Latrobe has...

pride. passion. purpose.

Author: Katherine Harkins

High school is a journey that we will look back on and remember forever. From the first day of high school to graduation day, each student has left his or her own mark. The student body at Greater Latrobe is indescribable, but every corner you turn, you can see pride, passion, and purpose. Pride is not about the lunch table you sat at sophomore year, or the outfit you wore on the first day of school, but knowing what you are and always will be: a Wildcat. Our pride is clear when the Den is roaring, athletes are proudly wearing their uniforms on game day, and academic achievements are skyrocketing. To get through the long days and weeks at school, students have found things they can truly look forward to and be passionate about. You can almost see the passion dripping off the stage when the band, chorus, and musical and drama casts perform. Some students have found their passion beyond academics and after school activities, and have gotten a jump-start on their futures by learning a trade at EWCTC. But no matter what a student is doing, all students have the opportunity to find a true purpose in their high school career, whether it be reaching to get an "A" in that rumored "impossible" AP course, or finding, leading, or even creating a club or fundraiser to make a difference. Pride. Passion. Purpose: the only way to describe Greater Latrobe and the student body.

Authors: Rachelle Kuhn & Emily Bonar

The days we have spent in high school have become the beginning pages in our adulthood stories. From elementary school to junior high and then to high school, each new step that we have taken, we've taken together. The memories we have made, the photographs we have taken, the troubles we have faced, and the marks we have made on each other will stick with us as we continue to grow. Our laughs, losses, and lessons we have experienced will help us in the new challenges we'll face. Although we are taking a step apart, this will always be where our story began. The people we've met have shaped our lives in so many ways.

"Your life is your message to the world. Make sure it's inspiring."

Author: Jessica Havrilla

With one year left as Greater Latrobe High School students, we have begun to plan for the next phase of our lives. While many people may be taking SATs and looking for their future colleges, others may be hoping to join the Armed Forces or preparing to enter the workforce. No matter how we view this year, each of us feels the pressures that come with taking the next step in our journey toward adulthood. The failures, successes, and experiences gained will help us to make future decisions and prepare us to face different events to come. Being a junior, many things will soon come to an end, but many new beginnings will also be created.

"A smile costs nothing but gives much. It takes but a moment, but the memory of it lasts forever."

Why were you nervous about moving up to the high school?

I was nervous about the classes being harder because I want to maintain good grades.

John Ludvik

I was nervous about getting lost because I didn't want my teachers to be mad at me if I was late to class.

Sammie Sarraf

I was nervous about getting lost because the school was bigger, and I thought it was confusing.

Jake Huemme

I was nervous about not knowing where my classes were because I only knew where a few rooms were.

Shawna Stahl

I was nervous about being in a new building because I thought the classes would be a lot harder.

Hunter Piper

I was nervous about being the youngest in the school because I didn't know anyone older than me.

Author: Rachael Kollar

The first year as a high school student can be overwhelming. School starts earlier, the building is bigger, there are different teachers, and classes are harder. We try to make our way through the halls with many people that we don't even know. As the year progressed, many new friendships started to evolve through joining clubs and sports teams. The atmosphere of the building became more relaxed while students tried to focus on their studies. Through the winter delays and cancellations, students continued to work hard in their classes. Once the weather started to become nicer, they had almost a whole year under their belts. The next year as juniors awaits.

Celebrity Look-A-Likes

and the winners are...

Author: Cassie Foschia

Growing up, high school kids spend their free time watching TV, going to see movies with their friends, or listening to their favorite song. It's easy to be constantly surrounded by the presence and influence of numerous celebrities on a daily basis. It may be a favorite pro-athlete sponsoring new Nike shoes, or a beloved boy band helping get over a first heartbreak. No matter what the case, at least one celebrity has motivated a life in a positive way. Not only do these celebrities influence others, they act as easily-distinguishable people that we sometimes even see as similar to our own classmates. Resemblances among students within our own school show how big of an effect celebrities have on youth today, and how we use them to identify those we see every day. It's easy to see slight similarities between celebrities and each other, but to see such uncanny looks between students and famous celebrities really causes you to do a double take.

I Believe That We Will Win the wildcat den

Author: Kaitlin Morris

This year was a fresh start for the Wildcat Den. Instead of the usual spot on the opposite side of the stadium, the students moved to the home side of the field. With the new location, the Den seemed bigger than ever. Students filled the stands every game, rain or shine. Every Friday, students dressed in each crazy theme, ranging from "camo" to "USA" night. One of the most exciting nights this football season was "beach night," which was when the Wildcats defeated Kiski. After the final touchdown, the entire Den took a victory lap around the track. Although football season quickly came to an end, the Den continued showing pride throughout the basketball season. With a new season came new themes and chants. Some themes seen in the Den this basketball season were "suits & shades," "safari," and "holiday" night. This year, the excitement for the season was apparent very early, starting with the first tournament played at home. The students couldn't contain their enthusiasm during the final game of the tournament when Sean Graytok scored a buzzer-beater to win the game for the boys. The students charged the court celebrating such an awesome game. Starting the year off on a good note got the Den ready for yet another great season to show school spirit. Rain or shine, football or basketball, the students of Greater Latrobe Senior High could always be seen supporting their fellow Wildcats from the Wildcat Den.

Juniors Kyra Stranko and Brianna Marshall wear their pink to support Breast Cancer Awareness. The Den was filled with pink for a good cause.

Seniors Maria Mucci and Josh Lorshbaugh cheer on the Wildcats during the exciting section championship. The Den was packed with wild fans celebrating the win.

Senior Joe Russo shows off his #1 Fan megaphone that he uses to call chants every game. Joe was the 2014-2015 Den leader.

Junior Payton Knupp and senior Katie Davis sport leis and shorts for the beach theme. Beach night was an exciting game ending in a victory.

Senior Brett Siko and junior Tyler Gustafson support the boys basketball team during the best game of the season. The Den was completely filled with wild and excited fans.

Latrobe runners push each other as they venture through the woods. The boys worked on their endurance throughout the season so they could finish near the top.

Born to Run

Author: Savannah Gettins

Starting in early August, the boys cross country team began its training. With guidance from Coach Simpson, they were able to make this season successful. After the first race, everyone noticed that all of the hard work had paid off. Captain Cord Leone started in the first race, and the team had a great outcome. Since there were a few new people this year, the rest of the runners gave their support and helped each other overcome their obstacles. The season did not start out as everyone thought it was going to, but with a lot of teamwork, they turned it into a great one-one they will not forget! "My favorite memory would have to be when I was a sophomore and we had our overnight trip," senior Garrett Harter explained. Without each other, they could not have achieved the accomplishments that they did. The pride from each team member helped them reach their goals for the season. Before each meet, the boys had a motivational chant: "1-2 win for you, 3-4 win some more, 5-6 win for kicks, 7-8 win it's great, 9-10 win again, win again, win again." The boys are very excited for next year's season and cannot wait to really prove their chant to be true.

Collin Wilson stays ahead of his opponents throughout the race. All of his hard work really paid off.

Cord Leone runs through the woods and keeps a steady pace through the whole race. The hard work was well worth it.

Spencer Simpson holds his own in the race. Training throughout the summer really helped him through the season.

Matt Warren keeps a steady pace as he runs to the finish line. With help from the team, the race was a success.

Blues McMahon proves himself as one of the younger runners on the team. His endurance improved from all of his dedication.

Pre-season training started early in the summer. Without formal practices, the girls worked hard to be ready for the upcoming season. By the time the season began in early August, the girls could tell that their training had paid off. The first race came, and sophomore Megan Sensue stated that she stayed focused by seeing the runner in front of her and imagining herself passing her. About a month later, the girls placed third out of seven teams at the Vulcan Invitational, which was held at California University of Pennsylvania.

The girls continued to decrease their running times and improve through the season. Every race, every practice, and every injury led the Cats to one last race for the WPIAL championship. They finished sixteenth out of thirty-four teams. A memorable moment from sophomore Bella Landry is when she, Taylor Klasnic, Jill Cline, and Abby Novotny went for a run in the woods and had a mud fight. "We had to wash our clothes in the creek next to Rotary before returning to the field house," she explained. They took pride ending their season with a winning record of 4-3 in the section.

Janine Schomer sprints across the finish line. She was well-prepared for the last stretch.

Taylor Klasnic sets herself at the perfect pace. She set her mind on the finish line.

Maria Cawoski leads the pack. Her quick start allowed her to finish with a good time.

Nellie Cline moves past the opposing team. She was a strong runner through the season.

The Latrobe field hockey teammates took pride in their work as they dedicated time to have a successful season. The Lady Cats started off the season strong by winning their first game against Norwin 2-0. As the players reflected on their accomplishments, senior Jocelyn Cawoski stated, "The season went pretty well. We did a lot better than I thought." Jocelyn, who was the starting goalie for the Lady Cats, commented, "The toughest part of being a goalie would be having to move quick and swift in all the gear and having to get used to being hit constantly." On the Cats' senior night, senior Naomi Schwaiger got the opportunity to fill the position of the goalie and said it was "really fun" and "surprisingly easy." Jocelyn offered advice for both her upcoming and returning teammates: "Always work hard and never give up." Memories were made all throughout the season; Naomi's favorite memory was when Tori fell into the goal and took out the goalie during practice. The girls made long-lasting relationships and a strong bond, which made this season enjoyable. The Lady Cats are really anxious for next year's season to begin.

