Greater Latrobe Senior High School
131 High School Road
Latrobe, PA 15650
(724) 539-4225
Enrollment: 1,177

As we walked through the halls of Greater Latrobe Senior High School, some of us for the last time and others in anticipation of next year, we remembered moments in our lives that made us ask ourselves, "Why?" "Why did we sing 'Hey Baby' before the fourth quarter of every football and basketball game?" "Why did the guys always create a mosh pit during sandstorm at the Homecoming dance and the Prom?" "Why did we enjoy standing on our seats at the spring musical and screaming our friends' names when we recognized them on stage?" "Was it genetically in our system as the years flew by at Greater Latrobe that we carried on these strange, but endearing traditions?" There may never be a logical explanation for our actions and why we came to love these customs. At dear old Latrobe High, our teachers not only instructed us in math, science, business, English, art, music, and economics; but they also, trained us in social skills. We needed all these things to become lifelong learners and responsible, productive citizens. We were always encouraged to explore, challenge and experience life.

We were taught to: BELIEVE in ourselves because if we didn't, no one else would. LAUGH with each other, not at each other. GROW as a family and that is what happened; we became a family. LEAD not follow; we are the leaders of tomorrow. DREAM of our future, high school is just the beginning. LOVE and cherish the memories and friendships. LEARN to respect yourself and others; always treat people the way you would like to be treated. ACHIEVE your goals with persistence. PLAY to the best of your ability. LIVE for today; you never know what tomorrow will bring.

As you flip through the pages of this book of traditions and memories, ask yourself "Why"? It will be answered in a few simple words— IT'S WHAT WE DO.

The Joy of Being 18

Senior year brought many new changes to our lives. Many of these changes were beneficial to each and every Senior; we were able to be more adventurous and experience new things. The Seniors of 2010 were granted freedoms and thoroughly enjoyed their final year at good old Latrobe High. "Cinderella" licenses became "Senior" licenses, and our 11 p.m. curfews were no longer in existence. After Friday night football games, we continued our evening and enjoyed the pleasure of each other's company with a night out at Dino's. We were also able to attend basketball games at rival schools and not worry about getting home by 11 p.m. Midnight and cosmic bowling were favorites for many with senior licenses; they didn't have to be picked up by their parents. Finally to celebrate our eighteenth birthdays, we tested our luck with lottery tickets, with hopes of hitting the Jackpot! Enjoying and loving every minute of being 18—It's What We Do.

Post High School

The seniors worked extremely hard during their years at Greater Latrobe to achieve their goals and further their education. Many hours were spent filling out applications and waiting for acceptance letters. Though each senior continued on their own unique path, most students chose to attend a university/college, study at a trade school, or go into the working world.

Most students desired to attend a four-year college; the sizes of these institutions varied depending on the preference of each student. The larger universities were popular destinations for GLSH graduates. For students that desired a four-year study without the huge campus feel, many chose a smaller college.

A large amount of students spent their senior year studying at the Eastern Westmoreland Career and Technology Center. To continue their education, some students chose to attend a trade school in the fall following their senior year. Some graduates decided to go into the workforce or even the armed forces.

The possibilities of the 2010 seniors were endless. No matter which path was chosen, with hard work, perseverance and the lessons learned at Greater Latrobe, these graduates were destined for greatness.

Senior Edition

The day in the life of a senior at Greater Latrobe wasn't necessarily a typical school day. After all the years of attending elementary, junior high, and high school resulted in being at the top of the education system at Greater Latrobe. The final year of high school gave seniors a whole new level of respect by underclassmen as well as fellow peers. It was a year that was filled with many perks — the biggest one being graduation. As most of us turned eighteen this year, we legally became adults. Saying goodbye to the "Cinderella License" allowed for the 11 PM driving curfew to disappear and gave us the opportunity to stay out later with friends. This was not the only driving perk seniors received; we now had our own parking lot where we could find time to play hacky sack or socialize after the final bell rang at the end of the day.

Also, being a senior afforded many, who had completed most of their requirements for graduation, the opportunity to take several classes of enjoyment and ones in which we felt confident of getting an "A." Not feeling pressured, seniors also enjoyed having their own unofficial "holiday"—Senior Skip Day. Although the day was frowned upon for deliberately not going to school, it served as a right of passage for seniors to carry on a tradition. Even though we felt privileged on many accounts, we also had the dubious task of completing applications for colleges and requesting reference letters from our teachers. Senioritis set in and it took some longer than usual to complete their college application and then the panic set in. However, once that acceptance letter arrived in the mail or that offer came through, excitement filled the air. Knowing where we were going to be next year allowed many seniors to once again breathe and let senioritis to take its course. With the time ticking away before graduation day, many seniors tried to spend as much time hanging out with friends enjoying the youth they had left before entering college. Yes, only a few more months at Latrobe turned into only a few more days. The countdown being written on agendas going from triple, to double, to single digits and finally to graduation day. It was time for us to go out in the world and make our mark! We will hold onto the good times, photographs, and memories that made us the Class of 2010.

Homecoming Court

Homecoming always stirred excitement at Greater Latrobe Senior High, and the selection of Homecoming Court was one of the highlights of the weekend. The court began with nominations from each class. Five Seniors, four Juniors, and two Sophomores were selected by their respective classes. All of the students then voted for Queen during homeroom the week of Homecoming. After weeks of waiting, Friday night finally arrived. The girls began their evening by riding in the parade and battled the rain until halftime of the game. Each member of the court was accompanied by their parent onto the track. Sophomore Marissa Larkin said, "It was a lot of fun. I enjoyed getting dressed up and making friends with the other girls on the court. Also, I liked being escorted out on to the track even though the weather wasn't great." After the court was on the track, they anxiously waited for the Homecoming Queen to be announced. The Senior girls were all secretly hoping they would be the one to be named Queen. Ali Morelli noted, "I was so honored that I got to be on Homecoming Court again. I had such a fun time on it last year, and I was excited to help represent my senior class this year." When she was crowned Homecoming Queen, Marie Regula's reaction was one of surprise and enthusiasm. "I was so excited, and I was definitely surprised. All the girls on the Court were great, so I thought for sure it was close!" After the crowning, the girls were all smiles as they congratulated Marie and posed for a few pictures with the Queen. All in all, this year's Homecoming Court was full of wonderful girls selected by their fellow classmates.

"Don't Wanna Miss A Thing"

Homecoming Dance

Unlike the falling temperatures outside, the Commons Area inside Greater Latrobe Senior High School was heating up for the big affair. It was the night of the much anticipated Homecoming Dance sponsored by the Student Council. Members from the Student Council spent their day off from school decorating for the event that the rest of the student body would get to enjoy. Senior Meghan Kozusko stated, "Setting up went smoothly this year. We enjoyed setting up Friday; it gave us time to get ready for the dance on Saturday, and it relieved the stress." For the first time, this year's Homecoming dance was held in the Commons Area with tables filling up the hallways. Students were treated to a fall theme of decorations consisting of bright orange lights surrounding the dance floor and pumpkins and gourds lining the tables, as well as hay bales and corn stalks to add to the affair. The atmosphere perfectly matched the Autumn's changing leaves outside the Common's doors. The evening began with many couples meeting at each other's homes for pictures, which was followed by going to restaurants throughout the area. "It was fun taking pictures at Twin Lakes with our big group and hanging out with everyone," said Senior Cody Ray. Everyone then arrived at the school by 7:30 p.m. where the fun began. As the night went on, the 650 bodies who attended the dance swayed under the twinkling orange lights to this year's theme, "Don't Wanna Miss a Thing" by Aerosmith. From taking pictures to dancing with friends, hanging out in the courtyard, or munching on cookies and candy, no one wanted to close their eyes in fear of missing anything. Sophomore David Moffa shared his experience, "I had a lot of fun at the dance; I was glad that it was held in the Commons Area." After the dance, many couples continued to celebrate the weekend by gathering at friends' homes or meeting at Eat N' Park for a late night snack. The overall reaction to the dance was nothing but good remarks. "This year's Homecoming was spectacular! I had a really great time!" said Junior Brianna Ridilla. With all the fun and memories created at this year's dance, students won't wanna miss a thing next year.

-Erika Naeger

What Did You Do Today?

Junior Edition

Having junior status put students right in the middle of the high school sandwich, not yet seniors but a step up from sophomores. The average day of the eleventh grader was challenging. Courses were naturally more demanding in responsibilities, and the students had to be more independent in their academic studies. The choice of dual enrollment was normally taken by the senior class since college was just around the corner; however, the option was also available to all juniors. "I only have classes at WCCC Tuesday and Thursday, but every day I get out of school at 11:30. The class I take now is challenging but rewarding," stated Junior Kelsey Tobias. The Vocational Technical Education Center for junior year changed from sophomore year. Instead of taking the trip across Route 30 in the morning for three periods, juniors and seniors attended in the afternoon for the last four periods of the day. "It gives me the opportunity to experience real-life situations for my future career," expressed Junior Bobby Baker. The junior and senior students that go to Vo-Tech have less time in their schedules for electives but chose to take courses that developed skills in their preferred areas of specialty. In addition to focusing on their grades, juniors also had the added pressure of college looming on the horizon. Part of the college preparations consisted of the dreaded SATs. Students were advised to take the test in eleventh grade in order for them to have the option of a retake senior year, if a higher score was desired. Despite the downfalls of being a junior, the title also came with many perks. Prom was yet another change for junior students. Without an upper classmate escort, the junior class could freely attend the dance with any date desired. All of these progressions gave juniors more respect from the underclassmen.

-Michelle Emanuele

Juniors Kyle Tomko and Dan Downing take advantage of the time given to them to work on their accounting project. Work periods were often given by teachers in order to complete difficult assignments.

Juniors find time to go to their lockers in between their busy schedules.

Attending "You've Got a Friend Day" for Life Span, Junior Liz Kromel bonds with her buddy.

Every day, juniors were permitted to drive to school instead of taking the bus.

Gym class is a time for fun and games. In this Sport II class, Junior Gavin Finley looked on as Gus Hough tried to play badmitten on the floor.

During a free period, Juniors Erica Naeger and Meredith Saunders work hard on their homework.

Today's Schedule

6:30 a.m. - Wake up and decide on going to school or not.

7:30 a.m. - Try to beat the bell for homeroom and not get another unexcused tardy.

9:14 a.m. - Naptime in World Cultures.

11:30 a.m. - Run out of English to get a good spot in the lunch line to get pizza for once.

1:00 p.m. - Turn in Phsyics lab to Mrs. Keyser at the last minute.

2:30 p.m. - Rush out to the car to beat the teacher guarding the parking lot and leave before the buses.

3:40 p.m. - Ignore all homework and take a nap.

4:45 p.m. - Go to work, come home at ten, and pass out.

Survival Kit

Just to Get By

Here at Greater Latrobe Senior High School, everyone had their own little survival pack with them at all times. In order to survive a school day, students and teachers alike, needed some of their favorite possessions. Beside the regulars: agendas, pencils, calculators, pens, notebooks, binders, and books, a lot of other items were just as important or more important to have. Senior Josh Harris said, "I don't have any classes with my girlfriend Liz. So, I'm constantly on my phone seeing how her day is." Cell phones, although not allowed in school, were a huge must have everyday this school year. Texting in the hallways and behind teachers' backs was done by almost every student this year. Sophomore Lexie Pelchen said, "I couldn't survive a school day without Germ-X. I don't want to get the swine flu!" Everywhere you looked, it seemed that students and teachers carried a supply of hand sanitizer with them in order to protect themselves from this year's flu. iPods were another must have everyday item. Everyone's favorite songs and bands made the day go by a little quicker. A question you might have commonly heard was "Hey can I have a piece of gum?" When students didn't have their own supply of gum, they often turned to their friends to beg them for a piece. After lunch was a time when gum was a major must have. One of the greatest survival items of the school year was not just a possession, but people. Most of the students never could have survived the school day without the company of their friends. Walking in the hallways, free time in the classroom, or time spent during lunch would not have been the same without the company of our friends. Other items included: lotion, watches, and laptops. These items kept the students at Greater Latrobe High School sane and made life easier. And hey, with the help of these items, we all managed to survive the 2009-2010 school year.

-Kaitlin Glover

This group of junior students say the most important part of any survival kit is friends. These students even took the time to pose together outside of class.

Senior Steve Landosky waves to the camera. Dressed as Waldo riding an ostrich, he had one of the most unique costumes for Halloween.

Senior Sarah Brant, Student Council member, decorates the giant tree in the lobby. The tree was adorned with ornaments from different clubs throughout the school.

Holidays

Celebration Time

Each holiday had its own unique traditions in the high school. For Halloween, students were always excited to see what creative characters would be roaming the halls of Greater Latrobe. This year, everyone went all out and dressed up in extremely creative costumes. Steve Landosky even dressed as Waldo riding an ostrich, which really caught students' attention in the hallways. A contest was held in the morning for best costume, and the winners were announced at the end of the day.

