GREATER LATROBE SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Volume 91 131 High School Road Latrobe, PA 15650 (724) 539-4225 Enrollment: 997

As seniors this is the last book that we will have to look at to remember our high school years. A few years down the road we will look back on the end of our high school career and say here is this book that allowed us to let out all of the memories that we have been able to document.

Twenty years from now, you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than by the ones you did. So it's time to sail away from safe harbor. Explore. Dream. Discover. So here we are to let it out.

By letting out our memories it means that you are letting yourself out, letting yourself be known, and being different. We wanted the opportunity to let people be who they are and be able to be recognized for being themselves because at a certain point you have to break free from what society wants you to become and you have to stand up for what you believe in and let out who you are, you just have to let it out.

As we approach the end of this chapter in our lives another one is going to begin. Our dreams, ambitions, and new memories will begin to unfold. It's time to let all of our potential be shown and embrace this next part of our lives. After this final year the people that you are used to will just become another person that you went to high school with.

September is the ninth month and the only month with the same number of letters in its name in English as the number of the month.

September is Kid's Good Manners month.

At least six films have had the title 'September', which is more than any other month.

The last day of September in any year always falls on a different day of the week from the last day of any other month.

The only US president to have had a September birthday was William Taft (president 1909-13).

Football

Friday Night Lights

"Friday night lights" is not just a phrase for the Latrobe Wildcat football team. It is something that they work for and devote almost all their time to. They had a very close game against Gateway for their home opener. Despite the 22-20 loss, the team gained the confidence it needed for the season. The team was led by senior captains Josh Nunez, TJ Greene, Logan Carns, Dylan Kovatch, and Isaiah Jones. Everyone on the team had similar yet very different pre-game traditions. Junior Sean Grosso said, "I always try to concentrate on what I have to do in the locker room. I have a playlist I listen to before every game." While junior Nick Aiello said he watched Alec Hoopes pace around the locker room. With all the hard work and effort the team put in this season, they still managed to make a lot of memories and essentially be a whole. Through all the hard practices, long nights, and challenges the team had faced, they all made it through and came together in the end.

Girls Soccer

Cleats and Guards

The Lady Wildcat soccer team had an extraordinary 2013 season. The brand new field helped them accelerate by bringing the players much excitement and motivation. Sophomore Maria Ridilla's thoughts of the new field spoke for the whole team, "It's exciting because it gives us hope for the future success of our program." Their success shined through fairly quickly. beating Kisky four to nothing, and making it in the playoffs for the first time in 21 years. This achievement in such a challenging division was an indescribable feeling for all the girls. Senior Emma Kate Womack described it by saying, "It feels so amazing because we have worked so hard for this, and hopefully it is just the beginning" Junior, Ava Petrosky said the playoffs were "the most exciting thing that's ever happened in high school soccer!" Other than this memorable make-it-orbreak it game, another season highlight was their game against Hempfield due to the support of fellow peers. Senior Allison LaDuke said, "Crushing Hempfield on senior night in front of an actual student section" was a memory she will never forget as her last season of high school soccer. The girls on the Lady Wildcat soccer team have an everlasting bond. "Not only are we a team, but we are a family" is how sophomore Hannah Mears describes her relationship with her teammates. One thing is for sure, this incredible team is a strong group of girls, but an even stronger force when they strap on the shin guards and lace up their cleats when hitting the field.

Boys Soccer

Bonding Brothers

The boys soccer team can be described as "a family" stated junior Colby Green. Throughout the season, the team practiced very hard and got pumped up by listening to their warm-up playlist. The boys knew they were going to face a challenge this season, because they had a young team. Their most memorable moment of the year for the team was winning the Ligonier tournament. The trophy that they brought back from that tournament was the first one in seven years for the boys soccer team. The whole team works as hard as they can every day to improve their skills on the field. One particular player had a special impact on the rest of the team. Senior, Daniel Clark states, "Seth Leeper was a true leader for our team. His defensive plays and leadership abilities really contributed to the team all season long." The boys formed very close friendships throughout the season and had a lot of fun, and exciting experencies. They had many parties where they played the game called "lightening." Many of the players said that they will miss the bonds that they all formed with each other. Senior Nick Tavella states, "This team was closer than any other team I played on."

Girls Volleyball

Lock, Load and Explode

Coming into the season after losing over a whole starting lineup of seniors from the last year, the women's volleyball team kept their faith strong for the upcoming season. The start of the season, incoming players new to the high school team were nervous about starting in a new environment, but the varsity teammates gave them plenty of support. "Our team is crazy, fun, dedicated, and hardworking." Junior Laurel Hergenroeder explains. Each player gives their best effort to win each game and tournament. Before each game, the girls do their traditional warm up to get pumped and share that everlasting bond together. "We listen to music, obviously. I heat my shoulder and hamstring and stretch a lot." Junior Katie Hendrickson explains. Although the team had a rough season, that did not bring them down. Each game the girls still came in with their heads up and had a game face ready to play wherever they were needed. They still hang out and have a good time together. Sophomore Noelle Carota says that her favorite memory from the season was the team sleepovers. The girls proved their dedication and strength by showing up to practice on time, ready to give their all every day, and giving up their weekends to go to tournaments. A volleyball team could not be successful without these strong bonds. The relationships between the team players developed team unity and teamwork.

Sophomore Jessie

Reitz Raiders

If you have ever attended a home football game, you are sure to have noticed the Wildcat Den. From "Camo Night" to "Toga Night", our student body is very creative in our ways of showing support for our football players. According to Junior Fallon Morella, "The den is a place where my friends and I can hang out and show off our school spirit." The den allows students to cheer on their team while being with their friends and fellow classmates. In the eyes of senior Johnny Saunders, the den is about "being with all of your friends and cheering." Junior Danny Elder remembers "the unique chants" that people cheered the most this year. A common favorite chant was, "I believe that we can win!" because it united the den and encouraged the team. The first home game was against Gateway and the den showed their support by wearing neon clothing. This game was so close and the intensity was so unbelievably high that the den was louder than ever. The students in the den thought that this game along with "Red, White and Blue Night" against Hempfield were the two most crowded games. For Junior Mike Bistline, the best part of the den was "the different themes every game." This year the most popular theme seemed to be this USA theme; red, white and blue. Sophomore Karley Owens describes the den in one word: CRAZY. In fact, Senior Caleb Whitehead says that his favorite part of the den was "being rowdy with the high school kids." Kaitlyn Muchnock sums up the den by saying, "I like it because there are a whole bunch of kids there, and it is fun to interact and support the team."

Right: The Wildcat den goes crazy for the first Latrobe's home football game of the season against Gateway. They represented their school by covering themselves from head to toe in neon colors.

Golf Bogey, Birdie, Par

Coming into the season knowing the results from last year's team, the men's golf team strived to remain and improve their record for this year. Despite competition on the team, the guys pull together to create a strong bond that will stick with them and better their performance. They all enjoyed practice and any time they are together. Negativity isn't an issue for the team. Sophomore Brandon Gustafson explained, "My favorite thing about golf is having fun and playing with all of my friends." Each player has the talent and skill it takes to do anything. Jack Nicklaus once said, "I am a firm believer in the theory that people only do their best at things they truly enjoy. It is difficult to excel at something you don't enjoy." The boys look forward to preparing for next year and improving future seasons.

