors have more importance than sophomores. Juniors are allowed to go to the prom if asked by a senior. Sophomores are not. Sophomores must learn their ways around the new school, but they meet many new seniors and juniors while they're getting lost! School was fun, the teachers, friends, and class made sure of it! Whether students knew it or not, they were creating a memory forever sacred to them. The memory of their high school years. In the future they will look back on the fun and look forward to their next class reunion!

Juniors kept trying to climb to the top, but they never could pass the seniors!

Dana Torockio and Kelly Ruffner were a stunting duo throughout all sport seasons.

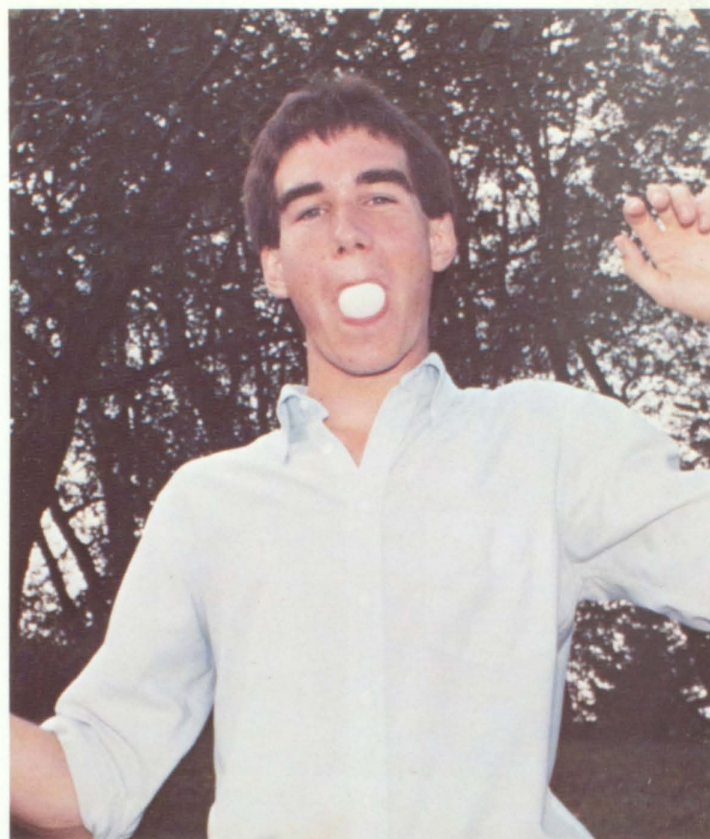

Kelli Martelli and Rich Coppersmith found it amusing that Joe Fetter wore a cape made of a tablecloth when dancing to "Twist and Shout".

Jen Legge was found studying comfortably in the auditorium.

Tom McClure found his mouth full when he got in a golfer's way!

Jokes were shared between these boys while they awaited the lunch dismissal bell.

The confused sophomores showed low spirit at the pep assemblies compared to the seniors and juniors.

DEDICATED TO THE CLASS OF 1987

The Future is Ours

Looking over our shoulders, gazing into the past,

Hoping the memories from yesterday will last.

Learning to lead the way, sharing a common dream,

Being the best we can, working as a team.

Remembering our friends, growing close through the years,

Treasuring all of the moments of laughter and tears.

Making our mark as the class of 1987,

Setting our goals as high as heaven.

Graduating as one, going our separate ways,

Promising to keep in touch, reminiscing "good old days".

Looking over our shoulders, we feel the powers,

And we realize that the future is not in the hands of fate —

It is in Ours!

The Future is Ours

With

Seniors

"Seniors Rule the School". As sophomores they were told to go "back to the zoo", and as juniors they were the in between crowd. But in 1987 they had power and fun. They led the pep assemblies, "owned" the student store, and proudly roamed the halls. Classes were blown-off to catch a snooze. Friends became important and problems seemed endless as the last year of high school sped by. Responsibilities piled up along with pressures. Being a senior also meant making many difficult decisions about the future. College applications and major decisions had many racking their brains. Guidance Counselors were swamped with last minute ACT & SAT registrations which had to be in before late dates in November and April. Preparing to say good-bye to old and new friends almost made seniors want to go back to the beginning. Unfortunately, being a senior meant they couldn't go back. They could only go forward into their scary, yet exciting, futures.

Excelling Seniors

Each graduating class has their few students who make a mark on their peers and their teachers. GLHS had eight outstanding seniors in 1987. The outstanding senior in leadership might run for President; the outstanding senior in drama and vocal could be in a movie; the outstanding senior in journalism could become an editor for The New York Times; the outstanding senior in business could run a major corporation; the outstanding seniors in forensics could be debaters in politics; and the outstanding senior in instrumental music could play in a symphony someday. These students excelled in school and their talents will play an important role in their futures.

Their Chosen Few

The class of 1987 had many who were known for their special qualities. A friendly smile, a lively spirit, or a reputation for knowing all earned some special titles. While only a few were chosen to represent the categories, every member of the class of 1987 was a mixture of all of the categories, thus the "Senior Personalities" united the class of 1987. The talents of 1987 seniors made them unique. While some highlighted and limelighted students were recognized for their characters, they were also recognized as the "chosen few" who represented every part of the GLHS

"Senior"-ity Ruled

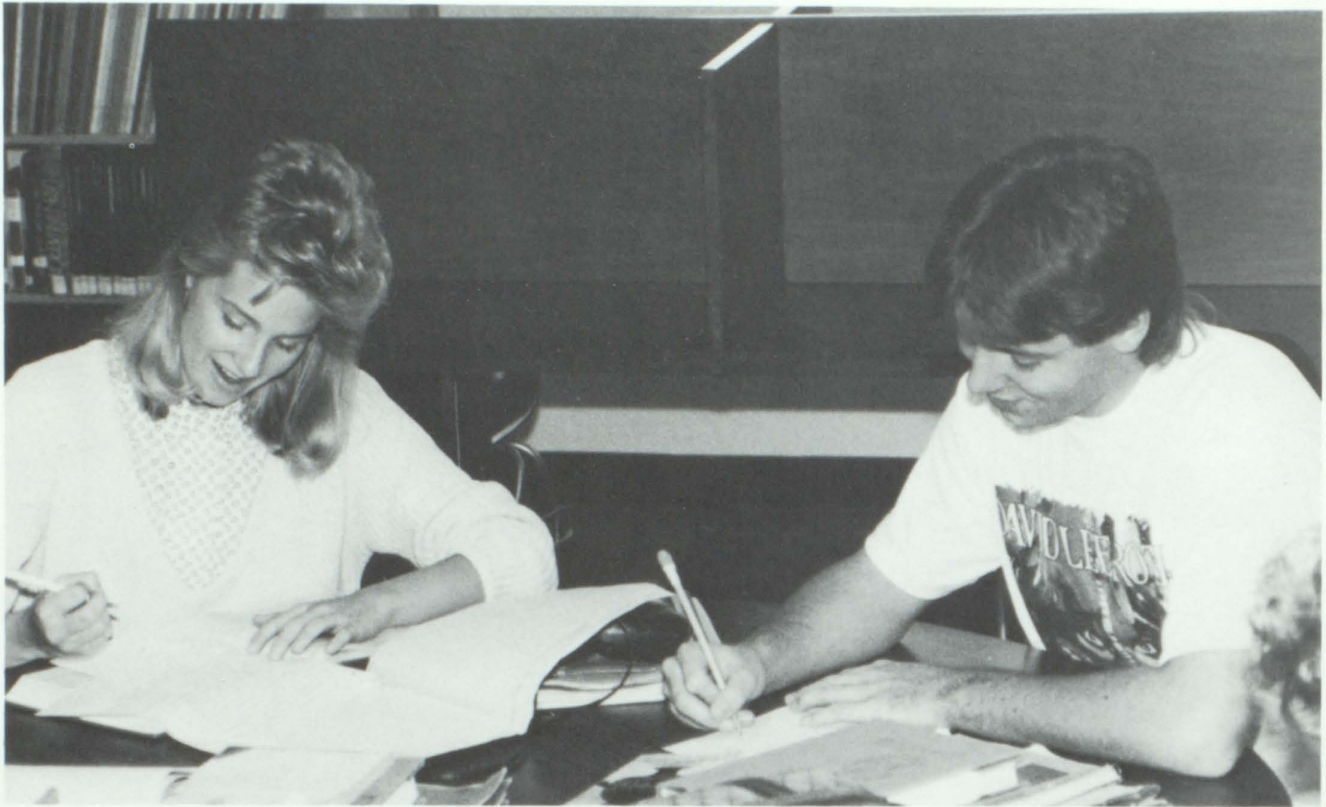

This friendly trio sat in a friendly tree in front of the friendly school.

These senior girls seemed to feel La-trobe was number one — IT WAS!

These guys often made their frequent detention sessions enjoyable.

M. Johnson and E. Arnold spent their study halls in the L.R.C. working, not playing.

Taking a short break in a hot spot satisfied M. Downey, C. Gharing, and T. Lupold.

"Cat Pride" — a motto for senior football players M. McKee, R. Macey, C. Smith, and M. Ackerman.

Friendships meant much during high school. J. McDevitt and K. Steving took pride in theirs.

Turning 18

Turning 18 was the first step to adulthood. Like most other things in life it had its bad points as well as its good ones. Part of the bad was students becoming legally responsible for their actions. For some, this was a minor problem for others their downfall. However, there were far more good points. Obtaining a senior license meant staying out until the darkest, latest, and best hours of the night. Registering to vote made 18 years feel important and necessary. Seniors were taking part in one of the greatest American privileges. Turning 18 was a frightening step for some, but to others it was the beginning of promising futures.

Daydreaming was a big part of a senior's day. M. Long enjoyed a little time to herself.

M. Anderson and J. Houser spent most of their senior year hanging around.

"Let it snow, let it snow, let it snow", was the wish of these senior girls who were prepared for a winter wonderland.

Latrobean Co-editor S. McCracken got pointers from advisor J. Henderson.