Kerrigan Batsal fights to keep the ball away from the defence. She fought hard that game against Pine Richland.

The Lady Cats huddle together to congratulate one another on their game. Each individual played her best.

Jocelyn Cawoski poses for the Lady Cats' senior night. They ended their night with a victory against their rivals Hemphfield.

Rachele Shafer tries to keep the ball away from the Warriors. The Lady Cats came out strong and ended with a win.

The Start of a New Era

Author: Tyler Mears

With the hiring of new coach Jason Marucco, all hopes were high for the Wildcats this season. The Wildcats just never seemed to lose hope and kept pride the whole season. The team was highly stricken by injuries of many of the seniors and starters of the team, but the Cats still made the most of their season. "Being that I was new to the team, I was not sure what to expect, but in order to be a great team you have to set high expectations," stated Seth Holler. "Yes, we did not have the season we all expected, but I would do anything to walk out on Friday nights with my boys and do it all over again." The coaches were credited for the team never losing hope, and the senior leadership of the Cats was credited to keeping the team together. When senior Nick Aiello was asked about the leadership, he said, "Although the season did not go quite as planned, I think the spirit stayed up for the most part throughout the whole season. When the team got down, sometimes some of the seniors would try to lighten everyone else." The season was still exciting and energetic with many ups, but the season did have its downs. No matter what was going on with the team, the players made sure to make the most of it. One thing is for sure: no matter what was happening, the team competed.

Luke Monteparte lines up at pre-snap. He was a captain this past year for the team.

Brett Siko jumps to defend a pass. Brett was a huge playmaker this season.

Cody Henry waits for game time. He always got in the zone before the games.

Nick Aiello runs down field in a game. Nick was the leading rusher on the team this year.

Evan Kemp dives to make a tackle. He led the team in tackles this season.

A Sport of Patience

Author: Rachelle Kuhn

The 2014 boys golf season was a success for the overall team, as well as a few individual players. The team finished second in the section and made it to the WPIAL team semifinals. They also were the Garrison Tournament Champions and won the Westmoreland County Coaches Association Tournament. Senior Chad Kissell, sophomore Jake Biss, and junior Ryan Shaw qualified for the WPIAL individual finals, with Jake and Chad making it to the PIAA semifinals. From there, Chad made it to the PIAA finals where he finished 11th in the state. Qualifying for the PIAA semifinals is definitely exhilarating, but it could also be intimidating knowing you're playing against some of the best golfers in Pennsylvania. It was Jake Biss's first time making it to the semifinals this season, and he expressed it as being "a great experience for me, both physically and mentally." Having pride in yourself and team can help you in these difficult matches. Even though the team didn't win its section, the players said they still had a great season. When asked about his favorite memory, John McIntyre replied, "We always had a blast, whether we were singing along to horrible songs on bus rides or just simply telling jokes or funny stories." The golf team finished the season at 11-4 overall and 10-2 in section play.

Sophomore Isaac Poole chips to the green at Latrobe Country Club. Many memories were made on the home course.

Bryce McNeely putts the ball on the green. The junior's low scores helped the team throughout the season.

Perfecting his putt, Tommy Kisick takes a practice stroke. Practice paid off when he was competing in a match.

John McIntyre uses a powerful swing to hit the golf ball. Hits like this led to success for many individual players.

Chad Kissell uses perfect form at the PIAA semifinals. Kissell was the only senior on the team this year.

The First in Twenty

Author: Emily Bonar

With guidance from the new coach, Tom Kennedy, the boys of Greater Latrobe soccer had a section record of 4-6. "Until it's over" was the motto that Coach Tom and the team kept in mind every game. They would not give up or let down until the final whistle blew. The final game that decided whether the boys made it to the playoffs took place at Highmark Stadium in Pittsburgh, where many teams from the AAA division played games. This game holds a special memory for all the boys, especially senior Joey Russo. With a tie score during the last period, Joey was in goal and did not give up until it was over. He had two amazing saves that therefore allowed the boys to win and make it into the playoffs. Pride was exuded throughout the entire team as this was the first year that the boys soccer had made it into the playoffs in over 20 years. Senior captain Coby Green said, "We played really strong defense in the second half to hold off Hempfield. It is really exciting to be the team that represented Latrobe in the playoffs in such a long time." All in all, the boys enjoyed the season and accomplished a lot for Latrobe. From having fun and listening to Billy Joel on every bus ride to working hard and playing together as a team, the 2014-2015 boys soccer team had a great run and made our school proud.

Ian Greiner helps to defend the goal. His involvement aided the goalie, Dillon Guidera.

Noah Svidron throws the ball in from the sideline. He successfully got the ball to one of his teammates.

Coby Green dribbles the ball towards Albert Gallatin's goal. He had speed and good control over the ball.

Hunter Petrosky focuses on protecting the ball. His defense helped to make his job easier.

Zachary Meadway scans the field. He watched out for the other team as he made his way to the goal.

Reilly McCracken kicks the ball past the opposing defender. Having quick feet was an important attribute to playing midfield.

Brooke Baughman kicks the ball to her teammate. Her determination led to a successful game.

Defying Expectations

Author: Maria Mucci

The Lady Wildcat soccer team had a very successful season. The team's overall record for the season was 10-8-0. The girls on the team had a special bond that no one could break. Senior Rachel Campbell said, "I have a close bond with all of my seniors. We are all very good friends, and I've also become closer to some of the underclassmen. These girls are definitely my sisters. We have been through everything together." Junior Hannah Mears added, "It might be cliché, but my teammates are my sisters. I'd do anything for any of them at any given time. They all will forever have a special place in my heart."

Their strong bond helped them work together, better than if they were just teammates on the field. The Lady Wildcats made the playoffs for a second year in a row. Senior Maddy Mueseler said, "This year was very exciting because our team was more experienced this time around since we made the playoffs last year. We knew we were capable of competing with even the best teams." One of the highlights of the season was playing Penn Trafford for the second time. After losing 6-0 the first time the teams met, going into overtime the second game showed how far they had come as a team. The Lady Wildcats showed their pride in their 10 wins and plan on coming back next year with an even better record.

Lauren Stranko dribbles the ball. She looked for an open teammate to advance the ball downfield.

Grace Rellick steals the ball from her opponent. Her control over the ball helped her to keep the ball away from the defense.

Abby Whitehead heads towards the goal. She looked out for opponents as she headed down the field.

Ava Petrosky quickly moves away from her opponent. Her speed helped her to take control of the ball.

Kendall Bryant helps on defense. She did not allow the other team to make it to the goal.

As Coach Stas came into her second season, she felt that the girls were very prepared for the season. "The girls worked their butts off over the winter and summer with Coach Jury," commented Coach Stas. "Overall, compared to last season, there was a lot more effort put forth." Although the Cats did not have any senior captains, co-captains junior Emily Steeley and sophomore Tori Rutigliano lead the team with pride and performance on the court. The team just missed the playoffs this year because of a tiebreaker, which went back to the regular season match against Penn Trafford who squeezed out the win against the Wildcats. According to senior Bella Lane, "Every year, losing seniors is a big readjustment, but this year we had a lot of talented girls ready to make that transition. This year was a success because of everyone's hard work on and off the court." Although they fell just short of their goal, the team members still considered it a very successful season. The Cats have a lot to look forward to next year with the return of both of their captains.

Abby Pratt, Brianna Marshall, and Emily Walker are dressed and ready for the car wash. The event raised money for their season.

Caitlin Hennessey prepares to receive a serve from her competitor. Caitlin greatly improved as the season went on.

Emily Steeley refreshes after a set. She, along with the rest of the team, was in very good shape this season.

Emily Walker serves with perfect form. Her competitors did not stand a chance.

Abby Pratt and Tori Rutigliano show some great team comradery. This unity held the team together throughout the season.

Can You Dig It?

Author: Seth Holler

With graduating only two seniors from last year's team, much of the experience returned to the court for the Cats this season. But the season did not go as planned for the girls. It was a slow start and an unexpected one to say the least; the girls dropped their first two matches, 3-0 to Norwin and 3-1 to Penn Trafford, both top teams in Section 1 AAA. Senior Kennady Grejtak commented, "I felt upset, not because we lost, but because we had the talent to win. Each game we came closer, but despite losing, it showed us that we could compete with them and we were just as capable to win as they were." The losses showed them that it wasn't pride they were lacking but simple communication and chemistry. Those losses helped them really become a better team and made it apparent that they would not succeed without each other. Working for each point ultimately made them a better overall team, and they had fun along the way. The leader of the fun started with the leader of the team, captain Kelsey Paul. When asked about being the team jokester, she said, "When your season isn't going as planned, it's hard for the whole team to keep a positive attitude. I felt like it was my job to bring up everyone's spirits on and off the court." This was easily a season none of the girls will forget.

Aleisha Stas awaits the serve from the opposing team. Aleisha was an everyday starter for the team.