Boys Cross Country

Win Again

Cross Country is a fun yet difficult sport that will challenge you physically and mentally. To get pumped up for each race, the guys team gets in a huddle and chants, "1, 2, win for you, 3, 4, win some more, 5, 6, win for kicks, 7, 8, win its great, 9, 10 win again, win again, win again!" Many consider Cross Country to be an individual sport, but it is definitely a team sport in its own way. In fact, when Junior Cord Leone was asked what his favorite thing about Cross Country was, he replied, "That our team is really close." Sophomore Charlie Robbins even went as far as to include Senior Kevin Augustine's name in his answer to most of the questions asked. Each team member supports one another, cheering on and motivating them to always do their best. Junior, Garrett Harter remembers "running on my birthday and having people I've never seen before, along with my team mates, cheering for me," cheering him along all the way to the finish. As the team motivates one another, the thought of going to states is a big motivator for the guys team. Every year, the team looks forward to the overnight trip and the picnic; this year was no exception, and they did not disappoint. Kevin Augustine, the only senior on the team this year. says that he will miss his teammates most. Planning to run in college, he states "I like to compete with other people."

Girls Cross Country

And they're off!

Cross Country is a challenging, competitive sport that is filled with good times and is very rewarding. At the end of the season, all that hard work and determination is well worth it. The actual races are the most stressful part of Cross Country, Senior Katie Slivko says. "Honestly, I pray all day because I am so nervous," and as a tradition, "I always have spaghetti the night before." To prepare for a race, the girls team had some great traditions. Jill Cline, a junior, wore the same pair of lucky socks since 8th grade that she had borrowed from her best friend, Taylor Klasnic, who is also a junior. Many team members also listen to a specific song before and after each race, like junior Janine Schommer. Before every race, the girls team huddled and prayed the Lord's Prayer, and said, "Think good thoughts and you will fly." During the race, many of the athletes didn't think at all, they just did. While others thought of songs and sung them in their head, or just wondered when the race would be over. Cross Country may be considered an individual sport, but they were very close just like a team sport. In fact, many athletes said that their friends were their favorite part of Cross Country. Besides being motivated by each other, the team was also motivated by "doing better each race." Although there is a lot of hard work put into Cross Country, that doesn't mean there isn't any room for some shenanigans too. When asked what the teams most memorable moment was, loads of hilarious stories were told. Many said the biking and kayak trip, along with the overnight trip was the best part of the whole season. For junior Taylor Klasnic, "Katie sleeping standing up at the overnight trip" was the best part of the overnight trip this year; especially since it really scared Assistant Coach Capuzzi.

Girls Tennis

Play Hard or Go Home

The Girls Varsity Tennis team had a very successful season this year. The team started off with a bang. winning their first match sweeping Connellsville 5-0. Throughout the season, the girls suffered through a few losses but winning isn't everything, junior, Abby Pratt stated "We may not always win, but we push each other to do our best." This season was different for the girls, they had a new team, new coach, and new courts which, they only got to use for one match and one practice. However many of the players were a little disappointed about not being able to use their courts for the whole season. When asked about the tennis courts senior, Anna Graziano said, "I'm happy because they're pretty but sad because I only get to play one match on them." However most of the girls were just happy to have the new courts. Before each match many of the girls would do different things to get pumped up and ready to play, sophomore Emily Steeley said "I listen to music, it helps me focus." Overall, the girls think that they had a very successful and memorable season, and are looking forward to next year.

"Making the shots for the Jimmy V. Foundation and Courtney Howard."

A -Thon

Year after year the Boy's Basketball Team has a charity fundraiser, this year it was a Shoot-A-Thon. Each player was asked to have a sponsor or sponsor's that would donate money depending on how many shots they made out of 100. Along with donating money per shot, charity baskets were made by many different families and organizations that were raffled off. Some lucky people would be the winners of these baskets. All of the money raised at the event was donated towards a pavilion that would be at the new tennis courts. The pavilion will be dedicated to Courtney Reed, the Jimmy V foundation and the Boys Basketball Boosters. The night was a big success, as junior Matt Cullen states, "It was great, I was surprised with how many people showed up. It was a lot of fun with the team and the faculty". Not only did we have the high school guys participate, some of the youngsters got in on the thrill of the night as well. Members of the girls basketball team were there too. They were a great support and big help, let's face it, the girls needed to show what they could bring to the court too! We cannot forget about the wonderful faculty that brought their A game and showed skills they had hiding up their sleeves. The crowd got a hoot out of the principals who participated in some good, fun competition for the night. Sophomore Sean Graytok says, "All the faculty definitely added a competitive edge to the Shoot-A-Thon, but let me give a quick shout out to Mr. Shivetts for putting the team on his back". The whole night could not have gone any better, everyone who participated did a wonderful job and it could not have been done without the one and only, Coach Wetzel!

Field Hockey

Breathe In, Bleed Out...Play On!

Once again this year, the Latrobe field hockey team continued to improve and had a successful season. Winning was not all the field hockey team hoped and inspired for-making memories was a must for everyone. Sophomore Rachele Shafer's favorite memory was when the team had won its first game, and they all ran out together in a group. Senior Katie Stalling's favorite memory was during scrimmaging when she had a head-on collision with her coach and cut his nose open with her goggles. From these, it is shown that the Lady Cats developed close friendships and relationships throughout the season. Sophomore Meredith Carr, juniors, Cassie Trumbetta, Sara Mills, Fallon Morella, and senior Katie Stallings all contributed this season with goals. The same as every year, the team wishes for more girls to find the back of the net during the next season. The team hopes that having the new turf field will put them at the same playing grounds as other schools in their section. Junior Sara Mills said, "It is so much easier playing field hockey on turf rather than grass." The girls look forward to making more memories and preparing themselves for next season.

Greater Latrobe Marching Band

Wildcat Pride

For the Greater Latrobe Marching Band, there was no one favorite part of the whole halftime show this year because the show was amazing musically, and the way the Color Guard portrayed the music was phenomenal. For many members of the band, their favorite parts were scattered throughout the show. Many members of the band said that "One Day More", or the drum break in "Master of the House," was their favorite part. For members, the marching band is their extended family. They say that the best part of going to marching band was seeing all their friends and knowing "that everyone there loves music and gets to express their love for music every week," says Ava Lesko, sophomore clarinet. The marching band loves going to the football games, and many say it was their favorite part. As a "family" tradition, they all go to Eat'N Park after every game. Besides going to Eat'N Park, each individual section of the band has its own pregame rituals, for example clarinets do "bell bumps", the drum line does "stick clicks and chants", and "the trumpets tap their mouth pieces together" and do a "muscle cheer," just to name a few. The whole marching band is also super excited to go to New York this year as their band trip. The Greater Latrobe Marching Band has a sense of unification to it. No matter who you are they make everyone feel at home. Sophomore Michael Clevenger says, "Even if you're not good at an instrument, or you have some social issues, you'll feel like you belong to a family, our family. Whether you love sports or video games, or either a serious person or jokester kind of person, you are welcome into our family." Being a family means that you are a part of something very wonderful and that is displayed through the Marching Band.