A. Casey and L. Baum felt they found the perfect hiding spot for skipping class.

S. Ansel changed books and was off to her next class.

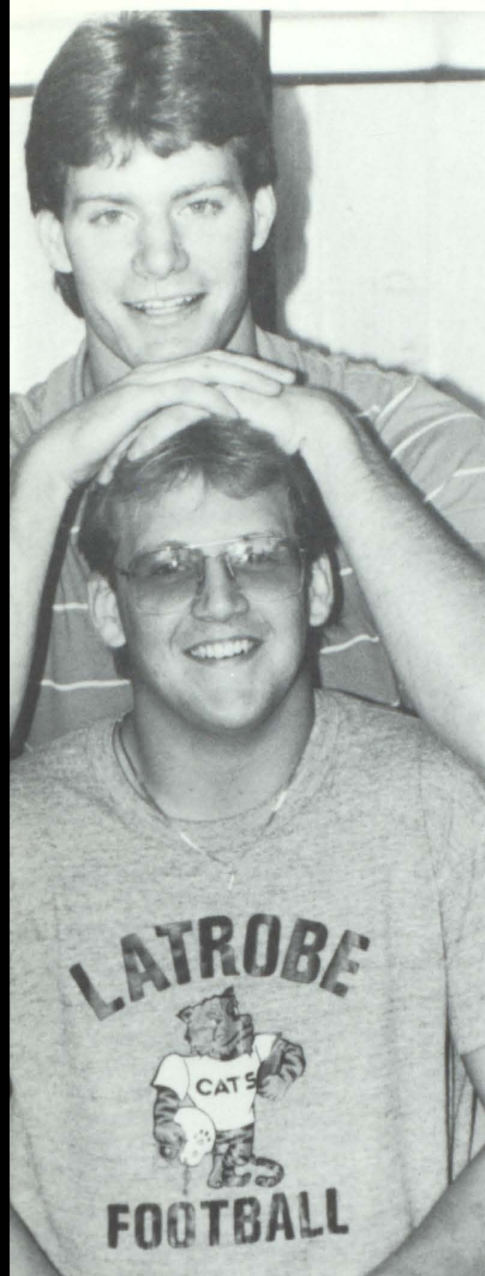

M. Brant, D. Clark, G. Cribbs, J. August, R. Bash showed off their collection of teddy bears.

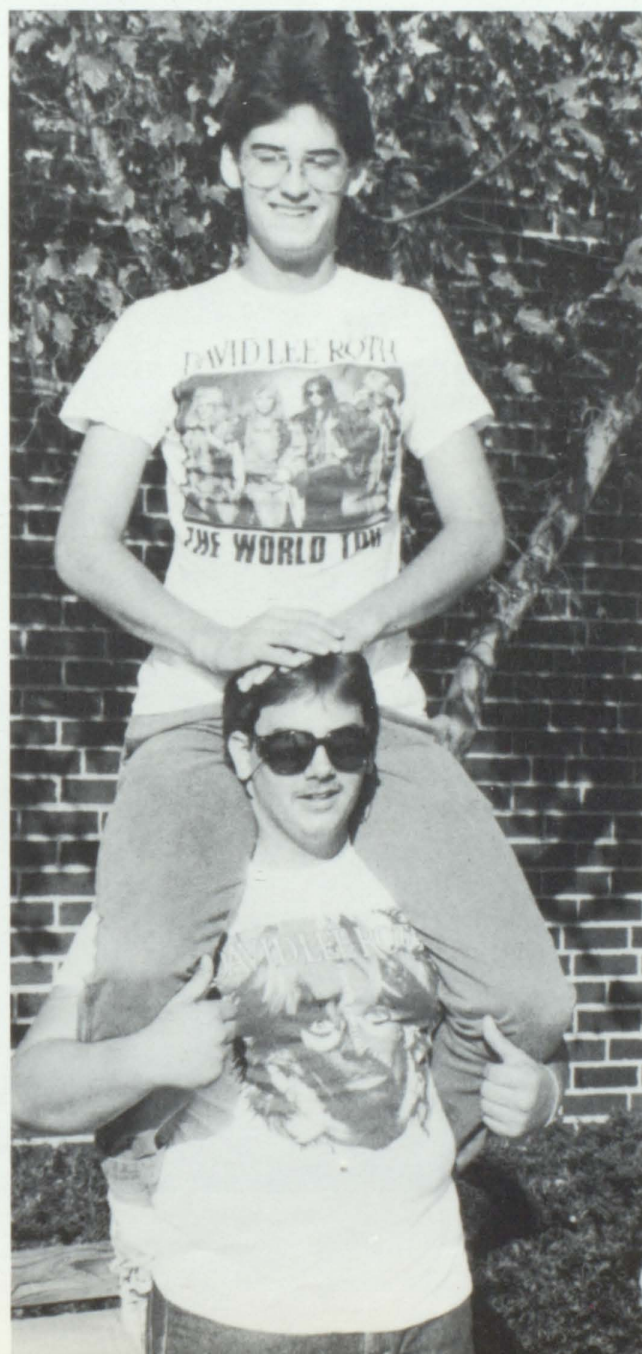

These senior girls were more worried about their looks on the sidelines during their "powder-puff" game.

The traffic made being on crutches tough during the four minutes between classes for D. Twilliger.

D. Tench and D. Vallana spent time between classes goofing off.

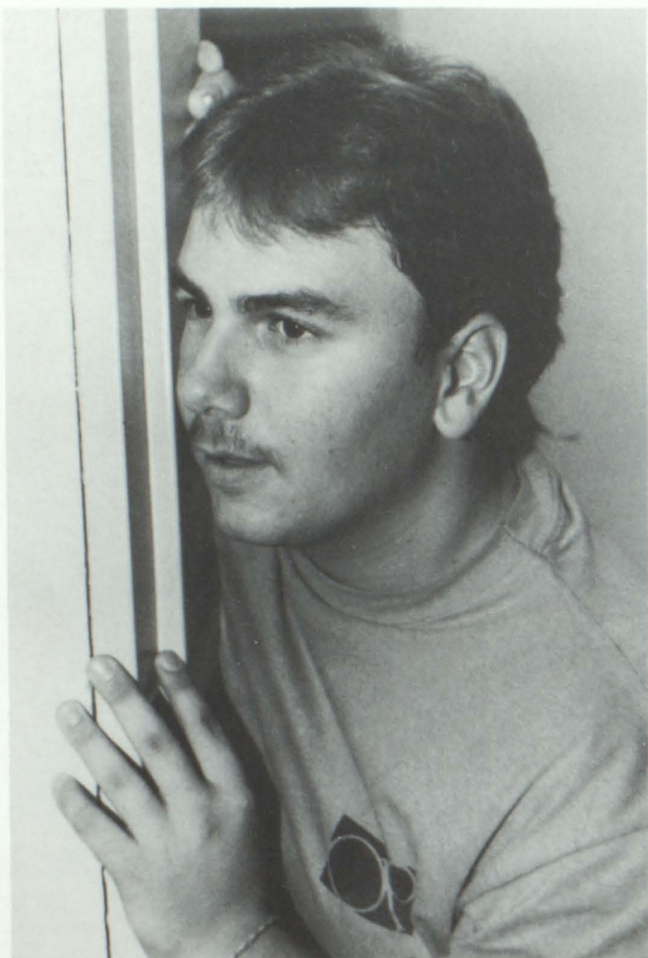

S. Vacchetti, L. Jordan, V. Finley, J. Smith had lots to smile about considering they were seniors.

R. Marcy, on the shoulders of S. McCracken, went "crazy from the heat" their senior year.

Latrobean Co-editor S. McCracken peeked in the door to check on things.

Racquetball was the name of the game for T. McClure and D. Reiner.

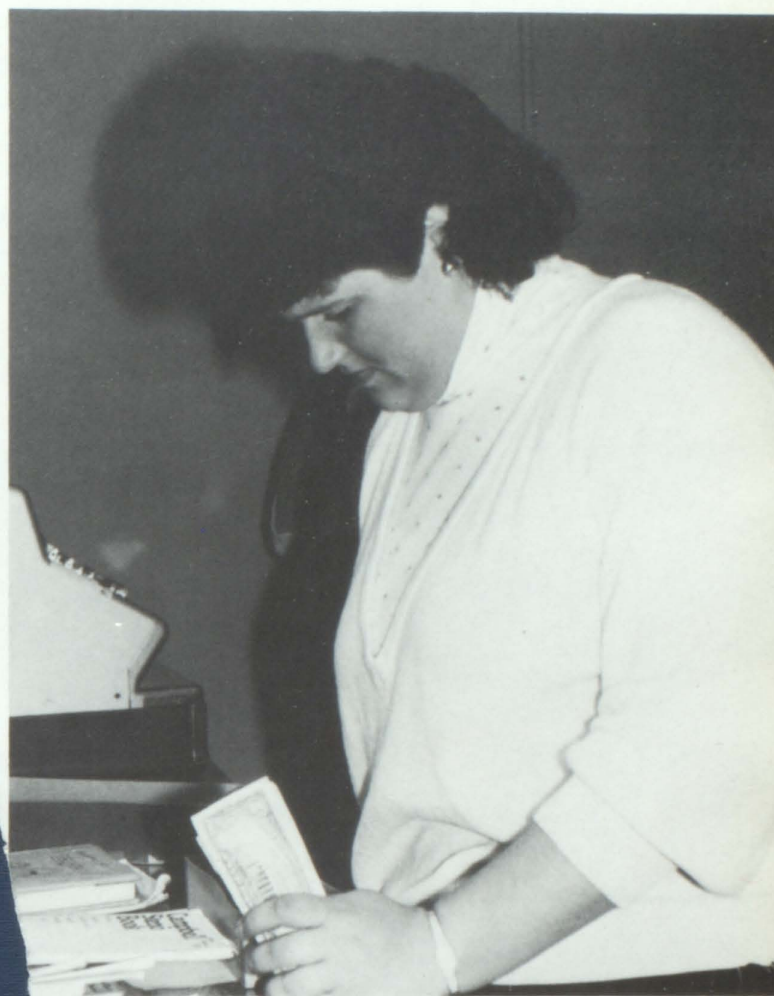

M. Downey and J. McHenry prefer leisure over work anyday.

Burger King or McDonald's? M. Revitsky, W. Schmucker, and K. Baker voted for Burger King.

B. Henry calculated the Student Store's profits for the day.

G. Uncapher and B. Long enjoyed a stroll between classes in the mall area.

Ice cream was B. Kelly's choice for a nutritious lunch.

The cola wars had R. Mickinak, M. Fuggenthaler, and N. Gallagher drinking Diet Coke.

R. ... though
sign of coolness.

Idlewild lured in another pack of Senior "Idlewilders" for the 1986 summer.

B. McHugh, K. Morrell, J. McDewitt, D. Brant, and K. Nist rocked hard in England.

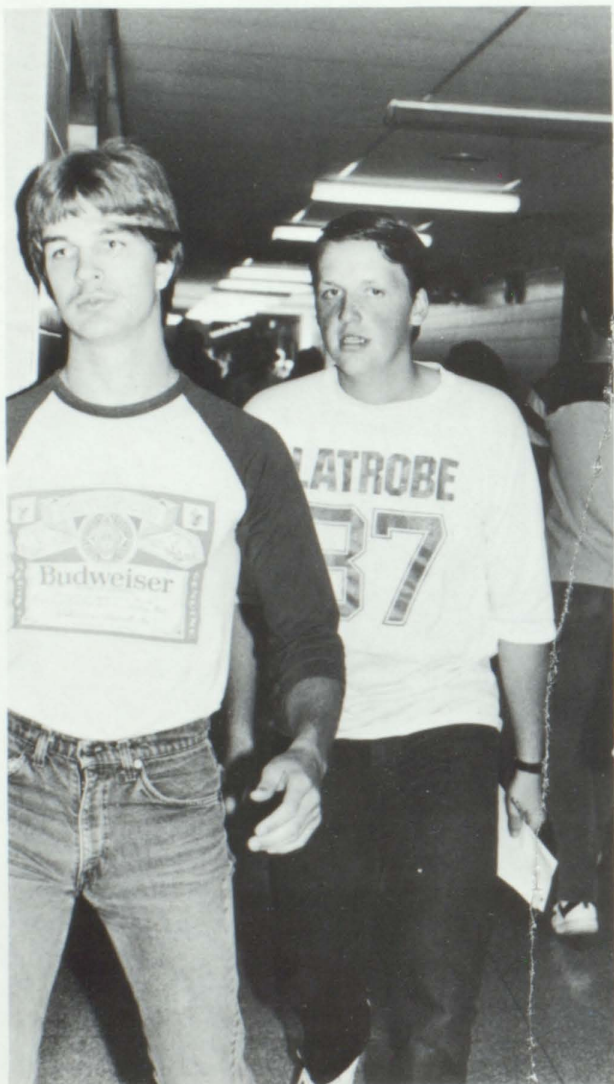

K. Marks and S. Wood fought over who's shirt was better.

E. Garbeglio and C. Casey disagreed on certain colors in art class.

L. Bennett, R. Cisneros, and T. Armel bought their milk, steak sandwiches, and fries.

P. Martin and R. Noel quickly hustled to class after the tardy bell rang.

T. Stemmler, M. Kubicki, J. Kelly, L. Taylor, L. Guskiewicz attended volleyball camp.

B. Grundy and B. Grushesky showed their name similarities.

The halls were usually a busy place, but C. Marinchek casually strolled down one alone.

Girls from the senior class decided to advertise their "Sprite".

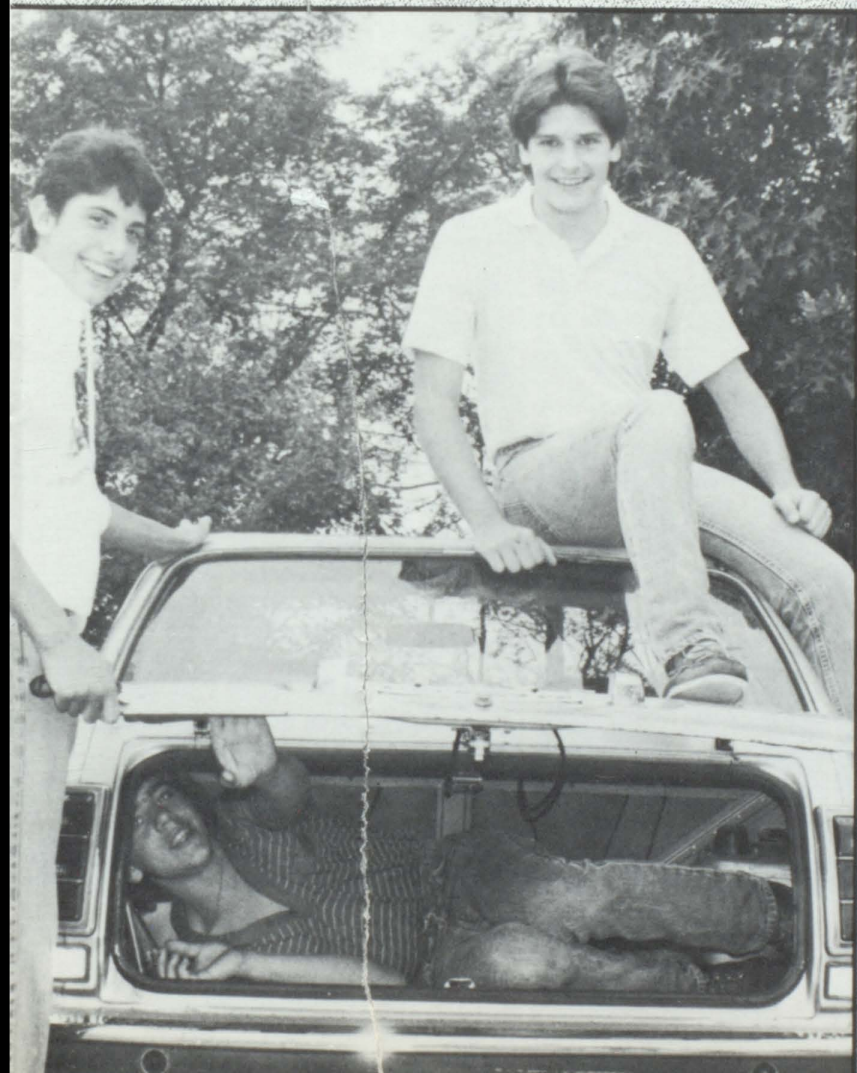

The Future is Ours

With

Underclass

The term "underclassmen" meant those in 10th, or 11th grade to Greater Latrobe students. It also meant freedom — freedom to choose what electives to take. For the lucky, it meant the freedom to stay out later on the weekends. Being an underclassman meant still having the freedom to fool around both in and out of school. In school, they played around in some of their classes. After school, some played around at their sport practices at which they were considered Junior Varsity players — no longer Junior High players. Out of school, underclassmen did the same as seniors. They went to usual places. Often they were accompanied by seniors. Perhaps the time the underclassmen spent with senior friends stimulated their desires to become seniors. But nevertheless, underclassmen did look forward to the day when they, too, would be tossing off those graduation caps. They looked forward to the future. The future which will be theirs!