Christmas was by far the most prominent holiday. One tradition carried on was the giant Christmas tree displayed in the Commons that was decorated by Student Council. Each club contributed an original hand-made ornament to be hung on the tree. Junior Kaitlin Glover said, "When I see the giant Christmas tree, it makes me feel like I'm at Hogwarts. It really puts me in the holiday spirit." Other clubs such as SADD had their own way of spreading the holiday spirit. They helped those in need by having a small tree filled with less fortunate teenagers' Christmas wishes on it. Students were encouraged to help, and many gladly took the opportunity. Band and Chorus students demonstrated their talents by performing their annual holiday concert for the school and community. In addition, Jessica Saenz sang a rendition of "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas," which was a big hit.

For Valentine's Day, despite the snowstorm and all the snow days, the publications' staff still held a sale for students to send flowers to friends, family or their special someone. The flowers were delivered to students in homeroom so they could carry them all day. Cards and candy were also popular to exchange between friends. Also, Saint Patrick's Day influenced the students to wear shamrocks and green to show their Irish spirit. This year, the holiday celebrations were in full supply at Greater Latrobe. All of the students were eager to join in the fun both at home and at school with the Halloween spirit, Christmas cheer, Valentine's Day passion, and Saint Patrick's Day enthusiasm.

-Sarah Adams and Michelle Emanuele

Study Halls

Time to Unwind

Study Hall was a significant part of every student's schedule. Its forty-three minutes could be used as time to accomplish work or just as a break to unwind and recharge for the next class. Whether it was talking to friends or doing homework, study hall always felt like the quickest part of the day. Regina Woloshun felt as though her time in study halls flew right by, "I tried to do my homework but I ended up finding something to laugh about instead for the whole period." If you had a morning study hall, you had the benefit of getting to eat a well-balanced breakfast in the cafeteria. You could choose from a variety of different foods such as bagels, fruits, sandwiches, coffee, and juices. Afternoon study halls were beneficial as well; you had the opportunity to get a head start on homework that was assigned for that night. While most students spent their study halls doing homework, others worked as office assistants, teacher helpers or worked the student store. Sophomore David Moffa said, "Working the student store could be slow at times, but it was fun to hang out with the other people in the store." No matter what you did during study hall, you were sure to find a friend and some genuine laughter that helped kids get through their days as typical high school students.

—Meredith Saunders

Seniors Maria Rossi and Sam Fox work on calculus homework. Study halls were often used to compare answers with friends.

Junior Kyle Tomko takes advantage of his free time to catch some Zzzzs. You could often find students taking naps during study halls.

Senior Julia DeFabo colors a map for world cultures while waiting for customers in the Student Store. Student Council members worked in the store during their extra periods.

Junior Adrian Rossi enjoys a delicious breakfast. Students that had study hall in the morning usually traveled down to the cafeteria to get a morning snack.

Junior Andrew McCarty listens to his iPod while typing a paper. Students often listened to music in order to avoid other distractions.

Seniors Max Henry and Mudar Memari play a game on their laptops. Homework was not the only thing that was done with free time.

Seniors Megan Nicely, Brooke Bentley, and Molly Gertsnecker study together in their college writing class at the WCCC Laurel Center in Latrobe. Taking college classes while in high school prepared the girls for college.

St. Vincent College and Westmoreland County Community College were the two post-secondary education institutions that offered high school students the opportunity to take classes.

Alternative

Education

Senior Suzanne Cengia spent her mornings working at her father's chiropractor office. Participating in a work study program was an option that many seniors enjoyed.

Seniors Colin McChesney and Cody Somers would leave school to attend their work study at Arnold Palmer Motors. Washing cars was one of the jobs the seniors did at the auto dealership.

Many high school students decided to embark on their futures early by participating in dual enrollment or work study. Dual enrollment allowed students to take college classes and obtain college credits while still in high school. Students had the option of attending St. Vincent College or Westmoreland County Community College. Students were dismissed from school midway through the day to attend their college classes after they had finished their high school day. Other students decided to take their college classes in the morning and came to school later in the day. Unlike everyday high school classes, most college classes met only a few times a week. "My college classes are only once a week and last for three hours. There is a lot less homework, but the tests are harder" said senior Dan Donahue who attended WCCC.

Work study was another way some students used their time during the school day to prepare them for the future. Some students decided to participate in the work study program as an alternative to a normal high school day. In this program, students were excused from part of their day at the senior high school in order to fulfill a shift at a selected job. Suzanne Cengia said, "I really like work study; it makes my school days go faster and it's nice to make money. I highly recommend it." The work study program allowed students to use their time wisely and work to earn money, rather than take classes they did not need at the high school.

Career & Technology Center

Seniors

A traditional school setting was not for all students who wanted to have a successful career after leaving Latrobe Senior High School. When students were freshmen, they were given the option of attending vo-tech and were assigned a program according to their field of interest. The Eastern Westmoreland Career and Technology Center (EWCTC) was also offered for sophomores, juniors, and seniors to attend if they wanted to experiment in their later years of schooling. During these years, students found a program at the Center that fit their interests. The EWCTC provided students a different course of study by having them participate in various hands-on activities. With a wide range of choices, such as; auto automotive technology, building trades, cabinetmaking, collision repair technology, cosmetology, culinary arts, digital media, graphic communications, health occupation technology, information technology, machine tool technology, mechatronics, plumbing, trowel trades, and welding, students had the chance to perfect these skills to better prepare themselves for life after school. Along with all these choices, students also had the opportunity to be a member of the National Technical Honor Society or more commonly known as NTHS. For students to have achieved membership in this prestigious society, they had to have a GPA of a 3.0 or higher during their time at Vo-tech.

Seniors were required to create a portfolio of their best work in order to graduate. For their portfolio, they wrote summaries about their best work, took photographs of their projects, and obtained a certificate of completion for all projects. EWCTC was a wise decision made by the students who attended. The career center is a place where valuable tools were gained to pursue a lifelong occupation and a place that met the needs of all students.

Outstanding

Physical Education

Laurel Fry

"Laurel has been a model student for our PE department. She has taken every class in our curriculum. During her time in class, she was always willing to lend a helping hand and take on the role as a student aide and assisted classmates on exercises and techniques. The PE classes that Laurel was in ran smoother because she was there."

-Mrs. Williams

English

Nick Klohontaz

"Nick never missed an opportunity to challenge himself academically; he was an excellent writer and interpreter of literature. His commitment to turning in his best work kept him refining drafts and his desire to get to the heart of his reading kept him asking insightful questions and offering thought-provoking responses. Nick's abilities in English/Language Arts were a testament to his continued pursuit of learning and high academic achievement."

-Mrs. Snyder

Music

Sean Gravelle

"Sean was a member of the Chamber Choir and was in the musicals. He participated in the PMEA District, Regional, and All State Chorus Festivals. He's the only singer from our school at All-State Chorus. Not only was Sean a good musician, he's a truly genuine and committed young man. He was always more than willing to help. He came to class with an open mind and a willingness to learn new things."

-Mr. B. Murray

Art

Lauren Urana

"Lauren was always helpful, polite, and industrious. In class she was on task but was willing to help me or any student in need. As National Art Honor Society Vice President, she was proactive, productive, and a go-getter. Lauren was an overall terrific young woman!"

-Mrs. Balko

Technology Education

Dakotah Quintiliani

"Dakotah took classes in our department for all three years. His desire to succeed and excel has always impressed me. He was not one to take the easy road, as he always challenged himself to be the best that he could be."

-Mr. Repko

Business

Dan Donahue

"Dan was a very hard worker. He was dedicated to his school work and took initiative in group projects. Dan was also a genuine young man; he respected others and worked well with his peers. He was truly a joy to have in class."

-Mrs. Butler

Seniors

Social Studies

Marie Regula

"Marie's selection as the Social Studies Department student of the year was made for several reasons. Marie's participation and attendance was impeccable. This combined with straight A's and a genuine appreciation for the humanities made her selection as our outstanding senior a likely choice. Great job Marie."

-Mr. Wetzel

Band

Lucas Sweeney

"Lucas is very talented. His understanding of music theory surpassed many of his peers. Being able to play many instruments as well as sing has prepared him well for a future in music education."

-Mr. Hamill

Family & Consumer Science

Annie Cavalier

"Annie showed great interest in the Family and Consumer Sciences courses she took. She was extremely creative, whether it was designing clothes or lessons for Kitty Kat Preschool. Her willingness to help others and friendly personality were among the many reasons she was selected for our outstanding student."

-Mrs. Guadino

Mathematics

Sam Fox & Nick Klonhonz

"Nick and Sam have excelled in all of their math classes, including three AP courses. Not only were they very gifted students, but their attitude, enthusiasm, and effort were outstanding. Moreover, they worked well with and were always willing to help other students. It has been our pleasure to teach Nick and Sam."

-Mrs. Pompelia

Science

Hunter McGrogan

"During Hunter's three years at the high school, he took six science courses with three of them being AP. Hunter's analytical mind allowed him to excel. While not only earning high marks for himself, Hunter assisted his peers in learning the material. His maturity, responsibility, and motivation will continue to allow Hunter to succeed in what he puts his mind and efforts toward."

-Mr. Brandt

World Languages

Jessica Sillaman

"Jessica studied French since Jr. High and was enrolled in AP French where her strong work ethic allowed her to excel. Jessica increased her language skills by also studying German at the high school and is considering pursuing a career in languages after graduation."

-Mrs. Powell

SAT/ACT

Saturday Morning Setback

ACT Cram Plan was an important purchase for students taking the test. The book consisted of study methods and practice problems for the students.

Courtney Durick concentrates while practicing for the SATs. Because the test was so long, staying focused was vital.

All high school students were encouraged to take the SAT or ACT for college. In order to take the test, students had to register online. This past year, Mr. Pat Murray taught an SAT/ACT prep course offered by our school for the first time. According to Mr. Murray, "The pre-college reading course is a great course for students that want to improve their reading and test-taking skills. If you desire to perform better on the PSSA or SAT, then this course is for you."

Many students, though, didn't take Mr. Murray's course this year and instead chose to study on their own, including Seniors Nathan Frye and Kim Ciotti. They were among many who tried to prepare themselves, in part, by signing up to receive SAT questions via e-mail daily from the College Board website. On the other hand, Juniors Jenn Dado, Katelyn Bell, and Nick Kovacevic decided not to prepare, thinking that they would just see what the test was like.

Although the SATs were a necessity for college entry, nothing about them was considered easy. Many students said that the test was very lengthy, tiring and seemed to have unnecessary content. In addition to the length, many students agreed that the hardest part was the critical reading. In agreement with her fellow classmates, Jenn Dado shared, "Keeping focused with 35 questions and only 25 minutes, I really needed to stop looking out the window."

-Brooke Leechalk and Danielle Shojaie

Students prepare themselves by reading the practice test book. The school library provided numerous study books for both the SAT and the ACT.

Reitz's Raiders

This past football season was unlike any other. A lot of the excitement had something to do with Latrobe's new Head Coach, Ray Reitz. He had a lot of experience before coming to Latrobe, and he helped the players gain a new perspective of the game. Senior Andy Klein said, "My senior year with Coach Reitz was awesome. I learned a lot from him." With a new outlook on the game, the team also had a the Wildcat Den behind them.

The relocated student section played a major role encouraging the players in the football program by providing unconditional support for the team. Senior Nate Campbell helped organize and motivate the student body to stand behind the team by forming "Reitz's Raiders." "Before the season, the top-spirited students took a vote and the name "Reitz's Raiders" was chosen," and I encouraged everyone to make t-shirts. I put up a Facebook page where people could join the group and get any information they needed. The football games are special memories and it helped bring our student body even closer," said Campbell. During away games, the "Raiders" stayed loyal. They stood in the brutal cold and rain, often traveling as far as Gateway, to support the Wildcats. After seeing this year's Den transformation, the football program hopes to experience the same "Wildcat Pride" for many years to come.

Cheerleading

"You're Gonzo"

The squad takes time to pose for a group picture. Before home games, the girls always hung up signs and practiced stunts.

Whether it was football, basketball, or wrestling, fans could always count on the cheerleaders to be in attendance. The season for the cheerleading squad started in early April with a four-day tryout. Following the anxious elimination, the team, led by captain Karlie Hudock and co-captain Megan Puleo, began practicing as school concluded in order to prepare for summer camp. This past summer, the squad attended an elite stunt camp hosted by the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown. There, they were instructed by the Universal Cheer Association staff and won the title "Camp Champs" with their self-choreographed routine. For the remainder of their ten month season, the girls attended practice once or twice a week. The squad enjoyed cheering at home and away games, rain or shine. They worked together as a team both under the spotlight and behind the scenes, whether it was fundraising for competitions or running a new routine a million times. New Assistant Coach Dana Barger had the following to say about the fundraising efforts, "The girls worked really hard to fundraise. They not only sold pies, Sheetz coupons, and cookie dough, but also washed cars and ran a mini-camp for elementary school cheerleaders." In addition to traditional cheerleading, the girls attended several competitions where they demonstrated their talents in stunting, tumbling, dancing, and crowd appeal. "I was so glad we chose to compete this year. Our routine was clean and something we could all be proud of," said Senior Marissa Singley. Continuing to cheer for the boys through basketball playoffs, the cheerleading season came to a close. "All in all, my girls truly persevered this year. They formed great friendships that I hope will last beyond their high school years," remarked Head Coach Amy Mallory with a reminiscing smile.