Arielle Schneider eyes up the defense before hitting her serve. Arielle was a key part in the team's growth.

Assistant Coach Drew Vosefski talks to the team about the game plan in the huddle. This was his first season back with the girls.

Noelle Carota hits a jump-serve versus Kiski Area. Noelle was the junior captain for the team.

No sports expert could have predicted what the season had in store for the boys basketball team this season. The season started off quite like the offense: fast and running. The Cats went 9-3 (5-0 in section) in the first half of the season, with key victories coming against Norwin and Penn Trafford, which eventually led to a matchup of section unbeatens against rival Hempfield. Everything that could have gone wrong went wrong for the boys, and many would say they played their worst game of the year that night at Hempfield. Senior Matt Cullen, who was sidelined by a knee injury, explained, "It made us realize the level of basketball we had to play at and it motivated us to get better." And that it did. They roared through the section in the second half of the season going unbeaten again, setting up a section championship game in the Den versus unbeaten and top-ranked Hempfield. In front of a sold-out crowd of more than 1,700 people packed into a standing-room-only gym, the boys did the unthinkable. They took down the Spartans, earning a share of the section title for the first time since 2009. Matt Dragan said, "It was the most emotional win I have ever been a part of." Senior forward Lane Loughner described the feeling as being "the most exciting thing I have ever experienced, and I will take pride in that win forever."

The girls basketball team participated in summer workouts to get stronger for the upcoming season. This season the Lady Cats gained a new player, Lucy Raymond. When asked about her thoughts of team, she stated, "All of the girls were very welcoming. We worked hard through the summer and fall league to prepare ourselves for the season." The season started very slow for the girls with a record of 2-7 before Christmas break ended. The girls were ready for a change; they wanted a win. Their trip to Butler was a long one, but it was well worth it. It was a close game that resulted in a win. The Lady Cats took pride in their ability to come together and play as a team. With half of their season left, their goal was to continue to play together and support one another. "I care for each and every one of the girls on the team," said Regan Guzik, one of the biggest supporters. "I feel like no matter what, I was the one to put a smile on everyone's face." The Lady Cats ended the season with a record of 6-6 in the section and 9-14 overall. Their season led them to a spot in the playoffs where the Cats, ranked number 15, played North Allegheny, ranked number 2. They lost in the first round but put in a lot of work to make it to the post-season.

The cheerleaders are some of the biggest supporters that attend sporting events. No matter how the game was going, they always found a way to get the crowd pumped up. They started their practices during the summer and had one to two practices a week. Once school began, they continued the practices until football season arrived. Friday nights, the girls showed up to every game with a positive attitude and an enthusiastic smile to cheer on the Cats. They got to cheer-on the football players and had fun doing so. Senior captain Rachel Murphy said, "My favorite part of cheering over the years is the little feuds and cheer-offs that would occur throughout the games with squads from different schools." Football was one of the many sports that the cheerleaders attended. When October came and it was time to support breast cancer awareness, the girls supported the cause by selling t-shirts at lunch. The squad even wore some pink for the game. The cheerleaders did not cheer only for football, they showed support at the wrestling team's home matches and at the basketball team's home and away games. The squad put forth a lot of effort and time to get its cheers and stunts close to perfection. As their seasons came to a close, the girls can look back and have pride in all of the support that they gave to the athletes and to each other.

Beginning the 2014-2015 season in October, the IceCats worked with the techniques of a new coaching staff. The team's goal for the season was to make it to the Penguins Cup again. The Cats had seven returning seniors, three of which were chosen to help lead the team. Senior Cam Carr was the captain on the ice. Seniors Ben Douglas and Tanner Shaffer along with junior Brendan Johns were also chosen as the team's alternate captains. Carr, when asked about the new head coach, Josh Werner, stated, "He's tough, especially during practices, but he's a good coach and knows what he's doing." The season started out slow with the IceCats losing their first three games. However, it did not take long for the team to begin to turn their season around. Once the members of the team learned the new system of the coaching staff, things began to fall into place. Junior Ryan DeFelice stated, "I think we started working as a team and just started believing in one another, and it started with picking the speed and intensity of our practices up." The IceCats finished with an overall record of 10-8-1. With five games left in the season, the team was able to successfully clinch a position in the playoffs. Pride filled the rink and team with anticipation and excitement for the post-season.

The boys swimming team had a good season with the record of 2-9. Swimming isn't just a team sport; it is an individual sport also. You set yourself goals to improve your time to make yourself better, stronger, and faster. Having practice in the mornings and after school showed the team's determination to do well and work hard to reach their goals and accomplishments. Taylor Barta said, "My biggest accomplishment was ending the season this year at the WPIAL meet. Also in diving I took sixth place out of 35 boys and only missed out on going to states by three points. I went from not wanting to dive at the beginning of the season, to almost making states." Collin Smith added, "My goal this swim season was to get a personal record in the 500 freestyle and improve my time in the breast stroke." People have different type of goals and accomplishments for each race and meet. Each and every boy improved and made a ton of memories doing so. The boys swimming and diving team took pride in how far they had come and how much hard work they put into the season.

Chad Kissell leaps off the diving board to attempt his dive. His practice helped him to do well in the meets.

Yizhe Liu slices through the water during the breaststroke. His form helped him improve his time.

The girls swimming and diving team never seem to have a dull season. The team worked hard during the on- and off-season. They practiced nonstop, starting on Monday and ending on Saturday for two and a half hours, leaving Sunday for a day of rest. Monday and Wednesday practices were held early in the morning before school. Along with practices, the team took part in both wet and dry-land workouts. The girls dedicated themselves to working hard so that they could have a solid performance during the meets. Rachel Douds stated, "The team did awesome this season. We are a small team and we lost many good people last year, but we were able to push through and win meets." The diving team did its part as well to make a solid season. Even though swimming and diving are two different events, the team still acted as one. Rachel Douglas commented, "The dive team is my family. Diving and swimming can sometimes seem like two separate teams, but in the end we all support each other." The girls swimming and diving team put forth a lot of effort to make this season a memorable one. The team won counties, and a few of the members continued on to the WPIALs and states. The team can look back and reminisce on the season and have pride in all it accomplished to make this season a successful one.

The Wildcats fell just short of making the team PIAA championships this past season, by taking 4th in the WPIAL playoffs, and only the top three move on to the PIAA state championships. Overall, the team finished with a record of 14-3, and many would say it was more of a family than a team. "It was definitely disappointing not making it back to team states, but it was still a season to remember," said senior Travis Schmeling. "Just being with those guys every day, I wouldn't trade this season or these guys for anything." After the team playoffs were done, the Wildcats continued onto individual time where they started the individual season with the team being ranked #38 in the country. First up was section championships where the team broke the school record of 11 qualifiers, and qualified all 14 starters into the WPIAL championships. The team also broke the school record qualifying 6 to the PIAA tournament. The season may not have gone exactly how the team had planned on day one, but it was still extremely successful and record-breaking for the Wildcats.

For the first time in school history, the Latrobe baseball team played its home games somewhere other than Legion Keener Park. With the new season brought a new home field. The team will now be playing its home games under the lights at the new all-turf sports complex located behind the school. With returning only five starters players from last season in second baseman Cody Helfrich, catcher Mike Rogers, outfielder Josh Verchuck, third baseman Doug Cengia, and first baseman Seth Holler, the team relied on underclassmen to step up for the team this year. And as many underclassman there were, this year marked the most sophomores that head coach Matt Basciano has had on the varsity roster of any year that he has coached. "The sophomore class is very talented, and certain players are going to have to step up in order for us to be successful. It is my job to get them ready," said senior Doug Cengia. With eight sophomores dressed in varsity uniform every day, it was a matter of time until they were used to the speed of the game. Sophomore Jared Kollar was the opening day starter against the North Allegheny Tigers, the game did not go as planned with the Cats losing 7-3, but the score did not reflect how close the game actually was. They took pride in their effort and showed how much potential this team had and proved they could hang with the best.

The boys lacrosse team not only wanted to grow as a team, but also show the thrills of the game. Junior Joe Reed commented, "We wanted a winning season and to set new heights for the team." With the team members beginning to train in December for season in February, they had high hopes for this year's outcome. Before their games began, the boys knew that Greensburg Central Catholic was going to be one of their main competitors. That, however, did not waiver their desire to win the section title. It was an advantage to the team and its members that they had a great amount of talent to guide them through the season. The team this year also felt that teamwork was more prominent among its members. The benefit of this was that the team experienced more ball movement on the field. This was key to getting the defenders out of position to create scoring opportunities for the Cats. Sophomore Brad Kemp stated, "We expect ourselves to respect the coach and give 100% effort." The boys lacrosse team took pride in all the work they had put forth throughout the preseason. In the end, the extra time, training, and togetherness of the team proved to push the boys to never stop trying to reach the goal they set early in the season.