WILDCAT

Juniors Were Almost There

Being a junior at Greater Latrobe Senior High meant being the "middle man". The juniors had already experienced one year at the Senior High School and knew how to get around the school rules without getting a day of in-house or detention. For this reason, the juniors stayed very mellow. They enjoyed razzing the sophomores on the first days of school, competing with the seniors in the jar race, and raising money for the Prom, (to which they were now invited) by selling gummy bears, peanut brittle, wrapping paper, and gift tags. However, maybe the most important part of being a junior was getting a driver's license. The juniors were all required to take driver's education. This was only one period a week, but the movies they saw always stuck with them when driving the family car. They all used their newly discovered "skills" on the road at all times! They were well-liked by the sophomores who were in need of transportation to social events on the weekends. They nervously prepared for SAT's and ACT's, knowing how close their college decisions were and how important these test scores were in getting into college. The juniors were led by President Jim Sparber, Vice President Rob Stepanic, Secretary Renee Stas, and Treasurer Janice Verchuck. The class of 1988 will carry their driving skills and their knowledge, as well as their pride in their class, the class of 1988, into their futures.

Michelle Hart worked hard in English class.

As these two boys were coming out of the girls laboratory Eric said, "Gee Brett, somebody's going to be surprised."

Top Rt. Sharon Lutton, Melissa Brant, Rosey Robb, and Tricia Firment slid on their shades because of the bright sun.

Caught in the act were Missy Schillings, Daneen Conn, and Dana Wassel playing Twister.

Juniors Daneen Dominick and Linda Sweezey hid from Lori Stuck thinking they really tricked her this time.

Sophomore Chris Campbell and Junior Traci Watkins were seen at poolside as Traci proudly said, "my hero".

These tree climbing antics are those of Jill Wible and Karen Helman. They were demonstrating how students sometimes went "ape" in school.

Sophomores Were Just Beginning

Being a sophomore at Greater Latrobe Senior High meant being the "babies" of the school. The hardest day of a student's life seemed to be a student's first day of school of the sophomore year. The 1986-1987 sophomores were traditionally taunted by the "much wiser" upperclassmen. At the pep assemblies they yelled back their hardest when the juniors and seniors chanted "go back to the zoo". They got their lockers open and found their ways to their classes on the first day of school despite the misguidance of the upperclassmen.

Sophomores found themselves making close friends with licensed upperclassmen to earn rides to the social events on the weekends. They eagerly awaited their sixteenth birthdays expecting driver's permits to be in the mail when they arrived home from school. Sophomores enjoyed participating in extracurricular activities and sports teams as well as choosing the classes they wanted to take. Journalism was taken by those who wished to perhaps be on the Latrobean staff or that of THE HIGH POST. Being a sophomore wasn't an easy task, but the CLASS OF 1989 handled it with ease — eagerly awaiting the chance to be juniors. The sophomore class was led by President Jodi Rethi, Vice President Dawn Torockio, Secretary Sue Gruss, and Treasurer John Gera. The strong-spirited sophomores will carry their memories and proudness into their futures.

These juniors were caught between classes checking the time right after the tardy bell rang.

These junior girls snuck out of school showing their need to be wild.

This mirror image was of Angie Gray and Bobbi Miller as they displayed similar apparel.

Doug Demagone worked up a sweat striving to be a "10".

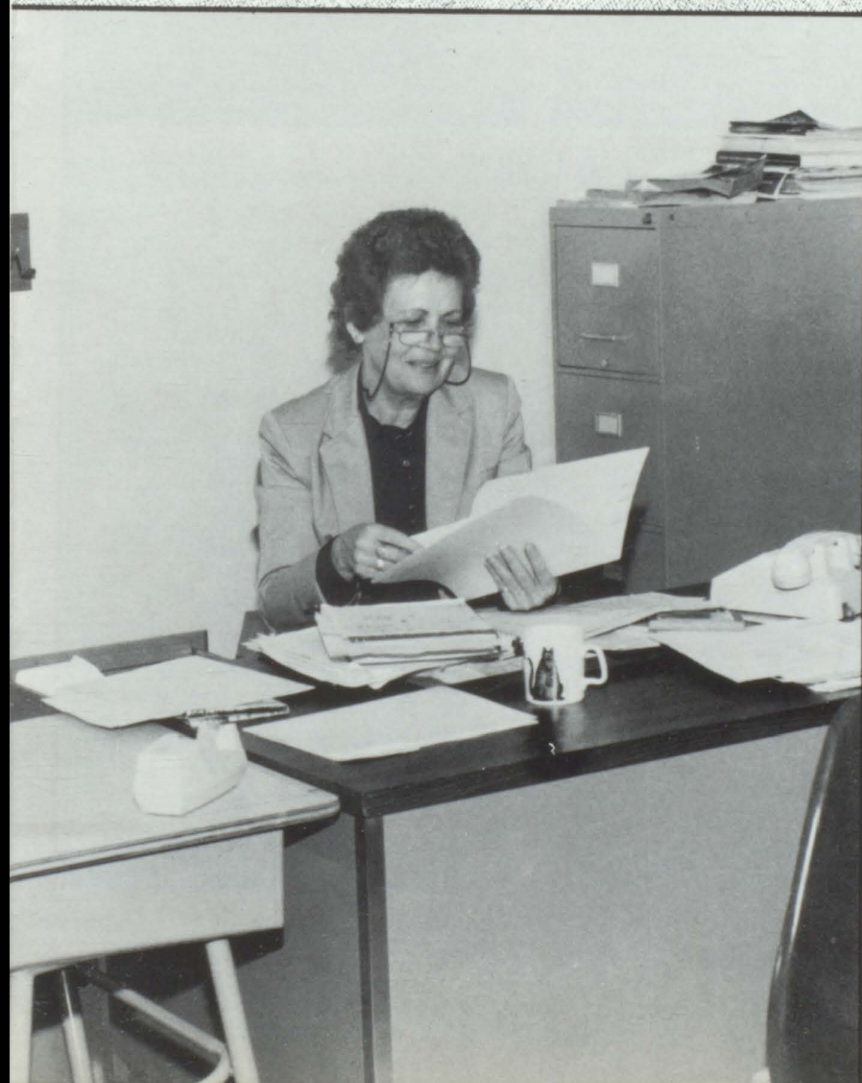

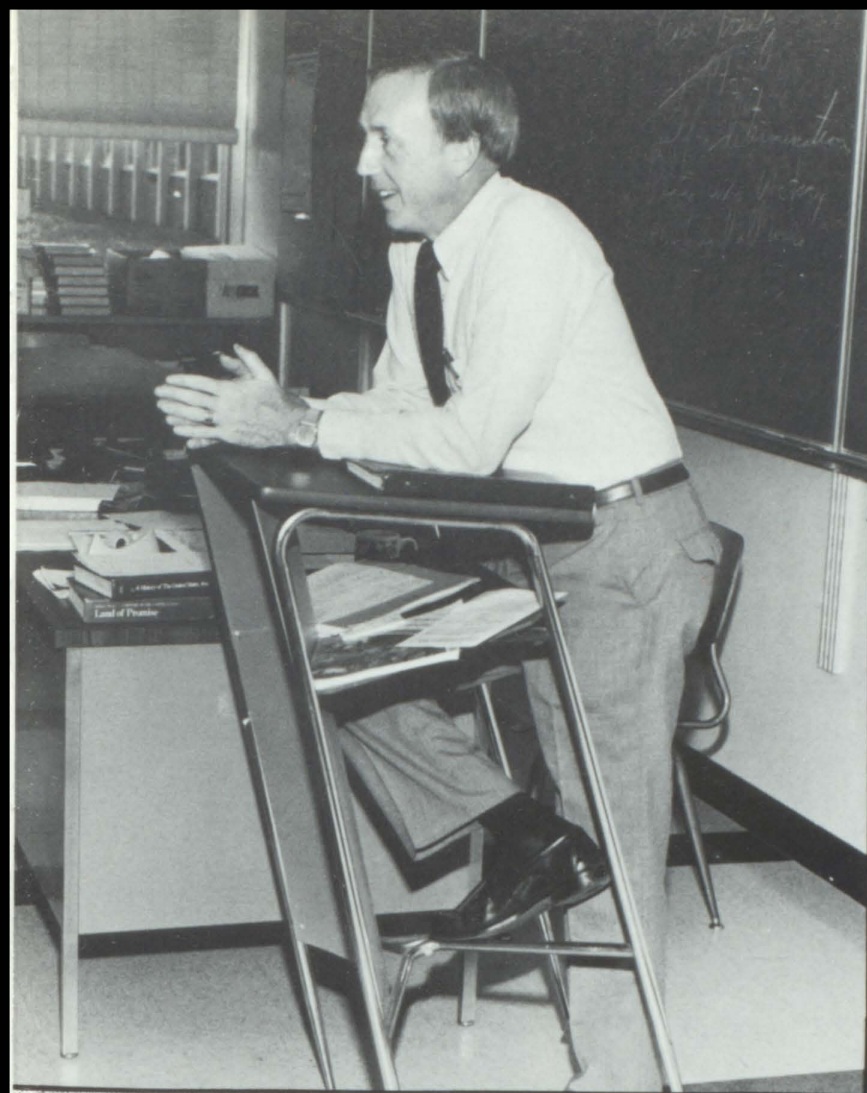

The dilemma of getting one's locker open was often seen, unfortunately Don Strickler got his finger stuck which was apparent from the expression on his face.

The Future is Ours

With

Faculty

"I touch the future; I teach." Students saw this sticker in many teachers' classrooms. The quote came from Christa McAuliffe, the teacher who was killed in the Challenger disaster in January of 1986. Teachers at GLHS touched futures — those of the students they taught. Students, during their high school years, learned something that they carried into their futures. Teachers enlightened the world of students. They taught them about the world around them. They gave the knowledge to use in the future. They also inspired them. Teachers at GLHS attended staff development workshops during the 1986-1987 school year, learning how to be more effective teachers. The other faculty members, aside from the teachers, kept the school running smoothly. They enforced the rules and helped organize the fun. The faculty touched the students' futures.

Dedication They Touched Futures

Rita Casteel

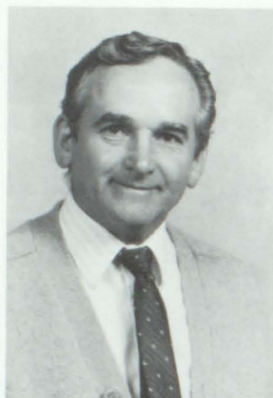

William Couchenour

Dorothy Hacker

Dorothy Leonard

Edward Showalter

James Taylor

Leroy Palmer

At the end of the '85-86 school year, six familiar faces retired from the ranks of the GLHS faculty. Bringing their educational careers to an end were Mrs. Rita Casteel, Mr. William Couchenour, Miss Dorothy Hacker, Mrs. Dorothy Leonard, Mr. Edward Showalter, and Mr. James Taylor.