-Danielle Scalise and Kelsey Dominick

While learning a new stunt, the spotters bravely hoist up their fellow cheerleaders. This was one of the many new stunts learned at cheer camp.

Taking a break from the action, a group of girls pause for a picture. Close bonds were formed throughout the season.

Katelyn Bell: "The Cleveland Cavaliers because they're pretty good and LeBron James plays for them."

Valerie Dunlap: "Pitt because I have grown up watching them."

Zack Piper: "The Broncos because Champ Bailey is my idol."

Jason Stewart: "Steelers, I have been a fan my whole life. They're a part of me."

Who's Your Favorite Sports Team?

Gavin Finley: "West Virginia football because I like them."

Laura Spiegel: "Penguins because hockey players are drop-dead gorgeous, and I love the sport. I am marrying Jordan Staal."

Greg Maxwell: "F.C. Barcelona because they're awesome, and they always dominate."

Kasey Feiertag: "Penn State Volleyball because they're the two-time national champions!"

Kyle Tomko: "Suits and Shades because I like to dress up."

Hannah Poponick: "Superhero night because I got to wear my Batman shirt!"

Nick Lazur: "Camo night because you can't see anyone; they all blend in with their surroundings."

Allie Campbell: "Pink Out because pink is my favorite color, and who doesn't like to wear pink?!"

What's Your Favorite Den Theme?

Tera Pettina: "Christmas theme because I got to wear an ugly sweater as a dress and nobody cared."

Doug Smeltzer: "Orange Out because orange is a pretty cool color."

Natalie Snizaski: "Suits and Shades because I liked to look like a stunna."

Becky Onusko: "Beach theme because it makes me think of summer!"

Homecoming Game

Our Cats Aren't Afraid of Water

The 2009 Homecoming game sign starts to streak as the rain gets harder. The cheerleaders spent a lot of time making signs for the game.

Friday night Homecoming festivities began with the traditional Homecoming Parade. In addition to the Homecoming Court, many clubs and sports teams such as Interact, the Cheerleaders, Reitz's Raiders, Yearbook, Key Club, and the volleyball team decorated floats and cars for the parade. Even though rain dampened the evening, people still lined the streets to show their support for Greater Latrobe. The school chose to include the parade at the last minute; however, all of the floats were a success. After the parade, fans entered the stadium in anticipation of a victory over Erie McDowell.

Following the singing of the National Anthem and the Alma Mater, the opening activities began on a somber note with a memorial ceremony for Joey Dado, who was Latrobe's leading kicker the previous year. As they fondly remembered Joey's football career, Mr. and Mrs. Dado were presented with Joey's old jersey, #41. At the closing of the ceremony, the Wildcat Den released balloons into the rainy sky.

Due to the weather conditions, the attendance at the game was less than usual despite all of the activities throughout the night. The Cats knew going into the game that it would be a challenge, and they prepared for their opponent all week long. Although they played their hearts out against the Trojans, the Wildcats suffered a loss with a score of 35 - 0. Erie McDowell outscored Latrobe in the first quarter by 28 points. However, the Wildcats refused to give up regardless of the score. After halftime, each team held their own line, not allowing either to score. The Homecoming game marked the end of a losing streak and the Wildcats came back to fight for a spot in the playoffs.

Wearing their Pride shirts, Wetzel's Warriors cheer on their fellow classmates. The Pride shirts were a great way to show school spirit as well as support for Coach Wetzel and the team.

Seniors Brad Burkley, Julia DeFabo, Kaley Burkardt, and Max Henry cheer on the Wildcats at Derry. The Den's theme was flannel as the team played their backyard rival.

Wetzel's Warriors

Every Tuesday and Friday night the "Wetzel's Warriors" came out to cheer on the boys' basketball team. The student body poured into the gym ready to cheer at 7:30. Dressed crazy from head to toe, seniors, juniors, and sophomores went to support Coach Wetzel and the team. "Our Den is by far unparalleled to any other student section around. The support they give to us is unbeatable," expressed Coach Wetzel.

Each night's theme brought an amazing amount of school spirit. The themes consisted of camo, luau, Christmas, suits and shades, flannel, and Pride shirts. The Pride shirts were a fundraiser and also a graduation project. Kaitlin Paul organized the Pride t-shirts, with the help of Nick Rutigliano and gave the profits to the Jimmy V. Foundation for cancer research. When asked about his thoughts of his face on the Pride shirts, Coach Wetzel had one word to say, "Embarrassing." The Den had several senior leaders including Nick Rutigliano, Kaitlin Paul, Max Henry, T.J. Dovie, Mallory Mulheren, and Brad Burkley. "You have to be a senior to have front row honors. Your outfit must be more outlandish than the rest," Dovie commented.

The Den also traveled in a pack to away games. By wearing all orange, black, or white, the Latrobe kids made a scene. The largest den of the year occurred at Derry. Stretching from the bottom of the bleachers to the top, Latrobe kids were dressed in flannel as the Cats played their backyard rival. Senior forward Zach Landers loved to play in front of the Den, especially at away games. "The Den really pumped my team and me up. They made a big impact at away games," he said. Sometimes, the Wetzel's Warriors even outnumbered the home team's student section!

The Den showed their support in many ways. As the opposing team was being announced, the members of the Den would face the wall. Then, as Mr. Mellors would announce the starting five Wildcats, everyone turned around to yell and cheer. During the game, various chants and cheers would be yelled. Alex Palmer said that her favorite cheer was "Start the Busses." As a Latrobe tradition, "Hey Baby" was sung between the 3rd and 4th quarters. The Cats won numerous home games, and in celebration the Den stormed the court while the Latrobe Alma Mater was played. Once again, the Latrobe Den definitely was the most impressive student section around.

-Carly Meholic

Juniors Rachel Gribbin, Kim Kuhn, Katie Svetahor and Carly Meholic pose for a picture at halftime. These girls could always be found at every game cheering on the boys.

Dressed in all pink, Seniors Cody Brennan, Meghin Kerila, and Ricky Phillabaum support the Wildcats at Hempfield. These good friends always dressed to impress for every game's theme.

Cheering on the team, the Den never took a seat. Students were always involved in the spirit of each game.

Seniors Eric Shaffer, Josh Koutsky, and Ryan Matsko wear their shades as they support the Cats. "Suits and Shades" was one of the many Den themes that attracted student participation.

Battle of the Halls

Let's Go... Latrobe

Juniors Sarah Adams and Meredith Saunders hang up a poster of an orange and black Wildcat drawn by Kaitlin Glover. Kaitlin, also a junior, drew this Wildcat to show off her school spirit.

On the morning of the last home football game, students entered school and noticed a slight transformation. This day, the hallways were flourished with decorations of all kinds. The school was filled with all sorts of balloons, streamers, lights, and handmade posters. Battle of the Halls was a fun way to show school spirit and work together with your classmates. The night before, students from each grade, took time to decorate their respective locker areas in the hopes to be crowned the most school spirited class. Everywhere you looked, you saw orange, black, and even pink. The sophomores of H-hallway used streamers and posters to show their spirit. In desperation, they posted a sign stating, "There's always next year," knowing that they were in for a rough competition. Sophomore Jordan Giannini said, "I think Battle of the Halls is a good idea because it's a way to get competitive with the other grades and it's a lot of fun." The seniors of the C-hallway took into consideration the pink-out that was scheduled for the football game theme that evening and supported breast cancer awareness month by decorating with pink streamers and balloons. The seniors even made a giant pink ribbon on their windows to show their support for both causes. They also used bright orange lights in an attempt to outshine the other classes. "Battle of the Halls is a great way for students to compete between their classes," stated Senior Josh Koutsky. The juniors of S-hallway were very creative and used signs that dawned phrases such as "On a scale of 1-10 we're 11" and "Wildcats from Heaven, we're the class of 2011." They also used orange and black streamers along with balloons and pennants. Junior Kelsey Tobias said, "The junior hallway looked awesome with all the streamers, balloons, and posters everywhere. I was really glad when we found out the juniors won." Although all the hallways looked great and all the classes were winners in Latrobe's hearts, only one grade could be called the champions. In the end, the juniors were crowned the most school spirited.

-Kelsey Dominick

Juniors Megan Visconti and Katie Svetahor hang up colorful balloons to brighten up the hallway. The two friends had a blast decorating their hallway.

Juniors Michelle Emanuele, Katie Svetahor, and Katelyn Hill work together to hang up the sign "Battle of the Halls" in the S-hallway. They had a good time putting up all the decorations.

Courtney Zitt struggles to hang up the black streamers but manages to make it look great. She was always eager to make the hallway look its best.

Junior Kaitlin Glover focuses on placing the "Reitz's Raiders" amongst the junior lockers. Neatness improved the junior's chances of winning.

Senior friends Jocie Eaglehouse and Ariel Hellein get together for a picture after decorating the senior hallway. While preparing, the girls always had smiles on their faces.

Sophomores Alexis Yazge, Jessie Miller, and Gabby Wast pose for a picture with the "Battle of the Halls" sign in the H-hallway. Although it was their first year of competing, the sophomores did a great job of showing their school spirit.

The Juniors take a second to come together for a picture with one of their big orange signs. These girls worked really hard on the decorations and were victorious.

Junior Kelly Musiak concentrates on putting up a black streamer. Her hard work and dedication helped the juniors take the title of "Most School Spirited."

Before the final game, the Senior Wildcat Captains give and receive the traditional handshake. The Captains were not only role models, but also showed sportsmanship by meeting the opposing teams' Captains before each game.

"For me, listening to some music on my iPod kept the stress off my mind. I also went on the field and thought about how hard I was going to play."

-ZACH KENLY "85"

"I would blast my music as loud as it went to drown out everything that could be a distraction. The louder the music, the easier it was for me to concentrate. I would just sit there and think about what it was I needed to do to help my team be successful."

"Believe to Achieve"

The new motto of the 2009 football team was "Believe to Achieve." The team's attitude changed and was described by many as a team that was "believing and achieving." The football season started before the 2009-2010 school year in August. In fact, optional conditioning practices were offered three days a week during April and May of 2009. An early start resulted in positive outcomes on the football field.

A New Head Coach, Ray Reitz, brought with him a wealth of experience and a new coaching staff. Throughout the season, Coach Reitz changed many of the long standing football traditions. Thursday walk-through practices became pre-game practices under the lights at Memorial Stadium, and this greatly motivated the team. Also, the Wildcats moved to the opposite side of the field for home games, a move Reitz claimed would "boost morale." The 2009 Football squad made many accomplishments throughout the season and worked together.

Each week the players improved and distinguished themselves as a team. "Working hard during the off-season and believing in what you are being told will all pay off in the end," was the philosophy Reitz and his coaching staff bestowed upon all the players.

BOYS CROSS COUNTRY

"Thundercats"

Before every meet, all eyes were on the Latrobe Boys' Cross Country team as they chanted their habitual cheer of Thundercats. This year the boys' team displayed a strong sense of team unity as they fought for their 5-2 record in the section. Even after the loss of five varsity runners, the underclassmen were able to step up and the boys were able to take third in the county meet. Their combination of hard work and unity helped them succeed throughout the season. Team bonding through bus rides and mocha ball made them that much closer. "Mocha ball was a new tradition we started this year," said Junior Nathan Takitch. "Once we started playing, it just stuck with us for the rest of the season."

The team was led throughout the season by Senior Charlie DeFrancesco. Charlie set three course records this season at Norwin's course, WCCA County meet, and on our home dirt. He capped off his final year of high school cross country by being selected as KDKA's Subway Extra Effort Award winner for the week of November 16, 2009. The team was disheartened to see the season come to an end. Senior Hunter McGrogan said, "I will miss seeing all of my teammates and being able to compete at all of the invationals."

—Erika Naeger

Putting his best foot forward, Senior Hunter McGrogan sprints past his competition.

Senior Ryan VanFleet pulls ahead of the pack. Ryan always helped his team on the scoreboard.

Senior Captains Charlie DeFrancesco and Ryan Van Fleet are all smiles as they show off their medals.

"Charlie DeFrancesco was one of the captains this year who proved to be a great example for his fellow teammates. Charlie broke the course record at Hollow Park with a time of 17:01. He also broke the school's cross country record with a time of 16:20. Charlie is well liked by his peers and respected by his coaches. He will be greatly missed next season, and we wish him the best of luck. Charlie will become a great doctor."

- Coach Terri Curci

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Always making an appearance at the top of the score sheet, Junior Nathan Takitch worked hard throughout the season.