The girls lacrosse team was finally able to be recognized as a school sport. The past few years, the team has made it to playoffs. The Lady Cats have always taken pride in how they are extremely close with one another on and off the field. Abby Sobota stated, "The bond we have both on and off the field creates trust and helps us be more successful." This year, they were determined to work just as hard as they have in the past two years in hopes of extending their season. Before the season started, the girls had preseason conditioning and also played in a Midnight Madness tournament. It was to start at 7:45 pm and end at 3:00 am the next morning. They are a section two team playing all section three teams. Out of the thirteen teams that participated in Midnight Madness, the Cats were able to place third and fifth. The tournament helped the team realize what it needed to work on in practice to prepare for the rest of the season. "We needed to work on our defense because our whole defensive end from last year graduated or was injured," commented Jessie Kostic. "A lot of players have stepped up and worked hard to fill those spots." The team was able to perfect its basic stick skills and play together like it always has.

Abby Sobota protects the net. Her wide stance allowed her to quickly move and block shots.

Payton Knupp uses her stick to stop a pass. Her defense stopped the other team from scoring.

Bailey Quinn cradles the ball down the field. She tried to quickly get the ball near the goal.

The Lady Wildcats started their conditioning and pre-season practices as the start of the season approached. Mondays and Wednesdays consisted of a series of weight lifting exercises created by Mr. Jury. On Tuesdays, the girls practiced defensive drills, and Thursdays were dedicated to offensive drills. Coach Bryson and Coach Kozusko along with the help of Mr. Jury worked the girls hard to prepare them for the upcoming season that began in March. Tryouts for the Cats were held on March 2 and 3. The girls had to perform a variety of skills to prove to the coaches that they had talent to bring to the team. After tryouts were done, the girls took pride in making the team and could officially begin their season. The team practiced and played on the new turf field located in the new complex behind the school. "There were quite a few changes. The game as a whole is much faster now rather than on the dirt," commented senior Jenna Adams. "Personally, it gives us an advantage because it'll help us with our quickness, and it's also a much better facility than the field we had before." Winning in any sport is important, but the Lady Wildcats were determined to reach and achieve their three important goals, starting with winning the section, then states, and finally the WPIALs. Senior Rachael Boggs stated, "We put our whole heart into the practices and games and worked hard as a team to accomplish our goal of winning."

After winning the section last season, the Latrobe boys tennis team had high expectations for the season. When asked what the team's goals were going into the season, senior Luke Crawford said, "We all plan on going for the section title again this year. Also this season, we want to make it to Hershey and come home state champs." Senior Nick Allen set the bar even higher: "One word: undefeated." Going into a season with that high of an expectation, the boys needed focus, dedication, and skill. The boys faced many obstacles this season including playing the team's rival, Franklin Regional, but the boys didn't let anything stop them. A huge contributor to the Cats' success throughout the season was senior Chad Kissell. "I play tennis because it's so competitive," said Kissell. "Playing one-on-one, you really get to see who the better player is." Although playing one-on-one makes the sport seem individual, the boys all had to work together and play their best to accomplish the goals they had set for themselves. With each victory, the players felt pride in the team. Going into a season with high hopes, the Latrobe boys tennis team played with hard work and dedication to give the Wildcats a good reputation on and off the court.

Track and field is all about setting personal goals. From sprinting and pole vaulting to throwing and distance, each person has to work on his or her own personal time and strength. Senior Josh Shivetts agreed and said, "My favorite part of track is the pressure to improve yourself. Each practice is either a win or a loss." Senior jumper and runner Matt Kalning added, "It takes a lot of hard work, effort, and motivation to better yourself to be successful." With each time and distance improved, the team became better as a whole. Training began for some track members during November when they participated in indoor track. Also, throwers and pole vaulters worked hard in the weight room to prepare for the season. At the beginning of March, the whole team began practicing. They worked hard every day after school, whether that be conditioning, practicing on the field, lifting weights, or doing exercises in the pool. Senior Matt Dragan commented, "Hard work always pays off." The boys had an overall good season and made a ton of memories reaching their goals. Pride in each individual, in the team, and in our school carried the boys through their track and field season successfully.

Lead the Pack

Coming into the season, members of the girls track and field team had multiple goals. The first one was having the hopes of multiple athletes qualifying for states. The more difficult goal was seeing those qualifiers with pride on the medal stands at the end of the season. To help prepare for the spring season, members of the team participated in an indoor track and field program which began in November. The team hoped to send girls on the 4 x 800 meters relay team to Shippensburg for states, and felt there was potential to send individual athletes to states in the open 800 meter and 1600 meter. On the track, the team had a solid foundation in terms of returning seniors. Sophomore Abby LaDuke commented, "To improve from last year, we worked harder in workouts." However, this was not the case for the girls throwing. After graduating two, four-year letter winners, the team had the experience of young athletes. Senior Hannah McMichael stated, "My goal for the season was to get my high jump personal record." Many underclassmen had stepped up and showed promise for the potential of the season. Through many hours of practice after school and perseverance during meets, the members of the girls track and field team had challenges to overcome, but it proved to be rewarding in the end.

Junior Lia Callahan runs toward the finish line. Her endurance was key to finishing the race.

Anna Ramsey sprints to hand off the baton to the next runner. The sophomore was a member of both the 4x4 and 4x8 relay teams.

Junior Hannah Mears prepares to begin the first leg of the 4x8 relay. The team scored points in the meet against Connellsville.

Megan Sensue focuses on the goal ahead. The sophomore worked her hardest to beat the other runners.

Junior Skylea Burrow hurls the javelin forward. Her strength helped to push it a great distance.

With hopes and expectations of living up to the success of years past, the boys decided to take on the challenge. With only two seniors on the team this season, the boys had to step up to fill the shoes of the previous leaders from last year. Having 13 juniors, five sophomores, and two freshmen, with many who are relatively new to playing, the underclassmen had to put in work during the off-season. With optional open gyms and conditionings starting in the winter and continuing until the season officially started in March, nearly all of the players attended day in and day out. This was a key component in getting the team in shape, keeping up with their skills on the court, and creating chemistry between the boys even before their season began. Head coach Drew Vosefski, alongside assistant coach Jon Walker, persistently pushed the boys to reach their full potential on the court. To kick off their season, the boys faced Butler and had the advantage to play on their own home court. When asked what the common goal was going into the season, senior Jared Skoloda responded, "We were viewed as a lower team this year from losing a lot of seniors, and our goal was to prove all of them wrong." With this in mind, the entire team pushed one another to take pride in another successful Wildcat volleyball season.

Senior Jared Skoloda and junior Tommy Kisick pose for a picture. They both were captains for the 2015 season.

Junior Jake Vreeland eyes up the player serving for Butler. Jake was a right side hitter for the varsity team.

Seniors Vince Bonar and Jared Skoloda are the only seniors on the 2015 volleyball team. They were both outside hitters.

Juniors Ryan Soisson and Tommy Kisick set up a block against Butler's outside hitter. They provided reliable defense.

Junior libero Jack Fenton hand-passes the ball to the setter. Jack was a key component for the team's defense.

Latrobe has a solid athletic program that encourages students to take part in multiple sports. Sports are a way for individuals to make friends. All of the teams create a bond that will last a lifetime. This year, the athletes took pride and were fortunate enough to have a brand new sports complex on which to perform. Many of the Cats' teams have had a successful season. Multiple teams have made it to the WPIALs and states. Each sport worked hard and trained for its season to make it a memorable one. All of the teams were motivated in some sort of way and were determined to reach their goals no matter what they were.

"I hated every minute of training, but I said, 'Don't quit. Suffer now and live the rest of your life as a champion.'"

PRE-GAME

"I enjoyed all of the cheering and yelling. By getting my makeup done, I could show my friends that this dance is just about having fun and no reason to be nervous!"

Ryan Pal

"The pep rally was a great way to bring the school community together to feed off the energy of the football players, cheerleaders, the band, and each other."

Jess Holzapfel

"The parade gave everyone in town a chance to get excited for the game! The floats were amazing and definitely worth the wait in the rain!"

McKenzie Powell

Homecoming... one of the most talked about, anticipated events in high school. The madness all began when five seniors, four juniors, and two sophomores were nominated for homecoming court by the entire student body. Shortly after the nominations were announced, the students voted for homecoming queen, and the girls anxiously awaited for the moment when the winner was finally declared. The week leading up to the game was filled with excitement, kicking it off with the first-ever car smashing, bashing the blue and white-painted car. Also, prior to the homecoming game was the spirit-filled pep assembly, which pumped up the student body. Having the band play, cheerleaders dance and chant, and incorporating the entire school, the Wildcats were ready to take on Hempfield. Right before the game began, students constructed unique floats, representing the clubs and organizations they belong to, which greatly contributed to the passion and purpose shown from the students of Latrobe. All of the fans rushed in for the rivalry game, and the Wildcat Den dressed up in togas, showing their pride. When halftime quickly arrived, the girls on homecoming court were announced one-by-one and introduced to the entire crowd. After a long, silent wait after, "And your 2014-2015 homecoming queen is...Naomi Schwaiger," and the crowd went wild. The excitement did not stop here and was even carried on to the next day for the long-awaited dance.

Student Council members celebrate during the homecoming parade. They made their float to go along with the dance theme "Autumn Night."