GLHS students and alumni remember Mrs. Casteel's French, Spanish, Mythology, and Latin classes. They also remember her 'searching eyes' and stern voice when she was 'on guard'. She remembers the 'infernal bells' and the many young people that she loved.

Teaching English, Shakespeare, Sports Literature, and Journalism, Mr. Couchenour taught a few thousand students in his 39-year career. He produced many award-winning yearbooks and newspapers in his 20 years in journalism and was very active in GLHS wrestling — keeping score, announcing, and producing the written program.

'Such a nice lady' used to be in the guidance office at GLHS. Students were referring to Miss Hacker who helped 300-400 students every year. She worked out schedule problems, gave tests, wrote letters of recommendation, gave college advice, acted as a liaison between student and teacher, and often gave personal comfort. 'We miss having a lady in guidance,' said one student.

Right next door to Miss Hacker was another 'Nice lady'. School Nurse Mrs. Leonard patched wounds, took temperatures, looked at throats, called parents, and listened to sad tales. Students remember her tolerant, good-nature.

Another quiet man, Mr. Taylor, gave GLHS students everything he could to promote safe-driving. Teaching both driver's education and road instruction, he devoted the last years of his career to making GLHS accident-free. He also sponsored the award-winning Youth Traffic Safety Council.

Off, away from the rest of the world was Mr. Showalter in his industrial arts area. Students who had him remember his quiet manner, his dry wit, and his expertise. He also brought all these to his 25 years of coaching track.

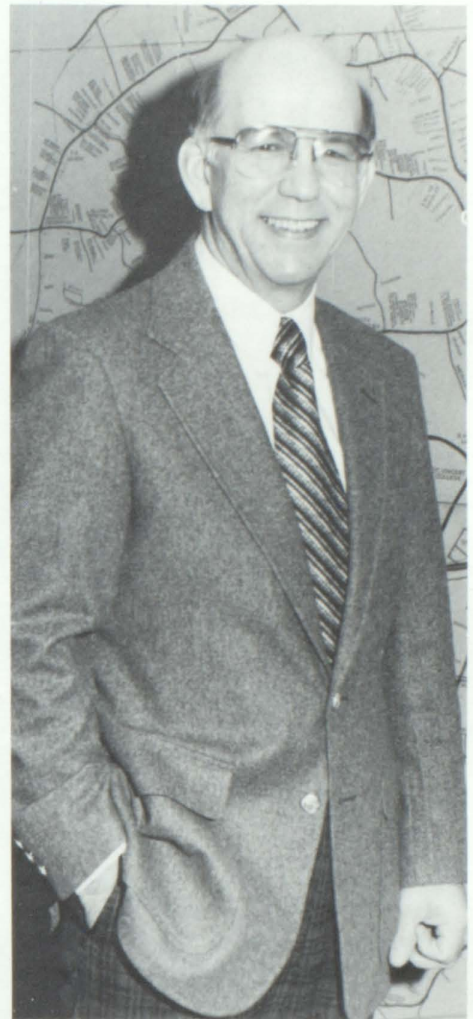

Just when everyone thought the 'good-byes' were done for awhile, Custodian Leroy Palmer decided to bow out in December of '86. Students and teachers saw Leroy changing burned-out light bulbs, fixing window blinds, opening stuck lockers, helping to unload supplies at the loading dock, and going wherever he was needed. His smile and willing-to-help nature were easy to like.

Leaving while they still cared and while people still cared about them made the leaving difficult for everyone. We dedicate this faculty section to these seven 'class' people who will be remembered for a long time to come by everyone associated with GLHS.

Thank you all for your years of caring. You'll probably never know how many futures you have touched.

Mrs. Bleehash was always on the go — going to her next gym class.

Then and Now . . .

Students always thought of their teachers as only teachers, but they were teenagers, too. Latrobe High School teachers cherished their high school years. They did many things in school then that students did in '86-'87. They participated in activities such as drama clubs, forensics, basketball teams, track teams, golf teams, baseball teams, yearbook staffs, school papers, debate teams, bands, class plays and choruses. Some enjoyed early rock music, fishing, bowling, skiing, horseback riding, double dates, parties, and ice skating. However, "that was then, this is now" — this was how they differed. Some teachers went to sock hops after football and basketball games, collected Dean Martin records, raced go-carts, and enjoyed bee-bop music and canasta.

Mr. Mikula corrected papers while on hall duty. He was responsible for GLHS's theatrical productions.

Students Saluted Faculty

Thank You

The faculty members at Greater Latrobe High School were knowledgeable in a wide range of areas. Students were fortunate to have their support. Willing helpers, talented staff members had a wealth of knowledge to share. Eager students received the benefits of this knowledge whether it was received through a teacher teaching a class, coaching a team, directing the band, or a class play, working on a community project, advising the cheerleaders or the ushering team, or other extracurricular activities.

lar activities.

Students who asked questions and had overwhelming curiosity were provided with an acute understanding.

Faculty members cared about the students, the GLHS standards of learning, students' personal problems, the community, and students' futures.

Students were lucky to have had a quality staff and administration. They were proud of what they learned from their teachers. They saluted the outstanding group of teachers and faculty of 1986-1987.

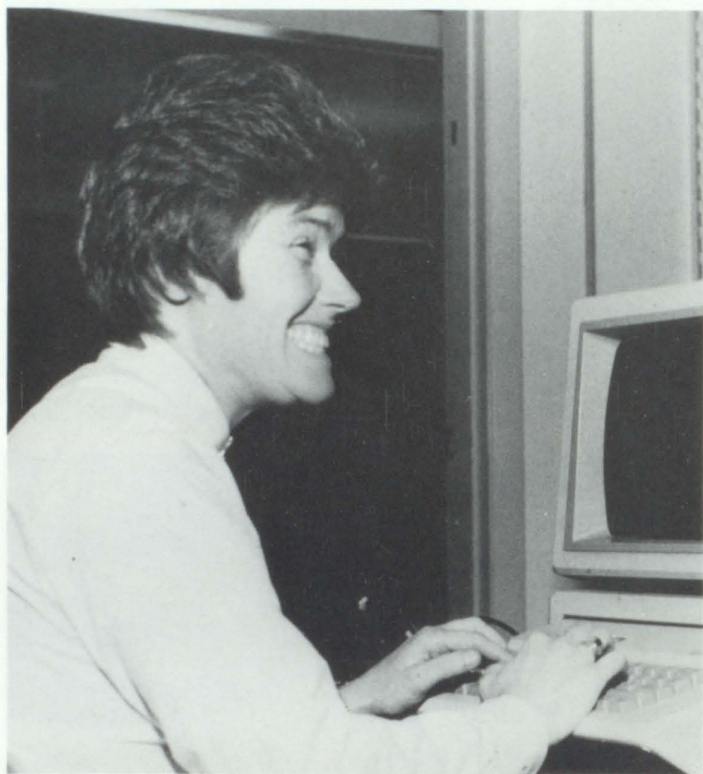

Mrs. Cavanaugh helped Judi Kitchen with a composition.

Mrs. Samuel prepared her child development classes for nursery school.

Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Baroli discussed English by Baroli's traveling cart.

Mr. Altimus and Mr. Jioio talked about the volleyball games they watched.

Ms. McMahon proudly showed her intelligence on the computer.

It looked like Mr. Hart was attempting one of his own health quizzes!

For Mr. Kozusko, world cultures was full of laughs.

Mr. Harvey, teacher of patterns in human change and world cultures, posed for a photograph.

Teachers often gave up spare time to give make-up tests. Here Mr. Conroy was giving one.

Mr. Repko made everything look so easy.

Mr. Etling told his classes to beware as he gave a history lecture.

Mr. Markiewicz was snapped as he was leaving class.

Mrs. Cantini pointed out a few food tips to her class.

This was Mr. Hull's favorite seat, because he was seen in it so often in both homeroom and study hall.

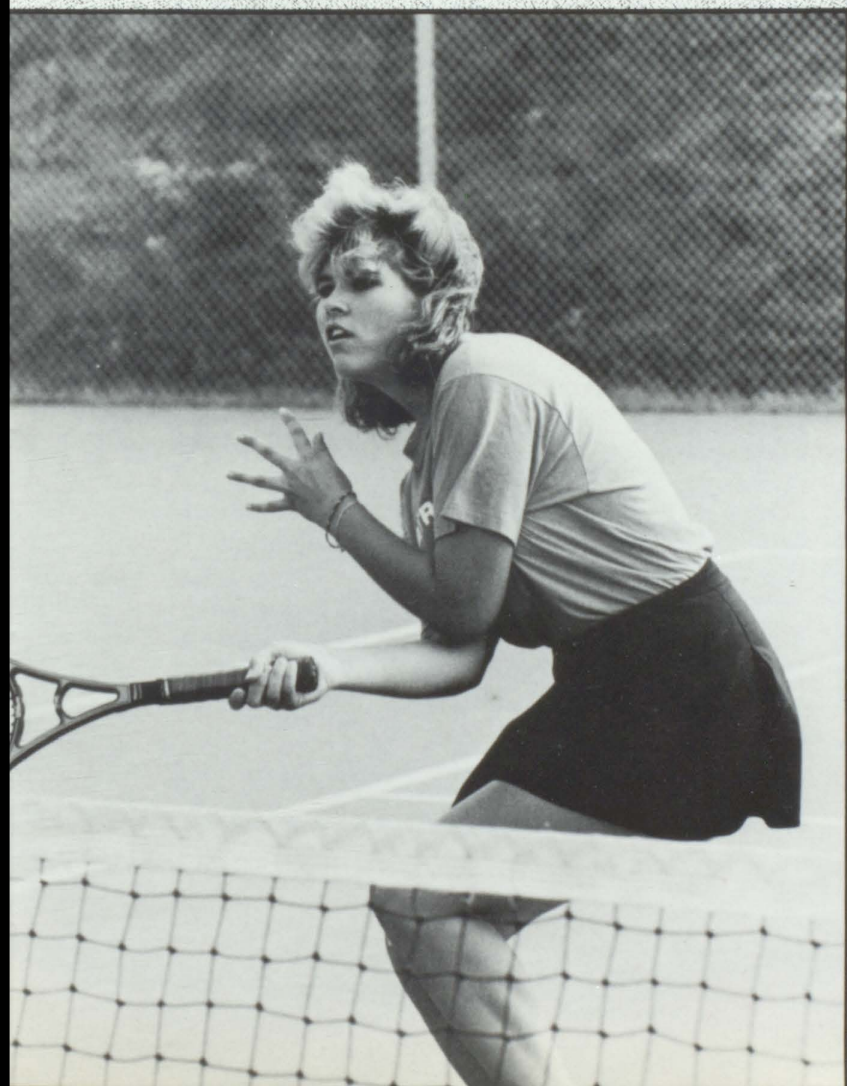

Mrs. Zahuranic didn't want her picture taken. She covered her face to hide from the camera.

The Future is Ours

With

Sports

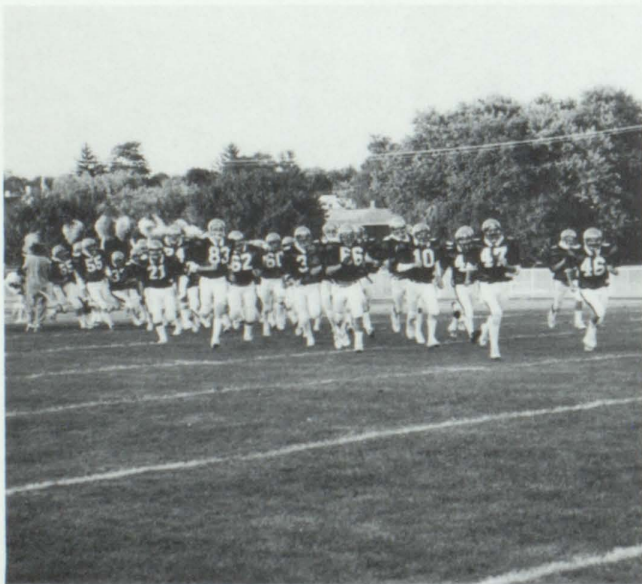

Many students participated in GLHS sports. Whether they did so to get in shape, to kill spare time, or because they had a real love for the sport, they gave their all. Students and teachers alike enjoyed attending sporting events, and the small admission charges made them popular social events. Male jocks were seen about the school proudly wearing their jerseys on game days. The cheerleaders were the only "jockettes" to wear their uniforms. They displayed their pride by dressing up on game days. Despite any hard luck or tough competition, the swimmers, riflemen, wrestlers, cheerleaders, football, golf, volleyball, basketball, track, hockey, baseball, softball, tennis, and soccer teams may have had, they all made GLHS students proud. They enhanced their abilities to compete, to be disciplined, to be determined, and to succeed. Whether GLHS 1986-87 athletes join the pro's or not, they will need these qualities in the future.