What was your experience like on homecoming court?

"Homecoming court was amazing! I loved riding in my car for the parade and everyone was so nice and supportive. It just made me happy inside."

"My experience on homecoming court was extremely special to me. It was a great experience an alsod equally as wonderful to be nominated. I will certainly never forget it."

Junior Cass Hatten

"It was an awesome experience. Especially because my whole family came out to support me. Overall, I felt honored that I was chosen for court, and I will remember it for many years to come."

"It was a fun experience to be able to represent the sophomore class. It was also a special moment to walk out on the field with my dad."

Homecoming Game Pink Out

Everyone loves Friday night football games! The homecoming game in particular brought much excitement for the Wildcat community. To begin the night, the homecoming parade moved through the streets around the stadium. The floats from Key Club (Greek-themed), Interact Club (pirate-themed), and Student Council (Wildcat-themed) were in the parade along with the homecoming court. This excitement carried on into the stadium, where the student section wore pink for Breast Cancer Awareness. Sophomore Jayden Moffa's favorite part of the night was "being a part of the den and seeing everyone participate in the Pink Out." Senior Colleen Naeger said that her favorite part was "seeing who won homecoming queen." All dolled up in their dress outfits, the homecoming court girls walked on the field at halftime with the crowd's eager eyes awaiting the announcement of the winner. Senior Jessica Stein was crowned queen. "Overall, it was a great experience. I'm so glad I got to spend the time with amazing girls and my family who came to support me", Jessica states. "This experience is definitely something I can look back on and reminisce on the good memories." The other girls, in all three grades, felt that homecoming court was a special experience, all stating that they'll carry this honor with them for many years to come. Once the game ended, the majority of the students began looking forward to the Saturday night homecoming dance.

Homecoming Dance Grecian Gardens

Dance the night away

On October 19, 2013, students dressed up and gathered in the commons area to have an evening full of fun and excitement. The dance was sponsored by student council. Some students went with dates, while others went with a large group of friends. This year's theme was "Grecian Gardens." The decorations included lights and green leaves, and made the commons area look like a completely different place. Junior Hannah Kennedy said, "The theme was nice, and something different." The students were able to get snacks and refreshments throughout the night, and they could go outside if they got overheated. The DJ kept the night going by playing a wide variety of music that kept everyone pumped up and dancing. Senior Nick Rosky said, "I didn't really have a favorite part of the whole night because there never was a dull moment." As the dance reached the end, the fun for many people didn't stop. Some students had bonfires, went bowling, or just hung out with their friends. All the fun and exciting events that occurred on this night will be long remembered.

Get Your Pink On

Wildcats Support Survivor's

Greater Latrobe High School is a strong supporter of those fighting breast cancer and has many ways of showing it. This year, Greater Latrobe partnered with the Susan G. Komen Foundation to help find a cure for the cancer. "I think that it is awesome that our entire school can come together to support a great cause," spoke Olivia Stas, Senior. This consisted of taking donations at all lunches, selling hair bows, bracelets, and t-shirts all throughout the month of October. Greater Latrobe students have made the tradition of a Wildcat Den theme "Get Your Pink On" at one football game during October, breast cancer awareness month. Many students, decked all out in pink from head to toe, climbed up into the student section to show their support. Many students' favorite part of "Get Your Pink On" is the football game. Junior, Jenna Adams spoke, "Seeing everyone wearing pink supporting breast cancer is my favorite part of 'Get Your Pink On'. I know it makes the survivors smile and happy we care." Greater Latrobe students, year after year, come to the pink out football game and cheer for the football team, cheer for the fighters. cheer for the survivors, and cheer in remembrance of those who breast cancer has taken away.

Battle The Halls

Time to get creative

On Tuesday, October 15, students stayed after school from each grade level to decorate their hallway in hopes of it being the best. Battle of the Halls takes place every homecoming week and is a great way for classmates to work together and show school spirit. In the C-hallway the sophomores had a jungle theme with animal prints, green streamers, and a "Welcome to the Jungle" sign. In the H-hallway, the juniors had a Hawaiian theme with palm trees and streamers. The seniors decorated with a road, a sign that said "Speed Limit 14", lights and curtains for the lockers in the S-Hallway, which was portrayed as an overall school spirit theme. Junior, Megan Reyes said "Our hallway is the best because it is very colorful and we had to deal with not having any windows." Decorating the halls and spending time with their classmates was a memorable time for everyone that participated. Junior, Connor Belak said "My favorite part was when I was hanging stuff from the ceiling and I almost fell." The competition was very close, but the seniors were voted to have the best hallway this year.

By: Fallon Morella

The winning hallway was the seniors hall, this has been the second year in a row that the class of 2014 has won. Senior Connor Kok said "the senior hallway was creative and had more school spirit than the other hallways."

Left: Seniors John Saunders and Jarret Paterson hang up lights. Overall, the senior hallway was chosen as the best hallway.

Cheerleading

Keep your head high, and your bows higher.

After all of the hard work and bonding during the summer, the cheerleaders have had an amazing year together. Their bond is like no other, and they all act like sisters. Working as a team, they have done so well through the year and have made great improvements. They have become so close during the season with each other. Sophomore Gianna Onorato says "There are no secrets and we can be ourselves. Being a cheerleader is unlike any other sport, and every person is unique in their own way and that is what makes the team work so well. "I consider us a family because we fight like sisters. but in the end we are best friends." Sophomore Brianna Marshall explains. The cheerleaders make all of the games exciting, fun, and cheerful. As they are on their way to all of the away games, the girls like to sing and dance to get pumped-up for the game. Overall through the year, the cheerleaders did a great job and brought energy to all of the games. As any cheerleader would say, keep your head high, your bow higher, and your confidence highest.

Girls Swimming & Diving

Getting Stronger

Swimming is all about hard work, determination, and perseverance; the girls swim team showed those qualities and many more this season. With only 15 swimmers, this year's team proved that size doesn't matter when it comes to swimming fast. According to Junior Monica Sowinski, this year's team was "small in number, but great in spirit." Senior Gina Defrancesco added to that, saying they were "small, but mighty." Despite their size, these ambitious girls had many WPIAL qualifying times, personal-best times, school records, and won 1st place at counties for the second year in a row, which allowed them to move on to states later in the season. In fact, several of the best swimmers in the state belong to the Greater Latrobe swim team. With the diving team's help, the girls were one meet away from being undefeated this season. The female divers had a great season, each improving over time while building strong friendships with others on the team. When asked what she thought about her team, Junior Naomi Schwaiger simply said, "I love them allsome of the funniest people I've ever met." The girls swimming and diving team is a tight-knit group of dedicated girls who enjoy their coaches' and each other's company throughout the year, working harder and harder to accomplish their goals.