Sophomore Ian Steel gives it his all as he makes his way to the finish line.

Freshman Jake Weise keeps his head high as he makes his way down the course.

Jumping up and down while chanting 'Thundercats,' was often heard from the Boys' Cross Country team. The boys were always very superstitious and this dedicated ritual had to be done before every meet.

GIRLS CROSS COUNTRY

The girls' team was always known to stay in a tight pack and push one another to the finish line.

Senior Captain Kaitlin Paul puts forth her best effort at Cross Country meets. Kaitlin was always looked upon by other teammates for help.

"Turn Your Swag On"

Often seen sprinting across Route 30, the girls' cross country team worked very hard for their successful season. Rain or shine, the girls began attending optional practices in June and continued to work hard throughout the summer. Waking up three times a week for 7:00 AM practices, the team always put forth their strongest effort. Despite losing three seniors from the varsity squad last year, the girls' cross country team had a winning season. The team finished with an overall record of 8-2. As a whole they finished 3rd in the section, while the varsity girls earned a third place showing at counties, and the junior varsity team second. "Coach Curci knows how to make running fun!" expressed Senior Heather Bureau, who has been a member of the team for three years. Other seniors, Tessa Foschia, Rachel Haines, and Kayla Kuntz agreed that Coach Curci is one-of-a-kind.

Not only do these girls compete together, but they are also a strong-knit family outside of running. "Everyone believes that cross country is an individual sport, but it is not like that for our team. Everyone on the team is so close; we push each other to do our best during every race," commented Senior Captains Genie Fratto and Kaitlin Paul. These 25 girls knew how to have fun while pushing through tough workouts. Hard work pays off, and as their record proved this, the girls' cross country team continued to be a threat on the race course.

-Carly Meholic

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Genie Fratto was one of our captains this year and of course, did a great job with her leadership and advice to fellow runners. Genie is very encouraging to her teammates and will help anyone at any time. If there was any time that the coaches needed assistance or advice, she was there to try to help and make the entire puzzle fit together. Thanks Genie for your commitment in cross country for the past six years and good luck!

-Coach Terri Curci

Sisters and teammates, Mary Francis and Genie Fratto always represented the cross country team well. Cross Country helped these sisters bond through tough times.

FIELD HOCKEY

"Rock and Roll"

The girls' field hockey team had a memorable 2009 fall season. With efforts put forth both on and off the field, it was evident that the girls worked extremely hard. This small team of 20 girls fundraised during the first months of the school year in addition to practicing every day. "We sold everything imaginable," replied Sophomore Sydney Peagler. When asked about some of their fundraising attempts. "This was my first year at Latrobe," said Sophomore Julia West, "and playing field hockey taught me a lot about teamwork." Underclassmen weren't the only fresh faces on this team. Coach Jeff Giordan was also new this year. "I probably learned more from the players than I could teach them this season. I couldn't have asked for a better group of girls to work with to help me along on my journey in trying to build a competitive field hockey team. I am very proud of all the girls for the work and patience this season. I look forward to working with the underclass players as we continue to build up the field hockey program at Latrobe." commented Coach.

On the field, the girls worked as a team to reach their goals, in both the literal and psychological senses. "Our season wasn't the best because we lost so many seniors, but we did the best we could and finished strong," added senior Chelsea Mikos. The seniors were honored at the last home game on October 21, 2009, against Allderdice High School. Anne Jupena said "My favorite memory from the season must be Rosie Samide's hat trick on senior night. It was a great way to cap such an unforgettable season."

-Danielle Scalise

Alyssia Ong battles a North Allegheny player for the ball. The face off was always a competitive moment in the game.

Sarah Miller prepares to receive a pass from a teammate. Teamwork was necessary for success in field hockey.

The girls always stand ready and prepared. Running, reaching, and shooting were just some of the common techniques of the game.

"Rosie is an all around athlete and player that could play midfield all day. She plays the fly on penalty corner. She could literally take the ball away on the defensive side and carry the transition through to the offense. Rosie is a tireless worker, even at long practices. I wish her the best of luck with her future plans."

- Coach Jeff Giordan

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Double- teamed, Junior Kate Thornburg weaves her way through her opponents.

Shawnna Edwards and Jess Vittone play defense against North Allegheny.

During the Norwin game, a Latrobe player lunges to steal the ball.

Girls from both teams sprint to midfield towards the ball.

Striking a pose, the girls smile for a post game picture. The Girls Field Hockey team bonded both on and off the field this year.

MEMORABLE

What's your favorite part of the season?

"The best part of the season was senior night. Also all the teamwork we used during the games."

-Shanna Edwards

"My favorite part of the season was just playing field hockey and enjoying the game. Senior night was a memorable for the underclasses men and the seniors."

-Jess Vittone

Sophomore Ryan Staffen smiles after sinking a shot. Ryan gained a lot of key varsity experience this season.

Senior Ben Gjebre sends one long as he follows through with a perfect swing. Ben was the low scorer in many matches.

These seniors take their final photo as Latrobe golfers. TJ, Ben, and Sam will remember this season forever.

Sam Cline keeps his eye on the ball. Sam's sound fundamentals helped achieve the low team average.

Junior Dylan Marshall makes a key putt thanks to his dedication to practice. Solid putting was an important part of the Wildcat's game.

"A Season Worth Remembering"

Dating back to 1946, the 2009 golf team followed the legendary footsteps of Arnold Palmer and ended their fulfilling season by winning the State Championship. Competing in Division 1, Section 1, Coach Scott Reaugh and the players accomplished many astounding feats. The boys started off their season by winning the Gary Garrison Tournament. In addition to the tournament, the team was awarded WCCA champs, Section champs, WPIAL team champs, PIAA Western Regional runner-up and PIAA State Champions. The Cats defeated the defending State Champs, Erie Cathedral Prep, with an overall score of 609.

In the team accomplishments, Sam Cline, Ben Gjebre, Dylan Marshall, and Will Wears all earned individual honors as well. Gjebre had the highest honor in winning the WPIAL championship individual title. "I couldn't believe it because you always think that the winner is for someone else and when it happens to you, it's a cool feeling," shared Ben. The spectacular season was not just handed to the team, they worked very hard for it. Unlike other sports, preparing for golf involved a lot of individual practice. Over the summer, the boys played golf every day, as expected, and the team met twice as a whole. As the season went down in history, Coach Reaugh stated, "I have to admit my expectations were greatly exceeded."

-Brooke Leechalk

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Seniors Ben Gjebre's and Sam Cline's leadership and strong play this season were key to the Cat's success. Ben and Sam were team captains and had the lowest team averages."

BOYS SOCCER

"Get Revved"

The quote of the season for the boys' soccer team was "get revved." Their season consisted of many inside jokes, lots of fun, and tons of laughter. Sophomore Nick Stano said, "My favorite memory from this past season was when we hid behind the bushes so we didn't have to run our two miles at the end of practice." Personal and team goals were set for the season; the boys wanted to have a winning season. Junior Doug Johnson had a personal goal. "My goal for the season was to become captain. I achieved this by setting an example and being a leader." The team was inspired to play to the best of their ability by many different people. Some looked up to their Head Coach, David Viens; others, to friends and family members. All in all, the boys managed to pull out a few wins this season while having fun at the same time.

Senior Captain Nick Mock said, "This year our soccer team mourned the death of last year's Captain Joe Dado. Playing with him was one of the greatest honors of my life, and I will cherish every moment that I had. Joe's death took a toll on all of us, but together we pulled through and it made the entire team closer than ever, even the freshmen that never met him. This will forever go down as the season of strength. Thank you Joe for all the wonderful memories and everything you did for Greater Latrobe soccer. #27 will be in our hearts forever."

-Megan Visconti

Senior Ricky Ortiz takes the ball away from his opponent. Ricky was one of the reasons why the team had great success this season.

Andrew Menard goes around a defender. He always gave his opponent a hard time.

The boys' defense was a key role in every game. Goalie Seth Jonczak was one of the main reasons why their defense was so effective.

"Nathaniel is one of the fastest players I've ever seen play the game of soccer. His many breakaways were easily the most exciting times of every game. He worked hard during the summer so he could convert more of his breakaways into goals for the Wildcats. I know Nathaniel's attitude and character enable him to attain whatever goal he sets his sights upon."

-Coach David Viens

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Defender Mike Harr guards the goal as he goes up for a head ball. He was an aggressive player that never backed down.

Sophomore Luke Gatton attempts to gain possession of the ball. Luke always gave his all for the team.

Junior Doug Johnson was a big asset to the boys' defense this year. He was one of the best defenders on the team, which showed in all of his games.

Teammates gather at halftime to take a break from a hard-fought first half. The boys discussed the game plan for the second half in their huddle.

Senior Captain Nathaniel Helfferich goes around a defender in order to take a shot on goal. Than was a great leader and was a vital player to the team's success.

GIRLS SOCCER

Sophomore Caela Long catches the ball to prevent a goal. Being a goalie was a crucial position on the team.

Senior Heather Sullenberger advances the ball down the field.

"Kick it like a big girl"

Inside jokes, bus rides, practices and games were what kept the girls together on and off the field. The team improved their record each year for the past four years, going from 1-13 in 2006 to 9-7 this past season. This was the first time in four years that the girls' soccer team defeated Mt. Pleasant. "We worked hard in the off season, and I think that's what made us a better team," said junior Kim Kuhn. The ladies started pre-season conditioning at the beginning of June and did not stop until late October. Even though the Lady Wildcats came up one game short of reaching the play-offs this season, they started each game with a positive attitude and "left it all on the field."

In addition to the girls' practices and games, they attended "team bonding" activities. The team attended Wheeling Jesuit University in July for camp. "Camp really helped the team bond and grow closer while having the time of our lives," said Sophomore Lauren Truxal. During mandatory practices, they made a trip to Antiochian Village to conquer a team challenge course; Dino's for lunch; Wimmerton pool for a swim party, and the team captains Hilary Bastin, Molly Nemunaitis, and Megan Visconti also organized a team campout at Loyalhanna Soccer Park. Sophomore Jessica Shivetts quoted, "We're more than a team, we're friends, and yes, that includes Tay Sweeze. I'll miss my team next year."

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Hilary has been our leading goal scorer on the team for three years. Her accomplishments also include being a four year letter winner and two time captain. She is aspiring to continue her soccer career in college. Hilary is a positive athlete who is involved in youth soccer and refereeing in the community."

-Head Coach Vince Pimpinella

Seniors Molly Nemunaitis, Hilary Bastin, and Junior Megan Visconti served as the captains for this year's team.

GIRLS TENNIS

"Building Blocks of Fun"

Even before the season began, the girls worked hard to make the season a success. Team bonding began right after the Fourth of July with conditioning. The friendship between the girls started strong and continued to grow throughout the season. This camaraderie made for a great season both on and off the courts.

On the courts, the varsity had a winning record of 11-1. Varsity was named section champions, but they lost in the WPIAL quarterfinals to Pine Richland. Senior Julia DeFabo and Sophomore Stacia Kissell won the WPIAL doubles title, and senior teammates Hannah Meyer and Ali Morelli also competed. Competing for Latrobe in the section singles play were sisters Joelle and Stacia Kissell, who took first and second. They moved on to compete for the WPIAL title, and Joelle took second. Senior Joelle Kissell, also, had the chance to play at Hershey again for the state title and capped off her high school tennis career by becoming the PIAA individual champion.

Off the courts, the girls supported each other in their endeavors. This included how the underclassmen worked together to create amazing senior nights, held on September 30 and October 12 by junior varsity and varsity respectively. Both nights were filled with fun. Girls' tennis not only had the biggest team ever, but one that filled this season with memories.

-Danielle Shojaie and Katelyn Hill

Junior Regina Woloshun reaches up on her serve to ace her opponent. Her serve was definitely an advantage in her game.

Joelle Kissell follows through with her serve to gain the point. Her serving skills led her to her state title.

These Senior girls smile and relax after winning their matches. Julia DeFabo and Ali Morelli were always together having fun.

"Joelle has been an integral part of this team the past four years. She is a well-respected team player and will truly be missed. Joelle will make a great addition to her college team."

-Coach Jon Mains

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Keeping her eye on the ball, Sophomore Stacia Kissell prepares to hit a forehand.

Junior Liz Bereit and Sophomore Devon Gjebre watch their teammates during the match.

Senior Ali Morelli prepares to serve against her opponent.

Junior Katelyn Hill and Senior Annie Cavalier stand and cheer on their team. This support for each other was shared among everyone.

The team jumps for joy celebrating their winning season. The team had a wonderful bond and had fun on and off of the courts.

How did you prepare?

"My pre-game ritual consisted of always listening to my iPod and wearing a ribbon in my hair...every game."

-ALLIE CAMPBELL

"I didn't do anything before a home game, but before away games my teammates and I listened to my iPod on the bus."

-KATELYN NEWINGHAM

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

The girls come together before the game in a huddle. This was a pregame ritual for the team.