'86 Fall Sports

Coming up the hill, Mike Lena took the lead over his Conneville opponent.

The Wildcats enthusiastically took the field as they prepared for the opening kick off.

Dan Yates gave it his all as he teed off on hole number one.

Terrilea Stemmler bumped to teammate Michele Kubicki as they set up for another kill.

Beth Aungier showed perfect form as she executed a fore-hand slice.

Brian Kelly advanced the ball up-field as Brock Sherman watched on.

Coming down the home stretch, Jen Heintzelman took the lead away from her fellow teammates, Anne Tokesky and Kathy Showwalter.

Hart Era Ends After 22 Years

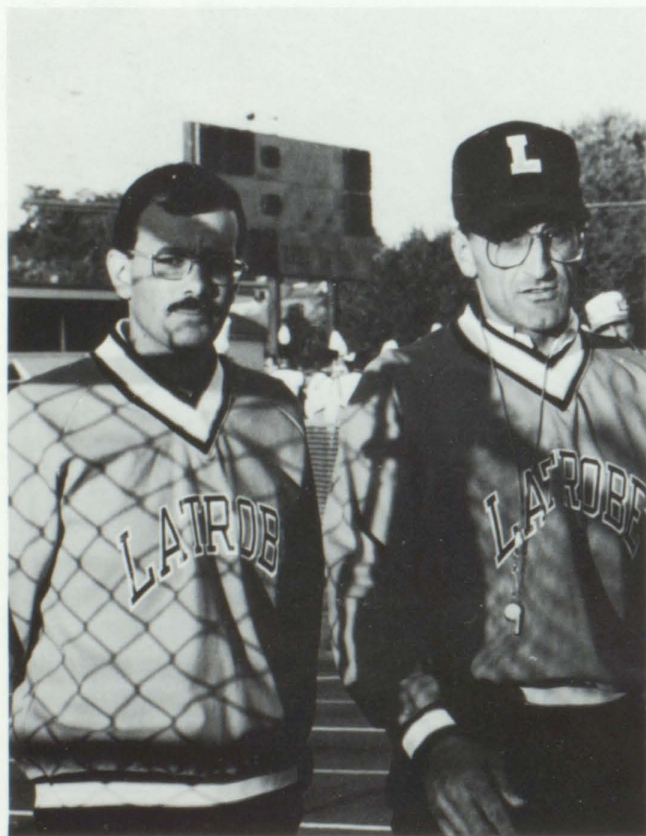

This year's Wildcat Football team ended a rough season with a record of 1-8. Although the statistics weren't considered outstanding, the Cats put forth an impressive effort at games as well as at practices. In the end of the season, the Cats were ahead in spirit despite their sub-standard record.

The Cats produced their sole victory over

Central in the third game of their season. Getting off to a good start, the Cats scored two touchdowns and one additional point. The final score of the game was 13-0.

Starters for the season were seniors: Mark Ackerman, Tom Alexander, Joe Backman, Rick Conrad, Eric Diehl, Ken Frye, John Guarino, Scott Haines, J.B. Howard, Kevin Krajca, Rob Macey, Joe Malizia, Mark McKee, Chris Miller, Scott Miller, Erick Pruitt, Paul Robl, Sean Rock, Dan Shandel, Chuck Smith, Doug Vallana, and Marlon Wilson. Junior starters included: Drew Altimus, Chris Visnic, Mark Butina, and Scott Knott. The 1986-1987 Wildcat Football team wished luck to the next season's team, which was to be under the supervision of a new head coach.

Coaches LoCascio and Kozusko planned last minute strategies.

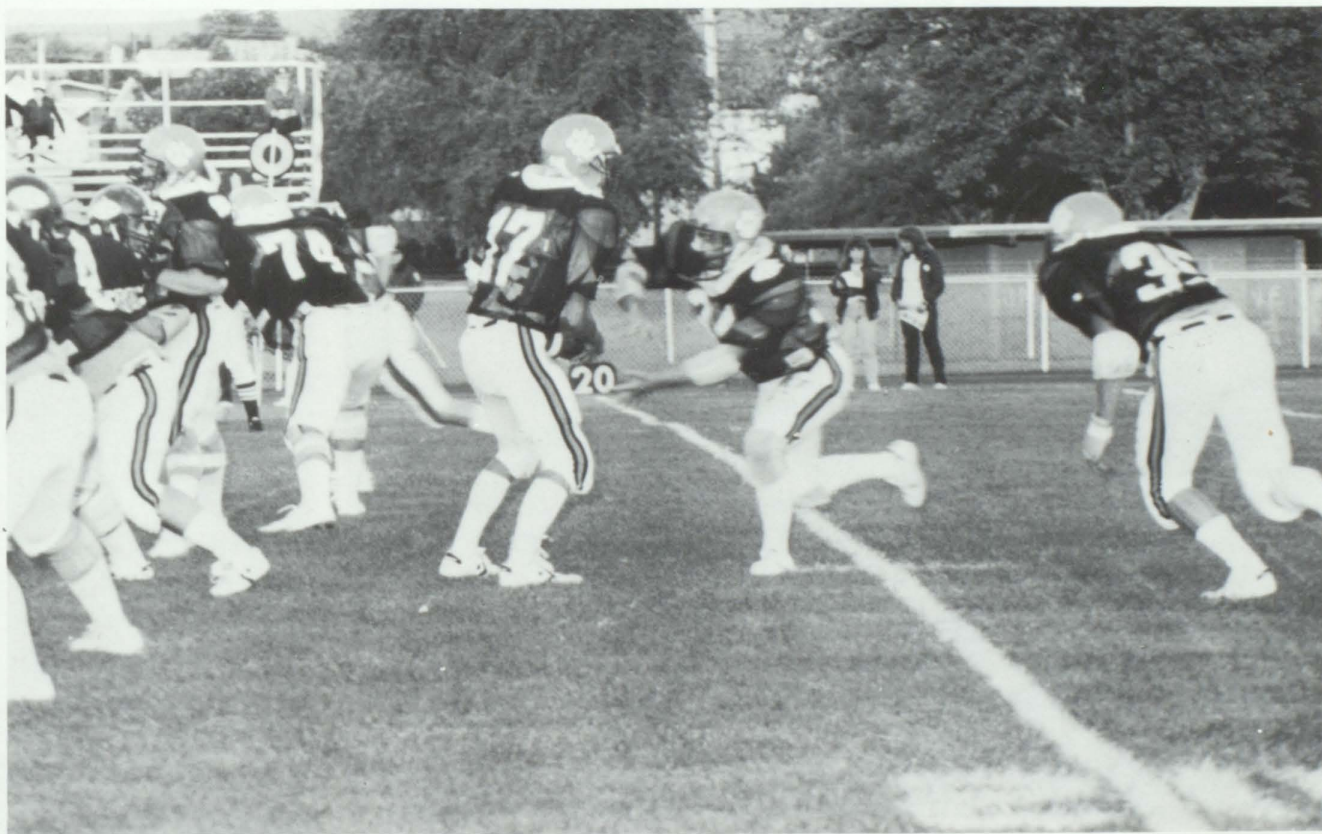

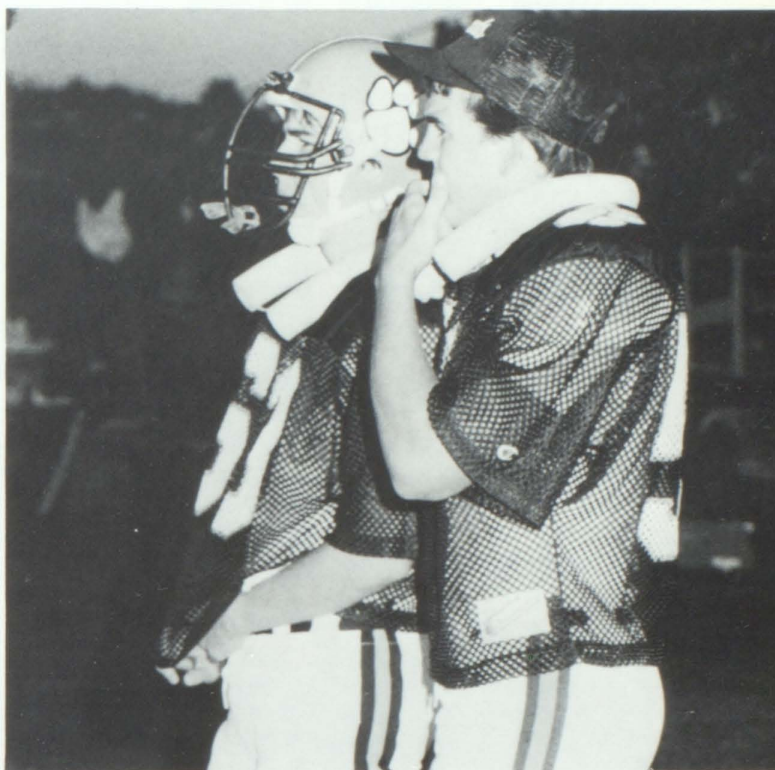

Scott Haines showed enthusiasm as he ran onto the field.

Ken Frye and company started the game with the opening kick off.

Mark Levitsky and Eric Slivoskey conferred on the sidelines.

Chris Visnic handed off to Sean Rock as he plunged up the middle.

LoCascio, Stan Treskovich, Dick Albaugh, Ron Argenta, Roger Downs, and Andy Wnek), and Mr. Gary Garrison who has given us great support over the years.

I enjoy coaching very much, and I will miss all the comradery with the players and coaches. I hope that we all have learned something being a football player or a coach. It is not easy, but I still think it is still just a game, and not a life or death struggle.

Thank you,

Booters: Alive and Kicking

The soccer team in its fourth year at GLHS landed a winning season. The team did well with wins against East Allegheny, Central, Hempfield, Penn Trafford, Indiana, and Southmoreland. Under Coach Downs and several assistant coaches the Booters ended up 7-5-2 missing the playoffs by only one game.

The main reasons for the teams' winning record were the five senior returning lettermen; Eric Arnold, Dave Briles, Brian Kelly, Mike Snyder, and Chris Whitehead. Two junior lettermen were back helping the team. They were Joe Massaro, and Brock Sherman. Senior Brian Kelly and Junior Joe Massaro made first team All Stars, while senior Chris Whitehead made second team.

This year's team had many new faces that would help in future years.

Ken Baldonieri set up for a cross-field pass.

Brian Kelly eluded a defender as he progressed downfield.

Jason Bush attempted to steal the ball from his opponent.

Lady Spikers Kill Opponents

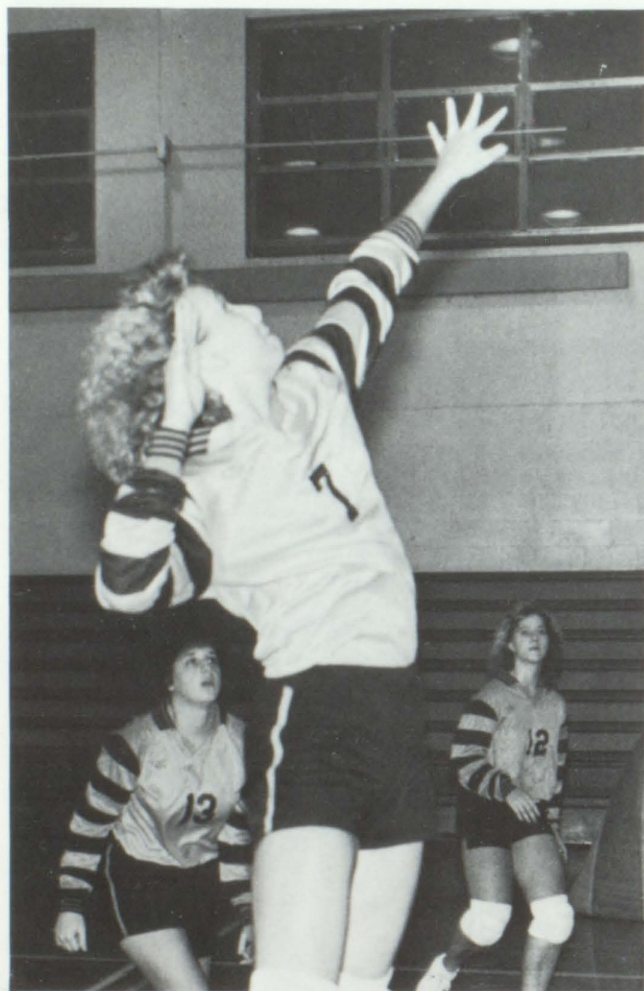

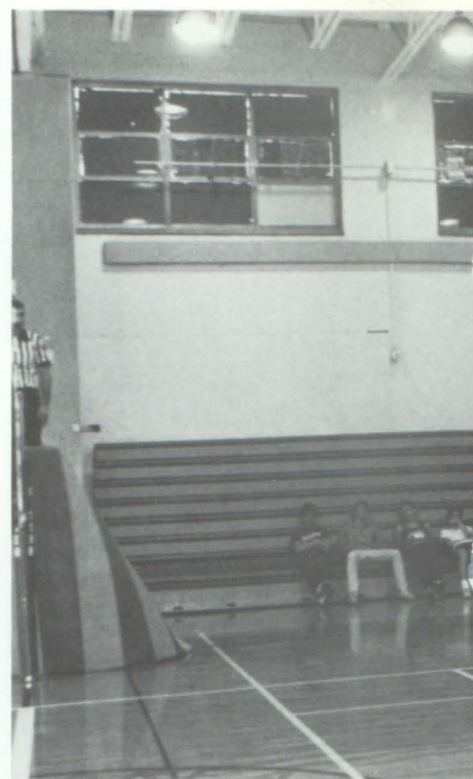

The girls' volleyball team finished up the season with a record of 11-3. The lady spikers tied with Hempfield for second place in the section. Highlighting the season were wins against Derry, 3-2, and Hempfield, 3-2. The Hempfield victory gave them a playoff berth.