Homecoming

an autumn night

Author: Emily Bonar

The day of October 11, 2014 was a blast for the students of Greater Latrobe Senior High School. The excitement and pride from the events leading up to homecoming did not dwindle as the day went on. Girls got dolled up and boys put on their ties for the night. It was a beautiful day and the fun began. Everyone came together in the commons area of the school for a night of dancing and fun hosted by Student Council. The theme of the homecoming dance this year was an autumn night, which was expressed through lights, hay, corn stalks, pumpkins, and fall flowers. Student Council also provided an assortment of snacks and drinks to keep the students replenished and ready to dance. Along with the decorations and snacks, a DJ was hired to play some of the students' favorite songs. This helped to make the night a success and kept everyone pumped up and on the dance floor. Some of the most popular songs included "Don't Tell 'Em" by Jeremiah, "Gas Pedal" by Sage the Gemini, and "Wobble" by V.I.C. A senior who attended the dance, Danny Kissel, commented, "The homecoming dance was a great way to be able to dance and joke around with all my friends. I am happy that I went and made great high school memories that I can never make again." Each and every student had a memorable experience at the homecoming dance, an autumn night.

Juniors Take Battle of the Halls

Author: Seth Holler

Battle of the Halls is an event that many students look forward to during the school year. The event falls during the week leading up to homecoming to show school spirit and pride throughout the school. Each class gets to use its creativity and choose a theme based on what the students agree on. Teachers are then invited to vote on whose hallway they think is the best decorated. This year's themes consisted of "Pink Out" for the sophomores, "Merica" for the juniors, and "Grecian Gardens" for the seniors. All classes felt they decorated their hallway well enough to get the ultimate prize, a donut party in their homerooms, but only one could win. The winner of the 2015 Battle of the Halls was the junior class. Junior class vice president Vince Guerreri said, "It was a complete success, and I appreciated everybody that stayed after school that day to help decorate the best hall ever created." The juniors' hall consisted of a banner that read "Class of the FREE Hall of the BRAVE." Red, white, and blue balloons were taped to the ceiling, with an American flag with the phrase "We the Juniors 2016" written on it. This was one of the best showings and halls that has been created in the last several years during the Battle of the Halls contest.

Tony Aiello plans out the best spot to place one of the sophomores' posters. He played a big role in making their hallway a success.

Amanda Baez Snyder and Taylor Sigot talk about how to put the balloons on the ceiling. That was the students' favorite part of the hall.

Abby Pratt paints the "Grecian Gardens" sign. Her artistic ability really showed throughout the hallway.

Sammie Sarraf draws the breast cancer symbol on one of their many posters. The breast cancer symbol created a nice border.

James Weaver thinks about the placement of where to hang the streamer. His precise placement was key in the victory.

Lipdub

Don't Stop Believing

Author: Maria Mucci

The 2014-2015 lipdub was full of exciting events during the song "Don't Stop Believing." During the song, a few students volunteered from each club, sport, and class to represent our school and organizations. Kelsey Paul, part of the broadcast class and also a member of the volleyball team, took a big lead in the lipdub. She ended the video with the whole school cheering behind her and showing off their school spirit. The purpose of the lipdub is to try to win money for our school. Every year, the broadcast class enters our school in the Tribune-Review's lipdub contest in order to showcase our spirit in hopes of winning the contest.

Although the school did not place first, the entire school had a blast making the video. Senior Connor Belak said, "We always have a lot of fun planning out the event and getting the whole school involved in our project. It is really rewarding to see the whole project come together and have everyone watch the broadcast class's hard work." The lipdub is a great way to get everyone in the school to participate and show their Wildcat pride.

Abby Chinchok smiles and cheers for the video. She had a good time laughing and being with her friends.

Nicky Aiello stands and smiles for the camera. Nicky threw a pass to one of his teammates to make a contribution to the video.

The Chamber Choir sings to show their talents. The song "Don't Stop Believing" showed off how well they could sing.

The girls basketball team participates in the lipdub. They had fun singing and dancing along with the other teams.

Members of the girls soccer team show their school spirit. They posed for a picture while they waited to participate in the lipdub.

Future Occupations

let the journey begin

Authors: Savannah Gettins & Kennady Grejtak

As children, we have grown up having fantastic aspirations. We all have dreamt about becoming ballerinas, rock stars, firefighters, or the president; something that we have passion for. As we mature, the variety of options we have are amazing. Throughout school, we are influenced by different people who really have an impact on our futures and who we become as young adults. Each student takes his or her own path in life and hopes to change people's lives. Sometimes things follow through, and sometimes they don't; people change their minds and realize the career path they chose was not for them. Whether you become a doctor, nurse, lawyer, or a teacher, you are always impacting someone in some way and touching the lives of others.

When you were younger what did you want to be?

"I really wanted to be an astronaut!"

Luke Conrad

"I always wanted to be a physician assistant."

Courtney Morrison

"I really wanted to be a video game designer, but now I am leaning more towards a pre-school teacher!"

Mike Slezak

"I wanted to be two things. I wanted to be a firefighter or I wanted to be a doctor!"

Ben Daniels

How are you achieving your dreams?

"I have always wanted to be a meteorologist ever since kindergarten. I am finally achieving my dream by pursuing a meteorology degree at Ohio University."

Connor Belak

"I plan to work really hard at school and go to college to succeed in life!"

Jared Kollar

"I plan on attending St. Vincent College to begin my journey to become a physical therapist."

Alexus Fearer

"When I graduate high school, I want to go to college and pursue a career in the medical field."

WHAT INFLUENCED YOU TO PARTICIPATE IN SPORTS?

Junior year I realized I wanted to go to college to become an athletic trainer, so I helped out with the boys lacrosse team in the spring.

Isabelle Peagler

My mom because she was also on the swim team when she was in high school and told me how much she enjoyed it.

Justin Stewart

I've been playing sports since I was little, but it was my best friend in first grade who suggested I play soccer with her.

Arnold Palmer Day

the legend gives back

Authors: Seth Holler and Tyler Mears

Every student who walks the halls of Greater Latrobe is familiar with the worldwide famous name "Arnold Palmer." Mr. Palmer, a 1947 Latrobe High School graduate and world golf phenom, celebrated his 85th birthday in a way that he will remember maybe more than some of the biggest golf events he ever won. He celebrated it among many of his closest friends, family, and our own student body at the Arnold Palmer Field House dedication at the new athletic complex on September 10, 2014. Mr. Palmer donated one million dollars to the A+ Campaign, and to thank him for his donation, the new field house was named in his honor. "To be able to think about the future for Latrobe and with this stadium and athletic complex is something I'm very proud of," said Mr. Palmer. "I will always have my thoughts of Latrobe and my family. The fact that I was able to live here all of my life and to be here for this dedication is really something."

One lesson we can learn from Mr. Palmer is to never forget where we come from and to have passion in everything we pursue.

Mr. Palmer gives the crowd a thumbs up.
The crowd sang a very loud and joyful
"Happy Birthday" to Mr. Palmer.

Superintendent Mrs. Judith Swigart speaks about Mr. Palmer's accomplishments. The list was very long.

Arnold Palmer's First Major Wins

1. Won his first Masters tournament in 1958 by beating Doug Ford and Fred Hawkins by one stroke.

2. Won his second Masters in the last three years in 1960 by shooting a two-under-par 70 on the last day to win.

3. He also took home the U.S. Open defeating his longtime foe Jack Nicklaus by two strokes in 1960.

4. Won his first Open Championship in 1961 at Royal Birkdale Golf Club shooting a four-under to win on the last day.

Mr. Palmer listens to the student body sing "Happy Birthday." He was humbled to hear the song.

Junior Jayden Moffa sings the National Anthem prior to the start of the ceremony. She silenced the crowd as she sang.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer laugh as Arnold tells a joke. He was very light-hearted that day.

A+ Campaign President Maryann White explains the importance of Mr. Palmer's donations. She was very honored to speak that day.

Mr. Palmer listens to Mrs. White speak. He was brought to tears in hearing all the nice things said about him.

real world skills

Author: Cassie Foschia

Eastern Westmoreland Career and Technology Center allows students from Greater Latrobe to experience more than just a daily classroom schedule throughout their high school years. EWCTC gives students the opportunity to learn state-of-the-art technology, trade skills, and employability skills through their 16 different programs. For students who have a passion for hands-on learning, working with tools, and construction tend to enjoy programs such as Cabinetmaking, Construction Trades, Masonry, Plumbing/HVAC, and Welding Technology. Students enrolled in Cabinetmaking learn how to draw and read blueprints to determine specific material needs, from the type of wood to the required finish. Instruction also covers hardware installation, finishing procedures, assembly, and installation work. Construction Trades prepares students with the basic technical and hands-on skills required for the erection and installation of buildings and other structures. Students will develop technical and math skills required in all stages of the construction process, from design and layout to finishing and trim installations. Students who look for extensive hands-on work often choose Masonry where they learn to construct foundations, brick veneer, fireplaces, arches, and retaining walls. Plumbing/HVAC is another program which allows students to learn the basics of blueprint reading, layout and assembling, installing, altering and repairing of piping and plumbing fixtures. Welding Technology allows students to learn various methods to permanently fuse metals by applying intense heat and filler metal. Altogether, students who choose these five different programs get the chance to further their skills in trades that they enjoy doing every day.