Junior Kasey Feiertag prepares herself to serve. Feiertag lead the team with her accuracy this past season.

"Do Something Crazy"

From the beginning, the Girls' Volleyball Team set high expectations for the 2009 season. They started conditioning in early June and continued to work hard throughout the summer. Although the conditioning was grueling at times, it played a huge role in team bonding. The girls learned to lean on each other and push each other to be their best. Not all summer conditioning was hard; Zumba class and paddle boating at Twin Lakes made for many entertaining and memorable moments.

When the regular season began, the girls pulled together as a team. They prided themselves on great physical condition, skill, and especially team unity. These three elements made them virtually unstoppable. With many other motives, the Varsity team went on to set a school record by going undefeated in Section play with a record of 12-0. Although the girls did not make it past the quarterfinals of the WPIAL playoffs, they were very proud of their accomplishments. Under a very knowledgeable coaching staff, the girls sharpened their skills and learned the technical aspects of the game.

-Katie Svetahor

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Brittany and Kaley worked very hard to lead their team to an undefeated, section winning season. Both players were honored with All Section and All WPIAL awards. Brittany was also selected to the PA All State Team. We will miss their talents and personalities next year. It has been my honor to coach these tremendous athletes."

BOYS BASKETBALL

"Our Time"

Despite the loss of seven seniors, including five starters, the boys' basketball team still lived up to high expectations. As returning section champs, the team had big shoes to fill. Senior Captain Zach Landers accepted the challenge as being Latrobe's high scorer and rebounder. Zach averaged 16.4 points and 13.4 rebounds per game. Other senior leaders included Nate Campbell, Ben Gjebre, Zach Kenly, and Chris Trumbetta.

This year's team was closer than any other season. Beginning in the summer, the boys formed a close bond. The team attended camp in Gettysburg, where they slept outside in tents. Taking their bonds to the next level, the team spent the night in the team room before their first day of mandatory practice. "Even outside of basketball, we still spent time with each other. Our team's trip this summer allowed for everyone to get to know each other better," said Junior forward Chris Dudzenski. Between varsity and junior varsity, the boys' unity made them play better as a team.

The team had a very successful season. Their record was 13-8 and they placed second at the Penn Hills Tip Off Tournament. With surprising upsets over Penn Hills, Hempfield, and Plum, the Wildcats were prepared to be tough contenders in the playoffs. Seeded 13th in the WPIAL Quad A bracket, the boys opened the first round of playoffs with a close win over Plum. Coach Wetzel and the team were thought to be the underdogs at the beginning of the season, but as their record proved, they came out on top.

-Carly Meholic and Katie Svetahor

Ben Gjebre sprints down the court on a breakaway layup. Ben's speed and athleticism helped him play tough defense.

Senior Nate Campbell takes the ball hard to the hoop. Nate was a strong contributor on and off the court.

"This year's seniors proved to be a resilient bunch. They always bounced back from any adversity. They were a tremendous privilege to coach this season. The combination of talent, humility, and team togetherness made for a memorable season."

-Coach Brad Wetzel

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Junior Josh Shoemaker passes the ball to his teammate. Josh got key playing time this season.

Zach Kenly passes the ball out against two Hempfield players. Zach finished out his senior year strong for the Cats.

Doug Johnson drives past a Penn Trafford defender. Doug's quickness helped him become a varsity point guard.

Junior Chris Dudzenski passes the ball in from out of bounds. Chris played a big role underneath as the team's go-to man.

The team "huddles-up" before every game in order to get ready to play. The boys were filled with energy because home games were always packed and very noisy.

-ALLIE CAMPBELL

INSPIRATION

Who inspired you?

"I inspired myself to play basketball."

-SHELBY REPKO

"My dad and brother inspired me to play basketball because they always helped me improve by playing in the driveway with me."

-KATELYN HILL

GIRLS BASKETBALL

Junior center Valerie Dunlap jumps for the opening tip off. Valerie's height was a huge advantage to the team.

Junior Katelyn Hill attempts to shoot over two Shaler girls. She always used her strong moves to put the ball in the hoop.

"Shoot the Cannon"

The 2009-2010 Girls' Basketball team started their season early by conditioning the second week of school. Conditioning was held every week on Tuesdays and Thursdays for about two hours. On Tuesdays it consisted of shooting drills, dribbling drills, core workouts, and running sprints. On Thursdays, they practiced shooting, dribbling, and scrimmaging each other. These were all great things to get the Lady Cats ready for their season.

After training and conditioning, the regular season officially began on December 11. To prepare for section play, the girls entered the Indiana Tip-Off Tournament, suffering a loss in a hard-fought game against Kiski, defeated by only one point. The girls rebounded by facing their rival Derry and pulled out a victory. After Derry, the girls began section play by beating Albert Gallatin. After two big wins, things started looking good for the Lady Cats. Unfortunately, the team suffered a home court loss to Kiski. The girls faced another four losses to Connellsville, Norwin, Hempfield and Penn Trafford. Although each game was a tough match-up, the Lady Cats never gave up and played with a ton of emotion. Never quitting, the girls stuck together and won the next two consecutive games.

Despite their differences and challenges, the Lady Cats became a family throughout the season. On and off the court, their friendships were unbreakable.

-Kelly Musiak and Brooke Leechalk

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"The senior captains of the 2009-2010 girls' basketball team consisted of Courtney Zitt, Meghan Kozusko, and Jenna Koshar. Courtney Zitt is one of the most valuable players; she is the leading scorer and leader of assists. She has been a four-year starter and letterman. Meghan Kozusko is a four-year letterman and also a starter. Jenna Koshar is a senior letterman and was named the most improved senior."

-Coach Greg Fenton

As her teammates cheer her on, Junior Kayla Golden gets announced to the starting five. Kayla's shooting and defense helped the team win games.

Freshman Noah Batis added a new aspect to the team this season. Noah's ability to score goals was what lead the boys to another successful season.

Sophomore Jake Koluder gets in position in an attempt to score. Being able to play with his brother brought out the best in both of them.

Senior Captain Tyler Ridder prepares himself for the upcoming faceoff.

Senior Bobby Johnson faces off with the opponent from the opposite team.

The Ice Cats get together to take a picture after winning the PIHL State Title. This is the third year in a row the Ice Cats have captured the state title.

"Mike Green because I like the style of defense that he plays. He's not afraid to join the rush and chip in points when he can. Also, he has a really sick hair cut that I like."

-Alec Koluder

"Ty Conklin because last year he stepped in when Fluery got hurt and played really well."

-J.T. Douglass

INSPIRATION

What hockey player has inspired you?

"Steve Yzerman because I grew up watching him in Detroit and when they won back to back Stanley Cups."

-Zack LaDuke

"Paul Kariya has inspired me the most, because of his fast skating and quick shots. I have always tried to resemble my game after his."

-Matt Batis

HOCKEY

Senior Cody Ray attempts to steal the puck from his opponent. Cody always put one hundred percent into every game.

Senior Jayson Angus prepares for a shot on goal. Jayson was one of the few returning state champs and was a leader for his team.

"Three-peat"

The Ice Cats entered the season with big shoes to fill after graduating 11 out of 20 players from the 2008-2009 team. To make it more difficult, the "target" on their back was twice as big after winning two consecutive state championships. Another challenge was placed upon the 'Cats to prove they were still contenders in the PIAA State Championships.

The 2009-2010 team consisted of 17 hard-working men. The leadership skills of the returning players paid off and the Ice Cats had a tremendous season. Four of the players (Matt Batis, Noah Batis, Jayson Angus, and Zack LaDuke) finished the regular season as scoring leaders in the Hockey League. Also, adding to the talent was freshmen goaltender, Shane Brudnok, who had the best goalie statistics in the league. The strong leadership skills of these players brought the team to another fantastic season.

Every member of the team pulled together and played as a whole as the team finished with an overall record of 19 wins, 3 losses, and 1 tie, not including the championship games. The Ice Cats also had the opportunity of playing outside for a game during the past season, which resulted in another win. On Senior Night, the 'Cats won the AA Division Title for the second consecutive year. The Ice Cats also won the Penguin Cup for the third year in a row, and then won the PIHL State Championship against Downingtown East. The amazing talent, hard work, and dedication of the young men on the hockey team gave them another season that will be remembered for years to come.

-Jessica Arbore

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Tyler Ridder, Jayson Angus, and Josh Harris, have made great contributions to the varsity hockey team since they were freshmen. Jayson, Tyler, and Josh have been through a lot of highs and lows over the last four years, and their experiences have made them better leaders."

-Coach Dan Ridder

The boys crash the net in an attempt to score against the visiting team.

Senior Jake Shiveets demonstrates his endurance. His strength aided him in the final seconds of the event.

Junior CJ Shrum takes a deep breath while swimming the butterfly. CJ was very versatile and helped the team a lot.

Captain Charlie DeFrancesco leads off a relay. It was crucial to have a strong first leg.

Nathan Apel stays strong through his race. He always did his best to lower his times.

BOYS SWIMMING & DIVING

Lucas Bureau swims the 100-yard breaststroke. Lucas broke the 15-year record as a sophomore this season.

Sophomore Tim Cengia performs a twisting dive as his teammates watch. Diving could always be counted on to get the extra points the boys needed.

"You Need a Note For That"

Once again, the Boys' Swimming and Diving team set their expectations high. The team was led by Co-Captains Sam Cline and Charlie DeFrancesco, who knew how to motivate the team to work hard and still have fun. This season, the boys became more than just a team; they became a family. They began the season early by attending optional practices. Once the season started, they faced a challenging schedule, which required them to work out at 6 a.m. every Monday and Wednesday. After school, the boys attended grueling practices five days a week. Although the practices were quite demanding, the team realized the hard work would pay off.

The most crucial and nerve-wracking moments were right before the meet began. The boys got together before the start of the meet and cheered, feeding off of each other's excitement. In order to prepare himself for the meets, Senior Sam Cline said, "I try to get everyone else pumped up, and then try to get ready for my race." Divers Tim Cengia and Trevor Octavio were a big help to the team, collecting vital points each meet. The tough competition and close races pushed the team to success. This season, sophomore standout Lucas Bureau broke a record that stood for fifteen years. He said, "It was an amazing feeling to break the record in the 100-yard breaststroke." Lucas, along with teammates Charlie DeFrancesco, Hunter McGrogan, and C.J. Shrum, broke the 200 freestyle record this season. They overcame all odds and found success.

-Emily Friedline

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Hunter McGrogan is an outstanding role model, who is quietly strong both in and out of the water. He will go on to accomplish great things in his life."

-Coach Christina Krautz

Senior Hunter McGrogan takes a strong lead off the block. The boys spent a lot of time perfecting their starts.

GIRLS SWIMMING & DIVING

"Fist Pumpin' like Section Champs"

Continuous training and hours of pre-season practice led the girls' swimming and diving team to a successful season. After the loss of a few key swimmers, this year's freshmen stepped up to fill big shoes.

New Head Coach Christina Krautz, challenged the team with both morning and after school practices. This allowed the team to have more bonding opportunities. Bonding continued outside of practice, too, including a team sleepover made possible by Sophomore Taylor Smail. "I love being with all the girls, in and out of the water," she stated. After getting to know one another better, the season turned out to be friendly, yet competitive.

With Seniors Captains Heather Bureau and Jillian Kniffen, the team thrived. The girls did nothing but put their heart and souls into every meet and practice. "The meets were my favorite part. We practiced so hard all week and just wanted to win" Sophomore, Tory Russo expressed. For two and a half hours after school, they pushed themselves harder and moved themselves faster until time was up. "The best part about swimming was seeing everyone improve," stated Juniors Emily Friedline and Danielle Scalise.

As for the divers, Seniors Kim Ciotti and Samantha Brant and Junior Danielle Scalise reached the WPIAL qualifying score during their first meet of the season. In addition to regular season meets, they dove in an additional 11-dive meet at South Park High School. Also, in addition to breaking her own school record this year, Kim Ciotti captured the winning title for this meet. "With this being my last high school season, I wanted it to be successful. Thanks to all the girls, it was accomplished," declared Senior Anna Gibas. With close scores between section leaders, Hempfield and Penn Trafford, the girls were able to capture the Section Title for the 2009-2010 season. Hard work, dedication, and sportsmanship were distinct qualities of the Latrobe Girls' Swimming and Diving Team.

-Megan Visconti & Katie Svetahor

Junior Danielle Scalise dives off the board. She showed off her flexibility while doing a back flip.

Senior Anna Gibas swims backstroke during a meet. Anna dominated in the 100-yard backstroke during her high school career.

Sophomore Copley Fry takes a quick breath during the butterfly. Endurance was a main factor in the girls' success this year.

"Kim Ciotti is a dedicated diver, who is highly motivated. She will achieve and go on to do great things after high school."

-Coach Christina Krautz

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Senior Anna Vredenburg takes a breath while swimming the freestyle. Most of the swimmers enjoyed competing in this event.

Senior Alyssa Taylor surveys her competition before her next event.