Boys Swimming & Diving

Closer than ever before

The race is on! Every year the Greater Latrobe Boys Swim Team works harder and harder to achieve its goals, swimming faster and faster than the previous year. With only six swimmers and one diver, the boys swim team became closer than ever before. Freshman Yizhe Liu savs this years team was "a great bunch of people", and John Jankowski, who was the only male senior this year, sums up his team by saying, "We're small in numbers, but we have plenty of talent, and lots of heart." They even have a special guy's lane to warm up in as a pre-meet tradition. Sometimes they even coordinated their outfits for away meets. For the meet against Greensburg Salem, they all wore Santa hats, since it was their last meet before Christmas. Unfortunately, due to their size the guys were only able to win two meets this season, but they were still able to improve individually. Junior Taylor Barta made the 200 point club for the second year in a row, and the boys 200 free relay team qualified for WPIALs. Junior Collin Smith describes this swim season as, " A season of laughter, tears, sweat, determination, and fun." Overall the guy's swim team is full of commitment, hard work, and teamwork.

What is your favorite winter activity?

"My favorite winter activities are skiing and sledding."

"Either ice hockey, or skiing."

"My favorite winter activity is sled riding."

"My favorite winter activity would have to be figure skating." Junior Megan Rayes

Winter Activities

Living in Western Pennsylvania, we always get a ton of snow every winter. Many students engage in some sort of winter activity. Skiing, snowboarding, ice skating, snow tubing, sled riding, and even pond hockey. Some students even go away for a few days in the winter. Seniors Robert Gunther and Cody Lawrence said they went to Big Sky, Montana for five days. It was part of their graduation present. Robert said his favorite part of the trip was "seeing everything we saw, like wildlife, Mt.Rushmore, the Badlands of North Dakota, and the mountains around the resort. Also, just the overall experience of getting out of PA." Cody's favorite part of the trip was skiing the steeps and skiing on a real mountain." But most students stay in PA for the winter. Sophomore, Gabriela Rossi says her favorite winter activity is "ice skating." Most students ski. Junior, Fallon Morella says, "My absolute favorite winter activity would have to be skiing, and I recently got into pond hockey." Many of the students here take advantage of what winter has to offer.

Ice Hockey

Defending State Champions

The ice hockey team, defending 2013 Pennsylvania State Champions, had a tough target on their backs all season long. They were the team to beat in Class AA. Throughout the fall months, the team practiced very hard and knew they really needed to step up this season. After last season, the team lost their captain and a few key role players. The players knew they could handle the changed though. Junior Tanner Shaffer stated. "Our returning players really stepped up for us and our upper-classmen really showed good leadership." The Ice Cats clinched a playoff spot early in the year for the eighth consecutive season and were headed to capture their fifth State Title in the past seven years. As the season went on, the determined Ice Cats did not let the intimidation of other teams get to their heads. Unfortunately, the season ended a bit it shorter than the Ice Cats had hoped for. The team was eliminated in the quarterfinals of the 2014 Penguins Cup Playoffs. Captain Chris Johnson stated, "We knew going into the season it was not going to be easy to repeat, but we really grew as a team throughout the year and overall had a great season."

Girls Basketball

We Can

With a new head coach coming into the 2013-2014 season, the Lady Cats had many goals they wanted to accomplish. The team had only three returning seniors: Taley Dunaway, Emma Kate Womack, and Katie Stallings. They needed the underclassmen to round out the lineup to fulfill the positions that were lost after last season. The season had a rough start, but the girls expeditiously turned things around and got back on track. They had a goal to make the WPIAL playoffs. With that in mind, the girls worked very hard at practices. Junior Taylor Kokoska said, "A lot of time, effort and hard work had been put into the season but in the end it was all worth it." Playing a game almost every other day and some even back to back was very difficult. With an overall record of 12-10, and 9-9 in the section, the Lady Cats made it to the WPIAL playoffs. Going into the playoffs, the practices got harder and more intense so the girls were ready for their next opponent, who would be a top-seeded team. The girls proved they were a dedicated and hard-working team all season long, putting up tough battles and having comebacks against top teams. The team looks to pick up where they left off next season in hopes of returning to the playoffs once again.

Boys Basketball

Toughness

This year the boys basketball team worked harder than ever to achieve such a memorable season. With only one senior on the wildcats team, PJ Self, the juniors, sophomores, and even freshmen had to step up their game. This task seemed to be no challenge for the boys, who throughout the season spent countless hours practicing with their eyes set on the play offs. Spending a lot of time with one another, the team is built on friendship that converts to on court chemistry in every game. "Chemistry with the team is important, as we play more we can anticipate other players moves, passes, and shots." said Junior Matt Dragan. With these aspects coming together, the team reached their goals of the playoffs and ended the season with a strong record of 12-10. With one varsity teammate graduating in 2014 the teams bond will remain in tack and their game is sure to continue to strengthen with every step on the court in the seasons to come.

Of course, themes set for the Den help bring in an even bigger amount of students to support the Wildcats. A sure favorite this year was the black out not only was there a full Den, there was also a nail biting game against Kiski. The Den helps to provide motivation for the players. Senior Patrick Self spoke, "When the Den is cheering and being loud, it gets us pumped up." To accomplish this, when asked junior Abbey Pratt said she gets excited for the Den by "Getting all my friends to got so we have a big crowd.". When students were asked their favorite part about the Den, sophomores Sidney Ruffner and Noelle Carota agreed "Chanting" for the team is their favorite part. Among the many opportunities at the senior high, students can choose to get involved with Latrobes dual enrollment program. To There are no restrictions on what classes students can choose to take while at the high school when they are in dual enrollment; however, the classes they can choose to take at the collegiate level are controlled by the college. There are three colleges a student can choose to attend when enrolled in the program: WCCC, Seton Hill, or St. Vincent. There are a number of ways students can set up their dual enrollment schedule. They can choose to go the high school part time and attend college during the time they normally would have spent in school. Depending on what time would fit best for them, they can choose take college classes in the morning or in the afternoon. They also can choose to take their college classes online. Even though taking college classes can be very stressful, it can be beneficial because students can get college credit before they graduate high school, and if they don't take their classes online, they will gain experience with college life.

What is the biggest struggle of choosing Work Study?

"Not being able to get extra help when you don't understand something." -Senior Andrew Zundel

"One of the biggest challenges I face is if there are activities for certain classes right after school, I'm usually at work and can't participate." Senior Tarah Kifer.

"My biggest challenge would be that if I have to "stay" after school, I have to go home for a couple hours and come back."

Senior Brandon Larkin

"Getting asked to stay after for a class and not being able to because I have work right after school."

Senior Miranda Myers

Work Study

All work and no play

Many of the students at GLSHS are enrolled in work study. Work study is when a student goes to school for half of the day then goes to work. The students have an opportunity to make money for college, or even just to have spending money. Most of them do recommend work study just so they can have these advantages. But there are also many obstacles they face not being in high school all day. Senior Kyle Mattioli said, "I faced a challenge wondering what I can do with all this time after school." Some of the students struggle with forgetting to do homework, or not having enough help. But there are also advantages with work study. Senior Samantha Kwaczala said, "I chose work study because I have enough credits to graduate and still have the opportunity to make money while still in school." Overall, the students all had very positive comments about work study and would recommend for next year's seniors.