The lady-spikers advanced to the semi-finals before falling 15-11 to a strong Hempfield team in the playoff tiebreaker.

Contributing to the Lady Cats lineup were seniors: Terrilea Stemmler, Jennifer Kelly, Michele Kubicki, Lora Taylor, and Lesley Guskiewicz. Juniors included: Kathy Patts, Karen Olsen, and Renee Stas. Senior Terrilea Stemmler was selected for the All Tournament Team at WCCC, the All Tournament Team at the Plum Invitational, the Section I All Star First Team, and the WPIAL All Star Second Team. Senior Michele Kubicki was named as an Honorable Mention to the WPIAL Section All Star Team.

GLHS Girls "Love" Tennis

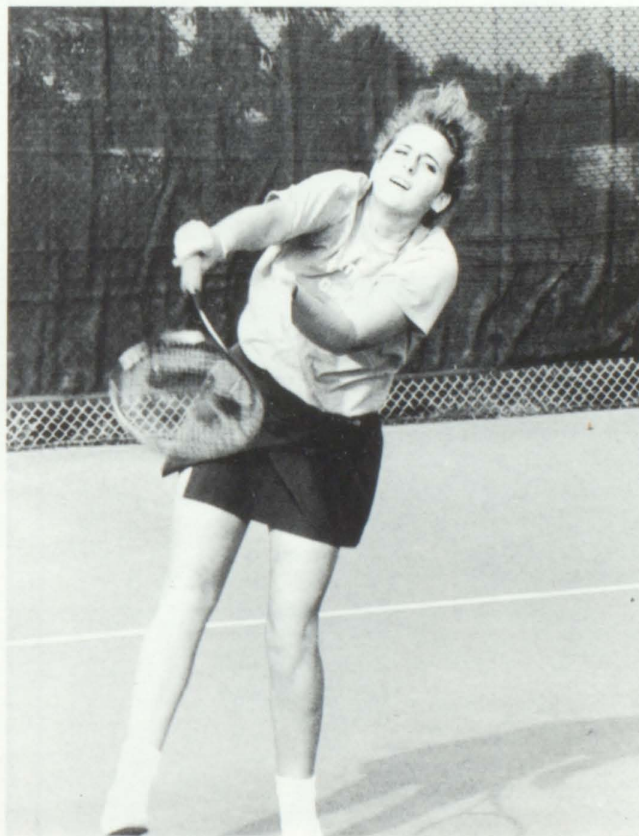

Compiling an overall record of seven wins, eight losses, the 1986-87 Girls' Tennis Team, coached by Jim Rombauch, finished the section race in third place. The team started the season with exhibition matches against Greensburg Salem, Jeannette, Hempfield, Franklin Regional and Greensburg Central Catholic. The Cats finished on top with a successful 3-2 record. However, section opponents proved to be tougher competition as Latrobe only managed a 4-6 record. Among the tougher contenders were Mt. Pleasant, Southmoreland, and Derry. Most responsible for winning matches this season were the starting line-up players. Playing the number one position was Junior Kelley Hartman, with Senior Beth Aungier and Junior Kathy Meyer filling the number two and three singles positions respectively. Senior Cindy Ferretti and Sophomore Dawn Zimmerman were teamed at first doubles. Junior Chris Mohler and Senior Kellie Poling played second doubles, with Mohler and Sophomore Diane Cesarski playing together as partners the second half of the season. Continued support for all members alike, each girls' overall tennis abilities, and the depth of the team proved to be the keys to success for this season.

and Kelli Weaver were the returning letterman for the Cats. The Linksters cruised to double victories against Derry, Norwin, and Jeannette. They gained single victories against Bethel Park, Greensburg Salem, Greensburg Central, and Hempfield.

Finishing the season, Junior Kevin Reisenweaver went on to be the only Latrobean since Arnold

Palmer to win the WPIAL individual championship! He made it through qualifying rounds at Mt. Odin and Latrobe Elks to reach the tournament. After his victory, Kevin went on to the Penn State Blue Course for the state championships, where he placed thirty-fourth. Sophomore Kelli Weaver also finished the season at the state championships.

C.C. Members Sprint to Top

The Latrobe Wildcat cross country teams, under the coaching of Mr. Wayne Etling, completed its '86-'87 seasons leaving the boys with a winning record of 8-2 and the girls with a losing record of 2-5.

At the Geibel Invitational, Latrobe boys took fourth out of a ten team field. Senior Bryan Butina and Sophomore Mike Lena placed sixth and thirteenth, both winning medals. At the ten team Westmoreland County

Cross Country meet, Butina and Lena took fifth and tenth, each winning medals again. At the team Uniontown Invitational, Butina and Lena captured fifth and eleventh with Butina winning another medal. Butina, Lena, and Junior Chris Rusnock qualified for the WPIAL finals. Butina placed thirteenth, Lena was seventeenth, and Rusnock was thirty-second. Out of a field of 251 runners at the PIAA State meet held at Penn State University, Butina placed eighty-sixth.

The girls, however, weren't so lucky at the Westmoreland County Cross Country meet.

Junior Jennifer Heintzelman won a medal due to her eighth place finish while Junior Kathy Showalter finished fifteenth. Top placers at the WPIAL Qualifiers were Heintzelman, Showalter, Junior Jennifer Derek, and Senior Anne Tokesky.

Cagers Shoot for Title

With the return of five senior letterman and the emergence of a number of promising juniors, the 1986-1987 Wildcat Basketball team, in accordance with its tradition, began its quest for a Section I title and the school's second championship. The year's journey would be one which tested the Cat's skill and drive. Seniors Keith Fenton, Marc Picciano, Bruce Thompson, Brad Wetzel, and Scott Wilson along with the assistance of juniors

Drew Altimus, Brandon Antus, Eric Campbell, Chris Fite, Greg Pellathy, Kevin Reisenweaver, and Chris Visnic were the main stay in the Cat's strive to reach the pinnacle of Western Pennsylvania Basketball.

Grapplers Go For It

The 1986-1987 squad strived to continue the winning tradition of Wildcat Wrestling. In the past 35 years that the mat sport has been here, twenty-eight were winning ones. Tom "Legs" Harbert, Head Varsity Coach, finished his sixteenth year of high school coaching and his twenty-third in coaching the mat sport. His high school varsity record reads 151-53-4. John Chendy finished his second year as Assistant Coach. He wrestled at Ligonier Valley High School and the University of Pittsburgh. Five lettermen, two seniors and three juniors returned for the season. These lettermen included Todd Funk, Ken Snyder, Shawn Carroll, John Wampole, and Eric Diehl. Varsity coaches welcomed 38 candidates to daily practices as the 1986-1987 drills began. The Wildcats completed in the WPIAL Section again this season. The team participated in two tournaments, the Blairsville Invitational and the Westmoreland County Coaches Association, both in January.

Icecats Skate to Playoffs

Coached by Bill Cersarski and Bob Jacobs, the Icecats tried to improve their 10-9 record from the previous year. An experienced team, consisting of 12 lettermen plus eighth grade sensation Tony Diorio, formed a strong nucleus as the Icecats bid for a section title. Top scorers for the team were seniors Matt Marks, Dave Tench, Mike Weaver, and sophomore Gino Gianilli. The defense was junior Brett Baumeister and eighth grader Tony Diorio. Playing goalie for the team was senior Scott McCracken. The team's seniors included: Tom Alexander, Scott Haines, Tony Hruska, Bill

Jacobs, Gary Lamolinara, Matt Marks, Mike Martino, Scott McCracken, Dave Tench, and Mike Weaver. The team was honored to have four members voted to the league All-Star Team. This honor went to seniors Matt Marks, Scott McCracken, Dave Tench, and Mike Weaver.

Lady Cagers — Impressive

The 1986-87 Greater Latrobe Girls' Basketball team returned only three lettermen from last year's team. However, with much hard work and team spirit, the girls managed to surprise a number of people. Led by top scoring sophomore Jody Sobota, sophomore Kelli Weaver, and senior captain Jennifer Whitehead, the Lady Cats got off to a fast start, winning six out of their first seven games. Also contributing to the wins were seniors Rochelle Lucas, Lauri Means, Barb Boettner, Michelle Kubicki, and junior Becky Brautigam. The team was still confident of placing in the top three, thus gaining their main goal of a play-off berth. Coach Brauti-gam commented that this was one of the most enjoyable groups of girls he ever coached. With the team's dedication and teamwork, their season termed successful, no matter what their record, and with the return of many young players, the next year's team looked just as successful.

No Guts, No Glory

SWOOSH! Trips to Hidden Valley Ski Resort allowed many the opportunity to take advantage of their favorite sport — SKIING! On Friday mornings, skiers got out of bed knowing that they would be skiing in only 10 hours. Before they knew it, it was time (5:00 p.m.) to board the bus for Hidden Valley at Spee-D Mart. After an hour bus ride, everyone “eloped to the slopes”. As they flew down the hills, the wind stung faces, and the powdery white hit eyelashes. Spraying snow, throwing snowballs, and tripping friends were some mean but fun times. Although skiing was exhausting, student participation wasn’t.

Daneen Conn looked for a seat on the ski bus.

Missy Schillings checked in with Mr. Neff before she boarded the ski bus.

Doug Sheback and Carlyn Viola headed up the slopes.

Debbie Fowler led Carrie Clark through the snow with a sparkle in her eye.

For some basketball meant earning a varsity letter and playing in a jammed-pack gymnasium. However, for others it meant participating in the high school Rec League. These "Basketball stars" got together with friends to form their own teams and created their own unique name. This year there were 13 teams with names such as: Bad Company, Brew Crew, Dirty Dozen, Drunken Dribbler, Heavyweights, Layin' Pipe, Minimal Success, Mr. Ray-jects, Philosophical Sons, Rising Force, Snipers, Tappa Kegga Brew, and Up in Smoke. Latrobe Rec basketball offered kids a chance to play basketball just for fun.

The 1987 track teams were anxiously awaiting the season as both the girls' and boys' teams started agilities in February. With the official practices starting in March, no one was required to start early but many dedicated athletes were ready to get in shape early. Both teams anticipated a hard season and were looking forward to winning. The girls' team was under the direction of

Cats Bat A Thousand

The 1986-87 Baseball Team, coached by Chuck Chamberlain and Steve LoCascio, looked to improve their 10-8 record from a year ago. The team is centered around 9 seniors, 8 which are returning letterman. This year's seniors were Mike

Clark, Eric Diehl, Rob Guzik, J.B. Howard, Scott McCracken, Joe Pedrazzoli, Marc Picciano, Tim Rafferty, and Paul Robl. With the constant hitting of Clark and Guzik and the steady pitching of McCracken, Picciano, and Robl, combined with the commitment from the rest of the team, the Cats hoped to be atop the section at the end of the year.

Mike Clark got the put out at second.

Paul Robl snagged an infield fly.

J.B. Howard sprinted to first after a base hit.

Scott McCracken fired the heater.

Rob Guzik limbered up before making his way to the plate.

Eric Diehl attempted to block the plate while waiting for the play at home.

Eric Ezykowsky and Greg Pel-lathy returned the balls to their opponents.

A concerned bench looked on during a home half of an inning.

Male Netters Hope For Smashing Season

The 1987 Boys' Tennis Team, under the direction of Coach Jim Rombach, hoped to have another successful season. With fourteen players returning from the previous season, the Wildcats hoped to enjoy another winning season with a very good chance at winning their section. Long, hard practices and the leadership of six returning seniors were the key elements for a possible section title. Along with the combining efforts of the underclassmen, Coach Rombach's team wanted another fine season.