Senior Sammy Brant flips through the air. The divers played a huge role in scoring points for the team.

The girls' WPIAL team poses for a picture before one of their last practices. The girls would wear crazy suits to try to make their last practice enjoyable.

WRESTLING

"Face to face," Senior Ryan Walters prepares to take down his opponent. Ryan was always counted on to earn valuable points for the wrestling team.

After pinning his competitor, Senior Eric Shaffer lifts his arms excitedly to the crowd. Eric's combination of strength and technique made him a constant threat on the mat.

"Scrap!"

Among the many highlights of this year's wrestling season, the most distinguished of them may be the team's high placement in many prestigious tournaments. Starting the year with a bang, the 2009-2010 wrestling team placed 3rd at King of the Mountain and in the top ten at the PowerAde Tournament. "It was really exciting to place in the top five at such an impressive tournament," mentioned Junior Jason Stewart. In January, they were the runners-up at the Westmoreland County Coaches' Tournament and finished out the year by capturing the title at the William Jenkins Memorial Duals. Ty Lydic, the 2010 130-pound WCCA Champion, added, "Winning the tournament was great. Taking the second place team title was also really exciting."

In dual meets, the team ended their season with a 13-4 record and qualified for the team WPIAL championships; however, they lost in the quarterfinals. At the end of the season, the team was ranked 5th in the WPIAL. Junior Chace Small said, "We had a successful season. We lost guys since last year and still won most of our matches." Seniors Eric Shaffer and Ryan Walters and Sophomore Ty Lydic were wrestlers with 30 or more wins. Ryan Walters also won his 100th match as a Wildcat wrestler, which is an outstanding milestone.

As the season concluded, Coach Marc Billett recalled, "As a group of young men, the team has been great to coach. Their work ethic is impressive, and they are a lot of fun to be around!"

-Kelsey Dominick and Danielle Scalise

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Ryan Walters and Eric Shaffer are fierce competitors and very hard workers. They both are gamers and really perform to the level of their competition. I'm confident they will be as successful in their college careers as they were in high school. I will miss them both and wish them all the best in their future endeavors."

- Coach Marc Billett

Determined, Junior Chace Small utilizes his knowledge of technique to pin his competitor.

"Scrap"

Despite the loss of seven seniors, the boys' baseball team still managed to come out on top. "I feel that it is a big loss not having those guys around. But we have some good guys replacing them and stepping up to fill their spots," stated Senior Ryan Matsko. Under the guidance of Head Coach Matt Basciano and his assistant coaches Luke Basciano, Matt Musiak and Mike Polinsky, the team had high expectations. Conditioning began for the boys in January, leading up to tryouts held in March. The one-week tryouts gave the coaches and players a good perspective on how this season would be. The team began their season by practicing in the high school gym due to the snow-covered field.

Using the standards set by the seniors of the 2008-2009 season, upcoming players were able to continue the success that was conveyed the previous year. No two baseball teams are alike; however, every individual player brought a new, fresh personality with them to contribute their efforts to the team. Sophomore Dommie DePalma said, "Playing high school baseball has made me a better player. Having the coaches give each player attention at practice really helped not just me, but the whole team."

The boys' baseball team has established a name for themselves throughout the season and continued to play by the standards set by the previous years. When asked how this season went, Junior Jason Stewart replied, "We surprised a lot of people this season. Our team unity was great and everyone got along."

-Megan Visconti and Katie Svetahor

Sophomore Jordan Giannini gets ready for a third base hit. Giannini was a strong fielder and always got the out.

Senior Alex Shivetts sets up in the box for the first pitch. Shiv's bat always put the ball in play.

Junior Tyler Walker takes a strong lead hoping for a steal. Stealing bases was a key part to bring in runs for the Wildcats.

"Zack Bowman, Nate Campbell, Kevin Dorko, Zach Kenly, Ryan Matsko, Alex Shivetts, Seth Stinson, and Chris Trumbetta were my captains. These boys were able to have a successful season because they produced on and off the field and stepped up and became leaders. This was their team. They were able to take the experience that they have gained from the past two years and led us throughout the season."

-Coach Matt Basciano

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Starting Junior Josh Shoemaker reaches for and catches the ball, getting the out at first. His flexibility and height were essentials to making outs.

Senior Zach Kenly stays down on the pitch as the batter swings. Kenly rarely let a ball pass him, making it hard for runners to steal.

Senior Ryan Matsko prepares to strike his batter out. Matsko was always a key player and fielded many positions.

Senior Kevin Dorko walks to home plate with the ball safe in his glove. Dorko always had his head in the game and his eye on the ball.

The players and coaches huddle for their pre-game pep-talk. This ritual for the team helped them gain focus on the game, so they were mentally prepared.

Before their game, the lacrosse team huddles with their sticks in the air. In addition to technique, the team learned a lot about team work this season.

"Being able to walk the next day after running a couple of miles at practice was always a challenge for me."

-TYLER RIDDER

"The hardest part is having good hand-eye coordination to get better at stick handling."

-DJ ROSSI

UP FOR A CHALLENGE

What's the most challenging part of lacrosse?

"The most challenging part of lacrosse is keeping the ball cradled while trying to avoid an opponent and catching the ball with a 6-foot pole."

-ANDY KLEIN

"Conditioning was the most challenging because we have to run a lot and I'm always tired after."

-CHRIS MILLER

BOYS LACROSSE

Dakotah Quintiliani plays attack against Greensburg Central Catholic. Dakotah worked hard to score a goal for the team.

Peter Artuso and his teammates make their way down the field. The boys were in great shape and demonstrated their endurance each game.

"Soft Hands"

Before the season even started, the boys' lacrosse team had to adapt to change; they received a new coach, David Leksell. Prior to the season, Coach Leksell held tough conditioning practices consisting of running, footwork, sit-ups, push-ups and stick skills in order to get the players in shape and ready to compete. Over the past years, boys' lacrosse was a club sport. Last year it became an official school sport. Now, the boys had a chance to letter and compete for section playoffs. Since then, many boys joined the team. Coach Leksell stated, "I hope kids in middle school and elementary school will catch on to the sport of lacrosse. The success of a varsity program relies on the foundation of a good youth and middle school program; the younger the kids start, the better they can be at the varsity level."

Although they usually faced tough competitors, they always put forth their best effort. This year, sixty players came out for the team. Many players commented that the hard work at the beginning of the season paid off throughout their games. Senior Mike Friend shared, "The hardest thing to adapt to was all the new kids, since there were so many freshmen that joined the team." As far as the coach's expectations went, he wanted the team to increase their skill and knowledge of the game and to win as many games as possible. When asked his outlook for the season, Sophomore Tye Nave replied, "I expect us to work well as a team and make it to playoffs."

-Katelyn Hill and Sarah Adams

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Mike Friend plays attack and is a very good athlete. He takes the game of lacrosse very seriously and works hard. He is a great leader as well."

-Coach David Leksell

Junior D.J. Rossi passes to a teammate. D.J. was a nonstop leader, constantly motivating the other players.

GIRLS LACROSSE

"Nobody Takes Our Meat"

In the past five years, lacrosse has become a very popular sport at the senior high school. The team was stacked with freshmen to seniors full of energy and ready to dominate.

Daily practices were long and hard but well worth the effort. Baggaley Elementary was the main practice location for the lady Cats since their usual practice and playing field was covered with inches of snow. Despite the weather challenges, the girls overcame their lack of outside experience. The team had plenty of strong bonds throughout its season. "The team gets along well. Upper classmen are always willing to give advice to the under classmen," stated sophomore Kaitlin Kernicky. The great chemistry the girls had on and off the field led to a fun and successful season. "Hopefully, we can beat the West Virginia champs two years running," expressed Junior Kate Thornburg. That was one of the many goals the team had this season.

Fundraising was a major component for the team. A car wash was held to produce enough money to keep the team functioning. Tickets and other items were sold throughout the season as well to add to their profits. Coach Jym Walters was always there to help and lead the team. His jokes always eased the pain of losses, and he always kept a positive attitude.

-Kaitlin Glover and Michelle Emanuele

Coach Jym Walters discusses a play during halftime. His coaching advice helped the girls through their season.

Marie Regula runs down the field with the ball. Her speed was really helpful to the team.

Using her speed, Senior Kaley Burkardt looks to advance the ball down the field against an opponent.

"Rosie Samide, Maria Rossi, and Hannah Meyer all played at Valley School together and became a vital part of our team when they moved to Latrobe. Rosie plays midfield for us and is a great player. Hannah Meyer is a transition player and is versatile on the field. Maria Rossi is one of our best finishers and scored eight goals against GCC in one of our first games."

-Coach Jym Walters

Sophomore Chloe Tsikalas shields her opponent's shot preventing a goal.

Senior Hannah Meyer runs up the field trying to get past the other team to the goal.

Senior Rosie Samide strides to get the ball in the back of the net.

Junior Liz Bereit cradles the ball with one hand to keep her opponent from knocking it out of her stick.

The team huddles together, putting their sticks up giving last encouraging words before a game.

What do you do before practice?

"I listen to music and talk to the team before practice."

-Kelsie Zoppetti

"Before practice Amanda Stipanovich and I go to Walmart to buy sunflower seeds."

-Hilary Bacha

SOFTBALL

Senior Meghan Kozusko follows through with her swing. Meghan's consistent hitting from the 3rd spot generated many RBIs and carried the team to victory.

Senior Jocelyn Eaglehouse frames the pitch coming in from the mound. Jocelyn's strong performance behind the plate was a major key to winning games.

"Whose Day? Our Day!"

Three-time section champions and two-time state runners-up, the girls' softball team had high expectations to meet once again this season. The team worked hard starting in November to prepare for their upcoming season. They had open gym practices starting before Christmas a couple of times a week. Since the season officially started on March 8, the girls had a full six-day schedule. Due to the weather, they were stuck in the auxiliary gym for practices. In the gym they had offensive practice days and defensive practice days. The pitchers got in a work-out almost every day. When the weather was nice enough to practice on the field, they worked on infield and outfield skills and situations. An occasionally had an inter-squad scrimmage.

Both the team and individual players set their own goals. "Everybody should work hard at their own goals, which would help the team goal to get to states," Junior Rebecca Taylor stated. In order to be so successful, they worked hard on and off the field. These girls were dedicated and worked hard to get through their season successfully. "This year we expected to be very successful. We have a lot of talent on the team that now has experience in big games. If we stay focused and cohesive, we easily have the ability to win the WPIAL title and the PIAA title," concluded assistant coach Cindy Mitchell.

-Kelsey Dominick and Kim Kuhn

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Jocelyn Eaglehouse's, Meghan Kozusko's, Kelsey Steiner's, Amanda Stipanovich's, and Jessica Uhring's unselfish desire and leadership are the key factors in our softball team's success. On and off the field they demonstrate dedication, hard work, passion, and the ability to lead this team through any situation. These five seniors have my many thanks to their pursuit of excellence and are truly worthy of the senior spotlight for the 2010 softball team."

-Coach Bob Kovalcin

The outfielders relay the ball into the infield. Quick catches and throws were crucial to winning the games.

BOYS TENNIS

"Ace"

The boys started the spring season with the tennis courts under a foot of snow. They were undaunted by this prospect and could not wait for the season to start. Some even practiced their skills throughout the winter at the indoor racquet club in Greensburg, which according to Coach Mains is "the key to being successful."

They played throughout the season with hope to go to playoffs. Coach Jon Mains set his goal for the team when he said, "We should improve our record from last year and make the playoffs." Working together and supporting each other resulted in victory on and off the court for the team.

Above all, the boys' tennis team held their teammates, coach, and sport in high esteem, which led them to be successful and have fun. Junior Brian Gravelle said, "I derive much enjoyment from the glorious sport of tennis, and as such, it is an honor to join with my faithful comrades and noble coach in our quest to gain victory over the vicious foe in this new season filled with hope for the dream of glory on the tennis courts." Senior Max Henry also commented, "Tennis is fun for me because it is something I like doing in my free time with my friends, as well as for the school. It is something I can do for the rest of my life."

There is no higher compliment from a coach than this by Coach Jon Mains, "This is a great group of guys and I really enjoy coaching them."

-Danielle Shojaie

Sophomore Mitch Wilt prepares to serve. His serves were always a key advantage to his match.

Junior Justin Szilard returns a serve with skill. Justin's playing ability improved greatly throughout the season.

Doubles partners, Junior Brian Gravelle and Senior David Findle, complemented each other well. They always worked hard to try and win the match.

"Max Henry has really worked hard in the off season. He is playing some of the best tennis of his career. Max is a great team leader and role model for the younger players."

-Coach Jon Mains

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Returning a serve, Senior Jesse Hajas follows through on his swing, which was a key to his game.

Senior Max Henry prepares to serve. His serving ability was a major asset to the team.

Junior Andrew Smeltzer follows through on an overhead shot. The boys' practice paid off in the matches.

Eyeing up his opponent, Junior Jamie Towey gets ready to serve. His technique proved to be a strong point for him.