James Diaz sets cinder block in place. His careful placement made his project a success.

Danielle Harr uses a table saw to rip a piece of wood. She was very careful in using this technique.

Hollyann Bolyard participates in the construction trade program at EWCTC. She nailed shingles onto a roof.

Whether the students' passion is caring for others, cooking for their friends and family, designing graphic arts, or keeping up with the latest beauty trends, students from Latrobe have discovered programs they love at EWCTC. Another one of the 16 programs offered at the vocational school is Allied Health, which allows students interested in a future in a health career to spend 120 hours or more in classroom instruction and clinical rotations to gain knowledge and skill sets required in a typical health career.

Similarly, Health Occupations Technology is a program that students can gain all requirements for the first step on a health career ladder for students who are interested in careers such as nursing. Latrobe students interested in the science of improving beauty enroll in the Cosmetology program, which allows them to learn all aspects of hair, nail, and skin care. Also, a Culinary program is taken by students interested in the food service industry where they learn menu planning, portion sizing, and food cost control measures as well as purchasing and inventory control. Latrobe's creative students who are interested in computer graphics and design software programs enroll in the Graphic Communications program which helps them understand the technologies of print media, preparing them for careers in today's most dynamic fields. Last, students interested in a profession in web design, animation, multimedia, digital video production, and photography learn all the technical and jobs skills need to succeed in the Digital Media Technology program offered at EWCTC. Each of these six programs allows our students to work in programs in which they are passionate about every day.

Megan Milyak and Erica Kuhns take a break from learning the techniques of culinary. They are both juniors who took the class due to their passion for cooking and baking.

Kayla Murphy puts her creative skills to the test as she works on the computer. She is enrolled in the Graphic Communications program where students learn to use programs on Apple computers.

Gianna Johnson takes Marc Weltz's blood pressure. They practice different life situations during class.

Latrobe students who are interested in technical skills and hands-on jobs tend to enroll in the last five classes offered by EWCTC: Automotive Technology, Collision Repair Technology, Computer Engineering Technology, Machine Tool Technology, and Mechatronics. Students enrolled in Automotive Technology learn to accurately locate and diagnose the source of on-board computer system malfunctions using digital diagnostic equipment, as well as learn to make proper repairs and perform periodic maintenance inspections to maintain today's high technical automobiles in top running condition. The second program that students are enrolled in is Collision Repair Technology, which teaches them all facets of collision repair, from repairing small dents to total reconstruction of today's vehicles. For students looking to prove their knowledge of computer-related subjects, Computer Engineering Technology is the class they take in which they learn the CISCO curriculum as well as wireless networking, computer and Internet security, and Visual Basic.NET computer programming. Latrobe students interested in how modern technology works are enrolled in Machine Tool Technology where they learn how to create the parts that make that technology work. The last class that students take at EWCTC is Mechatronics where they learn to design, develop, fabricate, and test smart systems. The passion that Latrobe students have for these programs is shown through their dedication and hard work during the duration of their high school years. EWCTC students are getting a step ahead and learning the essential skills for lifelong careers.

Fall Play

12 Angry Jurors

Author: Jessica Havrilla

It is a Greater Latrobe Senior High School tradition that the Drama Club presents a fall play each year. At 7:30, the evenings of October 24 and 25, the cast members appeared on stage in the auditorium to show the audience all the hard work they put forth for seven weeks.

This year, the club chose "12 Angry Jurors," an updated version of the 1950 play "12 Angry Men" by Reginald Rose. In the play, an 18-year-old Latino is accused of first-degree murder against his father. A 12-person jury is called in to decide a verdict. If the jurors unanimously vote guilty, the young man will receive the death sentence. The lead role, played by sophomore Ian Stubbs, is the lone juror who votes not guilty. "The cast was really good at bouncing ideas off of each other," Stubbs stated. "I feel we were able to work together and help each other with our mess ups." The play was directed by Mr. Krack who stated, "We faced many challenges we hadn't had in the past. For instance, we had a large cast who all had to be on the stage the entire time." Through the cast's dedication, passion, and many hours of rehearsals, they rose to the occasion. In the end, their performance proved to be a success.

The cast members turn around to discover Sarah Hennessy exclaiming at Jarod Baughman-Stubbs. The emotion put forth was very convincing.

Amanda Baez Snyder and Ian Stubbs argue their opposing opinions. The two portrayed their characters successfully.

Hannah Prichard and Amanda Baez Snyder listen closely to the facts. They worked hard to prepare for the play.

Ian Stubbs is the only juror who believes the 18-year-old is not guilty from the beginning. He was very persistent in persuading the other jurors.

embarrassing moments

"I unknowingly was singing off key 'Smooth Criminal' backstage, and I didn't know my mic was on."

Sophomore Jarod Baughman-Stubbs

"During the knife scene, no one took me seriously because of my voice."

Sophomore Anna Orange

"I accidentally cut my finger on a prop during our first performance and got blood on my ballet."

Junior Sarah Hennessy

"Probably screaming whenever my mic tape got stuck to my face."

Sophomore Jacob Lubic

Jacob Lubic explains his thoughts, while Jarod Baughman-Stubbs considers his words. All jurors spoke their own thoughts freely.

Travis Grossman gazes into the audience intensely. He questioned the other jurors often.

Anna Orange stands up angrily, and Matt Squier examines her perplexed. The jurors' enthusiasm made the show a success.

Sarah Hennessy is deep in thought as she cleans her glasses. It was challenging for the other jurors to waver her thought process.

Lara Daigle and Maddy Bucci show their frustrations in the various points. It was difficult for the jurors to reach an agreement.

Spring Musical

Godspell

Author: Jessica Havrilla

The auditorium was filled with families, students, teachers, and friends just waiting to watch the performance on March 13 and 14. Curtain call was at 7:30 pm, and the cast was looking forward to showing the audience all the effort and passion the members had put forth. Junior Rachael Blissman stated, "We worked really hard, often for many hours at a time, but we worked as a team to put on a really awesome production in the end." "Godspell" is not only a musical by Steven Schwartz but is also a book by John-Michael Telebak. In 1971, it was performed on Broadway and had been reconstructed many times after.

Throughout the performance, according to the Gospel of Matthew, multiple parables are used. Modern music styles are placed in between the parables and are based on traditional hymns. The plot consists of a joy in celebration of family through a religious experience. "The cast and staff are so nice and accepting of you," reflected sophomore RJ Evancho. The musical not only created an interesting and enjoyable storyline that grabbed the audience's attention, but it also made lasting memories for the students putting on the show.

Rachel Saula sings the number with her strong vocals. Her powerful projection moved the audience.

Krystal Modecki is being choked by her fellow cast members. Her dedication to acting gave the scene a lifelike feeling.

Belle Orange flexes during the performance. She and the other cast members worked their hardest to illustrate their characters.

Spencer Simpson is placed on the cross to depict the crucifixion of Jesus. He spoke the teachings of God.

Outstanding

Language Arts

In addition to having a positive attitude toward school and particularly English class, Parker Eckman is a hard worker and a talented writer. His drive to succeed is eclipsed only by the pride he takes in his achievements. His kind disposition and willingness to help others shines both in the classroom and in the halls of the school. Parker is a joy to have in class.

-Mrs. Kubus

Mathematics

Joe Marcinik has demonstrated an amazing ability and commitment to learning mathematics. After completing AP Calculus AB as a junior, he enrolled in both AP Calculus BC and Advanced Calculus Concepts his senior year, two courses that are normally taken sequentially, not concurrently. He has done very well in all of his calculus courses and is a conscientious, hardworking student.

-Mrs. Pompelia

Social Studies

Both Tori Silbaugh and Cassidee Knott have displayed a passion for the subject by their attentiveness and work in nearly every one of our Social Studies classes that we offer. Both have a great working relationship with our faculty and have stepped up to volunteer their time to assist our staff. Many of our staff have expressed an appreciation for both students' kindness and helping nature.

-Mr. W. Snyder

Science

Jessica Brown demonstrates an amazing enthusiasm for science and a pure love of learning. Her positive demeanor illuminates the classroom, engages other students, and inspires instruction. On a regular basis, she volunteers for class demonstrations, responds to questions, tutors peers, and provides meaningful insight. She is a paramount example of an exemplary science student.

-Mrs. Keyser

World Languages

Lindsey Anna has done a wonderful job in Spanish throughout the years! In 2013 she traveled through northern Spain with other kids and chaperone's and will put that cultural knowledge and what she's learned from Spanish I to AP to good use at West Chester University where she'll continue her studies. Buena suerte, Lindsey!

-Miss Harvey

Physical Education

Morgan Shiver is one of the best students to have in a physical education class. She always has a positive attitude no matter what activity. The drive she has to do well is contagious, and I see it reflecting onto the other students in the class.

-Mr. McCombie

Seniors

Technology Education

For the past three years, Matt Dragan has been a student of the technology education department. He has taken multiple CADD courses and Wood Shop classes as well. Matt is always enthusiastic and puts all his efforts into what he is working on. He has made a big impression on both of us.