Coach Chamberlain returned to the bench after conferring with pitcher Paul Robl.

With Joe Massaro watching, Mike Martino returned the serve.

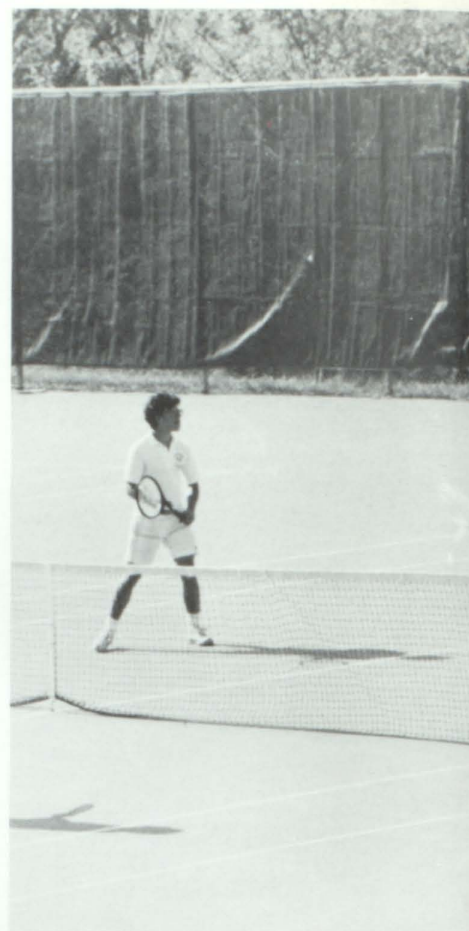

Gavin Mann took time out to quench his thirst.

Seniors Frank Overly and Dave Mackey rested between matches.

Rob Zaccagnini went back to serve.

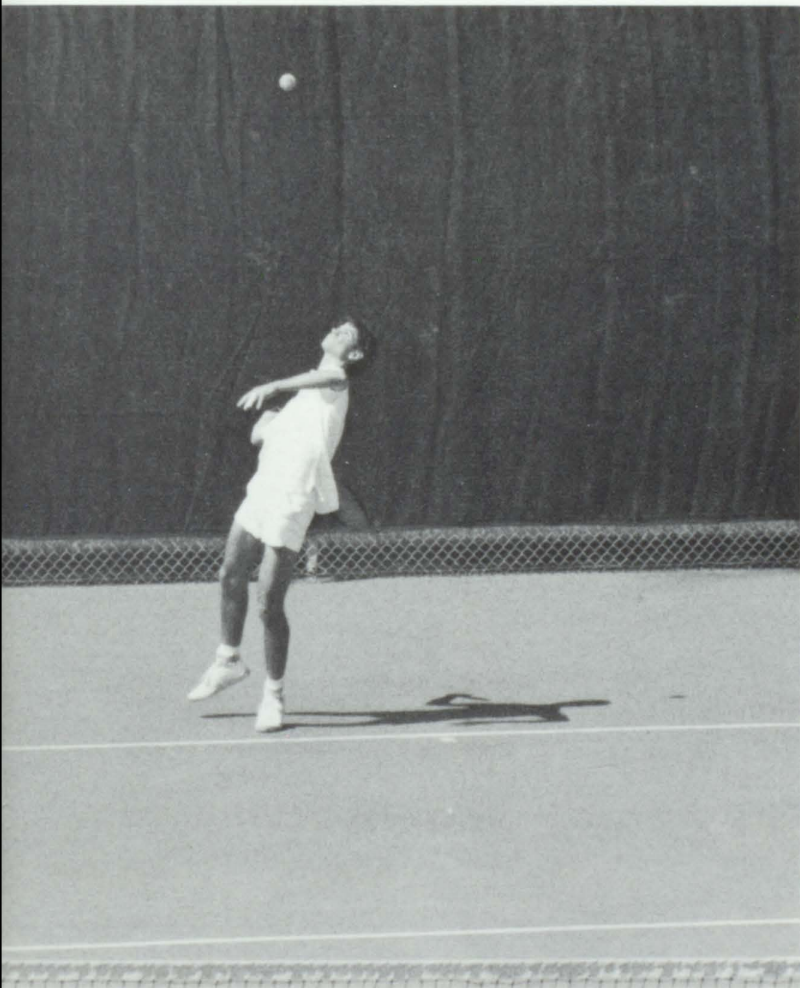

Gavin Mann returned with a backhand.

Jason Burg executed a perfect serve.

Lady Cats Play Hardball

The 1986-87 softball team looked forward to the season with high hopes. With starting seniors; Sue German, Michele Kubicki, Bethann Lloyd, Amy Myers, and Kristie Nist, the team was to have a winning season and a chance to make the playoffs. Providing the needed depth for the team were junior and sophomores; Kelli Weaver, Sue Steely, Krissy Horner, Kathy Patts and Anne Ferry.

S. German swung for it all.

Seniors S. German and M. Kubicki and coaches E. Vrabie and J. Kubicki observed the action on the field.

K. Weaver delivered the winning blow against Norwin.

K. Nist got signals before going up to bat.

Spirit Boosters

The 1986-87 Latrobe Cheerleading squad started another year by capturing GLHS's third consecutive large varsity grand championship trophy at the International Cheerleading Foundation (ICF) summer camp held at West Virginia University.

Along with the trophy, the squad managed to win the dance competition and the spirit award for exhibiting the most overall spirit.

During camp, the ICF instructors watched the girls perform, and at the end of camp, they chose five girls to compete individually for the ICF Elite Squad at Nashville. Seniors Kathy Chu and Kelly Ruffner were selected for this honor and were also selected as ICF instructors for 1986-87.

The squad also qualified to go to the Nashville, Tennessee to compete in the nationwide cheerleading competition held by ICF every year.

The 1986-87 squad was advised by Mrs. Anne Bleehash. The twelve girls that made up this squad were seniors: Kathy Chu, (captain), Jennifer Biss (co-captain), Michelle Giannini, Brooke Kostley, Cindy Massey, Kelly Ruffner, Dana Torockio; and juniors: Jackie Chu, Kelli Martelli, Sheri Mitchell, Jen Tripoli and Carlyn Viola. The two Wildcat Mascots for the year were Jennifer Derek and Denise Lohr.

The 1986-87 J.V. squad, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Lou Townsend, won second place in the Junior Varsity Division at the ICF summer camp. Members of the Junior Varsity squad were Pam Harbert (captain), Chris Bensko, Dana Machen, Heather McCalen, Jennifer Sarady, and Gina Shaffer (co-captain). J.V.'s were also qualified to compete at Nashville. Both squads experienced a triumphant year.

Seniors B. Kostley, D. Torockio, K. Ruffner, K. Chu, J. Biss and mascots J. Derek and D. Lohr smiled pretty for the camera.

Juniors J. Tripoli and J. Chu performed "Wildcats are Out of Sight" chant.

Cheerleaders smiled with confidence as they performed their award winning cheer before the first football game.

Sophomores D. Machen, H. McCallen, J. Sarady, P. Harbert, C. Bensko, G. Shaffer executed a mount.

H. McCallen and P. Harbert performed a leg extension.

The Future is Ours

With

Activities

Clubs played an important role at GLHS. There was a variety of them, so it was easy to find one that suited an interest. Some clubs included Pep Club, Medical Explorers, and Mat Maids. In the honor societies, a certain grade point average was required to be a member. Administration office aides, library aides, and athletic office aides helped a great deal. Many activities informed people. Youth Traffic Safety Council helped students drive safely, while CODE told of the dangers of drugs and alcohol. The High Post informed students throughout the school year. The Latrobean reviewed the 1986-1987 school year. Morning announcers informed everyone daily. The largest group was the Band. Marching Band entertained the students at football games, pep assemblies, and parades. Concert Band, Stage Band, and Symphonic Band gave Christmas and Spring concerts. All activities were comprised of students who were gaining skills for their futures.

"Well, Hello Dolly . . ."

This year's musical, directed by Mr. James Mikula and Mr. Marc Tourre, was "Hello Dolly!" The musical was performed Friday, March 6, and Saturday, March 7. The curtain went up at 8 p.m. both evenings. The musical was the story of Dolly Gallagher Levi and her efforts to marry a half-a-millionaire, Horace Vandergelder, and send his money circulating among the people like rain water the way her late husband taught her. Along the way, she played matchmaker to several unique couples.

Creativity and

Ushers Club, Stage Crew and Scenery and Set Design all helped with assembling stage productions. Scenery and Set Design painted sets for the plays and musicals while Stage Crew built sets and handled lighting for all stage productions. Ushers Club seated people and passed out programs. Art Club and NAHS were busy with several projects. Art Club painted on the gym walls the saying "Wildcat Country" and identified the different sections of the bleachers with "Sophomores", "Juniors", and "Seniors". NAHS painted signs giving directions to the High School. They also painted a sign for Strickler's Pharmacy, marking the birth place of the banana split.

Latrobe students couldn't wait until those bitter cold, snowy Friday nights when they would be flying down the slopes at Hidden Valley with their friends in the Ski Club. This year's Ski Club was under the supervision of Mr. Neff.

Halftime Performers

The Greater Latrobe Marching Band had an exceptional 1986-87 season. Under the direction of Mr. Richard A. Rossi and Mr. Raymond P. Hamill, the band was able to stay on top of their section. The highlight of the season was taking first place at Championships in their section at Norwin. The band's performance of 'The Rose' spotlighted Jill Paone's solo vocal ability.

Visual Concept

Colorguard and Majorettes made up the visual section of the Greater Latrobe Marching Band. With their Captains, this section of the band worked to achieve the best coordination, grace, and style. During football season, their colorful twirling silks and rifles caught the eyes of Wildcat fans. Winterguard consisted of Silks and Rifles performing in a gym without the marching band.

Band At Its Best

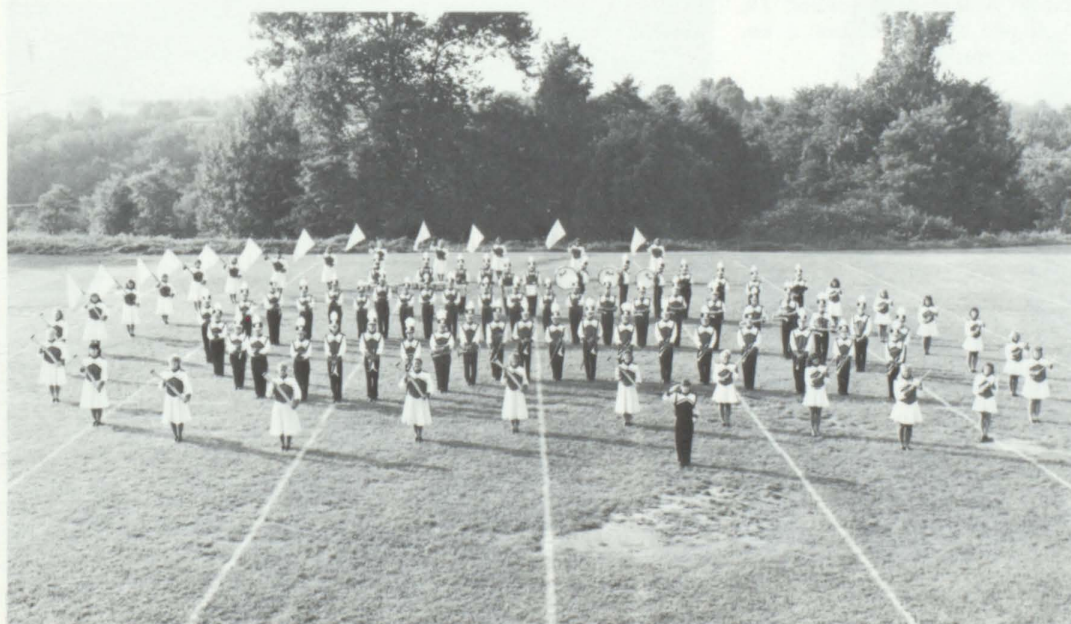

The band kept the beat while the majorettes marched on.

Precision twirling was a key to their sharp performances.

These Cats were ready to perform at a football game.

The Wildcat Marching Band made Latrobe's proud at away football games and competitions.

Discovering Cultural

These clubs explored the cultural aspects of French, German, Latin, or Spanish languages. Junior Classical League, the Latin club, explored the tradition of the Latin village. Many foreign language students took part in a two-week or one-year exchange program. These cultural exchanges helped develop student fluency in foreign languages. Although an exchange was quite helpful, it wasn't necessary to increase student vocabulary. Students who participated in the foreign language clubs improved their translating abilities and their abilities to memorize. Students who participated in the exchanges learned to adjust to different surroundings and to use a foreign language with clarity and honor for those in the respective lands. AFS took part in a new English exchange. Hard Rock Cafe was one of the most popular attractions. AFS also welcomed 12 Japanese students this year. Students from several other countries were also greeted. These language clubs were enriching and were providing unforgettable experiences.