Junior Justin Klimchak prepares for the point as his doubles partner, Senior Alex Caruso, begins the point with his serve. The two communicated well together with a win.

-JUSTIN KLIMCHAK

LET'S GET PUMPED

How do you prepare for a match?

"I prepare for a match by drinking lots of water and listening to my iPod."

-MITCH WILT

"I relax and try to focus. I play a few points in my head and go over one or two aspects of my game that I want to focus on."

-JAMIE TOWEY

Senior Nathaniel Helfferich closes in on the finish line. Nathaniel has been one of the Cats' top sprinters for four years.

Junior Brandon Perillo demonstrates proper form as he releases the javelin. Many hours of practice were needed to perfect his technique.

Sophomore Bryan Brasile uses his long stride to clear the hurdle. Bryan's good speed and vertical jump allowed him to clear each hurdle.

Junior Josh Dorfman gets ready to hand off the baton to his teammate in the two-mile relay. Josh kept a steady pace for his leg of the relay.

EVENTS!

What is your favorite track event?

"I like the 1600 meter run because I like the distance, it's not too long not too short."

-Ethan Greek

"Hurdles are pretty cool, until you fall... then they aren't cool."

-BRYAN BRASILIE

BOYS TRACK & FIELD

Sophomore Jeff Elam shows his perfect form on the hurdles. Jeff is the team's leading hurdler and always came through for the team.

Junior Mitchell Kalning clears the bar with excellent form before landing on the mat. Mitch's production in this event was key in securing a team victory.

"Make This a Great One"

Attempting to defend their section title, the boys' track and field team anxiously awaited their season to begin. Many practiced before the season even started, going the extra mile to achieve success. "The sprinters ran about 300 miles between November and February and throwers lifted after school three times a week," commented the boys' sprinting and high jump coach, Pat Murray. Throughout the tough dual meets and challenging invitational, the boys pushed each other with the section title in mind. "To inspire my teammates to push themselves harder, I push myself. Demonstrating what hard work can do is the best motivation," remarked Senior Andrew Stewart when questioned about the constant effort to help his teammates go the distance.

Whether the boys were sprinting a workout, lifting weights or jumping "plyo" boxes, their determination was undeniable. Returning leading scorers included Seniors Nathaniel Helfferich, Andrew Stewart, Nick Klohonatz, Tyler Somers and Ryan Van Fleet. When approached at the beginning of the season, Head Coach Dr. Andrew Wnek responded, "Due to graduation, these young men need to step up to fill some open spots. We're inexperienced, but will certainly try our best to defend our section title." The boys possessed the talent and commitment to have a successful season.

-Carly Meholic and Danielle Scalise

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"We are anticipating strong performances from Nathaniel Helfferich (sprints and middle distance), Tyler Somers (pole vault), Nick Klohonatz (hurdles) and Ryan Van Fleet (jumps). With these athletes returning and the addition of some talented upperclassmen along with determined freshmen, we should be solid in most events. We are looking for some athletes to step up in the throwing events, where we lost a good group to graduation. We hope to defend our 2009 section title."

-Coach Wnek

Senior Nick Klohonatz clears the final hurdle of the race. Nick's ability to finish strong helped the boys in their successful season.

GIRLS TRACK & FIELD

"Puke McGook!"

Ready to spring into their season, the girls' track team began practicing in early March. After a strong finish last year at the WPIAL and PIAA meets, the girls lost several key senior members in all areas. However, this year's seniors really stepped up to fill the big shoes. Top scorers Kaitlin Paul, Courtney Zitt, Laurel Fry, Katie Blank and Kim Ciotti did an excellent job racking up the points and cheering on their teammates to success. Head Coach Dr. Andrew Wnek commented about the leadership of the 2010 senior group, "We look for these girls to lead the underclassmen, not only in competition, but also by example." During the many tedious hours, the girls perfected their throws, strides and jumps. Their hard work at practice paid off as was demonstrated by their performances at dual meets and invitationals. In addition to excelling in their own meets, the entire team assisted the coaches at the Junior High track and field meets.

Strongly represented at the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League Championship meet, they finished out the season with a remarkable performance. With thoughts of the season on the whole, girls' sprinting coach Michele Butler concluded, "I am very excited about this upcoming season. We have a solid line-up of returning lettermen and determined freshmen. Hopefully, we will bring the section title back to Latrobe."

-Carly Meholic and Danielle Scalise

Senior Genie Fratto closes in on the finish line with no opponents in sight. Utilizing her endurance was key for Genie finishing in front of the pack.

Using all her strength, Senior Kim Ciotti hoists herself over the bar. Kim was always relied on for scoring vital points for the lady cats.

Junior Carly Meholic hands off the baton to Senior Kaitlin Paul in the 1600 meter relay. The relay served as the last event and was one of the most exciting to watch.

"These five seniors, Laurel Fry, Genie Fratto, Kaitlin Paul, Courtney Zitt, and Kim Ciotti, have dedicated four years to the program. Their leadership and work ethic allow them to be good role models for our younger athletes. They have built a good foundation for the future of the Track and Field program."

-Coach Andy Wnek

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Rounding the track Juniors Katie Critchfield and Tori Vallana push each other to the end.

Senior Laura Faust demonstrates proper form as she releases the shot. Numerous hours of practice were needed to perfect this technique.

Junior Kim McDonagh races to the finish line. Kim was always counted on for a strong anchor leg in the girls' sprint relay.

After running down the stretch, Senior Courtney Zitt leaps into the air.

The first heat of sprinters waits to hear the gun for the start of the 100 meter dash as their teammates hold down the starting blocks. A quick start was one of the most important parts of the race.

BOYS VOLLEYBALL

"Bump, Set, Spike..."

Returning with a successful season under their belt, the boys' volleyball team had high expectations for their 2010 season. Although they lost seven key players, the team replenished with several veteran seniors, returning juniors, and many new sophomores.

The boys started to prepare for the season early with open gyms and conditioning that began during the winter months. Once the mandatory practices arrived and the official season started, the boys focused on reaching their accomplishments for the season. When asked about the season's expectations, Coach Drew Vosefski shared, "The boys' volleyball team heads into the 2010 season with very high expectations based upon the talent of our athletes and a tradition of challenging for the WPIAL boys' volleyball title every year." The coaches and team believed that with their experienced seniors and talented underclassmen, they could accomplish their goals of winning a fourth section championship, be the top team in the WPIAL and return to the PIAA state playoff for the fourth year on a row. The team's goals were lofty, but their dedication, commitment, and effort gave them the edge to make their goals come true.

Aside from their hard work and determination, the boys were more than a team; they were a family. Defensively, the ball rarely found contact with the floor, thanks to spectacular digs, sets, kills, blocks, and assists within the team.

- Brooke Leechalk and Kelly Musiak

Senior Greg Maxwell attempts to spike the ball while Junior David Blawas covers his teammate.

John Skoloda sets the ball over the net in order to gain the point. John was a key aspect to the team.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

"Greg Maxwell, Jake Shoemaker and Colin Sherwin were given the responsibilities of team captains this season because of their hardwork, dedication, leadership, their ability to remember that they too were once young players, and their willingness to give back to others.

-Coach Drew Vosefski

Junior David Blawas passes the opponent's serve while teammates Zach Landers and Greg Maxwell watch the play.

"Approach the game with no preset agendas and you'll probably come away surprised at your overall efforts."

MANAGERS & TRAINERS

Junior trainer, Josh Shoemaker, practices taping a wrist during volleyball season.

"Behind the Lines of a Team"

Over the years at Latrobe, sports injuries were always tended to by the heart within the team, the trainers. During the summer, members of the Sports Medicine program attended several training sessions to learn how to aid injuries such as taping fingers, wrists, and ankles. In addition to taping, the trainers were taught how to do hip and shoulder spicas and to prepare ice bags. Besides all of the hands-on material, trainers were expected to wear the Sports Medicine apparel provided for them.

Aside from just lending a hand and having fun, some of the trainers got more out of it. "I became a student athletic training aid because I want to pursue a career in Sports Medicine," stated Sophomore Bre Tryon. Off the courts and fields, the staff of trainers had to stock up on medical supplies, fill emergency kits, and sanitize necessary equipment on a daily basis. Their hard work, assistance, and dedication was appreciated by all of the teams and their coaches.

The grueling games and practices always brought forth the true talent of the girls and boys who participated in the Sports Medicine program. From mandatory football practices to baseball games, the trainers were always willing to help.

Throughout the seasons, the managers and trainers showed their true colors in keeping our athletes healthy.

(Right) Jessica Kissel and Cate Thomas played best friends who shared a love/hate relationship. The two girls put on a great show, thanks to their dedication.

(Below) The cast thanks the crowd for their applause. The audience showed positive reactions to the outstanding performances.

Kayla Bleckley, Morgan Stout, Brittany Basenback, and Michelle Dickson pose for a picture before their final dress rehearsal.

The cast became really close friends throughout the many practices. Before their first show on Friday night, they relaxed and sang songs around the piano. They were excited to present their hard work to the public.

"The Odd Couple"

-Female Version

2009 Fall Play

The lights went down, the curtain went up, and The Odd Couple (Female Version) was onstage. The cast performed on both Friday, December 11, and Saturday, December 12. Both evenings impressed the audience immensely. Dramatics Director, Mr. Krack, even said, "It was a pleasure to work with the cast of 'The Odd Couple'! The actors broke out of their comfort zones and gave the audience all of their hearts and souls!"

This year's play had eight members in the cast and almost that many members in the crew. Senior Megan Monack was the student director while Sophomore Jessica Kissel and Senior Cate Thomas played the actual "odd couple" in the play. Sophomores Kayla Bleckley and Morgan Stout, Junior Brittany Basenback, and Senior Michelle Dickson all had roles as friends of the "odd couple", which they played with great humor. Michelle Dickson said, "Being in 'The Odd Couple' was a great experience because it was my first play. I loved playing Vera because of all the funny things she did. It was so hard not to laugh along with the audience throughout the entire play!" Also, Senior Connor Bert and Sophomore Adam Stynchula played the comical Spanish neighbors of the "odd couple".

The camaraderie and respect amongst the cast and crew was obvious when watching the play. Everyone worked together as one to put on a fantastic production. Jessica Kissel, who played one half of the "odd couple" said, "I had such an amazing time with the cast and crew of 'The Odd Couple.'" I got to meet a few new friends, while increasing relationships with the people I already knew. The experience I had working with Mr. Krack and my fellow castmates was one I will never forget! Everyone truly bonded during this production to put on an excellent show.

"Beauty and the Beast"

2010 Spring Musical

This year, the music/drama department presented a classic fairytale, Disney's Beauty and the Beast. The musical followed the old-time story line of the selfish prince who turned away what he thought to be an old hag; but, she was not an old hag at all. Saying that the prince had no compassion or care in his heart, she turned him into a beast until he learned to love and have someone love him in return.

Behind the scenes, the members of the cast worked endlessly to nail every note and dance step. Although they faced many dilemmas when it came to school cancellations, the 55 member cast pulled through by practicing for three hours every night. When they were not together, some of the students gathered to practice at a local church. "We grew so much closer. I don't know what I'm going to do without the seniors next year. They're like my older siblings," commented Junior Mari Haffner.

Along with tons of practice, the crew had to pull together costumes for the performers. "The perfect costumes were absolutely necessary for the success of the show since the costumes are so iconic," stated director Mr. Krack. Another important step in making the characters believable was the in-depth make-up. Senior Connor Bert, who played the Beast, spent a long time in the make-up chair. "Connor's make-up was pretty involved and took about thirty minutes to apply," commented Krack. "I purchased a foam latex mask that I painted with makeup and used a spirit gum adhesive to 'glue' it to his face. I used liquid latex to smooth out the edges and base foundation to cover the rest of his skin."

The musical presented shows on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Prior to Sunday's performance, the members of the cast had a meet and greet with young children. Organized by CSC Director Jessica Golden, children had the privilege of meeting with the cast and having a tea party before the Sunday show. "It was a huge success. I had to turn away at least seventy-five people because the event was so popular," said Mrs. Golden.

Overall, Disney's Beauty and the Beast was a tremendous success for the members of the cast, crew and volunteers who all helped out.

-Erika Naeger and Meredith Saunders

(Below) The cast of Beauty and the Beast enchanted the audience as surely as they were part of the enchanted castle. The supporting cast members displayed their versatility in their roles.

Senior Arielle Fodor as Belle sang her way into the audience's heart in the very first song. Each performance of Beauty and the Beast started with a captivating performance by Belle.

Junior Sam Prichard, who played the antagonist Gaston, impressed not only the "silly girls" on stage but the audience as well.

LATROBE GIVING BACK

Senior Devin Boyer creates a stocking for the Veterans Stocking drive. Students brought in different items to fill the stockings.

"Hoops for Haiti" was a charity basketball game sponsored by the Interact Clubs of Greater Latrobe and Derry Area. The cheerleaders of both schools played the basketball game, while the guys cheered them on.