The Fall Play: Harvey the Drama Club in the evening,

On November 1 and 2 at 7:30 in the evening, high school students performed Mary Chase's play, Harvey. Harvey is about a man named Elwood, played by senior Adam Sarp, who could see an invisible rabbit. Elwood's sister, Veta, thought that Elwood was crazy and decided to place him in a mental institution. As time went on, Dr. Chumley, played by Alex Jabbour, began to see this invisible rabbit himself and developed a sense of jealousy. The very interesting plot line captivated the audience from start to finish. Sophomore Jayden Moffa said, "Working with a small cast is a great time because we get to know each other so well from spending so much time together, and that makes for a better connection on the stage." The cast of this year's play was very small, which made the memories greater, and the bonds stronger. "The funniest moment had to be when all the girls in the cast took all of the guys' pants from their dressing room when they weren't in there. The best part was that it was during school," said senior Carly Lubic. From lighting, props, and sound, the student directors and crew rarely had a spare moment because they were constantly working on props and preparing the stage; but having Mr. Krack direct the play, the cast knew they were in good hands. The cast and directors took many hours of hard work and dedication to make the play the success that it was. Despite the continuous practice, nerves were still a factor while stepping out on the stage for almost every actor. Senior Alex Jabbour said, "Before I get on stage, I get sort of nervous, because in theatre, anything can go wrong." Harvey was definitely an unforgettable play for the students involved.

By: Fallon Morella

"The best part about the play would be tech-week and pulling everything together like microphones, lighting, costumes, hair, and makeup all for opening night. Having the greatest cast ever is definitely a plus." says sophomore, Jayden Moffa.

Each year the Latrobe and Derry Key and Interact Clubs hold their annual charity basketball game. This year both schools raised money for Blood Brothers. The story behind Blood Brothers is about a man named Rocky Braat from Pittsburgh. He went to India without a plan and came back with one. He met a group of HIV positive kids. He decided to leave Pittsburgh and head to India to help improve their lives. The boys and girls switched roles. The boys became the cheerleaders as the girls were the basketball players. Each year it is a fun and successful event. Both schools student sections get laughs from the boys in the cheer uniforms. Derry won the game again, but the boys took the title for the best halftime performance. Josh Verchuck, Marcus Smail, and Jack Fenton were all lifted high in the air during the performance. As in previous years, baskets were raffled off to lucky members in attendance. Once again it was a successful event raising money for the Blood Brothers Charity. Spectators were able to get in on the fun too! Rubber duckies were for sale for one dollar. At halftime, a truck was placed at center court and those who purchased one were allowed to "chuck their duck". The winner took home an envelope of cash! Overall, the evening was a successful and fun for a good cause!

Little Shop of Horrors

The Spring Musical

On the nights of March 7th and 8th, the Senior High drama club presented the spring musical, Little Shop of Horrors. A comedyhorror-rock musical based on movie director Roger Corman's 1960 film, this science fiction plot kept the audience wanting more. The musical follows Seymour, a floral assistant, played by Adam Sarp. Seymour discovers a flesh-eating Venus fly trap, and is left with the decision to feed the carnivorous plant. Known by its dark humor, catchy 60s music, and memorable characters, this musical done by the Drama Club swept the audience of their feet! When asked his favorite thing about the show was, senior Alex Jabbour said, "Musical means so much to me because we share everything from frustration to happiness. Everyone is there to enjoy themselves and put on a spectacular show." With a lot of seniors in this year's musical, senior Lindsey Ferguson commented, "I'm going to miss the feeling of satisfaction that I get when the cast takes our final bow, and I know that we've created something really special." With moments that neither the cast nor the audience will ever forget. Little Shop of Horrors was an immense success for everyone that took part in the show.

Softball

The will to prepare

This year the Greater Latrobe Girls' Softball team had three big goals: win sections, win WPIAL's, and lastly to win states. The team felt confident that this was something that was attainable that they could work hard to accomplish, especially knowing their previous success, and having six returning starters. With the will to prepare, the team began their season very early, working hard in the preseason to prepare for what was to come, and in hopes of reaching their goals. When the season hit, the team was very excited to get the opportunity to play on the new turf and not be kept in the gym when the weather was not cooperating. The new turf brought many of opportunities and advantages to the team. Along with the hard work and dedication, teamwork was a very important aspect to being successful. With a new head coach this year, it was another transition for the team to make, but the team took it and used it as motivation to come out better than before. Senior Shelby Noel said, "It is important to have a successful season because every year I have played we have gotten more successful and it's my senior year so I want to succeed."

Boys Track

Putting their best foot forward

Whether you like to run, jump, or throw; according to Coltin Keifer, all you need is "determination, endurance, speed, and power." Last year, the boys team was able come together to make it to states, where Senior Dan Siko made it to finals, and the relay team that included Marcus Smail, Jake Puleo, Matt Kalning, and Ron Monak, was able to earn a spot in the top four. Junior Joe Perretti said that "this years team is definitely different than last year, but we still have an excellent team." With most of the runners and jumpers coming straight out of indoor track, and the throwers and pole vaulters working hard in the weight room, the boys team was ready to take on the competition that the upcoming season will bring. Based on their practices, junior Cord Leone thought "this years team will do pretty good." He said, "they show up, work hard, and get the work done." With the goals of making it to States once again and earning many personal records in sight, this years team was undefeatable. "We're stacked like an all star team," said Senior Josh Nunez. Their motivation, according to senior Nick Sciullo, was the "desire to get stronger," while to sophomore Mike Warren, their "drive to win" and improve was a key motivator for the team. In fact, improving is what sophomore Phil Florido looks forward to most each season. That was just what the boys track team planned to do: work hard, put their best foot forward, and do their best.

Girls Track

Endless power

From throwers, to jumpers, to runners, the Greater Latrobe girls track team always sees the outcome of their hard work. Through all of the training, meets, and support from family and friends, the girls track team has always had a great outcome. Senior Olivia Stas said, "I like that we all get along and we have so much fun but also work with each other in order to reach our goals. It's a blast." The team's senior athletes were always encouraging their upcoming athletes to become better. All of the girls have always put their best effort towards every practice and meet to do well, and they continuously have had good outcomes. They all trained hard and contributed their part of responsibility at every meet. With there being so many different events, it helped the team compete at a higher level. Without the diversity, the team would not have been able to work together to achieve what they wanted. Since the team started training in March, they came a very long way to reach their highest goals.

Girls Lacrosse

Our House

After winning the section title last year, the Lady Cats were focused from the very first day of practice. The girls lacrosse team hoped to pick up where they left off last season, despite the loss of five seniors. The girls trained off-season with conditioning and tournaments so the team could maintain a high level of intensity throughout the whole season. Senior Kaitlyn Bereit said, "Everyone has worked so hard in conditioning, and so many girls have stepped up into important roles. Everyone works really well together, and the team has not clicked this well since my freshman year." The team kicked off the season with the annual Fairmont tournament, in which the team did very well. With the teams hard work and dedication, the girls knew they were capable of anything. Working to beat rivals like Ellis and Hempfield, the team perfected their skills during practices. The team went from learning the basics of lacrosse to learning plays and tricks. Team bonding was something that the team did every weekend. The girls went to breakfast every Saturday after their morning practices, which helped the teams unity on and off the field.