Government Officials

Throughout the 1986-1987 school year, Student Council sponsored activities for the students and the teachers, and they promoted school spirit.

They coordinated Homecoming, the Turkey Bowl, the Candy Cane Sale, the Jar Race, the Carnation Sale, and all of the dances.

They kept the sign at Pizza Hut up to date and organized the Senior Breakfast and the assemblies. Also, in their duties, they represented Latrobe at District Student Council Conferences and maintained relations with surrounding school districts.

Members' responsibilities included: the operation of the concession stand at home Football games, running the Student Store, sponsoring Sophomore Orientation, and working at Open House. In accordance to Latrobe tradition, the senior class contributed a painting for the school's collection with the help of Student Council.

Duties of Class Officers varied. The Senior Class Officers planned Senior Day, the Post-Prom Party (everything after midnight), and Commencement activities. They organized fund raisers and will organize class reunions.

Junior Class Officers planned before-midnight Prom and helped to decorate for the Prom. One big Junior duty was to pick a class flower, motto, and the colors for their flag. Juniors held fund raisers and helped with Commencement.

Sophomores also took part in Prom activities. Two officers announced the Grand March. Sophomore Class Officers discuss their interests and concerns with staff, faculty, and administration. Also they review their class ring choices.

The Curious Savage has been labeled a "fanciful comedy" by the critics. It is really the story of greed versus kindness. Mrs. Savage sums it up when she says, "There are a million things a person won't do for five dollars, but, there aren't five things a person won't do for a million dollars." Think about that for a minute — don't you agree with it? Some people however, are not interested in money; the inmates of "The Cloisters" are concerned with kindness and affection instead.

The play also deals with one person's influence on other people. Mrs. Savage certainly changes each of the characters she comes in contact with and they become better human beings as a result. These "social misfits" all have difficulties adjusting to the real world, but Mrs. Savage, through kindness and love, helps each of them.

Maybe kindness and affection can triumph in a world of greed and dishonesty.

They Rounded Up

These two clubs rounded up spirit throughout the school.

Pep Club was involved in school related sports and members attended most school sport activities. Mat Maids were the students who specialized in supporting the wrestlers.

Pep Club made posters and buttons for the Basketball, Tennis, Swim, and Football teams. The Mat Maids drew posters and buttons to support their team. Pep Club sold shakers for various teams, while Mat Maids held bake sales, equipment sales, and concession sales at the matches. Mat Maids also sold programs at the wrestling matches. In Pep

Club, members collected points from drawing posters and these points determined whether or not they would be able to be in the yearbook picture. This year members needed ten points. Mat Maids usually did likewise to determine who was to be photographed, but this year, due to a late start, no points were required to be pictured.

Points were still earned, however. The Mat Maid with the most points at the end of the year appeared in National Wrestling magazine. She would also earn the "Mat Maid of the Year" title. Wendy

Hebrank, Mat Maid

Secretary, commented,

"I'm really glad that there are so many people interested in helping with wrestling this year." Pep

Club advisor was Mrs. Bleehash — Cheerleading advisor — who else better to sponsor this high spirited group. Mr. Harbert was the advisor for Mat Maids. His wrestling spirit was demonstrated not only by this action, but also by his position as Wrestling Coach. If students who were in these clubs show as much spirit in their futures as they have shown in these clubs, they will have exciting futures !

Taking A Step

Each of these clubs explored various careers of different interests. The Choir explored music; perhaps these students could have careers in music. Medical Explorers were involved in the medical professions, exploring nursing careers or that of a physician. Morning announcers could become broadcasters or TV personalities with the training they received.

Forensics were not only a plus for public speaking, but also were beneficial in preparing for politics. These ambitious students have the future in their hands.

Promoting Safety

YTSC

The YTSC had a new advisor in 1986-1987 as a result of Mr. Taylor's retirement. Mr. Lew Hart became the new advisor. The officers were President Judi Kitchen, Vice-President Marti Piisilla, and Secretary Annette Andrighetti. There were twelve members altogether. Many new members joined this year. YTSC held meetings once a month alternately at different schools. Other schools participating in the YTSC were Hempfield, Kiski, and Yough. YTSC members were on the look out to ensure students' safety on the roads. They made students' futures safe.

CODE

CODE members were involved in a variety of activities during the 1986-1987 school year. CODE, standing for Council on Drug Education, held meetings at different schools on the third Tuesday of every month. The group discussed drug and alcohol problems and solutions. Their major activities for this year were the Teen Forum at Westmoreland Mall and a drug and alcohol presentation at Saint Vincent College.

HONORS

FNHS, SNHS, and NHS members needed to maintain specific grade point averages and were honored for such hard work. NHS recognized members for abilities in all classes. SNHS and FNHS awarded recognition for outstanding foreign language abilities. All honor societies held inductions and elected officers.

Eager Beavers & Go-fers

The Office, Library, and Athletic Office aides played an important part at GLHS. Attendance Office aides and Athletic Office aides helped the secretaries by answering phones and running errands. Office aides also helped with attendance records. Library aides stamped students' passes, checked out books, and put books back on the shelves. The aides helped the school run more efficiently.

In the fourth quarter of Latrobean Workshop in our junior year, we, the 1986-1987 editors, received our positions. We were ready to plan the best Latrobean ever! We had all the gusto and disagreements of a news staff. Eight of us spent a week at Gettysburg College in August of 1986, but instead of coming away with our final plans, as expected, we came away with visions of all that was new in yearbooks. In September, we changed our minds daily, and finally agreed on our basic plan. L112 and L114 became our "home away from home." Aside from sixth period, we and the typists spent study and many afterschool hours meeting deadlines that we naively, yet proudly, experienced. Getting locked in, eating cold McDonald's food and stale NHS pretzels, and sending a "go for" with twenty quarters to get pop from the machine in the gym will remain our fondest memories. We told jokes, sang our versions of songs, and danced around to break-up the monotony. We became not only a staff, but also a team of close friends! We hope that the students enjoy the 1986-1987 Latrobean as much as the staff enjoyed producing it. Cherish your Latrobean in the future!

The Future is Ours

With

Student Life

The Student Life section united students into one unique section. It was unique in that students submitted their own photos. Perhaps it was a certain person, place, or thing which made the photo important enough to submit. Most often it was photos of hilarious incidents from birthday parties or Friday- night-get-togethers. Holidays, vacations, and amusement parks were several places where memorable photos were taken. Sometimes it was a celebrity, such as the Pirate Parrot; a certain object, perhaps a jack-o-lantern; or a special group, such as a group of senior guys who wore make-up and dressed as cheerleaders. Student romances inspired some photos. Students submitted pictures of favorite couples. "Best Friends" were captured on film in the halls and at the malls. Each picture in the following section meant something to somebody. It was created to preserve GLHS Student Life — memories that students will cherish in their futures.

The Greater Latrobe High School yearbook was a self-supported publication that was entirely dependent upon student purchases, patron support, and advertising. While the Latrobean provided a service to students, it also provided means of publicity for those involved in the Latrobe community. Students bought soft drinks and fries at fast food places after school related activities. While school clothes were purchased from clothing stores, boutonnieres and corsages were ordered from flower shops. The Latrobean's success was made possible by those who worked long, hard, frustrating hours putting all the pieces together — the staff. Those who acted in support of the students and their activities were equally important — the advertisers. A special thank you went to every individual, small business, and corporation who helped support the Latrobean. Their money helped make this book more special and made the 1986-1987 memories live into the future.

THE FUTURE IS OURS! Our high school years play the major part of our futures. The talents and skills that we have refined through activities, sports, and our classes have shaped our futures and provided us with direction. GLHS offered students many natural and social science classes. Students who took the many natural science classes like biology, chemistry, anatomy, physics, and earth and space science may find their futures hold jobs as doctors, pharmacists, or environmental scientists. The future is theirs in the natural sciences. Those who took social sciences like law, government, history, world cultures, sociology, and psychology classes found their insights in these areas strengthened. These students may someday find themselves in politics or psychology. Perhaps they may teach these things. The future is theirs with the social sciences. These two groups of scientific students will improve our futures — THE FUTURE IS OURS WITH THE SCIENTIFICALLY PREPARED. Business classes encouraged those interested in the business world. Students who have 'majored' in these types of courses will probably enter the business world with a bang! Their typing skills, accounting backgrounds, and their knowledge of shorthand, data processing, and economics will aid them in their futures. THE FUTURE IS OURS WITH THE BUSINESS STUDENTS.

Making Homes and Hobbies

The students who have taken shop courses have also developed special job skills early. In addition, they can wire future homes or build furniture — helping their domestic futures. Classes such as sewing, foods, and child development prepared students for another part of their futures. With these domestic classes, students learned how to mend and make clothing, to prepare nutritious and delicious meals, and to understand parenting better. THE FUTURE IS OURS WITH THE DOMESTICALLY SKILLED. Students who participated in activities learned many values. Through clubs, students explored interests which helped them make career choices, meet new people, and acquire hobbies. With benefits reaped from activities, the future will be theirs. Student athletes have refined their abilities, to help them with college scholarships, to tune-up for the pro's, or because they loved the sport. Their sports kept them in shape, but also taught them values like sportsmanship, discipline, and leadership. The activities and games learned in gym classes will also help students when seeking recreation. These classes, sports, and activity interests will inspire some to own tennis clubs or to manage a sports team. Games learned and practiced in high school will be used in the future. THE FUTURE IS OURS WITH THE RECREATIONALLY ORIENTED.

Creating and Specializing

Those students whose artistic talents are known to many have certainly received much direction for their futures. Throughout high school, they took all of the possible art courses. These classes improved their art talents and brought scholarships and jobs to some. Students who took drafting and architectural drawing classes may design a significant skyscraper or bridge. Other artistic students may become cartoonists, painters, sculptors, or commercial artists. The futures of GLHS artists are bright and broad. Perhaps adding to the list of Latrobe's landmark people will be a famous writer, editor, or journalist. These students have refined one of the communication skills necessary in life. The future is theirs with English. Those in band and chorus have specialized and refined their talents. Among GLHS musicians may be a famous conductor, singer, or pianist. Whether famous or not, these students have learned a valuable skill to use as a profession or as a hobby. The future is theirs with music. Students who have taken foreign languages may find careers that land them in foreign countries. Their language backgrounds will help them when they travel to these countries and meet foreign individuals. Careers in international business or international politics seems reachable for these students. The future is theirs with foreign languages. THE FUTURE IS OURS WITH THE CULTURALLY ENLIGHTENED. Those in Vo-Tech have certainly taken the biggest step toward their futures while in high school. The training they received in Vo-Tech can be directly applied to the job market right after graduation. Carpenters, beauticians, welders, masons, auto mechanics, plumbers, food service workers, and electricians learned skills to start careers early or to cushion other specialized training. THE FUTURE IS OURS WITH THE VOCATIONALLY TRAINED.

Culturally Enlightened

We Finally Realized . . .

THE FUTURE IS OURS! We, talented individuals developed through high school, will determine our future. It is the job of the SCIENTIFICALLY PREPARED to improve technology; it is the job of the BUSINESS STUDENTS to maintain the free enterprise system; it is the job of the CULTURALLY ENLIGHTENED to make our generation's mark in the arts; it is the job of the VOCATIONALLY TRAINED to maintain technology; it is the job of the DOMESTICALLY SKILLED to provide "home sweet homes"; and it is the job of the RECREATIONALLY ORIENTED to provide places of enjoyment. We must remember our past and that we are the future because — THE FUTURE IS OURS!

Colophon

The 1986-87 Latrobean of Greater Latrobe Senior High School, Latrobe, Pennsylvania, was printed in off set lithography by Herff Jones Yearbooks, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

It was printed in a limited edition of 925 copies and 272 pages.

The paper stock used throughout is 80 pound high gloss enamel.

The cover is a school design that is custom embossed with orange and foil white applied to black vibratex and mounted on a 160 point binder's board.

The endsheets are school designed in black on tangerine cortex stock.

The book is Smyth sewn in 16 page signatures that are trimmed to 9" x 12" and enhanced by decorative head and foot bands.

In addition to the black ink used throughout, there are four flats containing process four-color.

Captions are done in 6, 8, 10, and 12 point Avant Garde Book, and body copy is done in 10 point Avant Garde Book with the Senior Index in 6 point. Bold, italic, and bold italic are the emphasis type faces. Subheadlines appear in 24 point Bingham Script and Avant Garde Demi. Headlines appear in 48 point Avant Garde Demi. On the dividers, 24 point Bingham Script and the design from the cover are used.