-Mr. Glamp & Mr. Hudock

Family & Consumer Sciences

Kaitlyn Muchnock shows enthusiasm and diligence in the Family and Consumer Science courses she takes. She is conscientious, hardworking, and always volunteering to do more. Her outgoing personality and willingness to help others are among the many reasons she was selected as the outstanding student!

-Mrs. Burford

Business

Maggie Baugh is a student that demonstrates a willingness to learn, a passion for business, creativity, and enthusiasm on a daily basis. She has taken every business course offered and has achieved excellent grades in all of them. She is quiet yet confident and is highly respected by her peers. I have thoroughly enjoyed having Maggie in class and will miss her smiling face next year.

-Mrs. Butler

Art

We have had Stephanie Kubus in several art classes, and she always does exceptional work, but the reason we have nominated Steph is because of her helpfulness and willingness to serve others. As our current National Art Honor Society president, she is always the first person to step up and volunteer her time and creative abilities. She spent a week of her 2014 summer vacation designing and painting two large murals in the Pressley School in Greensburg. We all know Steph is a wonderful student, but she is also an extraordinary person.

-Mrs. Mack & Mrs. Balko

Band

Mara LeJeune is an outstanding musician and senior in the music department. She has played clarinet and tenor saxophone in Greater Latrobe's Wind Ensemble, Jazz Ensemble, Marching Band, Pit Orchestra, and several other ensembles in the community. Most notably, Mara was eligible to play clarinet in the Pennsylvania Music Educators' Association's highly competitive District, Region, and All-State Festivals.

-Mr. Sheridan

Chorus

Madeline Bucci is one of the most accomplished musicians in the choral department. She is remarkably talented as a singer, pianist, and trumpet player, participates in the Greater Latrobe Chamber Choir, Concert Choir, Wind Ensemble, and Jazz Band, and earned top ranking spots in the 2015 Pennsylvania Music Educators Association District, Region, and All-State Choirs, highly prestigious and competitive choirs. In addition to her talent, she also demonstrates exemplary leadership skills and is very dedicated.

Managers & Student Trainers taking care of business

Author: Rachelle Kuhn

For any sport, most people don't think about the smaller details, and that's where the team managers and trainers come in. They're always prepared for whatever task is needed to be done for the team. Many students over the years have enjoyed helping out with different sports teams and getting to know the players, coaches, and each other. The main reason a lot of them help out is to just be involved and show support. Before every season starts, the managers and trainers prepare uniforms to distribute, learn to take care of minor injuries, and be at summer camps or conditioning. For certain sports they may record runners' times or be in charge of keeping stats and controlling the clock. These managers and trainers came to every practice and game with a purpose and knew the responsibilities they had and how much the team relied on them.

Reasons Why I Decided to Help

From conditioning to the big games

"I chose to do football for the experience. I wanted to be a part of something, and managing seemed like it would be fun. It also taught me a lot about the sport."

Regan Guzik

"I'm going into the medical field after high school, and wrestling is my favorite sport to watch."

Kayla Zalich

"I wanted to help out Coach V with the girls volleyball team and get some extra playing time in during their practices."

Working Students always on the grind

Author: Kennady Grejtak

Being in high school comes with many benefits and freedoms, but those sadly come with a cost. Having more responsibilities and wanting to be more independent, many students get a job while in high school. Depending on their interests, students work at many different places, each shaping their personalities. Every student has his or her own purpose for working, whether it be saving money for college, needing gas money, or simply learning an experience for "real world" skills. Balancing school and work may be one of the toughest tasks to take on, but that does not stop numerous students at Greater Latrobe. "The hardest part about working is making time for school work, family and friends, and having to sacrifice things you want to do along with a lot of sleep," confessed senior Savannah Gettins. Luckily, for working seniors, Latrobe offers an alternative which allows their work schedules to be more compatible with school by permitting the students to leave the school early. Unfortunately, this can be taken advantage of only by seniors, so numerous juniors and even sophomores have more difficulty balancing aspects of their lives with working. Junior Josh Griffith said the most difficult part for him is "whenever big projects and tests have overlapping due dates and I have to work the day before, it can be very overwhelming." It takes a great deal of dedication, work ethic, and sacrifice to hold a job while keeping up with school, but the students at Greater Latrobe take initiative and all have their own purpose to tackle the challenge.

Breast Cancer Awareness

we think pink

Author: Kayla Zalich

Greater Latrobe Senior High School shows its continuous support each year for the people fighting against breast cancer. Greater Latrobe Senior High School wanted to find a way to give back to those people who have been fighting against the horrible disease. So the sports teams decided to wear different pink items for each sport. The football team and boys soccer team wore pink socks and shoe laces to show their support while the girls soccer team and cheerleaders wore pink bows. The cheerleaders not only wore pink bows, but they had t-shirts made to be worn at the "Pink Out" football game. They also wore the pink gear that all the class officers had made, like glasses that benefited the cause and added a special touch to the Den that night. Senior cheerleader Hannah Gruss said, "Selling the shirts gives us the opportunity to help a good cause while uniting the school." The Greater Latrobe Wildcat Den dedicated one of the October football games to a theme called "Pink Out." The purpose of the Den theme was to be decked out in pink clothing and fill the bleachers. The "Pink Out" theme was one of the most favorite themes of the Den. According to senior Kelsey Paul, "Not only is it my favorite color, but it helps raise awareness for a good cause! It's a memorable theme that students look forward to every year." Greater Latrobe Senior High School will always be a proud supporter of breast cancer awareness month and those who have battled against the disease.

PolarPalooza

let the games begin

Author: Jessica Havrilla

On February 27, 2015 beginning at 4:30, students arrived at the school for the evening's opening ceremony. Teams had waited anxiously for their matchups in the school's fourth annual PolarPalooza. Prior to this night, friends and peers got together to create teams of six. Each team then made up its own team name and created colorful and clever T-shirts. Junior Gabby Lucas commented, "We picked our team name 'The Breakfast Club' because we all have very different personalities and really don't go together." Throughout the evening, students participated in a series of sports and activities. Student Council used the money they raised to purchase refreshments, decorations, a DJ, prizes, and needed equipment for the students and event. This year, Student Council members added a new way for teams to gain points. A hole-in-one mini golf game allowed students to putt their ball at three different holes ranging in levels of difficulty. The main events were basketball, badminton, volleyball, and soccer. The top eight teams advanced to a bracketed dodgeball playoff. The team that placed first overall received tickets to a Pirates game. In addition, second place won a $60 gift card to Dino's, and third place won a $30 gift card. This year, the winner was East, and members included seniors Nicky Aiello, Mario Fannie, Evan Kemp, Josh Verchuck, Chad Kissell, and Trey Hudock. Josh Verchuck stated, "I had a great time competing with my friends in all of the different events. It felt good to finally win after coming so close the past two years." PolarPalooza served a purpose in providing fun and enjoyable events for students to come together.

Juniors Emily Walker and Alexis Rause compete in Just Dance. The two followed the moves on the screen.

Trace Dunton throws the birdie up to serve the birdie. The sophomore had to focus to hit it across the net to the other player.

Preparing to hit the ping-pong ball, sophomore Rachel Voloshin swings her paddle. Her concentration was key in getting a point.

Participants take a break from the sporting events. Mario Kart was one of the two video games students could play.

Members of Belak's Babes wait for their names to be called. Teams were introduced during the opening ceremony.

Heather Hartley, Blake Engle, and Collin Smith wear their funky hats for hat day. They were enthused to take part in this event.

Courtney Kloos and Johnny Stein participate in SADD week. They chose to dress up like twins for a day.

Mrs. Balko and Laurel Prengaman dress alike for twin day. Laurel was one of the students who dressed like a teacher.

SADD Week

drug free is the key

Author: Alexus Fearer

Every year the high school's Students Against Destructive Decisions club organize events for SADD week. "Red Ribbon Week is a campaign to raise awareness about the dangers of drug and alcohol use. The SADD club shares relevant and powerful information about the dangers to help promote positive decision making in our student body," SADD Club advisor Mrs. Houck stated. "It is important for students to realize there are many ways to have an enjoyable high school experience without having to turn to drugs or alcohol and they can stand up and be proud of their decision to be drug and alcohol free." On Monday, the student body was encouraged to wear red, which was meant to start off SADD week. On Tuesday, individuals dressed up like another student for twin day. This day allowed students to "team up" against drugs. Some of the students chose teachers to be their twin for the day. Wednesday was school spirit day in which students wore their orange and black. Dressing up in school spirit attire is to show that students are proud to be drug free. Then, on Thursday, the theme was hat day. The students got the opportunity to wear whatever kind of hat they pleased. It was a reminder to "put a cap" on drugs. For the final day of SADD week, it was superhero day. Superhero day was to allow individuals to show that they have the power to save a life by not letting a friend do drugs. SADD Club President Hannah Ciocco commented, "I believe our purpose was met because we did different themes and drawings for gift cards every day. Most students took part in it."

Dalis Dowling and Charles Watson wear red for SADD week. They were ready for the week to begin.

Miss O'Keefe and Miss Landy wear identical outfits. Twin day was meant to team up against drugs.

Nicky Aiello supports SADD week by wearing red. He posed in front of one of the anti-drug posters.