Boys Lacrosse

Making History

Lacrosse is a difficult sport that requires teamwork, perfect technique, and coordination. To prepare for this year's season, the guys completed pre-season workouts three days per week. Countless drills, wall ball, and cardio exercises composed the sessions. Last years team was the first Latrobe boys lacrosse team to ever make it to the playoffs; so this year, it is the teams goal to make it to the playoffs as sections champs and see where it goes from there. Sophomore Nick Hanna said, "I think we are going to be good this year. I expect that we will do well in the playoffs," while Junior Joe Russo believes, "We should contend for the section, but we'll probably lead the state in penalty minutes." The team members think that they could definitely achieve their goal as long as they continue to put in plenty of hard work at practice. According to Sophomore Johnny Graziano, lacrosse "is all about working together as a team" on and off the field. So every week they go to Dino's as a team to hang out after practice, which is a favorite among many of the players. Senior Matt Lesko said that lacrosse is all about "trying your best to perform as hard as you can," and that is just what this years team plans to do!

Boys Volleyball

"Spike-town"

Returning with a successful season under many of the boys' belts, the volleyball team had very high standards to live up to entering the season. Although the team graduated seven seniors, the boys expected the returning players to step up and play important roles. The boys knew what they needed to do to make it back to the playoffs like they did the past year. Senior Garrett Kollar stated, "I knew I just had to play my game and keep my teammates pumped and ready to go. We have the talent; we just all need to step up because we have big shoes to fill." After a long off-season of training in the weight room, practicing at open gyms, and participating in WAVE winter tournaments, the boys were ready for the season to begin. The team is a very close group of guys and are all really good friends. Senior Robert Gunther even said, "The reason I played volleyball is because one of my best friends, Kevin Gibson, wanted me to play." Once mandatory practices began, the boys focused on improving their game and preparing for the season. From seniors to freshmen, all the boys were ready to compete. Because of all of this hard work and dedication, the team had another successful and fun season. They participated in a few tournaments on top of all of their regular games and grew as a team throughout the entire season.

The expectations were high for this year's baseball season. Almost every player is said they want to make it to states. A few of the seniors said what they look forward to during the season. Senior Ray Levay said, "I always look forward to taking the field with some of my best friends and competing for a section title." Senior Jonathan Kolling had a positive attitude toward the 2014 season, "I looked forward to going out and competing for a section title, and making playoffs." Starting off their season, they had their first scrimmage away playing Mt. Pleasant, and won 13-7. Then, their first game was away at Derry, and the Wildcats won 8-7. Making it on varsity is very hard as a sophomore, but this year three students did. Most of the seniors and juniors say this was a positive addition into their team, and they all three deserved it. The whole team had a fun-filled, and successful season.

Boys Tennis

Competitive Edge

This year the boys tennis team had their expectations set high. With five returning seniors, the team had no trouble knowing what was expected. Having the goal in mind of being a competitive team in every match, the team spent countless hours on the court practicing to accomplish its competitive edge. An addition to the team to guide the boys in the direction of their goals was a new coach, Michele Uvagus. With half of the varsity team graduating in 2014, this was the last chance for the underclassmen to share the court with some of their greatest players. Knowing this, the boys came together with their new coach to help one another to reach all of their individual goals, keeping the team goals close in reach. This being the last chance for the seniors to enjoy wearing a Wildcat uniform, they reflected on what the will miss most. Senior Michael Sisak had a strong friendship with everyone on the team and will miss "bus rides to away matches" the most after his last serve on the court. The team focused on making the playoffs and maintaining a strong team for the 2015 season.

PolarPalooza

The third annual PolarPalooza took place at the Greater Latrobe Senior High School on Friday, February 21, 2014 and was a huge success. This year, 234 GLSH students formed 39 teams and competed with each other to see who would be the champions. Every team was decked out in their costumes, ready to win! The Cereal Killers of Juniors. Bella Lane, Paige Hemminger, Kayla Zalich, Courtney Kloos, Hannah Gruss, and Gina Kovacevic were awarded best costume of the night. There were many different activities and games to play such as, basketball, ping pong, karaoke, volleyball, corn hole, and lots more. Senior, Dylan Hall said, "My favorite game we played would have to be badminton because we almost won and it was just a good time." The event is very competitive, but everyone was a team sport and didn't let loses get the best of them. Mrs. Houck, one of the Student Council advisers said, "PolarPalooza is an event that helps to foster a sense of school community and promotes a healthy, active lifestyle for our students. It has become a tradition that Student Council is very proud to organize for the student body. It is always fun to see students having such a great time." A team-of all senior boys, Raisin Juice, took home the overall win by dominating throughout the night, allowing them to advance to the dodgeball tournament and finally becoming overall champions! A big thank you goes out to all of the student volunteers especially Student Council, Key Club, and Publications who gave up their time to plan and execute a fantastic event. Many teachers and staff also contributed their time to make the night happen! Mr. Marker, another Student Council Adviser said, "My favorite thing was seeing how excited Student Council members were to organize and plan the event and it made all the hard work worth it." PolarPalooza is always an excting, competitive evening, bringing students together for a night of fun! As far as next year, who will take home win?

Spain Trip Adiós America!

Unforgettable Experience

If you were to ask anyone who attended the Spain trip they would say that it was an experience that would last a lifetime. The students got to use what they had learned first hand in class and apply it to real life situations. "I spoke spanish to order my food. It was a struggle, but it was fun" said senior Mathew Seremet. The lessons in the class really helped the students feel comfortable in the country. Although the culture was different, the classmates knew what to expect. Junior, Lindsay Anna said "There wasn't a culture shock." However, there was many things that the students didn't know what to expect when they were on the trip. There were things that a book just couldn't put into words. A simple book couldn't explain the beauty of the things surrounding them. Junior Alex Dumnich, "It's one of those things that if you try to put it in words it would come out sounding less than it really was." The students got the opportunity to appreciate something that they normally would not get the chance to. Senior, Matthew Lesko said "Overall, the trip was an amazing experience, for anyone who is thinking about going you definitely should."

Tattoos

Many people change their appearance permanently in many different ways, but the most common way by far is tattooing. Every tattoo has a story behind it. A lot of people get tattoos to identify themselves, to mark a significant aspect of themselves or their life. Senior Zack Zavatsky said, "My tattoo represents my journey as a wrestler. It's an angel holding wrestling shoes, and the banner says, "Follow Your Dreams." Some people don't want to get tattoos because they don't want to be in pain, and that's what they focus on. Brittany Bueche said, "It felt like a scratching sensation." While Zack said, "Getting a tattoo feels like bee stings, and it also feels like they're cutting your skin and pulling it around." Dylan Davis got his tattoo out of compassion for his pastor after he passed away. "What inspired me was, in his passing, he left a part of him instilled within me." His tattoo is for his good friend, Reverend Rick Haase.

What was your favorite aspect of the program?

"The hands on activities. Also, getting to know what the day in the life of an engineer was very interesting!"