A "Toys for Tots" drive was held by the Interact Clubs of Latrobe and Derry. The tallies were presented to the crowd at halftime.

Key Club member Braden LiCastro helps load the truck for the food drive at the Latrobe-Derry football game.

Junior Alec Koluder and Senior Mallory Mulheren, members of Student Council, greet senior citizens with a smile at the spring luncheon and concert they held for them.

"Lazy Days"

Seniors Nick Kloanatz, Haley Mills, Sam Fox, Stephanie Caverno, and Emily Anna smile for a picture on the beach in Spain. Many students traveled to Spain this past summer with the school.

Members of the band have fun as they spend the day together at Kennywood. During the summer, Kennywood was a great place for friends.

Classmates dip their feet in the waves at the beach. It was common to invite friends to travel on vacation with each other.

A group of friends sit in front of the White House in Washington D.C. Taking vacations to historical places were very popular in the summer.

Summertime

Memories Waiting to Happen

Summer was a time of the year that everyone enjoyed. Many activities took place in those three school-free months. From vacations to concerts to traveling or just hanging out with friends, every day felt like a Friday. This past summer, the Spanish classes took a school trip to Spain for two weeks. They visited many historical and amazing places. "It was a once in a lifetime trip," Junior Danielle Shojaie exclaimed. Cole Deluca, also a junior said, "It was an experience I will never forget." Also, many vacations were taken over the summer. "I enjoyed snowboarding in Colorado," Junior Chace Small said. Kasey Feiertag visited her old hometown, St. Louis, Missouri. "It was nice to visit old friends and hangout with them this summer; it is always nice coming back home." Many concerts went on during the summer as well. The famous band Blink 182 rejoined, which caused great excitement among the students, and many friends attended together. "As soon as they announced their summer tour, I wanted tickets right away. Jessica Jackson got them for me," Junior Maria Graziano said. Senior Kevin Dorko admits that Dave Matthews was the best concert experience of his life. He said that he is going back for both nights next summer. As you can see, many things went on this past summer. It was a time that all students looked forward to after a long nine months of hard work.

-Kim Kuhn

Friends Katie Brown, Alec Henderson, and Cate Thomas gather for a picture after taking a break at Linn Run Park. Flat Rock was a popular swimming spot during the summer.

Sophomores Cory Saddler and Jake LeJeune relax with a drink after a long day of riding at an amusement park. Kennywood, Idlewild, and Sandcastle were nearby places for students to hang out over the summer.

Siblings Jessica and Jimmy Ritenour, pose together in front of the beach for a quick snapshot. Many families enjoyed the beach this year.

Sophomores Taylor Adams and Allie Campbell are all smiles as they get together at the pool. Throughout the summer, friends were always hanging out together.

Then

Now

"Double Trouble"

Since birth, Seniors Chris and Nick Mock have always been there for each other. Playing video games is something they share in common and enjoy doing in their time spent together. Being a twin brought them even closer.

Even though they sometimes don't get along, Sophomores Pat and Caela Long still have that twin bond.

Juniors Christian and Seth Jonzack can often be found hanging out together. These boys always have shared much in common.

Sophomores Carm and David Moffa may be complete opposites, but at the end of the day, they know that they will always be there for one another.

Best Friends

Always Together, Never Apart

Through the high school years, times can be rough. Having a companion naturally eases the hardships. A "companion" can be a blood relative that will always be there no matter what the circumstance or a best friend that has been there through thick and thin. The definition of a friend is someone that can support and empathize with another person. Friends have a strong liking toward each other and are great shoulders to cry on. This is especially important while going through the challenges and frustrations of high school.

Twins, however, are a little more unique. From the time in the womb, twins are known to have "twin telepathy" which means they have the ability to know what the other has on his or her mind. Therefore, twins have a huge advantage to survive the high school years. Knowing that your other half isn't too far away can reassure you for stressful times during the school day.

In the end, having a best friend or a sibling in high school is very beneficial to endure the last few years of attending Greater Latrobe. Senior Maggie Harrold said, "Having my best friend in school with me made the school day so much better."

-Michelle Emanuele

Juniors Matt Batis, Gavin Finley, and Zack LaDuke share a special bond unlike any other. These boys found it hard to be apart from one another and spent as much time as possible together. They always had each others' backs and supported each other through everything they did.

Juniors Tyler Walker and Doug Johnson seemed to be attached at the hip. These boys found as much time as they could to hang out in and out of school.

Being best friends is not hard for Seniors Josh Hauser and Zach Landers because they have been neighbors their whole lives.

Best friends since they were two, Seniors Katie Blank and Anna Gibas always support each other when needed.

Seniors Meghan Kerila, Megan Puleo, and Karlie Hudock enjoy spending time together at Sheetz. The gas station was famous for a quick bite to eat and laughter with friends.

Hangouts

Weekend Fun

Although most high school students spent numerous hours working on homework, they still found some ways to make time for friends. Two major hot spots that brought students the most enjoyment were Dino's and The Coffee Bean Café. As tradition lived on, every Friday night Dino's filled up with a crowd of students after football or basketball games. However, if it was a week night and you needed a quiet study place, The Coffee Bean Café was the place to go. If kids were interested in something that was fun and relaxing, Carmike Cinema Movie Theatre was another place of complete entertainment. Another hangout spot that attracted people was Kirk S. Nevin Ice Rink for both ice skating and hockey games. Becky Onusko said "My favorite spot to chill with my friends was at the ice skating rink. We tried to go every week because it was so much fun!"

Sometimes though, Latrobeans didn't even need to go far to find what they were looking for. The best company could be found in their own home. Having friends over for an evening of talk and laughter was something that was found popular throughout the student body. Although it didn't matter where they hung out, the most important thing was being with friends and making memories to last a lifetime.

-Meredith Saunders

Where is the best place to hang out with your friends?
"As long as your with your friends, it doesn't matter where you are."
-Senior Natalie Snizaski

What's the best thing to do on the weekend?
"When we get together with friends, we break out the snacks and dance along to our favorite songs."
-Juniors Danielle Shojaie and Erika Naeger

Where's the best place to eat with friends?
"We like to go to Dinos."
-Sophomore Mallory Gruss

Seniors Chelsea Mikos, Brooke Barnhart, and Ellen Koch spend a summer night at the Hi-Way Drive In. It was unique to watch a movie under the nighttime sky.

Sophomores Kelsie Zoppetti and Ty Nave spend time together at Kirk S. Nevin Arena. The arena was popular to ice skate and watch hockey games.

A group of Seniors spend a Saturday night at Lincoln Lanes. Bowling strikes with friends often caused many jokes and laughs.

"It's Where We Go"

Sophomore Ty Lydic and Junior Taylor Susa are goofing around on the Christmas train at the Westmoreland Mall. There was always laughter to be found at the mall on the weekends.

Junior Nicole Nolan and Senior Ian Kaye spend time together at Walmart. Students spent time shopping together outside of school.

Juniors Tyler Heydorn, Scott Mohring, and Chris Kunkle go out to eat at Dino's. On wing nights Dino's was filled with Greater Latrobe students.

Seniors Hannah Meyer, Luke Revitsky, Maria Rossi, and Rosie Samide enjoy each others' company at the Coffee Bean Café. The Coffee Bean was a popular place to do homework and get a drink with friends.

The volleyball team goes paddleboating as a bonding activity. Spending time at Twin Lakes was a relaxing place for the girls to go.

Emily, You are a wonderful, beautiful, smart, kind, witty, open-minded, loving person. I am blessed to be your mother. You amaze me with how forgiving you are and your strength to move on. Your achievements and successes throughout the past 17 plus years will help guide you to whatever you want to do in life! I am truly proud of the person you are and the adult I look forward to seeing you become.

Promise yourself more smiles just because, more laughter for no reason, and more moments just for you. You mean so much and deserve all the good things a wonderful life can hold.
I love you!

CONNER BERT

Conner,

This is a great time in your life; we are so proud of you. You made our dream come true as we watched you grow into a wonderful young man. You are embarking on a new journey into your future. Ever since you were a young boy, your dream was to be an actor. Your father and I asked you just a short time ago, "What do you want to do with your life? Do you want to be a teacher, doctor, lawyer, CEO, or policeman?" You said you wanted to be all of them; as an actor you can play the role of a teacher, doctor, lawyer, CEO, or policeman. Show them what you got! We wish you a role of a lifetime, "Live Your Dream"

Love, Mom and Dad

JOSH

HOOVER

Josh,
Congratulations!

May the challenges you face in the future
be achieved with the same positive attitude, determination, and exuberance you have expressed thus far.

Our wish for your future is to be abundant with all the love, happiness and success your heart can hold. We are so very proud of you. May your faith always guide you. God's promise will not fail you.

Love always,
Mom & Dad

ZACHARY GUSTAFSON

Zack,

Wow Graduation!

Congratulations! We are so proud of you. It is hard to believe how quickly the years have gone by. We wish you happiness and success in the next chapter of your life. Remember we are always here for you. Believe in yourself and you'll go far. Keep on smiling that gorgeous smile!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Cory, Alexis and Ale

The world is a better place because of you. We are so proud of our little "Zackman." You have always wanted the best things in life, so don't stop now! If you do your best, great things will follow.

We love you-
Gram & Pap

SARAH BRANT

Sarah,
It seems like only yesterday you were graduating from preschool! As I spent hours going through family photos, each picture brought back endless cherished memories, of how you filled our lives with happiness, joy, pride and smiles! And now the realization that you are taking the next big step in your life.

Eighteen years have passed, and what a beautiful, intelligent, determined young woman you have become. You are strong, Sarah, and have been blessed with the discipline, grace and determination to succeed. Remember "Hard work, works!" Be humble in your successes, be happy & most of all, family and faith will never fail you.

God Bless. We love you.
Mom. Dad. Lauren
and all of your family

LINDSEY SEREMET

To our graduating daughter, no longer a child.
We watched you mature into a beautiful young woman full of life, energy & kindness.
As you start your journey toward your endeavors, you will not have to look back.
We will be right by your side. We are so very proud of you and love you dearly.
Congratulations to our graduate!

NAVE

Dear Toby,

We can't believe it's that time.

You are so special to us. We watched you grow into a very nice young man, and we will keep on watching you grow over the years to come when you go onto bigger and better things. You have also been a wonderful son, a great brother and a terrific athlete. So, all we have to say is we love you and keep on smiling; it looks good on you!

Congratulations!

We love you

Mom, Dan, Tye

To Our Butterfly Princess...

Dance like nobody's watching;
Love like you've never been hurt.
Sing like nobody's listening;
Live like it's heaven on earth.
You have become more than we could have ever imagined!

Love, Dad, Mom, Alli, Lex and Dah

Remember...nobody is ever going to love you like your mom and dad.

CODY BRENNAN

Cod,

Congratulations! We are so proud of the wonderful, fine young man that you have become. We hope all your dreams come true (which we know they will). And wish you much success and happiness in everything you do.

Love you always Cod-Fish!

Love, Dad, Mom, Ashley and Gunner

Michael Leonard

Michael,

We love you so very much. As you begin a new chapter in your life, always remember that you have the "power" to discover the world that is at your fingertips.

Love always,
Mom, Dad, Chris, & Tim

Kate,

We believe in you, in the things that are important to you, and in the way you choose to live your life. We believe that you can accomplish anything you set out to do, that you have many talents and the wisdom to use them well. We believe that you have what it takes to overcome obstacles and to grow from every experience life brings your way. We believe in your compassion, your integrity, and your strength. We believe in you and we will always love you and be proud of you. Congratulations!

Love,

Mom, Nick, Aunt Leeanne, Uncle Jimmy and Grandma Donna

Sadly Missed & Forever in Our Hearts

Colophon

Volume 87 of the Latrobean, "It's What We Do," was produced by the yearbook staff of Greater Latrobe Senior High School in Latrobe and was printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Gettysburg, PA. The account was serviced by representative Carol Barber, customer service advisor Bryan Harber, and technical support advisor Jerry Wagner.

The editors, along with advisors Michele Butler and Jayne Kalp, created the theme "It's What We Do" at the Herff Jones Cover Clinic in the spring of 2009. The book cover was designed by Justin McAllister, yearbook representative and graphic designer, from Hagerstown, MD. It incorporated a custom embossed, four-color lithograph cover with matte lamination and different front and back endsheets that were printed on premium stock white paper with a four-color application. The 272 pages were printed on 80# Bordeaux paper stock. The 2010 volume was the first Latrobean that featured full-color pages. The fonts used in this book were from the AHJ Unitus family.

The Latrobean pages were submitted to the plant electronically via the Herff Jones ePage feature. The Latrobean was produced using Adobe InDesign CS4 on HP NC4400 laptops. Senior portraits, candid services, and underclass portraits were provided by Timeless Expressions Studio of Greensburg, PA. Additional photographs were submitted by students or taken by Latrobean staff members on a Canon Rebel XRTi digital camera.