Joey Peretti and Mr. McCombie strike a pose for twin day. They were proud to support SADD week.

Emily Walker and Kolony Miller put on their Batman attire for superhero day. They had the power to be drug free.

Seniors Jenna Baughman, Hannah Petrucci, Ariana Palmer, and Anying Guo huddle in for a picture outside Le Louvre. The girls enjoyed having friends close by while traveling.

Senior Abby Pratt puts her own lock on the Pont de l'Archevêché. Despite the rain, it was easy to smile when doing something as incredible as this.

Seniors Courtney Kloos and Laurel Hergenroeder enjoy a night trip to the Eiffel Tower. They were in awe of the lights.

What a privilege it is for Greater Latrobe students to expand their incredible opportunities beyond the school walls to travel to foreign countries. One of the groups in the summer of 2014 travelled to London, Paris, and Rome! They learned that they would be seeing incredible sights, eating new foods, and roaming cities that some people can only dream of. The countdown started immediately, and when the day finally came to leave, students were eager to just get there! Although the weather wasn't picture perfect every day, they didn't let that put a damper on the trip. Senior Laurel Hergenroeder said, "One day I specifically remember it being really cold and rainy was the day we went to see the Eiffel Tower. But the weather is the last thing I think about while looking back on the amazing trip!" All students had their own purpose for going abroad. Whether it be seeing the latest fashion, eating foreign foods, or seeing sights like the Louvre, the Colosseum, or Big Ben, all of their expectations were met and exceeded.

Liz Christopher, Cassidee Knott, and Reagan Simpson enjoy a sunny day in London. They were all smiles in an iconic telephone booth.

Everyone squeezes in for a group picture. Traveling to another country together allowed them all to grow closer to each other.

Seniors Kendall Bryant and Maddy Mueseler enjoy their day in Lucerne, Switzerland. They were eager to see this monument as it is the most well-known sculpture in Switzerland.

Seniors Emily Shaffer and Laurel Prengaman take in the sights of the Mirabell Gardens in Austria. They were thrilled to be in this famous garden.

European Trip

Germany, Switzerland, Austria!

Author: Katherine Harkins

In the summer of 2014, the school offered not only one trip abroad, but two. Going to countries like Germany, Switzerland, and Austria was an opportunity students jumped on. Explaining her purpose for going, Maddy Mueseler said, "I was excited to see how different things were overseas, what they wore, what they ate, and I was not disappointed in what I saw." All the students were eager to see and learn about each country they went to. They had the opportunity to watch Germany win the World Cup in the Olympic village in Austria, tour the Neuschwanstein Castle in Germany, which is the castle the Disney castle is modeled after, go to the top of Mt.

Pilatus in Switzerland, and walk around the Mirabell Gardens, where "Do-Re-Mi" from The Sound of Music was filmed, in Salzburg, Austria. The places they went were incredible, but the students say the best part was having a big group of people with different purposes for going abroad, coming together and sharing memories they will never forget.

NECESSITIES?

I would say the most necessary thing was my own soaps and washcloths, because they didn't have them at any of the hotels we stayed at.

Heather Hartley

Having something to take notes on what we did everyday. I never wanted to forget the amazing experiences on the trip- even the little things, like funny conversations and interesting people that made the trip just amazing!

Every year there are many different trends that make a comeback or start a new obsession all together. A fad is a widely shared enthusiasm for something that is short lived. In July, the ALS Ice Bucket Challenge became a phenomenon. Created to raise money and awareness for Lou Gehrig's disease, the idea was to dump a bucket of ice water on yourself and then nominate three others to support the cause. Over the summer months, the challenge went viral and more than $100 million dollars was donated to the ALS Association.

Even though this fad was primarily fun, there was a sole purpose of helping those who suffer from the disease. Sweet Frog became the first frozen yogurt place to open in our area the previous year, and then another yogurt shop, Mr. Toppins, opened in August. Numerous Latrobe students rushed to fill out applications before its grand opening and received jobs at the "hippest place in town!" Hiking up to Beam Rocks and Wolf Rocks has also become popular for many people all year long. No matter the season, you'd see students in pictures of the adventure they took hiking and seeing the amazing views of the Laurel Mountain Ridge. These crazes have come and gone throughout the past year with many fun memories. Years later, when Snapchat, joggers, and Trivia Crack aren't popular anymore, we'll always remember them and the attention they created.

"When I dress well, I test well."

Josh Verchuck

We all have different ways of expressing ourselves. This expression may be through music, art, sports, or even the clothes we wear. Clothing allows us to be unique if we want to be, or blend in if we don't. This enables us to make our own impressions on the other people around us. The choices of clothing are endless, but the interesting part is the "why" behind the choices. There was a very simple question asked to several students: "Why do you dress the way you do?" Each person had his or her own purpose of clothing selection. There was a variety of answers including wanting to stand out from their peers to wearing clothes because it makes them feel good about themselves.

"Every girl is crazy about a sharp-dressed man."

Brett Batsa

"My style reflects my unusual music taste and who I am."

Laurel Hergenroeder

Students from every grade dance to one of the best top hits of the night. By the end of the night, many students were exhausted from dancing the night away.

Seniors Jocelyn Cawoski, Maggie Baugh, and Mary Stas smile for a picture together. They captured the moment while they were still at the dance.

For the first time in recent memory at Greater Latrobe Senior High School, students got the opportunity to attend another school dance. The Winter Dance, on January 24, 2015, had a purpose and served as a unique way to raise money for the upcoming prom at Nemocolin Woodlands Resort. The dance was organized by the Class Officers: Connor Belak, Ajay Padmanabha, Joey Peretti, and Joe Russo, with the help of Miss Sirgey and Miss Fedor as advisors. This year, the school broke the standard of the guys asking the girls, and adopted the "Sadie Hawkins" concept, where the girls asked the guys instead. By "Reversing the Roles," the girls finally got to experience what the guys always are required to do. Some of the girls even got really creative with how they asked, like Hannah Cline did at a home basketball game. When Hannah was flying in a stunt, she held up a sign asking Nick Bobula. Also, Abby Machesney thought outside of the box by dressing in a banana suit while using creative signs as props to ask her date, Cody Helfich. Lauren Stranko and Ally White both asked their dates, Dan Staffen and Jack Schultheis, by using signs at their home hockey game. Sophomore Ally White mentioned, "I really enjoyed myself at the dance and thought it was a perfect time during the year to have another dance, and I hope in the future it will continue!"

"Never grow up." The quote that our parents repeated each day until they realized we were no longer their little babies. We have spent our whole lives learning and growing into the young adults we are now. After years of waiting for the bus every morning, staying up late finishing homework, and creating countless memories with friends, the journey has finally come to an end. On the evening of June 2, we put on our gowns, placed our caps on our heads, and took the walk across the stage, creating our final memory as a Latrobe Wildcat.

You have been a blessing since the day you were born. It seems like just yesterday, I was dropping you off at Mobile's house while I went to work and you yelling for Dee Dee (our sis) to come play with you on the floor. We have enjoyed every moment watching you grow up into the loving, caring, compassionate, kind-hearted, and smart young lady you have become. We are very proud of all you have accomplished so far in life. So onto your next journey to college, we know you will succeed just as well. Most of all, may the Lord bless you and keep you, may the Lord make His face shine upon each and every day of the rest of your life.

Kaitlyn,

*As your 18th birthday fast approaches, along with the conclusion of your high school years. Mom and I would like to tell you how extremely proud we are of
you. You are a wonderful, charming, beautiful daughter, with a firm moral compass. You have brought countless joy and love to all of us. Eighteen years have passed by extremely fast. It seems as only yesterday you were born. Then you started preschool at Sacred Heart and storytime and more, at the library.
Every day, I look at those 110 stickers that you put on my dresser over the years, along with your height marks in the pantry, and smile. On the day you were born, I can honestly say, we knew you would be just as you are today. You have infinite potential to attain your goals.*

Love,

PRIDE PASSION PURPOSE Colophon

Volume 92 of the Latrobean, "PRIDE, PASSION, PURPOSE," was published by the yearbook staff of Greater Latrobe Senior High School in Latrobe, Pennsylvania and printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks in Edwardsville, Kansas. The account was serviced by Sales Representative Carol Barber, Customer Service Adviser Pam Cox, and Technical Support Advisor Debbie King. The yearbook staff co-advisors Michele Butler and Scott Marker, along with the editors, created the theme, "PRIDE, PASSION, PURPOSE" during a design clinic in May 2014. The cover art was designed by Rob Schab, a Herff Jones Creative Artist from Gettysburg, is a custom Vista Screen and two applied colors.

applied around all design areas. A die cut was created on the front cover with a chenille letter applied in the recess area. The font used on the cover was AHJ Handel Gothic and AHJ Unitus fonts were used in the book. The Latrobean pages were created and submitted electronically via the Herff Jones edesign program. Senior and underclass portraits, as well as candid images, were provided by Timeless Photography K-12 of Greensburg, Pennsylvania, Jim Bates Photography and John Amatucci Photography, both of Latrobe, Pennsylvania. Additional photographs were submitted by students or taken by the Latrobean staff.

Pennsylvania. The cover with black base material English Strait grain was