Young Engineers

Young Engineers, a relatively new course allows students explore the world of engineering at a closer view. It was in partnership with Kennametal and our school bringing our students in Kennametal facilities two times a week for classroom and hands-on learning with company engineers. The students worked with a group of more than 40 Kennametal employees during the program. Also, the students were given the opportunity to tour company plants like the one in Bedford. Students who are interested in engineering but aren't exactly sure what engineers do find this course extremely beneficial. Mrs. Pompelia, the originator of the course says, "Any student who is interested in pursuing a career related to math and/or science or who just wants to learn more about engineering should take this course. It provides an excellent opportunity for students to actually experience and observe what an engineer does, which is impossible to do in the traditional classroom setting.'

What was your favorite aspect of the program?

"Going out and shadowing all different kinds of careers because it was really cool to get a feel of the different kinds of opportunities the medical field has to offer."

Allied Health

Allied Health is a course offered to seniors in which had sent an application beforehand, and is in partnership with EWCTC and Excela Health. This course opens many doors to student's futures. The first half of the semester, students learn basic anatomy and become CPR certified. The second part allows students to explore the different health professions at numerous places such as Local doctors' offices and Excela Health. Followed by the job shadow, students are assigned to contact a professional and do an individual eight hour job practicum followed by a written essay on their experience. Senior Lexie Zoppetti feels that Allied Health helped broadened her knowledge and experience in the medical field and guided her career and education path for her future. Allied Health gives you the opportunity to understand if the medical field is right for you!

"Probably whenever I finished Military Enlistment Personnel Screening (MEPS) and swore in."

Young Heroes

Every morning we stand, face the flag, put our hands on our hearts, and say the pledge of allegiance, and before every sporting event, we are asked to stand for the singing or our National Anthem. We take the time to do both of these acts to honor our country and the brave men and women who work so hard to protect it. Included in this category of brave men and women are students here at Greater Latrobe. These students go through vigorous training and testing before they can join the military. This difficult training, however, does not phase these young men and women because they see the bigger picture. Senior Hiram Nearanzio says, "I feel proud every time someone asks me what I'm doing after high school."

These students know they are a part of something greater than themselves, and they are inspired by their many friends and family to help others and serve their country. To senior Ken Allan, the military is "a band of brothers and sisters living to a higher, stricter standard to fight for the rights of the United States and its people," while to junior Cullen Whatule it is all about, "honor and duty to country and others." The military is not only great if you want to serve your country, senior Char Schelick also says, "the military is a great first step to starting a career..." Most people who enlist are able to plan ahead for strong and successful years to come.

Top left: Senior Tristan Stape, gets sworn in by Captain Brown of Pittsburgh MEPS. That moment was a moment Tristan will never forget for the rest of his life.

Top right: Senior Cortney Dean, is also getting sworn in by Lieutenant Maier. Not only did the satisfaction of being a girl make her proud, but also the long hours put into getting to that certain point in her training was wonderful.

Bottom right: Senior Hiram Nearanzio, is getting sworn in by Captain Brown. Hiram was pleased with such an opportunity like this after all of his hard work.

Bottom left: Senior Ken Allen, stands tall and proud posing for an army picture. Ken was blessed that he was able to do a great thing for his country.

What is your job as a manager or trainer?

"I keep the official book during games, along with other stats." - Junior Connor Belak

"I have to get the water and Gatorade ready before practices and games. - Junior Brooke Armstrong

"I clean mats, take attendance, keep book during matches, video tape,. - Junior Mary Stas

"I take care of the player's equipment from week to week." - Junior Regan Guzik

"I get the team water, make sure their hydrated during games." - Senior Niki Kusy

Student Trainers & Managers

Faces In The Crowd

From some sideline support to first aid and therapy, a student trainer or a manager would get the job done. Many people do not think about what happens off the field or court to keep the team going. Some athletes even rely on the managers and student trainers when they are under stress. The jobs of the two are extremely incisive. Junior Regan Guzik says, "I make sure that the players have everything and make sure everything fits properly. Also if the players equipment is broken or needs fixing I also do that." To become a student trainer, the student must learn the basic skills from UPMC trainers Amy Stephenson or Joe McShane. The student managers and trainers have picked their certain sports for a variety of reasons. "I chose to be a football trainer because I have been around football since I was little, and I love watching football and being on the field with everyone on Friday nights and Saturday mornings", says junior Brooke Armstrong. As a manager, keeping stats may be the most important job. As a statistician, the student must keep accurate stats in order for the team to improve. Throughout all the wins and losses, the managers and trainers effectively do their job and support their team.

EWCTC

Exploring into Vo-Tech

To enhance their careers, students from Greater Latrobe attend EWCTC to learn more about the fields they are interested in. This program gives students the privilege to excel in their career interests, especially from the many courses they can choose from. The students from high school freshman to seniors all have nothing but nice things to say about their Vo-Tech, EWCTC. "I think it's a great way to start your career early and have a path set for the future," junior Kimmy Onusko explains. Being apart of EWCTC can be life changing for some students, tremendously guiding them to their future careers. All the training, support, and competition within this program helps students grow individually. At an earlier age it shows them what the real work force looks like and how it works, all in hopes their learnings will carry with them throughout life. Sophomore Bryston Gettins says, "I really like that it's hands on and it's a really great experience to learn new things." EWCTC lifts students to their expectations, granting them the opportunity to make new friends and interact with students from other schools. "The most important lesson I have learned was to never give up on what you want because I have wanted to give up so many times and I'm so proud to say I will be completing my journey in one month," senior Abbey Passaro shares. Many of the Vo-Tech students are determined to continue with their passion, matching up their dream career with their trade.

Siblings Cousins Relatives

We Go Together

During the high school years, times can be rough, but having family that you go to school with can have many advantages and make life easier. For most of us, family is the most important thing in our lives. Your family are the people that you turn to when you need help, and you know you can count on them. Sophomore Micaela Zoppetti states, "Coming to the high school for the first time this year wasn't easy, but my sister really helped to make me feel comfortable here, and I know she will always be there for me." Other students like to use their family members to their advantage and help each other out, whether it is on knowing what classes to take or assisting with school work. For example, junior Vince Bonar said, "Having my sister in the same grade as me is nice because we can always help each other with homework." Also, having a family member at the same school as some students can really influence students. Junior Josh Shivetts states, "Having Principal Matt Shivetts in the building really makes me want to be a better person and try much harder on my school work." Although some students do not have the opportunity of having family members in the high school, those who do find it to be a great advantage.

Seniors and cousins, Adam and Lindsay Ferguson spend their last year at high school together. Not only do the two go to school together but they are also close outside of school as well.

Below: The great big happy Stas and Fenton family come close together for a group picture. The cousins and siblings are not only like this in school but also when they are outside of school as well!

Senior Kami Davis and junior Katie Davis pose for a picture as they were walking in the hallway together. The two may not always get along, but in the end they couldn't ask one another for a better sister.

Outstanding Seniors

Mathematics

"Having taken AP Calculus AB and BC, AP Computer Science, AP Statistics, and the Young Engineers class. Jaden Johnston has demonstrated a sincere interest in mathematics and often asks questions indicating his curiosity and ability to apply this knowledge to other areas. It has truly been a joy to teach Jaden."

-Mrs. Pompelia

Language Arts

"Michelle Kam is an incredibly hard worker, a talented writer. She has taken both AP offerings in the English Department and has shone in both environments.

-Mrs. Snyder

Social Studies

"Patrick Self epitomizes integrity and perseverance in and out of the classroom. PJ "walks the walk". His involvement in the community through scouts and his church has demonstrated his strong work ethic and belief in civic responsibility. No culture has achieved greatness without an apperciation of it's history, which is evident in PJ."

Mr. Wetzel

Science

"Eric McCracken is a top notch performer in both AP Physics and Astronomy. He has been a co-captain of the BotsIQ team for the past two seasons. He is a graduate of the young engineer's class with Kennametal. Eric might not be the most vocal but his passion and drive speak volumes for what Eric will make of his future."

World Languages

"Lindsay Smetanka is a very serious and devoted student. As an AP French student, she comes in early to work on her assignments and participates in the target language during class every day. Lindsay plans to use her language skills to enhance her studies at Seton Hill University as an International Studies and Diplomacy major."

Art

"Taylor DeLancey's a very talented young woman—creative, hard-working, persistent. She seems to truly love art—she often comes into my class during study halls to do extra drawings and paintings just for the fun of it. Future plans for Taylor include attending Edinboro University to further her visual arts education and pursue and art-related career."

-Mrs. Zalewski

Mre Mack

Technology

"Cody Lawrence" was selected for the outstanding senior technology education student because of his work ethic. He is currently in Wood Specialization (3rd level), and he has produced nothing but quality projects. Cody is an independent thinker, problem-solver, and takes pride in his topnotched projects that he designs and creates."

-Mr. Hudock

Physical Education

"Katie Slivko is a very hard worker and takes pride in health and fitness. She shows a drive and desire to incorporate fitness into her daily and we suspect will continue to be present over her entire life. In addition she is a student athlete racing on the cross country team showing her ability to compete and train for a sport."

Family and Consumer Sciences

"Logan Carns shows great interest in the Family and Consumer Sciences courses he has taken. His willingness to help others and friendly personality are among the many reasons he was selected as the outstanding student."

-Mrs. Burford

Band

"Dylan Pal is an outstanding senior student in the Music Department. He is a member of Concert Choir, Chamber Choir, Jazz Band, Marching Band, Musicals, and he has participated in several District/Regional Choir and Band Festivals. Dylan's positive contributions and musical intuition will be sorely missed."

Business

"Patrick Lucchino and Marcus Smail have been chosen because of their diverse skill set in all areas of business. They both have taken multiple business classes, earned excellent grades, actively participated and added quality dialog to our class discussions."

-Mrs. Butler

Chorus

"Stephanie Smith is an outstanding senior student in the Choral Department. Stephanie participates in the Chamber Choir, Concert Choir, Women's Choir, Wind Ensemble, Marching Band, Jazz Band, Musicals, and has participated in PMEA festivals. Stephanie is a strong vocal leader in the Greater Latrobe choral ensembles"

"Some people look for a beautiful place, others make a place beautiful." - Hazrat Kean

Adam,

From the moment you were born in "The Big Apple," you have made us so proud. You have been a joy to watch grow into such a talented, unique, funny, and caring young man. We know that you will succeed in whatever you pursue!

Not only are you a wonderful son, but also a big brother that your sisters look up to.

Love, Mom, Dad, Nina & Elena

DYLAN KOVATCH

Our Dearest Dylan, We are so proud of the fine man that you have become and all of your achievements. You are what every parent could hope for. You are a unique gift to the world, and the future is lucky to have a graduate like you in it. High School may be over for now but happily, learning isn't. Life is your teacher now. Build from your past, and make your own future but always remember to live in the moment. Remember to try, to take chances and make mistakes, and learn from them. Most important remember that your family loves you and will always be there for you. As you prepare for the next chapter in your life know that we will always be proud of you. May God Bless You Today and Always,

All our love, Mom, Dad & Cameron

ANNA GRAZIANO

From your first smile, your laughter that took our breath away you kept us all wondering. Every day was a happy day for you. Now you are at one of the best days of your life and we are so proud of you. Nothing is holding you back now and we know whatever comes your way, you will step over! All our love, Mom, Dad, Maria, Lee, Johnny & Bailey

AMBER GATES

Our life is like a book as this chapter ends. We look forward to the future as a new chapter begins. It's hard to express in words the feelings we have, looking back at the past and realizing this day has come way to fast. Amber we are proud of all that you have done and hope the future will be just as fun.

Love, Dad, Mom & Cory

BREAN

The time has finally come for you, and it came too quickly for me. Now all we have are memories. Much love and happiness to you as a new life has just begun. May all your dreams come true.

CLASS 2014

GARRETT

Garrett, The last 18 years have passed by so quickly and we have enjoyed every minute. You are such a blessing to us. We are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments and are excited to see you start the next chapter. You have worked very hard to get to where you are and to where you are going. This is just the beginning. Continue to work hard, follow your passion, stay true to yourself but most of all, be happy. The best is yet to come. Make it everything you imagined it would be. We love you, Dad, Mom & Madison

Johnny Saunders

The drive and determination you have has helped you accomplish so much in your life. Never lose the faith that has been responsible for all your happiness thus far.

It seems like not too long ago you were getting ready for your first day of school and had a long 12 years ahead of you and now you are a Senior and ready to move onto college and bigger and more exciting experiences! We are all so proud of the warm, caring and beautiful young lady you have grown into! You are a wonderful daughter to daddy and I, and a caring sister to Justin and Taylor! We know that you are so ready to move on to your college years and even though we will all miss you more than words can say, we know that whatever lies ahead for you will be exciting! Your accomplishments over the past 12 years are plenty and your friendships you have made over the years at Greater Latrobe are dear and close to you because you are such a great friend to many. Keep your eyes on the future and as long as you focus on your goals, you will achieve them!

Love and prayers forever! Mom, Dad, Justin and Taylor

Joey,

18 years ago sissy's "little pumpkin head" was born. You were mommy's little man and daddy's "bag of donuts". Over the years we have watched you grow from a hot tempered red head into a young man with a heart of gold, loving son and brother, a proud uncle, and an excellent hockey player. The list could go on and on. We couldn't be more proud of the man you have become. Always remember that whatever path you choose in life, you always have the love and support of all of us. We love you Joey, we will always be your biggest fans.

"Let It Out" Colophon

Volume 91 of the Latrobean, "Let It Out," was published by the yearbook staff of Greater Latrobe Senior High School in Latrobe, Pennsylvania and printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. The account was serviced by Sales Representative Carol Barber, Customer Service Advisor Bryan Harber, and Technical Support Advisor Amber Chase. The yearbook staff co-advisors Michele Butler and Scott Marker along with the editors created the theme, "Let It Out" during an in-school cover design session in May 2013. The cover and endsheet art was designed by Ashley Joiner, a Herff Jones Creative Artist from the Gettysburg plant. The cover is a custom embossed, four-color lithograph with soft lamination and uv gloss coating. The fonts used in this book were the AHJ Unitus Condensed font family and the AHJ News Gothic font family. The Latrobean pages were created and submitted electronically via the Herff Jones Edesign website. Senior and underclass portraits, as well as candid images, were provided by Timeless Photography K-12 of Greensburg, Pennsylvania. Additional photographs were submitted by the students or taken by the Latrobean staff.
